Mexico closes drug rehab centres after attacks

MEXICO CITY, 18 Sept — Authorities have closed 10 unregistered drug rehabilitation centers in Ciudad Juarez and say they are going after others they fear may serve as cover or recruiting grounds for drug trafficking gangs in the violence-plagued city across from El Paso, Texas.

Gunmen have slaughtered 28 people this month at two rehab centres in Ciudad Juarez in separate attacks that investigators blame on a bloody struggle between rival drug gangs. Sergio Belmonte, the spokesman for the Ciudad Juarez mayor’s office, says there is evidence traffickers are recruiting members through unregulated rehab centres.

It’s a matter of necessity, not ambiance. For much of the past month, residents of Sharjah, an increasingly teeming city hugging an interstate border with the wealthier city-state of Dubai, have suffered through power failures often lasting most of the day.

“It’s very, very difficult to sleep,” Kuttakunnil said, his face beading with sweat as the air conditioner sat silent one steamy evening this week.

The UN General Assembly opened its 64th session on Tuesday at the UN Headquarters in New York, as world leaders are set to gather here in the next few days for a string of summits on pressing global challenges.

“At the moment, we have no knowledge of these 1,155 people,” Guevara said. “We don’t know if any of them died, we don’t know if any were affected.”
Global economic crisis brings little impact on Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, 18 Sept—The global economic crisis had little impact on Malaysia's foreign direct investment (FDI) inflow and outflow in 2008, a United Nations (UN) annual review said here on Friday.

According to the UN Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD)publication titled “2009 World Investment Report” (WIR) released on Friday, Malaysia's FDI inflow was 8.05 billion US dollars in 2008. This was equivalent to a drop of only four percent from 8.40 billion US dollars in 2007, said WIR.

However, WIR noted that Malaysia’s FDI outflow surged by 26 percent to 14.06 billion US dollars in 2008, compared to 11.09 billion US dollars in 2007.

The rising trend of Malaysia’s FDI outflow over the last few years had reflected an increase of 370 percent from its 2005 figure of merely 2.97 billion US dollars, added WIR.—Xinhua

Mexico's FDI down 16% in 2008

MEXICO CITY, 18 Sept—Mexico received 21 billion US dollars in foreign direct investment (FDI) in 2008, down 16 percent from a year earlier, a UN report published on Thursday said.

In its annual report, the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) ranked Mexico 18th on its list of 20 major FDI destinations. This was far behind Brazil, Russia, India and China, generally considered to be Mexico’s close competitors for such investment.

FDI inflows to Brazil, Latin America’s largest economy, rose by nearly 29 percent to 45 billion US dollars last year.

“Brazil has seen investment shoot up in recent years because it has opened up economic sectors, like oil and agriculture, that Mexico has not,” UNCTAD consultant Gregorio Canales explained.

S Korea sees foreign investment upturn in 2008

SEOUL, 18 Sept—Foreign direct investment (FDI) in South Korea showed a tendency of upturn in 2008, as its ranking rose from 66th to 44th out of 214 countries in the world, according to a report by the Ministry of Knowledge Economy on Friday.

The report by the Geneva-based UN Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), released here by the Ministry of Knowledge Economy, the country’s FDI inflow reached to 7.60 billion US dollars in 2008, up sharply from 2.63 billion dollars the year before. The rising tendency came after three consecutive years of decline since 2005.

The FDI inflow into South Korea totaled nearly 9.0 billion dollars in 2004, ranking 19 in the world, but dropped to 7.06 billion, 4.89 billion and 2.63 billion dollars, ranking 31, 52 and 66 in the following three years respectively.—Xinhua

Asia-Pacific economies urged to adopt pro-IT policies

SINGAPORE, 18 Sept—It is critical that governments in the Asia-Pacific continue to support the growth of a strong information technology (IT) sector, a study showed on Thursday.

According to a study issued by the Economist Intelligence Unit (EIU) and sponsored by the Business Software Alliance (BSA), the IT sector remains an important engine of economic growth, and economies in the region that are supporting innovation and taking steps to stimulate technology sector output are placing themselves in a strong position to accelerate economic recovery.

The study showed that with broadband access becoming a prerequisite for many parts of the IT sector, economies with pervasive broadband penetration have a big competitive advantage over those where the infrastructure is lacking. It said that economies like China and India must address issues such as balancing large pools of skilled IT personnel with progress in IT infrastructure.

The study also shows that economies that have strong legal frameworks for the protection of intellectual property are generally the IT leaders.

Study finds 45,000 Americans die due to lack of insurance

HOUSTON, 18 Sept—Nearly 45,000 American people die each year due to a lack of health insurance, according to a study published on Thursday in the online edition of the American Journal of Public Health.

The study, conducted by Harvard researchers based on data supplied by the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), shows that people without any health were 40 percent more likely than people with health insurance to die, regardless of factors such as age, gender, race, income, education, health status, BMI (body mass index), exercise, smoking and alcohol use. “We doctors have many new ways to prevent deaths from hypertension, diabetes and heart disease, but only if patients can get into our offices and afford their medications,” said the study’s lead author, Dr Andrew Wilper.

Statsitics released last week by US Census shows the number of uninsured people rose from 45.7 million in 2007 to 46.3 million in 2008.

Co-author of the report Dr Steffie Woolhandler blamed three factors for the widening gap between those with and without insurance.

Firstly, more people are uninsured and the safety net for those people has eroded.—Xinhua

Brazil’s Petrobras announces oil discovery

RIO DE JANEIRO, 18 Sept.—Brazil’s state-controlled oil and gas giant Petrobras on Thursday told the National Petroleum Agency (ANP) it had discovered more oil traces in the block BM-S-7, which is located in the Santos Basin off the country’s southeastern coast.

According to Petrobras, the discovery was made in shallow waters, only 200 meters from the water line. The well is located some 200 km off the coast of Sao Paulo state.

The BM-S-7 block, named Pratucua, has been declared commercially viable in April, when Petrobras managed to find traces of light oil in well 6-BRSA-661-SPS.

The block was acquired in 2000 by a consortium formed by Petrobras and Repsol. Petrobras is the operator of the block, with 63 percent of the business, while Repsol owns the remaining 37 percent.

It was the second oil discovery reported by Petrobras this week. On Monday, the company announced the discovery of oil and natural gas in the pre-salt reservoir of block BM-S-9, also located in the Santos Basin.

The oil was found in the well 4-SPS-66C (4-BRSA-723C), named Abare Oeste, which is located about 290 km off the coast of Sao Paulo state, at a depth of 2,163 meters from the water line.

Oil slips slightly, eyes weak equities

NEW YORK, 18 Sept.—Oil prices slipped slightly in seesaw trading on Thursday as US equities fell, again raising concern about the economy and a rebound in energy demand.

US crude settled down 4 cents at $72.47 a barrel. London Brent futures slipped 12 cents to settle at $71.55. “Oil right now is not a leader but a follower, following stocks and the dollar. Oil seems like it wants to go down, but every time it tries to some data or the dollar’s weakness keeps it supported,” said Phil Flynn, analyst at PFGBest Research in Chicago.

Wall Street fell, weighed down by materials and financial shares as investors paused following a three-day climb. Initially the market was boosted by data showing factory activity in the US Mid-Atlantic region rose in September to its highest level since June 2007. Internet

Government took action against appeal plaintiff Daw Aung San Suu Kyi in accord with existing laws within framework of law

Provisions included in 1974 constitution, although it had become null and void due to the situations that happened in the country in 1988, is still in effect as they are not contrary to existing laws

Sentence to Daw Aung San Suu Kyi by original court under Article (22) of (1975) Law to Safeguard the State against the Dangers of Those Desiring to Cause Subversive Acts as she was found guilty is in conformity with the law

Final arguments of appeal cases of Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, Daw Khin Khin Win and Ma Win Ma Ma (a) Ange Lay heard

Final judgments of appeal cases to be passed on 2 October

YANGON, 18 Sept—The Yangon North District Court pronounced judgment on Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, the Criminal Regular Trial 47/2009, in accord with the Section 22 of the Law to Safeguard the State against the Dangers of Those Desiring to Cause Subversive Acts. As Daw Aung San Suu Kyi was dissatisfied with the judgment, she filed an appeal against it at Yangon Division Court on 3 September. It is criminal appeal case No. 173/2009.

The North District Court pronounced judgment on Daw Khin Khin Win and Ma Win Ma Ma (a) Ange Lay in Criminal Regular Trial 47/2009 in accord with the Section 22 of the Law to Safeguard the State against the Dangers of Those Desiring to Cause Subversive Acts and Section 109 of the Criminal procedure Code. As the two were dissatisfied with the judgment, they filed an appeal against it at Yangon Division Court on September. It is criminal appeal case No. 174/2009.

The Yangon Division Court heard the appeals of Daw Aung San Suu Kyi and Daw Khin Khin Win and Ma Win Ma Ma (a) Ange Lay and passed a pronounce-ment to accept them on 4 September. The court postponed to 18 September (today) to hear the final arguments.

The appeals were heard at Yangon Division Court today at 10 am. Advocate U Kyi Win defending Daw Aung San Suu Kyi of criminal appeal case No. 173/2009 in his argument said, the 1988 Constitution was ratified and that the 1974 Constitution became null and void. The accused was detained under Section 10 (a) and restricted under Section 10 (b), both of which were invalid, in line with the Section 148 (c), 157, 158, 159 (a) and (b) and 160 of Article (11) of the 1974 Constitution which is null and void as it was still in force. Hence, the original court order itself is legally wrong. Although it is stated that the restriction orders shall be pronounced by a group in accord with the prescriptions of Section 9 (a), the plaintiff failed to present the evidence that the said prescriptions were followed in doing so. In this regard, the restriction order is wrong as it is not in accord with the law. It is incorrect to pronounce the judgment because of the wrong interpretation of the word stipulated in the restriction order and the order to continue the restriction order. It is wrong to take action against Daw Aung San Suu Kyi by interpreting the Section 159 (a) that the act of permitting the foreigner, conversing with him and serving food to him amounts to breaching the restriction order as her personal freedom has already been restricted. The failure to review the acts of Daw Aung San Suu Kyi that they are in accord with the original rights contained in Section 154 is legally and factually wrong. The act of judges investigating the house of Daw Aung San Suu Kyi without informing her or her lawyers is incorrect. Hence, the defendant must be acquitted.

He said there should be another witness account in accord with Section 428 of the Criminal Procedure Code as it is incorrect to reject a proposal to hear the witness of the Foreign Affairs Ministry of Myanmar in accord with Section 540 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

Deputy Division Law Officer Daw Khin Mar Kyi of Yangon Division Law Office in her argument said, the advocates of appeal plaintiff focused on the facts to restrict the original rights stipulated in the sections 148 (c), 157, 158, 159 (a) and (b) and 160 in accord with the Section 7 of the Law to Safeguard the State Against the Dangers of Those Desiring to Cause Subversive Acts by the chairman of the Central Body of the Home Affairs Ministry. The case against Daw Aung San Suu Kyi is under Section 22 of the Law to Safeguard the State Against the Dangers of Those Desiring to Cause Subversive Acts. According to the section-7, it is prescribed that if there is reason to believe that a citizen did, is doing or will do something detrimental to State sovereignty and security or community peace, the central body can restrict the fundamental right of that person as necessary. As restrictions had been placed on Daw Aung San Suu Kyi according to the section-7, the restrictions and continued restrictions that she was not permitted to contact foreign embassies and political parties, to leave her house or to communicate by letter or telegram are in accord with the law. As to the directive issued by the Chairman of the State Peace and Development Council stating the sentence to be served by her under the Criminal Procedure Code be amended to be remitted and suspended if she displays good conduct and pardon be granted accordingly regarding the sentence pronounced by the North District Court to the appeal plaintiff to three-year imprisonment and vigorous labour under Article (22) of the Law to Safeguard the State Against the Dangers of Those Desiring to Cause Subversive Acts, not a single word is mentioned in the appeal form. The government took action against appeal plaintiff Daw Aung San Suu Kyi in accord with the existing laws within the framework of law. It has been stated in the appeal form that the restrictions under the articles-148 (C), 157, 158, 159 (a) and (b) and 160 of the 1974 constitution placed on her that had been ceased had already become null and void. In the order No (6088) issued by the State Law and Order Restoration Council on 24 September 1988 after assuming State duties on 18 September 1988, it is stated that all the existing laws were still in effect until SLORC dissolves or revokes them. Therefore, the 1974 constitution, although it had become null and void due to the situations that happened in the country in 1988, is still in effect according to the order No (6088). For instance, the provisions of the 1974 constitution that are not contrary to the 1974 State Flag Law and the 1974 State Seal Law are still in effect. It is, therefore, clear that the provisions included in the 1974 constitution that are not contrary to the provisions of the 1975 Law to Safeguard the State Against the Dangers of Those Desiring to Cause Subversive Acts are in effect.

As to the point that there is no word ‘outside contact’ in the restrictions placed on Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, the meaning of contact is the act of communication. So, Daw Aung San Suu Kyi’s acceptance of Mr John William Yettaw’s communication was tantamount to breaking the law. In the case against Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, action was taken against her under the criminal law when it was used in the terms of restrictions and prohibitions placed on her. So, the submission that she has the right to enjoy the provisions of the article-154 (A) of the constitution should not be accepted. As to the submission that visiting the scene where the case happened without Daw Aung San Suu Kyi under the Criminal Procedure Code Section 539 (1) is not in conformity with the law, it is in conformity with the law as the scene was visited with the accompaniment of Mr John William Yettaw, who initially created the case, and witnesses. The sentence to Daw Aung San Suu Kyi by the original court under Article (22) of the Law to Safeguard the State against the Dangers of Those Desiring to Cause Subversive Acts as she was found guilty is in conformity with the law, and the case of the appeal plaintiff should be cancelled.

Similarly, final arguments of appeal plaintiffs Daw Khin Khin Win and Ma Win Ma Ma (a) Ange Lay from criminal appeal No 174/2009 were submitted by advocate U Hla Myo Myint and that of the appeal defendant by deputy division law officer Daw Khin May Day. Advocates of the Supreme Court U Kyi Win, U Nyan Win, U Hla Myo Myint and Daw Khin Hay Kywe and deputy division law officers of Yangon Division Law Office Daw Khin Mar Kyi, Daw Khin May Day and U Myat Khaing attended the hearing of final arguments. The appeal cases are postponed to 10 am on 2 October so as to pass the final judgments.

National goal within touching distance despite alien instigation

Human beings by nature want to know scopes. However, not every scoop is reliable, especially the ones aired by and Internet news stories posted online by anti-government media, because they distort the news stories to meet their wishes. The foreign radio stations opposed to State stability prefer to air any anti-government news stories, reliable or unreliable. In this regards, they apply a variety of methods to create particular situations they want by repeatedly airing mixed news stories, some points are correct, and some, incorrect, and airing news stories from different news agencies, using ambiguous words.

These days, they are variously airing made-up news stories and rumours about Kokang Region incidents. What is worst here is that they are misleading national race peace groups into misunderstanding the objective conditions through news stories from mercenary media that talk big and claim themselves to be warfare observers, political watchdogs, and Myanmar affairs experts. Their main purpose is to disrupt the 2010 election by stirring up a problem between national race peace groups and the government.

Foreseeing their intention, the government has issued news stories about Kokang Region case with profound evidences. Responsible persons are also dealing with the peace groups every day and making further clarification to true evidences, the stance and attitude of the government, and the root cause of the issue. Moreover, writers in favour of State stability and community peace are presenting their opinions and comments on the issue through daily newspapers.

In order to make it clearer to the international community, journalists, foreign diplomats and military attachees were conducted round the places where the incidents took place for their first-hand knowledge. Thanks to the programme, the diplomats and correspondents had an opportunity to observe the equipment in the arsenal and its manufacturing capacity, the sites where Phon clan brothers produced narcotic drugs, and conditions on stability and peace in Laukka resulting from the combined efforts of government officials and the Kokang Region Provisional Leading Committee.

Actually, Kokang Region issue was merely the case the government dealt with to get narcotic drugs and arms traffickers Phon clan brothers to face the action to prevent them from dealing with the case in line with the law. Kokang Region is used to such issues. The government dealt with to get narcotic drugs and arms traffickers Phon clan brothers to face the action to prevent them from dealing with the case in line with the law, not the conflicts between Kokang nationals and the government, not as said by those anxious to destabilize the nation.

The government showed great patience and persuaded them to deal with the case in line with the law. Phon brothers and some subordinates loyal to them showed lawless behaviours and opened fire out of wrong concept, thus culminating in fire exchange. The remaining Kokang leaders therefore formed Kokang Region Provisional Leading Committee to lead the leaderless organization after Phon Kya Shin and accompanied fled out of fear to face the legal action, not as said by anti-government media that the government drove a wedge among Kokang nationals. The disagreement among Kokang leaders did not concern the government at all, and that might be an issue of Kokang groups. Kokang Region is used to such issues. The government has a lot of experiences of intervening in internal affairs of Kokang peace groups to prevent any adverse effects on regional peace and stability.

It is public knowledge that the government also worked out the issues of other national race peace groups with parental attitude, but without any bias. Whenever a peace group faced a case in which its some members broke away, the government never failed to take necessary measures for their reconsolidation, thereby showing its benevolent attitude towards national race groups to prevent disunity among them.

In every case in which a national race peace group was on the edge of collapse, anti-government media made baseless comments and accused the government of sow- ing discord among their members. This time also, they showed inordinate envy between the government and the other peace groups under the pretext of warnings, by airing fabricated news stories that the government created the issue on purpose. In reality, Kokang Region issue grew into a fire exchange, in consequence of mercenary attitude of Phon brothers that ignored their subordinates’ anti-war sense and failed to stay in touch with the prevailing international affairs. That is known to the diplomats who visited Laukka, so they might have reported the issue to the governments concerned. Now, the Kokang Region Provisional Leading Committee is working hard in concert with the government for greater development and stability and peace of the region.

On my visit, I witnessed that members of the committee immersed themselves in the tasks to enable the majority of subordinates, who had to serve as Kokang troops under the directive, to take a normal life with consolidated unity among them as a gesture of recognizing their wishes. Moreover, it is carrying out the transformation processes with a correct concept for the administrative machinery to be in force in Kokang Self-Administered Zone. According to the newspapers, it was clarified to the diplomats that prearrangement work was ongoing for forming a frontier force for stability and peace of Kokang Region concerned. Now, the Kokang Region Provisional Leading Committee is working hard in concert with the government for greater development and stability and peace of the region.

It also said that all Kokang leaders except Phon brothers had been desirous of forming a frontier force for a long time, and that was not a current issue. According to the returns from the neighbouring country, the case to form a frontier force was solely under the decision of a group of Phon Kya Shin’s relatives, and even commanderson of Kokang brigades did not know their decisions. They prolonged the case as though the subordinates did not agree with the programme, and so that prevented the transformation process from making a good headway. The majority of Kokang local people felt frustrated at such things.

In contrast, Kokang Region Provisional Leading Committee is taking a leading role in implementing the processes of forming a frontier force in compliance with the desire of local residents. It is a welcome news that other national race peace groups have launched their transformation processes.

Indeed, to form a frontier force must be under the programme initiated in the interest of national brethren by the Tatmadaw government in order that all the national race peace groups will have the rights to hold arms in accordance with the law in the democratic nation to emerge in 2010. In other words, the programme is to legalize peace groups’ holding arms under the agreement with the Tatmadaw government in the forthcoming civilian government, and to enable members of the peace groups to become reliable citizens shoulder- ing national defense duties under the command of the Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services.

Peace groups have been carrying out regional development tasks hand in hand with the Tatmadaw government. So, the Tatmadaw government recognizes them as comrades and has initiated the programme for farsightedness. For a peace group, to transform itself into a frontier force is certainly something to be proud of, because it is the internationally-recognized force representing the mother country, not the state or region concerned only.

In the process, there is no pressure or coercion on the peace groups, in contrast to the broadcasts aired by some anti-government media. In practice, the government is holding heart-to-heart talks with them in the interest of their regions as well as the entire people. With the parental attitude, the government is warmly persuading the peace groups in order that they will do everything to meet their wishes.

Parents are by nature just in satisfying the wishes of their children with consideration. In any situation, parents do not want to get their children into troubles. Any parent does not want their children indulge themselves in misbehaviours due to their excessive compliance. Every parent is really willing to generate a prosperous future and a peaceful life for their children, without any discrimination against or in favour of a particular child. So, the government is showing great patience and parental sense towards national race peace groups and is working hard to complete the process of transforming them into frontier forces in a simple way on schedule. Therefore, I would like to urge them to work together in the interest of the public without personality cult, regionalism, and attachment to the group concerned, in recognition of the government’s goodwill towards them.

Now, all are working hard in harmony, so peace groups should not let them caught in the tricks set with distorted news stories by anti-government elements anxious to destroy the stability and peace of the nation. It is a fine tradition of the national race peace groups that they have engaged in the regional development tasks since they made peace. Under the transformation process, they will have a unique opportunity to shoulder national defense duties in parallel with the Tatmadaw when the nation becomes a democratic one. So, the process will make history in future. Despite alien instigation, the goal is now within the touching distance for those who will take part in the transformation process with correct conviction and strong determination. That goal is to build a peaceful, modern and developed democratic nation.

Padaung of Pyay District is 10 miles from Pyay. The town has an area of 5.4 square miles. It is four miles long from the east to the west and two miles wide from the north to the south. We saw almost all the residences grow shady trees and vegetables on a manageable scale. Therefore, the whole town is lush and green.

There is one Basic Education High School in the urban area. The school has neat and tidy buildings. It has produced great persons serving the interest of the State. We saw students in peaceful pursuit of education in the compound of the school.

During the visit, we noticed that Padaung is well equipped with communication facilities. We witnessed that staff were discharging their duties to solve the communication problems of the customers on time.

Moreover, we saw stockpiles of gravel by the road to repair the motor road in Padaung. We learned that the road in the town will be upgraded soon.

Indeed, Padaung is a peaceful and quiet location. Local people are engaged in the businesses related to cultivation of paddy, sesame, pea, sunflower, tomato, groundnut, gram and green gram. In Padaung, the local people are doing their businesses by selling seasonal crops.

Padaung, covered with dense green foliage of shady trees and flowery plants, is a pleasant place for the local people.

A grand signboard welcomes guests at the entrance to Padaung.

Beijing’s air quality best in decade: official

BEIJING, 18 Sept—Air quality in Beijing this year has been at the best level in a decade, the city’s environment authorities said Friday.

“As of Thursday, Beijing has reported 214 grade I and grade II days, about 82.3 percent of all the monitored days,” said Chen Tian, deputy head of the Beijing Municipal Environmental Protection Bureau. “It only takes 46 more days for the city to achieve its goal of 260 full-compliance days this year.”

The Chinese capital uses a five-grade classification of air quality on the basis of pollution indices, with Grade I being the best and Grade V the worst. Days with Grade I and II air quality are regarded as “blue sky” days.

Chen said as of Thursday, Beijing had reported an increase of 18 “blue sky” days compared with the same period last year, when a massive effort was made to improve the air quality for the Olympic Games.

“Now it is still hard to predict the air quality on Oct. 1, when a military parade will be held in Beijing to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the founding of the People’s Republic of China,” Chen said.

CHINA PICKS FIRST FEMALE ASTRONAUT CANDIDATES

BEIJING, 18 Sept.—China’s military-backed space programme has selected 45 astronaut candidates, including its first women hopefuls, for a training program less than a year after the country completed its first spacewalk. The 30 male and 15 female candidates are part of a programme to pick five men and two women astronauts to participate in three more manned missions planned before 2012. The missions are to prepare for the rendezvous and docking tasks required for constructing a space station, the official Xinhua News Agency reported on Thursday.
In 2003, China became the first Asian country to put its own astronauts into space. It followed last year with its first spacewalk, putting the country closer to building a space station and landing a man on the moon. Like previous astronauts, all 45 candidates are air force pilots between the ages of 27 and 34, the report said. They will undergo a series of rigorous psychological and physical tests as part of the selection process.

ROCKETS VIE IN SIMULATED LUNAR LANDING CONTEST

LOS ANGELES, 18 Sept.—A privately built rocket vying for NASA prize money lifted off in the Mojave Desert and flew half of a simulated lunar mission on Wednesday before an engine problem forced its developers to call off the attempt until next month. The flight of Masten Space Systems’ unmanned “Xombie” at Mojave Air and Space Port comes just days after another competitor, Armadillo Aerospace, qualified for the $1 million top prize with two flights in Texas.
The Northrop Grumman Lunar Lander Challenge is funded by NASA and presented by the X Prize Foundation, the group behind the $10 million competition won in 2004 by SpaceShipOne, the first privately developed manned rocket to reach space and prototype for a fleet of space tourism rockets.
The remotely controlled Xombie is competing for second-place in the first level of the competition, which requires a flight from one pad to another and back within two hours and 15 minutes. Each flight must rise 164 feet and last 90 seconds. How close the rocket lands to the pad’s center is also a factor.—INTERNET

BRASILIA, 18 Sept.—Brazil and the United States ratified their plan on Thursday to establish industrial plants in Haiti. This would enable the duty-free export of products to both countries and thus support Haiti’s reconstruction. During a meeting in the Foreign Ministry’s Irmacat Palace, Brazilian Foreign Minister Celso Amorim and US Commerce representative Ronald Kirk agreed to advance the implementation of the Haitian Hemispheric Opportunity (HOPE) programme created by the United States. The two countries are part of the UN Stabilization Mission in Haiti, which was initially established to stop the social and political crisis in 2004.
Amorim told Xinhua in a press conference that the fundamental motivation of this initiative was humanitarian, “to aid Haiti’s economic development through sustainable production activity.” This mechanism would allow Brazilian companies in Haiti to export products to the United States without paying customs fees, and vice versa.
The agreement would benefit Haiti as well as Brazilian and US companies, Amorim added.
On Thursday morning, President of the Brazilian National Confederation of Industry (CNI) Armando Monteiro Neto said the Brazilian textile companies were interested in establishing themselves in Haiti under the framework of the HOPE programme.

Tea component may extend blood shelf life

Kyoto, 18 Sept— A component in green tea may act as a preservative for stored blood, Japanese researchers said. The study, published in Cell Transplantation, found green tea contains a strong anti-oxidant — epigallocatechin, better known as EGCG — that may help prolong platelet “shelf life.”

Currently, the storage duration for platelet cells is limited to five days internationally or three days in Japan. When EGCG was added to blood platelet concentrates, aggregation and coagulation functions were better-maintained after six days.

While the exact mechanism by which EGCG works is not yet known, the researchers believe it may be related to its surface binding ability properties that may protect the surface proteins and lipids from oxidation. In any event, delayed programmed cell death — apoptosis — was inhibited.

“EGCG may lead to an inhibition of platelet apoptosis and lower rates of cell death, offering a potentially novel and useful method to prolong platelet storage periods,” study lead author Dr Suong-Hyn Hyon of the Institute for Frontier Medical Sciences in Kyoto, Japan, said in a statement.

Study links drinking soda, obesity

Sacramento, 18 Sept— Drinking high-calorie soft drinks is a major contributor to obesity, a California study reports. “For the first time, we have strong scientific evidence that soda is one of the — if not the largest — contributors to the obesity epidemic,” said Dr. Harold Goldstein, executive director of the California Center for Public Health Advocacy.

Researchers interviewed 42,000 California residents. The Sacramento Bee reported. They found 24 percent of adults drink at least one non-diet soft drink daily, and those who do are 27 percent more likely to be overweight. Young people have even worse habits, the researchers found. Among those ages 12 to 17, 62 percent drink at least one soda a day, while 41 percent of those between the ages of 2 and 11 do.

The Center for Public Health Advocacy and the UCLA Center for Health Policy Research published their findings on Wednesday in the report “Bubbling Over: Soda Consumption and Its Link to Obesity in California.”

944 new A/H1N1 cases confirmed in Europe

Stockholm, 18 Sept — A European health agency said on Thursday that 944 new A/H1N1 flu cases were reported in European countries within the last 24 hours. Of the new cases, 260 were confirmed in Germany, 198 in Italy, 153 in Greece, 138 in Sweden, 113 in Norway, 47 in Hungary, 15 in Finland, and 14 in Switzerland, five in Denmark, one in Estonia, the European Center for Disease Prevention and Control (ECDC) said in its daily situation report.

First fatality reported in Luxembourg, the report added. The total number of confirmed cases of the A/H1N1 flu virus in the European Union (EU) and European Free Trade Association (EFTA) countries rose to 52,057, with 1,538 cases in Spain and 13,322 in Britain, 1,125 in France and 18,797 in Germany, the ECDC said.

The ECDC publishes a daily situation report about A/H1N1 flu cases in the EU and EFTA countries based on information from these countries.

Identified amnesia patient doesn’t know who he is

Seattle, 18 Sept — It was seven weeks ago that Edward Lighthart walked out of a Seattle park with no idea of who he was and how he got there, the apparent victim of a bizarre case of amnesia.

He says some memories have since been slowly trickling back, including slight recollections of living in China and Europe. But Lighthart still doesn’t know who he is, and is frightened over whether he will ever be reconciled with the man people say he is.

“The crux of the matter of who I really am isn’t there yet,” he said in an often-emotional interview with The Associated Press on Monday. “And I’m not sure that its going to come back. This is one of the frightening things.”

El Salvador reports soaring dengue infections

Mexico City, 18 Sept — El Salvador health authorities have reported 2,431 cases of classic dengue in the first eight months of the year, about 153 percent more than the same period last year, according to news reaching here on Thursday. There were 45 cases of the deadlier hemorrhagic dengue variant,18 more than the same period last year. The increase was “considerable” compared with 2008, but close to the levels in 2006, the Health Ministry’s coordinator of epidemiology, Lilian Cruz, told media in San Salvador, capital of the country.

Carried by the Aedes aegypti mosquito which breeds in stagnant water, and with no known cure, dengue causes severe pain in bones, muscles and joints, as well as headaches, fever and rash.

Di Stefano best player of all time, not Maradona, says Pele

MADRID, 18 Sept — Brazil legend Pele took a swipe at Diego Maradona on Thursday, saying he feels another Argentine-born player, Real Madrid’s iconic former striker Alfredo di Stefano, is the best player ever. “People talk about the best being Pele or Diego Maradona, but for me the best player ever was Alfredo Di Stefano,” he told reporters in Madrid. Maradona was a great player, but he could not kick with his right foot and did not score goals with his head.

The only time he scored an important goal with his head, it turned out he had used his hand,” he added.

Pele was referring to Maradona’s infamous “hand of God” goal in Argentina’s 2-1 win over England during 1986 World Cup quarter-finals, when he fooled the referee by punching the ball into the net. Last month Maradona, currently Argentina’s national coach, downplayed Pele’s record, saying the Brazilian only played for South American clubs while he spent a decade at European sides. “He won more World Cups. But playing in Europe is another thing,” said Maradona.

Shocks, novelty and a goal for Platini as Europa League takes off

PARIS, 18 Sept — The group stage of the inaugural Europa League got under way on Thursday, with surprise results among the tournament’s favourites Roma, Lazio and Hamburg all succumbing to surprise defeats in their opening matches. Roma, with Claudio Ranieri at the helm for his first European assignment at the club, went down 2-0 to Swiss side Basel in Group E, while German league leaders Hamburg were stunned 3-0 by Rapid Vienna in Group C. An injury-time goal from Marc Janko earned Red Bull Salzburg a shock 2-1 come-back win at Roma’s city rivals Lazio, enabling Villarreal to steal a march in Group G with a 1-0 home win over Levski Sofia.

European football’s governing body Uefa is using the tournament to trial the deployment of extra referee assistants behind each goal-line and the officials were an eye-catching if controversial presence on the pitch. — Internet

Corinthians confirms interest in Riquelme

BRASILIA, 18 Sept — The president of Brazil’s Corinthians, Andres Sanchez, confirmed on Thursday that his club is interested in signing Argentine midfielder Juan Roman Riquelme next season, but admitted that the recruitment does not depend directly on the club.”

Corinthians is not negotiating directly with Riquelme, but we’re with open arms if we can have him,” said Sanchez.

The Corinthians, which earlier this year signed Brazil international striker Ronaldo and last month the Argentine midfielder Matias Defederico, intends to mount a team of stars to try to win the Copa Libertadores next year.

The club secured a place in the Libertadores next year after winning the Brazilian Cup.

Barcelona - Atletico Madrid the highlight of Saturday night

MADRID, 18 Sept — With a full midweek programme of matches in Spain’s Primera Liga next week, several games from match day three have been brought forward to Saturday night. League leader FC Barcelona entertains Atletico Madrid in the Camp Nou Stadium in the weekend’s standout fixture. Last season saw Barca crush Atletico 6-1 in the same fixture and the reigning League champions have kicked off this season as they ended the last one.

Pep Guardiola’s side has hit form straight away and has two wins from two games, as well as a creditable 0-0 draw away to Inter Milan in the Champions League. Things are different for Atletico, however. Abel Resino’s men have only one point in the league and amid an atmosphere of internal strife, could only draw 0-0 against Cypriot side AOPEL in Europe. Barcelona is at full strength and the big question is whether fit again Andres Iniesta will be given his first start of the new campaign. — Internet

Real’s Alonso out for one week, Metzelder for two

MADRID, 18 Sept — Real Madrid’s Spanish midfielder Xabi Alonso will be sidelined for at least one week, while their German defender Christoph Metzelder will be out for at least two weeks, the club said Thursday.

Alonso, who joined Real from Liverpool this summer, suffered an achilles tendon injury during the Spanish club’s 5-2 Champions League win over Zurich on Tuesday and will be out for “seven to ten days”, they said in a statement. The Spanish international was replaced by Fernando Gago in the 59th minute of the away match. Initial reports suggested he may have needed a lengthy spell on the sidelines. Metzelder, who is suffering from muscle injury in his right leg, will be absent for two to three weeks, the club added.— Internet

Kim, Shin tied for Samsung lead at Torrey Pines

SAN DIEGO, 18 Sept — They’d all watched on TV as Tiger Woods claimed his epic win in the US Open last year.

Starting Thursday, 20 elite LPGA golfers got their turn to try to tame Torrey Pines.

Not only did they recognize the place, but they had an easier go of it in the opening round of the Samsung World Championship. There were favorable pin placements, the wind stayed down on the bluffed top of municipal course overlooking the Pacific Ocean and, of course, there was less yardage to play on the normally tough South Course. — Internet confirmed on Friday that the club would be contesting the charge. Adebayor is already starting a three-match ban after accepting a violent conduct charge for a stamp on Arsenal’s Robin van Persie.

Man City to fight Adebayor charge

“We have time to construct our arguments. We have a view and a period of time to make our feelings known,” Hughes said.

“It is important you do not take the emotion out of the game. It is part and parcel of what football is about and why it is such a huge sport worldwide. “The circumstances of the game and the amount of criticism and vitriol Ade had to take was not nice. It was a difficult situation for him coming up against former team-mates. “Some of those former team-mates felt they could not even shake his hand before the game. All these things can perhaps affect someone’s emotional state of mind. The celebration was an outpouring of that.”

Adebayor

MANCHESTER, England, 18 Sept—Manchester City will fight the Football Association’s improper conduct charge against Togo striker Emmanuel Adebayor after his goal celebration against his former club Arsenal last weekend.

After scoring in City’s 4-2 win over the Gunners, Adebayor sprinted the length of the Eastlands pitch to the far end of the stadium where Arsenal’s supporters were massed and slid to his knees with his arms out-stretched, sparking volatile scenes as the visiting fans threw missiles at him.

However, City manager Mark Hughes confirmed on Friday that the club would be contesting the charge. Adebayor is already starting a three-match ban after accepting a violent conduct charge for a stamp on Arsenal’s Robin van Persie.

“We have time to construct our arguments. We have a view and a period of time to make our feelings known,” Hughes said.
