Russia may double bombers on strategic patrol

MOSCOW, 23 Dec—Russia may double the number of bombers on strategic patrol flights as long as the General Staff agrees, the commander of Russia's strategic aviation said on Tuesday.

"As a rule, up to four strategic bombers perform patrol flights simultaneously. However, under specific circumstances and on orders from the General Staff, their number could be increased to up to eight aircraft," Russian Long-Range Aviation Commander Major-General Anatoly Zhukhurev said at a press conference.

Russia resumed strategic bomber patrol flights over the Pacific, Atlantic and Arctic oceans in August 2007, following orders from then-President Vladimir Putin.

The patrols are considered a counter-measure against threats faced by Russia, as well as a response to NATO's continued eastward expansion that is approaching Russia's western border.

"Our planes also carry out missions to detect and pinpoint the location of foreign aircraft carriers, as well as to supply missions to support the activities of (Russian) polar stations in line with the concept of the development of our Arctic zone," the general said.

US soldiers in Iraq could face courts-martial for getting pregnant

WASHINGTON, 23 Dec—A new order from the general in charge of US troops in northern Iraq makes getting pregnant or impregnating a fellow soldier an offense punishable by court-martial.

The directive, part of a larger order restricting the behavior of the 22,000 soldiers under Maj Gen Anthony Cucolo’s command, is meant to prevent losing soldiers at a time when troop strength is stretched thin, Cucolo explained in a statement sent to the troops under his command and provided to CNN.

"I need every soldier I’ve got, especially since we are facing a drawdown of forces during our mission," Cucolo wrote. "Anyone who leaves this fight earlier than the expected 12-month deployment creates a burden on their teammates. Anyone who leaves this fight early because they made a personal choice that changed their medical status — or contributes to doing that to another — is not in keeping with a key element of our ethos."—INTERNET

Death toll in shipwreck in Brazil reaches seven

RIO DE JANEIRO, 23 Dec—The number of deaths in the boat accident in the Amazon River in Brazil’s northern Para state reached seven, authorities said on Tuesday.

The rescue teams managed to find five bodies earlier in the day.

During the morning, the bodies of a woman and a child had been taken from the water as well.

Teen runs up dad’s cell bill to nearly $22,000

A 13-year-old teen was probably in hot water with his father after running up a cell phone bill of nearly $22,000.

Ted Estarija said he was expecting his bill to be higher this month after adding his son to his plan, but wasn’t expecting a bill of $21,917 in data usage charges. The Hayward man said his Verizon Wireless bill soared after his son apparently downloaded about 1.4 million kilobytes of data last month.

His plan didn’t cover data usage, so he was charged by the megabyte.

Estarija said after the first media reports, Verizon said they would credit his account for the entire amount.

Bollywood looks to Aamir Khan to end 2009 on a high

Mumbai, 23 Dec—Bollywood is looking to Aamir Khan to bring festive cheer to the industry after a disappointing 2009 hit by a producers' strike, swine flu fears and a lack of box office success.

The actor-producer-director's heavily-marketed "3 Idiots", based on Chetan Bhagat's best-selling debut novel "Five Point Someone" about three struggling students at a business school, is released on Friday, Christmas Day.

Bollywood watchers hope Khan — known for only making one big film per year in an industry where leading actors can be working on several films at the same time — can replicate his previous year-end successes. His 2008 Christmas offering, "Ghajini", became Bollywood's highest grossing film and followed the acclaimed "Taare Zameen Par" (Stars on Earth) in 2007. "We hope he creates a hattrick this year," said Amod Mehra, a Bollywood trade analyst.

Another leading critic, Taran Adarsh, gave the film 4.5 stars on his bollywoodhungama.com site and said it "easily ranks amongst Aamir, (director) Rajkumar Hirani and (producer) Vidhu Vinod Chopra's finest films". Bollywood began 2009 after a muted end to 2008 due to the deadly terror attacks in Mumbai, which saw the cancellation of a number of films.

Turkmenistan to resume gas supplies to Russia

Moscow, 23 Dec—Turkmenistan has agreed to resume its gas supplies to Russia in January, after halting them last April, Russian news agencies reported on Tuesday.

The reports said up to 30 billion cubic meters would be delivered annually.

Contract amendments on gas supplies, at European level prices, were signed between the two countries' gas monopolies, Gazprom and Turkmenogaz, on Monday, as the Russian and Turkmen presidents met in the Turkmen capital of Ashgabat.

The documents "set down all the terms for resuming supplies, their volume and prices and status," said Gazprom Deputy Chief Executive Alexander Medvedev. "For the first time in Russian-Turkmen gas relations, gas supplies will be based on a formula that corresponds fully to the terms of the European gas market," said Medvedev. The gas supplies should resume “from 1 January or no later than 10 January, 2010,” he added.

New Delhi, 23 Dec—India has tightened its rules for long-term tourist visas in a move that will hit thousands of foreigners living in the country or planning lengthy stays, a foreign ministry official said on Wednesday.

Under previous rules, tourists on five- or 10-year visas were required to leave the country every 180 days. But many would simply fly to a neighbouring country such as Nepal for a brief stay before returning.

Now they will still face the same 180-day deadline, but will have to stay out of the country for two months before they can reenter.

“We have changed the rules to prevent the misuse of the long-term tourist visa,” a senior official at the foreign ministry told AFP, asking not be named.

The new rules have been implemented since 4 November, he said, although the US embassy in New Delhi said the changes were being applied inconsistently and had caused problems for a number of its nationals.

Brain tissues help scientists understand Parkinson’s

BEIJING, 23 Dec—Scientists can understand the progression of the condition of the Parkinson’s disease from an earlier stage, Britain’s Parkinson’s Disease Society (PDS) said after studying the brain tissue along with the lifestyle histories of youngsters with Parkinson’s, according to news reports on Wednesday.

Director in PDS’s R&D, Dr Kieran Breen, said that they are optimistic about finding a treatment for people with the Parkinson’s.

Breen, together with his colleagues, indicated that they are delighted with the response to their appeal to the brain tissues so far.

“Scientific research on brains from people both with and without Parkinson’s is essential to help us move closer to our goal,” said Dr Breen.

Earlier last month, published in the Cell Transplantation Journal, a research suggested that nerve cells lost in Parkinson’s could be supplemented using cells from a person’s own brain.

New warbler identified in Southeast Asia

VIENTIANE, 23 Dec—A tiny colourful bird with a loud and distinctive sound has been discovered living in the forests of Laos and Vietnam, scientists said.

The bird has been nicknamed the “limestone leaf warbler” because it breeds in region of Laos known for its limestone deposits, scientists from the Wildlife Conservation Society said in a release on Tuesday.

The olive-green bird, with a yellow breast and striped crown, has a distinctive sound and is smaller with shorter wings and a larger bill than other warblers found in Southeast Asia, the scientific team wrote in the International Journal of Avian Science.

“The discovery of this new species is very exciting and underscores the importance of this region of Indochina for conservation,” society spokesman Colin Poole said, calling the region the “Lost World for new and unusual wildlife.”

Twenty years left to prevent orangutan from extinction

KUALA LUMPUR, 23 Dec—The orangutan will become extinct if no action is taken to protect its jungle habitat in the next two decades, a Malaysian conservationist has warned.

There are some 60,000 orangutan still living in the wild in Malaysia and Indonesia but deforestation and the expansion of palm plantations have taken a heavy toll, the Star newspaper reported on Wednesday, citing Tsubouchi Toshinori from the Borneo Conservation Trust. The orangutan habitat is fragmented and isolated by plantations, which makes them unable to migrate and find mates to produce babies, Tsubouchi said.

He noted that although studies predicted that the orangutan would disappear within 50 years if their habitat continued to vanish, action needed to be taken within the next two decades to stall that process.

Environmentalists are calling for the creation of wildlife “corridors” in Malaysia to link the scraps of jungle where the orangutan have become trapped by decades of encroachment by loggers and oil palm companies.

China considers compulsory green energy purchases by grid operators

BEIJING, 23 Dec—China’s top legislature on Tuesday discussed a legal amendment to require electricity grid companies to buy all the power produced by renewable energy generators.

The State Council energy department and the state power regulatory agency should supervise the purchases, said the draft amendment to the Renewable Energy Law, which was submitted to the Standing Committee of the National People’s Congress (NPC) for its second reading.

It is an important measure to support the country’s fledgling renewable energy sector, experts say.

According to the draft, the State Council energy department, in conjunction with the state power regulatory agency and the State Council finance departments, should “determine the proportion of renewable energy power generation to the overall generating capacity for a certain period.”

Vietnam set for middle income status

WASHINGTON, 23 Dec—The World Bank said it had approved its biggest ever loan to Vietnam as it virtually endorsed the once war-ravaged Southeast Asian nation’s impending elevation to middle-income status.

The $500 million dollar loan was the first to the fast-growing Communist country from the bank’s low-interest lending arm, the International Bank for Reconciliation and Development (IBRD), which provides credit to mainly middle-income nations. Vietnam has set itself a 2010 target of embracing middle-income status.

Singapore, EU to negotiate FTA

SINGAPORE, 23 Dec—Singapore and the European Union(EU) have agreed to start negotiations for a free trade agreement (FTA). Singapore’s Ministry of Trade and Industry said on Tuesday.

Calling it a milestone in Singapore’s relation-ship with the EU, the ministry said that an FTA with the EU will be a key addition to Singapore’s network of FTAs, as the EU is Singapore’s largest trading partner.

The ministry said that the bilateral FTA will not only promote the flow of goods, services and investment, it is also likely to enhance collaboration in areas such as trade facilitation and technical regulations. The FTA will also con-tribute to regional eco-nomic integration by paving the way for an FTA between the EU and the Association of South-East Asian Nations (ASEAN).

Kuwait discovers new light crude, gas field

KUWAIT CITY, 23 Dec—Oil-rich Kuwait said on Tuesday it has discovered a light crude and gas field in the northwest, as the country moves toward a target of four million barrels per day of crude by 2020. The field is located in the area of Mutreba and its primary production is estimated at 80,000 barrels per day of light crude and 110 million cubic feet per day of gas.

Oil holds above $74 after OPEC output unchanged

SINGAPORE, 23 Dec—Oil prices held above $74 a barrel on Wednesday in Asia after OPEC left output levels unchanged and a report showed US crude inventories fell last week.

Benchmark crude for February delivery was down 7 cents to settle at $74.40 at midday Singapore Time in New York in this on Tuesday.

Petroleum Institute said last week that the 12- nation cartel won’t change production quotas, a move widely expected by investors.

OPEC leaders called on group members to adhere more closely to current quotas and reduce cheating.

Prices were boosted by signs US oil demand may be picking up. US crude inventories fell more than expected last week, the American Petroleum Institute said late Tuesday.

Crude stocks fell 3.7 million barrels while analysts had expected a drop of 2.0 million barrels, according to a survey by Platts, the energy information arm of McGraw-Hill Cos.

More small-business bankruptcies reported in California

LOS ANGELES, 23 Dec—As credit lines have shrunk and consumers have cut back on spending, thousands of small businesses have closed their doors in California over the last year, it was reported on Tuesday.

The latest data show that small-business bankruptcies shot up 81 percent in the state for the 12 months ended on 30 Sept, compared with the previous year, according to the Los Angeles Times.

About 19,000 small businesses filed for bankruptcy in California during the 12-month period, up from 10,500 the previous year, the paper said.

Filings nationwide were up 44 percent, said the paper, citing figures from the credit analysis firm Equifax Inc. The Obama Administration’s new plan to give a boost to small businesses reflects continued trouble in that sector, which is facing new failures even as much of the nation’s economy is stabilizing, the paper noted.

The plight of struggling firms has been aggravated by the reluctance of banks to lend money, said Brian Headd, an economist at the Small Business Administration’s office of advocacy. “While bankruptcies are up, overall, small-business closures are up even more,” Headd said.

13 people warned or fined over e-cigarettes in Singapore

SINGAPORE, 23 Dec—The Singapore’s Health Sciences Authority (HSA) evicted 13 people for bringing in and selling the much-hyped e-cigarette, local media reported on Wednesday.

Among the 13 individuals investigated are four local suppliers who set up websites to hawk the product. The other nine ordered the device online from overseas suppliers, local newspaper The Straits Times reported.

Touted as a “healthy” way to beat rising cigarette prices and a widening ban on smoking here, the electronic cigarette comprises a cartridge of liquid nicotine inserted into a battery-operated steel tube. A heating coil vaporizes the nicotine into a fine mist, which is then inhaled.

Three dead as dust storm, snow blast Arizona

PHOENIX, 23 Dec—A strong winter storm wreaked havoc in Arizona on Tuesday, leaving at least three people dead and six injured in a series of fiery crashes caused by thick, blowing dust on Interstate 10 and shutting down I-40 for hours with slick conditions. One of the dead was a 25-year-old man whose vehicle was rear-ended by his father’s truck.

The midday I-10 wrecks, about 40 miles south of Phoenix near Casa Grande, left the eastbound lanes littered with the smoldering remains of several big rigs, passenger cars and vans. Both directions of the freeway connecting Tucson to Phoenix were closed for hours as crews freed the injured and dead from the tangled wreckage.

Along 1-40 west of Flagstaff, dozens of cars and trucks were involved in collisions or slid off the highway as snow began falling on Tuesday afternoon. A stretch of the highway between Williams and Ash Fork was closed intermittently. Snowy and slippery conditions were also reported on I-17 north of Sedona.

Frankfurt airport re-opens after being closed by wintry weather

BERLIN, 23 Dec—Frankfurt International Airport, an aviation hub for both Germany and Europe, re-opened on Tuesday after a seven-hour overnight shutdown caused by wintry weather.

Snow, ice and severe cold in southwestern Germany had hampered takeoffs and landings in the Frankfurt airport in recent days. Ground crews constantly cleared falling snow and de-iced waiting aircrafts, but some flights had to be cancelled or delayed when workers could not keep up the pace.

The runways were closed late Monday after they became too icy to use. The closures stranded about 8,000 passengers.

Stem cells treatment helps regain eyesight

BEIJING, 23 Dec — A new stem cells treatment has cured eight people who had nearly lost their eyesight in the English city of Newcastle, according to news reports on Wednesday.

Russell Turnbull, one of the cured patients whose right eye was burned in an ammonia attack after intervening in a fight on a Newcastle bus 15 years ago, said, “This has transformed my life...I’m working, I can go jet skiing and also ride horses.”

Doctors experimented on a treatment at the North East England Stem Cell Institute in Newcastle, in which stem cells were taken from Turnbull’s healthy eye and grown on a layer of amniotic tissue.

When the cells had covered the membrane, a piece of it was transplanted onto his damaged eye. Seven to eight weeks later, the membrane had broken down, leaving his damaged eye with a fresh material of healthy stem cells, which repaired the cornea.

Six month later, eye tests showed Turnbull’s eyesight was as good as it had been before the attack.

The scientist named Sajjad Ahmad, who developed the Newcastle method, said its success indicated the scope for using the patient’s own stem cells to cure his own eye.

Abdominal surgery higher risk in elderly

SEATTLE, 23 Dec — Older adults may have a higher risk of complications and death after abdominal surgery, US researchers found.

Dr Nader N Massar and colleagues at University of Washington School of Medicine, Seattle, examined complication and death rates of 101,318 adults age 65 or older who underwent common abdominal procedures such as gall-bladder removal, hysterectomy and colectomy from 1987-2004.

Complications were recorded within 90 days of discharge and deaths were recorded within 90 days of hospital admission.

The study, published in the Archives of Surgery, found advancing age was associated with increasing frequency of complications — ages 65-69 had a 14.6 percent complication rate, while those age 90 and older had a 22.7 percent complication rate, Massarweh said.

The death rate following surgery was 2.5 percent for those ages 65-69 to 12.6 percent for those age 90 and older, the study said.

Canada seeks anti-cancer additive comment

OTTAWA, 23 Dec — Canadian health officials are asking the public for comment on putting the cancer-fighting enzyme asparaginase in baked and fried food.

McCain’s, Frito Lay and other companies are urging the Canadian government to approve the food additive that cuts down on the levels of the cancer-fighting enzyme asparaginase in baked and fried food.

In 2002, a Swedish discovery discovered high levels of what was considered a probable carcinogen, acrylamide, formed in some food after high-temperature frying or baking.

In 2005, the UN Food and Agriculture Organization and the World Health Organization approved adding asparaginase to potato chips, French fries and packaged cookies, the Star reported.

More clinical trials use computer records

OTTAWA, 23 Dec — Canadian health officials found 41 percent of clinical trials have moved away from manual trial data using only paper records.

From 2006-2007 there were approximately 950 clinical trials registered with sites in Canada — about half funded by the pharmaceutical industry. Industry funded trials were more likely to use electronic data capture tools.

Terry like Baresi and Maldini, says Ancelotti

LONDON, 23 Dec—The Italian manager of Serie A club AC Milan, Carlo Ancelotti, has likened the way John Terry played on Sunday to the performances of Franco Baresi and Paolo Maldini in his latest show of support for his beleaguered captain. The Englishman skipper has been having to defend himself from accusations of money-grabbing after the News of the World tabloid on Sunday alleged he’d accepted a financial payment to provide a tour of Chelsea’s training ground.

The paper claimed Terry, who captained the Premier League leaders in Sunday’s 1-1 draw at West Ham, arranged the visit to Chelsea’s Cobham training complex for three undercover reporters posing as businessmen without permission from Ancelotti. It is claimed that Terry took a £10,000 pounds payment, 8,000 pounds of which he wanted to go to the ‘Make A Wish’ charity for children with the other 2,000 pounds going to a middleman.

Ancelotti dismissed the report and the former AC Milan coach went further by telling Tuesday’s London Evening Standard that centre-back Terry reminded him of Rossoneri defensive greats Baresi and Maldini, whom he played alongside at the San Siro.—Internet

Wenger willing to wait on Van Persie

LONDON, 23 Dec—Arsenal manager Arsene Wenger has said on Tuesday he’d all but given up on the idea of Dutch striker Robin van Persie playing for the English Premier League club again this season.

However, he stressed the player would regain full fitness and once more be a force at top-flight level. The 26-year-old forward suffered a right ankle injury while on international duty in November.

The Gunners had hoped the striker might be out for six weeks but instead he needed surgery and now Wenger believes the best Van Persie and Arsenal can hope for is a return towards the end of the current campaign. “If you are very positive you would say (he’ll be back) in April,” Wenger told the club’s website. “If you’re a bit cautious you say May. It is virtually the rest of the season.—Internet

Manchester City deny chief executive lied to fans

In a prepared statement at Monday’s news conference to present Mancini as the replacement for sacked Mark Hughes City chief executive Garry Cook claimed the Italian had agreed to join the club on Friday, two days after a 3-0 defeat to Spurs.

Mancini appeared to contradict that statement, however, by revealing that he had first met with City chairman Khaldoon Al-Mubarak in London a fortnight ago.

British press reports Tuesday were overwhelmingly critical of the way in which City had gone about sacking Hughes and bringing in Mancini, while fans phoned up Eastlands to complain about the club’s conduct.—Internet

Blood test could derail Pacquiao-Mayweather clash

LOS ANGELES, 23 Dec—A much-anticipated fight between Floyd Mayweather Jr and Manny Pacquiao could be in danger because of a standoff over drug-testing procedures, reports said on Tuesday.

SUNDERLAND, 23 Dec—Sunderland defender Michael Turner will now serve a four-game ban for his sending-off against Manchester City after the Football Association (FA) added an extra match to the usual suspension.

He will miss the Boxing Day Premier League clash with Everton, the trip to Blackburn two days later as well as the FA Cup third round tie against non-league Barrow and the home game against Bolton on 9 January.

Turner won’t be available again until Sunderland face current Premier League leaders Chelsea on 9 January. He was sent-off by referee Andre Marriner during the closing stages of Sunderland’s 4-3 Premier League loss away to City at Eastlands on Saturday after catching Gareth Barry with an elbow.

Sunderland manager Steve Bruce branded the decision a joke and announced the club would appeal.

The Black Cats argued the standard three-game ban is excessive but an independent FA regulatory commission landed Turner with a four-game ban on Tuesday, effectively for wasting their time, as they said the appeal had no chance of success.—Internet
