UK apologizes, took organs from nuclear workers’ bodies

LONDON, 17 Nov—Britain apologized on Tuesday for the unauthorized removal for laboratory analysis of organs and tissue from the bodies of dozens of people who worked in the nuclear industry over three decades from the 1960s. An inquiry by leading lawyer Michael Redfern found that pathologists removed organs from 64 workers at the Sellafield nuclear plant in northwest England and 12 workers at other nuclear sites.

The organs were examined at Sellafield as part of research into the health effects of work in the industry, but the authorities failed to get consent from the workers’ relatives.

“To lose a family member is tragic. To find out, sometimes decades later, that tissue had been taken without consent is an unimaginable distress,” Energy Secretary Chris Huhne said in a statement to Parliament. —MNA/Reuters

UAE, Australia and US top list of carbon emitters

OSLO, 17 Nov—The United Arab Emirates, Australia and the United States have the worst overall records for emitting greenhouse gases, according to an index published on Wednesday combining current and historic emissions.

The top of the 183-nation ranking, compiled by British consultancy Maplecroft, was dominated by rich countries and OPEC members. It said it aimed to alert investors to countries vulnerable if UN-led climate talks ever agreed wider penalties on carbon.

The ranking of carbon dioxide emissions from energy use placed the UAE top, largely because of a sharp rise in emissions in recent years linked to desalination plants in an economy almost entirely dependent on fossil fuels. “Desalination is a positive way to address water security but high emissions undermine the need to find more energy-efficient innovations,” Maplecroft said in a statement.

Australia, dependent on coal, was second ahead of the United States, by far the biggest cumulative emitter since 1900 and now the number two national emitter behind China. Both Australians and Americans have high per capita emissions. They were trailed by Canada, the Netherlands, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, Russia, Belgium and Kazakhstan in the top 10. —MNA/Reuters

Afghan poll candidate killed during holiday prayers

KUNDUZ, 17 Nov—A bomb in a graveyard in northern Afghanistan killed a parliamentary candidate and a retired policeman and wounded five, including a mayor, on Tuesday, an intelligence official said.

The attack happened in the Khan Abad District of northern Kunduz Province as the men prayed inside the graveyard to mark the start of the Muslim Eid al-Adha holiday, provincial intelligence chief Abdul Rahman Aqtaash said.

Violence in Afghanistan was already at its worst since the Taleban were overthrown by US-backed Afghan forces in late 2001 but a dramatic increase in attacks in the past few days will be a sobering message for NATO leaders ahead of a summit this week.

Mohammad Islam Mujahid, a candidate from Kunduz in Afghanistan’s September parliamentary election, and Haji Bismillah, a retired police officer, were killed in the attack, Aqtaash said. Bismillah was the brother of the mayor of Kunduz city.

The mayor, who had been praying with the other men, was wounded along with four civilians, Aqtaash said, adding the bomb had been placed near the grave before the men had arrived. —MNA/Reuters

Landmine kills 14 in Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, 17 Nov—Fourteen Cambodians have been killed by an anti-tank landmine left over from years of war that went off when they were travelling down a remote road, police said on Wednesday.

A baby girl and nine women were among the dead in the blast which hit their trailer being pulled by a tractor late on Tuesday in Battambang Province, in the northwest, said district police chief Bith Sambo.

“They have not used that road so often ... this time they used a shortcut,” Bith Sambo said, adding that no one knew who had planted the mine. The toll was the worst from a mine in Cambodia in 10 years. —MNA/Reuters

Google exit from China a predictable gift

SAN FRANCISCO, 17 Nov—The head of China’s dominant Internet search engine said that Google’s retreat from the mainland was a predictable gift that came as no surprise to him. Baidu chairman Robin Li said that when Google first launched its search service in China, his advice was that chief Eric Schmidt spend at least six months a year in that country to understand the market.

“Apparently, Eric did not take my advice,” Li said during an unprecedented on-stage chat at a Web 2.0 Summit in San Francisco. “I knew that, eventually, he would hand me a gift and it happened.”

Schmidt had his turn on the Summit stage earlier in the day, but did not discuss Baidu. Baidu reported in October that its net profit more than doubled in the third quarter, as rival Google continued to lose market share following its public spat with Beijing over censorship.

Baidu has increased its dominance of the world’s biggest online market at the expense of Google, which has seen its share dwindle throughout the year. Baidu said its net profit soared 112.4 percent year-on-year to 1.05 billion yuan (157.89 million dollars) in the third quarter. Total revenue ballooned to 2.26 billion yuan, up 76.4 percent from the same period last year, the company said. China has 420 million web users, with 99 percent of them using Baidu, Li said.

NASA finds 4th crack on space shuttle fuel tank

CAPE CANAVERAL, 17 Nov—NASA has found a fourth crack in the fuel tank for space shuttle Discovery. Discovery’s final mission remains on hold as engineers and technicians work to fix all the cracks as well as a hydrogen leak.

NASA spokesman Allard Beutel said Monday the repairs need to be made before a new launch date is picked. The launch window opens on 30 Nov and closes on 6 Dec.

NASA first discovered a long crack in the insulating foam of the fuel tank, after the countdown was halted on 5 Nov by the gas leak. Last week, two cracks were found on the exterior of the tank. Then another crack popped up, then another. The cracks are in the tank’s central, ribbed section, which holds instruments, not fuel.—Internet

Chinese wind power producers plan Hong Kong IPOs

HONG KONG, 17 Nov—Two of China’s top power producers plan to raise 2.5 billion US dollars by listing their wind-power units in Hong Kong, reports said Tuesday, the latest among several green firms to list in the city.—Internet

A windfarm on the outskirts of Beijing is seen in August 2010. Two of China’s top power producers plan to raise 2.5 billion US dollars by listing their wind-power units in Hong Kong, reports said Tuesday, the latest among several green firms to list in the city. Huaxin Renewables, a unit of major power producer China Huaxin Group, plans to raise 1.5 billion US dollars ahead of a listing on 16 December, the Wall Street Journal reported, citing a term sheet for the deal.

China Datang Corp, Renewable Power, a unit of China Datang Corp, plans to raise one billion US dollars before its on 9 December listing, the Journal said.

Both companies began pre-marketing the deals Monday and plan to price their offerings in early December. Huaxin Renewables, which plans to sell 2.49 billion shares, will use the proceeds to expand its wind power business, repay bank loans and acquire wind power projects in China and overseas, the report said.

Datang Corp’s subsidiary, which aims to sell 2.14 billion shares, plans to use the cash to fund wind power projects in Inner Mongolia, repay bank loans and purchase wind turbines.—Internet

Anti-Firesheep trick protects Linux users

WASHINGTON, 17 Nov—The Firesheep plug-in for Firefox has done an admirable job of illustrating the insecurity of public Wi-Fi, just as its creators intended. Now that it’s out there in the wild, however, the question for users is how to protect their sensitive information.

On the Windows side, pretty much all we’ve seen so far have been tools that simply alert you when Firesheep is being used on the network you’re con-nected to. Unfortunately, they don’t go beyond that to actually protect your data.

For Linux users, however, the situation is better. A free new solution from security firm Sophos lets Linux users exploit the open source operating system “bro-wse over unen-crypted Wi-Fi access points with no more risk than you’d browse at home,” according to its blog post from earlier today.

It takes only 60 seconds to set up, even for users on the road, and it works even if you’re already working over unencrypted Wi-Fi, the company says.—Internet

Hackers rush to adapt Kinect outside the Xbox 360

CALIFORNIA, 17 Nov—Despite all the promotional hand-waving Microsoft did to launch its Kinect hands-free game controller, the company may have underestimated some of its impact. Programmers are rapidly adapting the Minority Report-like device for other uses that have nothing to do with the Xbox 360 — and a contest is seeking more experiments.

Oliver Kreylos, a researcher at the University of California-Davis, announced he has used the two cameras in the Kinect to control the 3-D software and use it as a 3-D video camera. In Kinect, one of the cameras shoots video while the other measures depth, resulting in a 640x480 video stream and a 320x240 depth stream. The depth stream measures invisible infrared dots that are projected into a room. Kreylos’ hack allows him to generate live 3-D feeds of himself or objects in the room.—Internet
GM IPO swells with investor demand

New York, 17 Nov—Strong investor demand has driven the price range of GM’s IPO to between $32 and $33 per share, taking the US government closer to breakeven on its controversial investment in the top US automaker, two people familiar with the matter said on Monday.

In addition, the US government could opt to sell more shares than first planned in the initial public offering while GM could offer additional preferred shares, the sources said.

The prospect for a higher GM share price and an increased offering size mean that the initial loss to US taxpayers from the bailout of General Motors (GM.UL) will be more limited than initially thought.

GM had earlier filed to sell common shares for $26 to $29 each. The move to the higher range would represent an 18 percent increase at the midpoint.

An increase in the $3 billion in preferred stock that GM had first planned to offer would strengthen the automaker’s balance sheet since those shares represent a new issue. A filing with the US Securities and Exchange Commission that raises the offering price range has been prepared and is expected to be filed shortly, one of the people said. —Internet

Nordstrom’s 3Q profit rises 43 percent

New York, 17 Nov—Upscale department store chain Nordstrom Inc. said Monday that its third-quarter net income rose 43 percent, boosted by an increase in regular-price selling and tight inventory controls.

The company, based in Seattle, also raised its earnings outlook, but not as high as analysts expected on average, and Nordstrom shares fell 25 cents in aftermarket trading to $41.58. The shares had ended regular trading up 43 cents.

Nordstrom said it earned $119 million, or 53 cents per share, for the period that ended on 30 Oct. That compares with $83 million, or 38 cents per share, a year earlier.

As the chain’s mainly upper-income customers continued to spend more this year than last year, Nordstrom’s revenue rose 11 percent, to $2.18 billion from $1.96 billion.

Revenue at stores opened at least a year rose 5.8 percent. The measure is a key indicator of a retailer’s health because it excludes stores that open and close during the year. Analysts surveyed by Thomson Reuters on average expected Nordstrom to report earnings of 51 cents per share and revenue of $2.09 billion. —Internet

Stocks edge lower as Fed concerns offset M&A

New York, 17 Nov—Stocks slipped on Monday as concerns the Federal Reserve may scale back its efforts to stimulate the economy muted optimism over two big takeover bids.

The S&P 500 held above its 20-day moving average, now near 1,196 and marking a potential support level, though the index closed slightly lower.

The energy and materials sectors, which are sensitive to commodity prices and weaken when the dollar rises, led the way down as the Treasury bond market selloff picked up steam in the afternoon. The S&P materials sector (GSPM) lost 0.9 percent.

“There’s been concern that the quantitative easing is going to be scaled back. There is certainly the skepticism and uncertainty over QE 2 out there,” said John Canally, an investment strategist and economist at LPL Financial in Boston.

The Dow Jones industrial average (DJI) edged up 9.39 points, or 0.08 percent, at 11,201.97. The Standard & Poor’s 500 Index (SPX) was off 1.46 points, or 0.12 percent, to 1,197.75. The Nasdaq Composite Index (IXIC) slipped 4.39 points, or 0.17 percent, to 2,513.82. —Internet

Debt tensions flare up as Ireland denies bailout

Dublin, 17 Nov—Europe’s debt crisis spread widening ripples Monday, with Irish officials denying that their talks with other eurozone governments were aimed at getting a bailout, while the Greek Prime Minister accused Germany of making things worse with talk of forcing creditors to take losses.

The flare-up in tension adds to pressure on EU finance ministers, who will be in Brussels Tuesday for their monthly meeting.

After spending their recent gatherings focusing on crisis prevention, a weeklong sell-off of Irish and Portuguese bonds has thrown them back into crisis management.

The Irish Department of Finance said in a statement Monday it was pursuing “contacts at official level” with other eurozone governments and the EU, but aides to Finance Minister Brian Lenihan emphasized Ireland has no need for a lifeline from the euro750 billion financial backstop for the eurozone.

Ireland says it had enough cash to last through mid-2011. —Internet

Oil below $85 before US crude supply reports

Singapore, 17 Nov—Oil prices hovered below $85 a barrel Tuesday in Asia as traders looked to the latest US crude supply reports for clues about the strength of consumer demand for fuel.

Benchmark oil for December delivery was down 28 cents at $84.58 a barrel at early afternoon Singapore time in electronic trading on the New York Mercantile Exchange. The contract fell 2 cents to settle at $84.86 on Monday.

Crude inventories likely rose 1.2 million barrels last week, according to analysts surveyed by Platts, the energy information arm of McGraw-Hill Cos. The American Petroleum Institute plans to announce its inventory numbers later Tuesday while the Energy Department’s Energy Information Administration reports its weekly supply data Wednesday.

Some analysts warn that if oil prices jump above $100 — crude rose to $147 in July 2008 — inflation in Asia would quicken, undermining economic expansion in the world’s fastest growing region.
Caterpillar buying Bucyrus in big bet on mining

DETROIT/ROVIDENCE, 17 Nov—Caterpillar Inc (CAT.N) sealed its position as the world’s No 1 maker of mining equipment on Monday with its purchase of Bucyrus International Inc (BUCY.O) for $7.6 billion, the biggest acquisition in its 85-year history.

If concluded, the deal would exclude the mining business, which is very profitable. But the price they paid is pretty full.”

New Facebook message system takes aim at Google, Yahoo!

SAN FRANCISCO, 17 Nov—Facebook launched a next-generation online messaging service that includes Facebook.com email addresses in a move seen as a shot across the bow of Google, Yahoo! and Microsoft.

Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg on Monday unveiled what he called a “convergent” modern messaging system that “handles messages seamlessly across all the ways you want to communicate” in a single inbox.

“Over the past 12 months, we’ve seen a 50 percent increase in Facebook messenger traffic. The Facebook app itself is the biggest in the company’s history by “a long shot.” Including $1 billion of Bucyrus debt being assumed by Caterpillar, the transaction is worth $8.6 billion.

“It’s a good strategic fit,” said Adam Fleck, an analyst at Morningstar. “It about doubles their mining business, which is very profitable. But the price they paid is pretty full.”

Microsoft sells one million Kinects in 10 days

WASHINGTON, 17 Nov—Microsoft said it sold one million Kinect motion-sensing controllers for the Xbox 360 videogame console in 10 days and is on pace to sell five million by the end of the year.

Don Mattrick, president of Microsoft’s Interactive Entertainment Business.

“We will continue to work with our retailer partners to keep pace with high demand and deliver against our plan to sell more than five million Kinect sensors worldwide by the end of this year,” Mattrick said in a statement.

Microsoft launched the Kinect in North America on 4 November and in Europe last week. It launches in Asia later this week.

Kinect uses a 3D camera and motion recognition software to let people play videogames using natural body movements and voice commands instead of hand-held controllers.

The stand-alone Kinect, which works with the 45 million Xbox 360s already sold worldwide, costs 150 dollars. A four-gigabyte Xbox 360 console that includes the Kinect and the “Kinect Adventures” game sells for 299 dollars.—Internet

Most AXA Asia Pacific directors back new AMP bid

SYDNEY, 17 Nov —The Asia-Pacific arm of French wealth manager AXA has tentatively welcomed a revived takeover offer from Australian insurer AMP, saying Tuesday that five of its six board members backed the proposal.

AMP made a new bid worth at least 13 billion dollars (12.8 billion US) on Monday for AXA Asia Pacific Holdings (AXA APH), saying the deal could reshape Australia’s financial services market which is dominated by four banks.

The deal requires the unanimous support of AXA APH’s six independent board members to proceed. The company said five backed the deal while the sixth was seeking more information.

“A majority of the independent directors believe AMP and AXA SA’s proposal provides minority shareholders with appropriate value for their investment supported by significant downside protection,” AXA APH chairman Rick Allert said.

“As a result, we believe the proposal is in the best interests of AXA APH minority shareholders.”
A glimpse at thriving crop plantations in Kachin State

Article: Reporter Tun Zaw (Sangyoung); Photos: Reporter Myint Aung (Ahlon)

While in Kachin State, we the news crew of Myanma Alin Daily enjoyed the scenic beauty of Myitkyina in the morning. We saw smooth and wide roads, colourful landscaping plants on the traffic islands and flowery plants on both sides of the roads.

Gazing at progress of Myitkyina, plantations cultivated by Yuzana All-round Cultivation Project on both sides of the road from Phakant to Tanai townships.

On both sides of 100 miles long Ledo Road from Myitkyina to Tanai townships, a total of 80,000 acres of lands out of 216,433 acres have been reclaimed. Of them, a total of 50,000 acres of tapioca in Tanai Township and 26,000 acres in Phakant Township, totaling 41,000 acres. Moreover, 300 acres of other crops are being cultivated in Tanai Township and 800 acres in Phakant Township, totaling 1100 acres.

Reclamation of farmlands is being undertaken there. In the near future, thriving various crops will be a drive not only for uplifting socio-economic status of the local people but also for ensuring food sufficiency and earning income for the nation.

Heavy smoking in pregnancy linked to crime in offspring

PARIS, 17 Nov—Mothers who puff a pack a day or more while pregnant run a 30 percent higher risk of having kids who become criminal offenders, according to a study published Tuesday.

The link held true even after other factors statistically associated with criminal behaviour—mental illness, family problems, poverty—were ruled out, the study found.

The men and women were as likely as men to tend toward crime, and both sexes faced a higher risk of frequent arrests when their mothers were especially heavy smokers, it said.

Researchers led by Angela Paradis of the Harvard School of Public Health reviewed the health and criminal records of 4,000 American adults between 33 and 40 years old.

The findings do support a modest causal relationship,” the authors concluded.

Previous research has shown a strong correlation between mothers who smoke while pregnant and a range of problems in children, including hyperactivity, poor attention span and aggressiveness in early childhood, and delinquency in adolescence.

Animal studies suggest that these problems may stem in part from the biological effects of nicotine on the developing brain, especially on neurotransmitter receptors. Chronic criminal offenders are more likely to suffer from neuropsychological disorders.—Internet

Fish oil doesn’t help heart rhythm problem

CHICAGO, 17 Nov—Eating fish is good for the heart, but taking omega-3 fish oil supplements did not prevent flare-ups of a common heart rhythm problem as doctors hoped it would, researchers reported Monday.

It was the first large, well-done study to test omega-3 capsules for atrial fibrillation, when the heart quivers instead of beating normally. More than 2 million Americans have the problem, which is more than an unsettling flutter—it raises the risk of blood clots that can cause a stroke.

Small studies have gone back and forth on whether fish oil helps this condition. Researchers tested this by giving 663 people with atrial fibrillation either dummy pills or a high-dose prescription version of omega-3 fatty acids—the good fat in oily fish like salmon, tuna and sardines. After six months, there was no difference in heart flutter episodes. Doctors say dietary sources should talk with their doctors about omega-3 without direction from their doctor, the association says. Fish oil capsules are not for children or women who are pregnant or nursing, because they are sold as Lovaza in the United States and as Zodin or women who are pregnant or nursing, because they are sold as Lovaza in the United States and as Zodin in Europe by GlaxoSmithKline PLC, which paid for the research.

A lot of research suggests that eating fish helps protect against heart disease, and the Heart Association recommends adults eat fish at least twice a week. People with heart disease—clogged arteries—who cannot get enough omega-3 from dietary sources should talk with their doctors about supplements, the association says.

No one should consume more than 3 grams of omega-3 without direction from their doctor, the association says. Fish oil capsules are not for children or women who are pregnant or nursing, because they can cause bleeding problems.

Earlier this month, a big study found that omega-3 pills didn’t slow the mental or physical decline of Alzheimer’s disease patients. The pills in that study had omega-3 derived from algae.—Internet

What Do Women Really Want? Oxytocin

SAN DIEGO, 17 Nov—A male scientist says he’s discovered what makes women happy.

It’s a hormone called oxytocin, says Paul Zak, a researcher at Claremont Graduate University. Zak presented evidence to back his case today at the Society for Neuroscience meeting in San Diego.

Produced naturally in the body, oxytocin can trigger labour contractions and lactation in women. It’s also been shown to boost feelings of trust and empathy in both men and women.

Zak, trained as an economist, was part of a team that studied oxytocin levels in college-age women before and after they received a $24 gift from a stranger.

Acts like this, which show kindness and trust, are known to cause oxytocin levels to rise. But the amount of increase varies widely from person to person. In this study, women filled out surveys about their satisfaction with life before they received the gift. And comparing the survey results with oxytocin changes revealed a clear pattern.

“Women who release more oxytocin are happier,” Zak told the audience at the neuroscience meeting.

“They like being around other people more, they have more sex per month, and they have more resilience to adverse events.”

The reason for these differences probably has to do with oxytocin’s ability to encourage people to form relationships, trust other people, and empathize, he says.

Many studies have shown that people with strong relationships are happier.

Women in this study confirmed the link between oxytocin levels and efforts to bond with another person. Those who released the highest levels of oxytocin were also most likely to send some money back to the stranger who gave them the original gift.—Internet
Ubisoft assassins begin prowling the Internet

SAN FRANCISCO, 17 Nov—Stealthy killers will begin walking the Internet on Tuesday when Ubisoft releases the latest title in its line of “Assassin’s Creed” videogames. “Assassin’s Creed Brotherhood” builds on the 15th century Renaissance era treachery and intrigue of its predecessor, but with a first-ever online feature that allows players to divert from the storyline and hunt one another.

“We could say that you’ve been training for this moment,” Ubisoft senior vice president of sales and marketing Tony Key said while discussing the third installment in the blockbuster ‘Assassin’s’ franchise with AFP.

Magisterial new biography of Lawrence of Arabia

New York, 17 Nov — “Hero The Life and Legend of Lawrence of Arabia” (HarperCollins, $36), by Michael Korda: With each day bringing fresh news of tribal feuds, double-dealing and bloodshed in Arab lands once occupied by the French and British, there couldn’t be a better time to brush up on the life and times of TE Lawrence.

Anyone born after 1950 is probably familiar with the story of the man better known as Lawrence of Arabia from David Lean’s majestic 1962 film starring Peter O’Toole as the charismatic and controversial leader of the Arab revolt against the Ottoman Empire during World War I. Even a nearly four-hour epic like Lean’s can only paint a life as complex as Lawrence’s in broad strokes. For those interested in detail and nuance, as well as a thrilling adventure story, Michael Korda has written a new, 700-page biography about his boyhood hero.

Relying on previous biographies as well as Lawrence’s own war memoir, “Seven Pillars of Wisdom,” Korda, the former editor in chief of Simon and Schuster, attempts to reconcile history’s two sharply different views of the Oxford-educated soldier-scholar.

To his admirers, Lawrence was a brilliant, courageous warrior whose unconventional tactics and strategy place him among the greatest military leaders in history. To his critics, he was a self-aggrandizing, manipulative liar who exaggerated his own role in the Arab uprising against the Turks.

British granny takes clubland by storm

LOS ANGELES, 17 Nov—Giving a whole new meaning to Lady Gaga, a British granny is proving you’re never too old to get down, rocking top clubs on both sides of the Atlantic as a DJ at the grand old age of 69.

Ruth Flowers, aka Mamy Rock, is a politely-spoken grandmother from Bristol in southwest England who has just taken Los Angeles clubland by storm after moving across from Europe.

“I love people, I think that’s what carries me through. I love the young ones too, because they get such a bad press often. And I haven’t found them to be anything but wonderful,” she tells AFP.

Forget the cliches of retirement homes, afternoons in front of the TV and knitting although well beyond pensionable age, Flowers seems to have more energy than most of the 20-somethings dancing to her pumping rhythms.

“T’ll always awake when the younger people around me are sleepy. I don’t have a problem with night work,” she says. “It doesn’t seem so strange for me because I’ve always been a little bit different.”

‘Megamind’ continues box office reign with $30M

LOS ANGELES, 17 Nov—Will Ferrell’s dastardly schemes continue to succeed, with the animated “Megamind” staying at the top of the box office.

The DreamWorks Animation 3-D comedy, featuring Ferrell as the voice of a super villain, made just over $30 million in its second week in theaters, according to Sunday studio estimates.

It’s now made nearly $90 million total. “Megamind” also features the voices of Brad Pitt, Tina Fey and Jonah Hill.

Opening in second place is the 20th Century Fox action thriller “Unstoppable,” starring Denzel Washington and Chris Pine as railroad workers trying to stop a massive runaway train. It made $23.5 million. The movie is based on a 2001 Ohio incident in which a train carrying hazardous cargo traveled 66 miles without a crew.

Last week’s No 2 film, “Due Date,” fell to the third spot with $15.5 million. The Warner Bros. comedy features Robert Downey Jr and Zach Galifianakis as opposites stuck together on a cross-country roadtrip. It’s now made $59 million in two weeks.

Among the weekend’s other new releases, “Skyline” opened in fourth place with $11.7 million. The Universal Pictures sci-fi thriller depicts aliens invading and destroying Los Angeles. And “Morning Glory,” a Paramount comedy set in a network morning show starring Rachel McAdams, Harrison Ford and Diane Keaton, opened at No 5 with about $9.6 million.

Haiti cholera toll tops 900, six provinces affected

PORT-AU-PRINCE, 17 Nov—The death toll from Haiti’s cholera epidemic has reached more than 900 and the disease is present in six of the 10 provinces of the earthquake-battered Caribbean Country, the Health Ministry said on Sunday.

An update on the ministry website said as of 12 November, there had been 917 deaths and more than 14,600 hospitalized cases since the outbreak began more than three weeks ago in the Western Hemisphere’s poorest state.

The central rural province of Artibonite, the epicentre of the epidemic, remained the worst affected, accounting for nearly 600 of the total deaths. Other provinces affected were Centre, Nord, Nord Ouest, Sud, and Ouest, where the capital Port-au-Prince is located.

The capital, which bore the brunt of destruction from the 12 January earthquake in Haiti, has recorded 27 deaths up to 12 November. The government and its aid partners are fighting to prevent the disease spreading in crowded city slums and tent camps housing over 1.3 million homeless earthquake survivors.

Low levels of vitamin D may worsen leukemia

Los Angeles, 17 Nov—Low levels of vitamin D may lead to deterioration in certain Leukemia patients, whereas adequate levels were linked to longer survival, US researchers have found. The findings result from a study of 390 chronic lymphoplastic leukemia (CLL) patients, 30 percent of whom had insufficient vitamin D levels (less than 25 nanograms per milliliter) at the time of cancer diagnosis.

After a median follow-up of three years, patients with insufficient vitamin D levels were 66 percent more likely to have disease progression and to require chemotherapy. They also had a twofold increased risk of death, compared to those with adequate vitamin D levels. The study also found that increasing vitamin D levels in patients was linked to longer survival times, even after controlling for other factors associated with leukemia progression. Internet

Aussie ‘Spiderman’ to live with arachnids

Melbourne, 17 Nov—An Australian man on Monday said he was “a bit silly” to live in a shop window with hundreds of poisonous spiders for three weeks for charity, but was confident he would not be bitten.

“Spiderman” Nick Le Souef hopes to raise as much as $50,000 US dollars for a children’s charity by spending the next few weeks eating, sleeping and working among hundreds of Australia’s famously dangerous, eight-legged inhabitants.

“I am a bit silly doing what I am doing,” Le Souef said of his decision to closet himself with potentially lethal redbacks as well as tarantula-like huntsmen and black house spiders, which also have nasty bites.

“Redbacks are potentially lethal but there hasn’t been a death from a redback bite in a long time since anti-venom was developed decades ago... (but) I know I am not going to get bitten,” he told AFP. Internet

BHP Billiton abandons Potash fertiliser bid

Sydney, 17 Nov—Mining giant BHP Billiton Monday abandoned its 39 billion US dollar takeover bid for fertiliser-maker Potash Corp after it was rejected by Canada, acknowledging its second major failure in recent weeks.

The world’s biggest miner and black miner’s second 116 billion US dollar iron ore merger with Rio Tinto collapsed last month, said its “unparalleled” pledges on jobs and investment could not convince the country’s government of the deal’s merits.

Unfortunately, despite having received all required anti-trust clearances for the offer, we have not been able to obtain clearance under the Investment Canada Act and have accordingly decided to withdraw the offer, chief executive Marius Kloppers said.

Canada’s Potash said BHP’s offer “substantially undervalued” the world-leading manufacturer of fertiliser, considered strategically important as global food security worries mount. Internet

Japan PM ratings slide, lower house to pass budget

Tokyo, 17 Nov—Support for Japan’s government has dropped to 27 percent, the lowest since Prime Minister Naoto Kan took office in June, with voters unhappy over his handling of rows with China and Russia, a survey showed on Tuesday.

The continued slide in support for Japan’s fifth leader in three years is complicating efforts to enact a $53 billion extra budget to shore up the economy.

Kan’s ratings have also been eroded by a funding scandal dogging ruling party powerbroker Ichiro Ozawa, who faces indictment over the affair. Ozawa has denied any wrongdoing.

Still, 60 percent of respondents in the Asahi newspaper’s survey said there was no need for a snap election.

“Recent polls showed support ratings have fallen below 30 percent, which some call a danger zone, but I don’t think this

Israel’s Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu will probably win narrow approval from his coalition government for a US proposal to extend a freeze on West Bank settlement building, Israeli political sources said on Monday.

The Palestinians halted peace talks after Israel’s 10-month partial construction moratorium expired in September. The Obama administration has offered Israeli diplomatic and defense perks to renew the freeze for 90 days, giving negotiators a chance.

Netanyahu, who visited the United States last week, convened his cabinet to outline the proposal, which he said was still being drafted with the Americans. As President Obama is expected to make a speech on Middle East peace, the prime minister said he was convening his cabinet to outline the US offer.

Sleeping US woman killed on bed as SUV crashed into bedroom

Chicago, 17 Nov—A 48-year-old woman was killed when she was asleep on bed as an SUV crashed into her bedroom in Bolingbrook, a village in Will and DuPage counties of Illinois State near Chicago early Saturday morning, the Chicago Tribune reported.

A 17-year-old boy, influenced by alcohol, ran his SUV off the road and crashed through a window into the bedroom of a first-floor apartment, where the woman was trapped under the car and was pronounced dead at the scene.

The woman’s husband survived and another person was being treated for injuries, but it remains unknown how many people were in the apartment at the time of the accident. There were two people in the SUV. Xinhua

World health officials debate new tobacco controls

PUNTA DEL ESTE, 17 Nov—Health officials from across the world gathered on Monday in Uruguay to discuss tighter controls on tobacco that are rejected by farmers and the cigarette industry.

The World Health Organization meeting comes as the South American country fights a complaint filed by global tobacco company Philip Morris International, which says tough Uruguayan anti-smoking laws are hurting its business.

A total of 171 countries have signed the Framework Convention for Tobacco Control and delegates at this week’s gathering will analyze proposals to limit the use of additives in cigarettes. MNA/Reuters

Dino De Laurentiis memorialized in LA service

LOS ANGELES, 17 Nov—Italian film producer Dino De Laurentiis, who died at his home in Beverly Hills last week, was memorialized in a service on Monday where California Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger and director David Lynch spoke fondly of the Hollywood legend.

De Laurentiis, who was born in Italy but lived in California, won an Oscar for Federico Fellini’s “La Strada” and was responsible for classic American movies such as “Serpico,” “Barbarella” and the 1976 big-budget remake of “King Kong.”

De Laurentiis was born in Torre Annunziata, near Naples, and following World War Two, he became a leading producer in the Italian movie industry. He later moved to Los Angeles. Among the some 500 films that bear his imprint are “Death Wish,” “Three Days of the Condor” and most recently “Hannah,” the 2001 sequel to “The Silence of the Lambs.”

In 2000, Oscar organizers gave De Laurentiis their Irving G. Thalberg Award honouring producers. In 2003, the Venice film festival gave him with their lifetime achievement award.

Beatles coming to iTunes

SAN FRANCISCO, 17 Nov—Apple is preparing to announce that its online entertainment store iTunes will start carrying music by the Beatles, The Wall Street Journal reported Monday.

The newspaper, citing “people familiar with the situation,” said the deal resulted from talks among executives of Apple, representatives of the Beatles and their record label, EMI Group Ltd at Apple could change plans at the last minute.

Apple said Monday there would be “an exciting announcement from iTunes” at 7 a.m. Pacific time (1500 GMT) on Tuesday but declined to reveal what it is about.

“Tomorrow is just another day. That you’ll never forget,” said an Apple tease for the announcement on the home page of Apple.com.

There have been a number of reports over the years of the Beatles coming to iTunes but the music of the iconic British pop group has yet to make its debut in the Apple store.

“Tangled”, “Megamind” among animated Oscar contenders

LOS ANGELES, 17 Nov—“Tangled,” “Megamind,” “Despicable Me” and “Shrek Forever After” are among the 15 qualifying films vying for an Oscar nomination this year, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences said on Monday.

But because only 15 films have been considered for consideration, there will be no more than three animated movies nominated in the best animated feature category this year.

Under the rules for this category, in order to trigger a potential five nominees, 16 films would have had to be accepted for consideration. The Academy gave the list of qualifying films as; “Toy Story 3,” “How to Train Your Dragon,” “Tangled,” “Tinker Bell and the Great Fairy Rescue,” “Despicable Me,” “Cats & Dogs: The Revenge of Kitty Galore,” “Legend of the Guardians: The Owls of Ga’Hoole,” “The Illusionist,” “Alpha and Omega,” “The Dreams of Jinsha,” “Idiots and Angels,” “My Dog Tulip” and “Summer Wars.” Nominations for the 83rd Academy Awards will be announced on 25 January.

NEW YORK, 17 Nov—From selling crack cocaine as a teenage hustler to becoming one of America’s richest rappers, Jay-Z writes about his life, decodes his hip-hop culture in his literary debut “Decoded,” set for release on Tuesday.

The New York City native writes in the sometimes coarse language of the Brooklyn streets where he grew up, explaining how hip-hop was his generation’s way of telling the world what it was like to grow up in an urban “wartime.”

“I lost people I loved, was betrayed by people I trusted, felt the breeze of bullets flying by my head. I saw crack addiction destroy families; it almost destroyed mine but I sold it, too,” Jay-Z, whose real name is Shawn Carter, writes in “Decoded.”

“Guns were easier to get in the hood than public assistance. There were times when the violence just seemed like background music,” Jay-Z, who has won 10 Grammy Awards, said of growing up in the 1980s and early 1990s.

The 40-year-old said he started rapping in 1978 when he was nine and saw an older child “rhyming” at the Marcy public housing complex in Brooklyn where he lived. “That night I started writing rhymes. This was the music I loved, the beats I understood,” Jay-Z said.

Christina Aguilera gets Hollywood star

LOS ANGELES, 17 Nov—Grammy-winning US pop singer Christina Aguilera was honoured with a star on Hollywood’s celebrity Walk of Fame, barely a week before her feature film debut. The star, the 2,423rd on the famous sidewalk roll call of celebrities past and present, was unveiled on Monday, nine days before her acting skills go on display when “Burlesque” hits the silver screen, co-starring Cher. “As a young girl in Pittsburgh, I often imagined what it would be like to come to Hollywood and make it as a performer,” the 29-year-old told screaming fans on Hollywood Boulevard.

“We would go from audition to audition and I would sing anthem after anthem hoping one day it would all pay off. Standing here at this moment I know that it has paid off in spades,” she added. Aguilera won the first of her four Grammys in 1999 as best new artist, followed by best pop collaboration in 2001, and best female pop vocal performance in 2003 and 2006. In “Burlesque,” she plays a small-town girl who makes her way to a Los Angeles burlesque club to pursue her dreams.

Christina Aguilera also wrote and recorded four new songs for the musical’s soundtrack. At a weekend presentation of the film Aguilera said “I’ve always been a hard worker. I like to learn from others and having new challenges, and I think that’s what happening to me now in my life. Many changes, a movie, a new album, and a star in Hollywood many changes.”

Aguilera and her husband Jordan Bratman separated, five years after their 2005 wedding, although there were no divorce plans, People magazine reported.

Benitez under pressure as Moratti blasts Inter

Rome, 17 Nov — Inter Milan boss Rafael Benitez is already under pressure just five months into his tenure after club president Massimo Moratti slammed the team for the manner of their derby defeat.

Inter were second best in their 1-0 home defeat to AC Milan on Sunday, in which former charge Zlatan Ibrahimovic notched the winner to rub salt into their wounds.

That defeat left Inter six points off the Serie A summit, occupied by their arch city rivals.

But it was their failure to snatch a result despite playing with a numerical advantage for the last half hour that has really enraged Moratti. “It wasn’t a great game, not just because we didn’t win but because it wasn’t a great derby,” moaned Moratti.—Internet

Bothroyd’s England call gives chance for redemption

London, 17 Nov — When Jay Bothroyd walked into Arsenal’s plush training complex, the England striker’s torrid search for redemption had finally reached a fitting climax.

It is 10 years since Bothroyd trudged away from Arsenal in despair after being told his career with the Gunners was over before it had even begun.

Now the 28-year-old was able to use those failures as part of the England squad training there ahead of Wednesday’s friendly against France at Wembley.

For Bothroyd, who is the first English-based player from outside the Premier League to be called up by England since David Nugent in 2007, it was a moment filled with significance.

Poppy: “Following consultation with several independent ankle specialists, it has been determined by Macquarie University that Jay Bothroyd’s ankle condition is such that it is unlikely to rule the England national team out of action for around three months.”—Internet

British star Cavendish set for Tour Down Under

Sydney, 17 Nov — British cycling star Mark Cavendish will make his Tour Down Under début in January, boosting a strong field which already includes Tour de France legend Lance Armstrong, organisers said.

The HTC-Highroad rider, a 15-time Tour de France stage-winner, will be considered a major rival to fellow sprint specialist Andre Greipel, who romped to his second Australian title this year.

“It’s great that I’ll be starting my season at the Santos Tour Down Under,” said Cavendish.

“I have been to Australia six or seven times and I love going there. I have been to Australia six or seven times and I love going there. The other coughed it up and settled for second. Then both claimed victory.

Women who stress over work have more heart disease

NEW YORK, 17 Nov — Women with stressful jobs that offer little room for decision making or creativity have an increased risk of suffering a heart attack — and this is even worse than stress over losing a job, according to a study. The link between heart disease and job stress has long been well established for men, but it wasn’t clear if this held true for women as well, said Michelle Asha Albert, a heart doctor at Brigham and Women’s Hospital in Boston.

With women and heart disease, doctors usually focus on standard risk factors such as high blood pressure and cholesterol, but the study, which was presented at an American Heart Association meeting in Chicago on Tuesday, showed they might also want to consider stress. “We don’t focus as much on stress does cause a similar magnitude of risk as some of our additional risk factors,” she told Reuters Health.—MNA/Reuters
