Personal hygiene: good for your health

Everyone should keep themselves fit and healthy. The Ministry of Health occasionally issues public notices about health care so that the people can avert possible health hazards caused by seasonal diseases. Basically, people need to read these notices.

Now, summer is setting in, and we are going to lose more water and mineral salt from our bodies, which makes us fatigued and dizzy with high body temperature. To deal with this situation, we need to take a lot of water and rehydrated salt solution. We should avoid taking a bath, shampooing hair and washing face with cold water shortly after we have exposed ourselves to the sun for a long time.

We should take an umbrella, hat, light-coloured or loose dresses to protect ourselves from day-time temperatures. Older people and children should stay in sheltered places with good ventilation.

Health care is everybody’s concern. So, we should join hands together in measures for personal hygiene, sanitation, hygienic food and safe water, and honour public notices about health care.

In Myanmar, sanitation and personal hygiene have been on the list of priorities for decades. Preventive measures as well as treatment are important in community health care. We can prevent infected diseases if we care for personal hygiene and keep our homes and compounds clean.

We will, therefore, remain in great shape if we adhere to the practice of keeping ourselves and the things around us clean, have hygienic food only, take garbage system, and obey public notices about health care.

All this needs to be known

* Do not be frightened whenever intimidated
* Do not be bothered whenever flattered
* Do not be softened whenever appeased
Global warming could spur toxic algae, bacteria in seas

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb—Global warming could spur the growth of toxic algae and bacteria in the world’s seas and lakes, with an impact that could be felt in 10 years, US scientists said Saturday.

Studies have shown that shifts brought about by climate change make ocean and freshwater environments more susceptible to toxic algae blooms and allow harmful microbes and bacteria to proliferate, according to researchers from the National Oceanic and Atmosphere Administration (NOAA).

In one study, NOAA scientists modelled future ocean and weather patterns to predict the effect on blooms of Alexandrium catenella, or the toxic “red tide,” which can accumulate in shellfish and cause severe symptoms, including paralysis, in humans who eat the contaminated seafood.

“Our projections indicate that by the end of the 21st century, blooms may begin to up two months earlier in the year and persist for one month later compared to the present-day time period of July to October,” said Stephanie Moore, one of the scientists who worked on the study.

US House cuts $61 B in spending, shutdown looms

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb—Historic spending cuts approved by the US House of Representatives have raised prospects of a government shutdown and ramped up the public relations blame game.

After a marathon floor debate running well past midnight, the Republican-controlled House voted to cut about $61 billion in government spending. The Barack Obama administration and leaders in the Senate, controlled by Democrats, immediately criticized the move.

“The continuing opposition in the House would undermine and damage our capacity to create jobs and expand the economy,” Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said at a news conference after a Group of 20 meeting in Paris.

The government is presently funded through a stopgap spending measure expiring 4 March, a result of congressional disagreement last year. A shutdown could delay Social Security checks, tax refunds and payments for veterans, Democrats claim.

Death toll in Afghanistan bank raid rises to 38

KABUL, 20 Feb — The Afghan government has put the death toll at 38 from a brazen weekend attack in which five suicide bombers dressed in security force uniforms stormed a bank in the eastern part of the country.

Interior Ministry spokesman Zemeri Bashary said Sunday that 21 of those killed were Afghan security forces, including many waiting to collect their pay at the local branch of Kabul Bank where the attack occurred shortly before noon Saturday in the eastern city of Jalalabad. The 17 other victims were civilians.

A total of 71 people, mostly civilians, were injured in the attack, he said. “Five armed suicide bombers entered the Kabul Bank building and started shooting,” Bashary told reporters at a news conference in Kabul. “The incident happened while Afghan security forces were there to get their monthly salaries. That is why the casualties were so high.”

Since no one is allowed inside the bank with weapons, none of the Afghan policemen or soldiers collecting their pay had weapons to defend themselves.

Vietnam police blame human error in boat sinking

HANOI, 20 Feb—Vietnamese police say human error was to blame for the sinking of a tour boat in Ha Long Bay that killed a dozen sleeping passengers, including 11 foreign tourists.

Quang Ninh provincial police spokesman Le Thanh Binh said Sunday that the boat’s captain and the crew member in charge of the engine have been arrested.

The initial police investigation showed that a valve that allows water to come into the boat to cool the engine was left open while the vessel was anchored for the night. The engine was turned off, preventing a pump from running to push the water out.

Binh said that by the time the captain and crew woke up to find the boat filled with water, it was too late. It sank quickly around 5 am Thursday.

Pakistanis kill up to 15 militants

MOHMAND, 20 Feb—Pakistani troops killed up to 15 militants after dozens of militants attacked a security checkpoint in a northwestern tribal region on the Afghan border Sunday, a senior government official said.

Troops have killed more than 100 militants in the past month in small-scale operations against militants’ strongholds in the Mohmand tribal region. But militants often melt away, set up strongholds elsewhere or try to return to areas they lost.

About 100 militants attacked a security checkpoint in the area of Ziarat with heavy weapons after midnight, triggering a clash that continued for several hours.

“As we had information about the possible attack, our troops were fully prepared and up to 15 militants were killed in the retaliatory attack,” government official Masqood Khan told Reuters.

More than 2,000 people have been killed in suicide bomb attacks across Pakistan since the army stormed a militant-run mosque in capital Islamabad in 2007.

Cosmic census finds crowd of planets in our galaxy

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb—Scientists have estimated the first cosmic census of planets in our galaxy and the numbers are astronomical: at least 50 billion planets in the Milky Way. At least 500 million of those planets are in the not-too-hot, not-too-cold zone where life could exist.

The numbers were extrapolated from the early results of NASA’s planet-hunting Kepler telescope. Kepler science chief William Borucki says scientists took the number of planets they found in the first year of searching a small part of the night sky and then made an estimate on how likely stars are to have planets. Kepler spots planets as they pass between Earth and the star it orbits.

So far Kepler has found 1,235 candidate planets, with 54 in the Goldilocks zone, where life could possibly exist. Kepler’s main mission is not to examine individual worlds, but give astronomers a sense of how many planets, especially potentially habitable ones, there are likely to be in our galaxy.

They would use the one-four-hundredth of the night sky that Kepler is looking at and extrapolate from there.—INTERNET

Scientists building largest antimatter trap ever

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb—Creating matter’s strange cousin antimatter is tricky, but holding onto it is even trickier. Now scientists are working on a new device that may be able to trap antimatter long enough to study it.

Antimatter is like a mirror image of matter. For every matter particle (say an electron, for example), a matching antimatter particle is thought to exist (in this case, a positron) with the same mass, but an opposite charge.

The problem is that whenever antimatter comes into contact with regular matter, the two annihilate. So any container or bottle made of matter that attempts to capture antimatter inside would be instantly destroyed, along with the precious antimatter sample one tried to put inside the bottle.—INTERNET

Smaller iPad 3 (bigger iPod Touch?) to get Retina display, says analyst

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb—The second-generation iPad hasn’t yet been announced. But already, rumoured details of an “iPad 3” have begun circulating. The speculation continues today, with Apple Insider reporting that the iPad 3 will be smaller than the current 9.7-inch iPad — and could even be considered a “larger iPod Touch.” The new device, says a “connected industry expert,” will also sport a high-resolution “Retina” display, similar to the screen of the iPhone 4.

Apple Insider’s informant is none other than Concord Securities analyst Ming-Chi Kuo, who correctly predicted last May that the iPhone 4 would sport the 960×640 resolution Retina display and come loaded with twice the RAM of the iPad.

Scientists finds Gulf bottom still oily, dead car that said nearly all will be well by 2012

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb—Oil from the BP spill remains stuck on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico, according to a top scientist’s video and slides that she says demonstrate the oil isn’t degrading as hoped and has decimated life on parts of the sea floor.

This 1 Dec, 2010 photo provided by the University of Georgia, made from the submarine Alvin, shows a dead crab with oil residue near it on a still-damaged sea floor about 10 miles north of the BP oil rig accident.—INTERNET

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb—From the BP spill that she thought that “most of the oil is gone.”

“The there’s some sort of a bottleneck we have yet to identify for why this stuff doesn’t seem to be degrading,” Joye told the American Association for the Advancement of Science annual conference in Washington.

“Her research and those of her colleagues contrasts with other studies that show a more optimistic outlook about the health of the gulf, saying microbes did great work munching the oil.

“Magic microbes consumed maybe 10 percent of the total discharge, the rest of it we don’t know,” Joye said, later adding: “there’s a lot it out there.”

The head of the agency in charge of the health of the Gulf said Saturday that she thought that “most of the oil is gone.”

Sprint signs up for BilltoMobile’s carrier’s service

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb—Carrier billing service BilltoMobile said Friday that it has signed a deal with Sprint, providing Sprint users the ability to bill purchases directly to their Sprint wireless bill. BilltoMobile has previously signed agreements with AT&T and Verizon, and the company claims that it already serves 190 million US customers, and now a total of 240 million with the addition of Sprint. Since 2000, BilltoMobile claims that it has processed $4 billion in payments. Direct carrier billing, the name implies, simply means that customers who buy from merchants that use the BilltoMobile payments system can charge the transaction to the user’s wireless bill, without having to divulge credit-card information to an intermediary. The advantage? Additionally, it aggregates any and all mobile purchases onto a single mobile bill. In this case, as a direct mobile billing gateway provider, BilltoMobile has already negotiated the exchange of payment information with Sprint.

Timelapse Pro adds music, Twitter to stop-motion movies

NEW YORK, 20 Feb—iPhone users who dream of creating their own Rankin/Bass-style stop-motion animated movies have new tools at their disposal, thanks to a major upgrade to Timelapse Pro. Version 3.0 of the offering from German developer Drahtwerk features a redesigned user interface, and now lets you add DRM-free music from your iPod library to stop-motion movies, then share those movies via Twitter and FTP. The upgrade also adds full support for iOS 4, including the ability to export movies to the camera roll and iTunes’ shared folders feature. There’s also new support for the iPhone 4’s flash, front camera, and Retina display.

The app doesn’t just let you take a series of pictures to create stop-motion movies; it adds to the process with an “integrated viewer” that lets you line up your next shot with a previous photograph in order to create a smoother movie.—INTERNET

Weight loss surgery may cut knee Osteoarthritis pain

NEW YORK, 20 Feb—Losing weight can help reduce the amount of pain experienced by obese people with knee osteoarthritis, researchers say.

The new study included 24 obese adults, aged 30 to 67, with knee osteoarthritis who underwent weight loss surgery (bariatric surgery). The patients’ knees were assessed before surgery and at six and 12 months after surgery.

Patients who lost an average of 57 pounds within six months of having bariatric surgery showed significant improvements in knee pain, stiffness and physical function, the investigators found.—INTERNET

Melbourne, 20 Feb—Top global miner BHP Billiton’s (BHP AX/(BLT L) chief executive sees iron ore prices staying strong for as long as two years, and is confident the company’s profit margins will remain robust, even as costs escalate.

Marius Kloppers was bullish on the near-term outlook for iron ore prices due to supply constraints, with India not exporting and rivals having held back investment in new capacity during the global financial crisis.

“Simply put, over the next 12, 18 months, perhaps two years, there’s not a substantial amount of new capacity coming on, and it’s more an issue of the supply side rather than the demand side,” he said. His counterpart at rival Rio Tinto (RIO AX/(RIO L) was more specific a week ago, forecasting that tight supplies would keep iron ore prices high in the near term, but prices would fall below $100 a metric ton from current record highs around $190 a metric ton when mine expansions are completed in 2014 and 2015.

LONDON, 20 Feb—The first electric-powered Rolls-Royce car will be unveiled at the Geneva Motor Show on 1 March, the luxury vehicle maker announced on Sunday.

The one-off Phantom 102EX, to be fully electric-powered, will then go on a global tour taking in Europe, the Middle East, Asia and North America, according to the Goodwood, England-based company.

Rolls-Royce Motor Cars said it wants to test opinions and reactions from owners, enthusiasts, members of the public and the media.

“While there are no plans to develop a production version, as one of the company’s EX models it will serve to begin a dialogue with existing owners and stakeholders, posing as well as answering questions of its audience,” the company said.

These include the car’s ability to deliver an acceptable range between re-charges and to operate in extreme weather conditions, it said. —INTERNET

LONDON, 20 Feb—While bone drugs have gotten a bad rap in the media recently, experts hope mounting evidence of benefits may convince patients not to shun the medicines.

This month, Australian researchers published the latest report to hint that elderly women who take bisphosphonates - as the bone drugs are known — live longer than those who don’t get treatment.

Out of every hundred women in their study, three who were not taking bone drugs died every year, compared to less than one of those who were on the drugs. Although the findings don’t prove the bone drugs actually boost longevity — it’s possible that women on treatment are generally healthier, for instance — they fit with earlier studies.

“To me, this was good news,” said Dr Ethel S Sinis, who heads the Tom Stabile Osteoporosis Centre at Columbia University in New York and was not involved in the study.—INTERNET

San Diego, 20 Feb—Many young baseball players, parents and coaches have serious misconceptions about the causes of pitching-related elbow injuries and the benefits of having a common elbow procedure called Tommy John surgery, according to a new survey.

Ulnar collateral ligament reconstruction is the medical term for the surgery, named after former Major League pitcher Tommy John, the first professional athlete to successfully undergo the procedure.

“Despite the recognized risk of pitch type and amount of pitches, nearly a third of those we surveyed did not believe pitch counts were a risk factor for injury,” the survey’s lead author, Dr Christopher Ahmad of Columbia University’s Center for Shoulder, Elbow and Sports Medicine, said in a news release from the American Orthopaedic Association for Sports Medicine.

“Even more disturbing was the fact that a quarter of players and coaches thought that a pitcher’s performance could be enhanced by having a Tommy John surgery,” Ahmad said.

He and his colleagues surveyed 189 players, 15 coaches and 31 parents.

They described as alarming their finding that 51 percent of high school players believed elbow surgery should be performed even if a player doesn’t have an injury, with the sole goal of improving performance.

Pale Township to witness network of inter-village roads

Byline: Maung Maung Htwe (MNA); Photos: Hla Moe (MNA)

Sounds of the bulldozers at the construction site in Pale Township, Sagaing Region, are a sign of improvement of the socio-economic status of residents.

Previously, the villages in Pale Township had only distant relations with each other due to poor transport. In particular, some parts of the villages on the highlands of Pontaung Mountain range had no roads, and walking was the only means of transport.

In 2010-2011, nine inter-village roads stretching 29 miles in total are being built to form a network in order to improve transport, education, health care and socio-economic life of local people. They are all happy with Kyetyin-Gaungbwa-Letpan inter-village road. Owing to the newly-built roads, locals in the northern part of the hilly region in Pale Township can travel to and from Wetkya Station Hospital and Wetkya Basic Education High School through Falambin Road or Myaukyama Dam Road; Pale-Gangaw Road through Wetkya and Leigan villages; and the villages on Falambin-Hsebaung Road.

My heart was filled with joy when I saw the newly-built inter-village roads coping with a stream of vehicles such as bikes, motorbikes, motorized trailers and cars.

According to my first-hand knowledge, the development of transport, education, health care and social affairs is like a dream for the 23,971 residents of the villages on Thandaung-Zektaunt-Mayin-Banbwe-Khintha-Ayechantha-Thibyn-kyei inter-village road, Sittyin-Taungvin-Hsegyi-Banbwe-Mayin-Khintha inter-village road, Wetkya-Leputin-Khayu-Wa n b e U - G y a i - I n - d a n g h a - K y a w t a w - Thikyitaing inter-village road, Kyetyin-Gaungbwa-Paupinkauhn Nganchaung-Pepin-Yaygyaw-Letpan inter-village road, and the villages in Myaung Township.

U Kyaw Than, 64, from hilly Kyetyin Village said, “We (villagers) are all happy with Kyetyin-Gaungbwa-Letpan inter-village road. That is like a dream. Previous to the road, I had to hire four men whenever I had to get a nacce to my home in the rainy season. Never in my wildest dream did I think we could go there by motorbike and by car in my region. Therefore, not only the villages in our region but also the villages in Myaung Township are in a transport of delight. So, we don’t know how we can thank enough the government, Minister U Kyaw Hsan, and by car in my region.

In like manner, many local peoples from hilly villages expressed their heartfelt thanks for the roads.

Daw Nyo of the same village said, “Previously, transport was poor in our hilly villages. Going on foot or by bullock cart was the only means of transport. We hardly went to hospital even if we were sick because the hospital was difficult of access. But, now everything is all right because of inter-village roads.”

Damsels from the village said, “While we were at school, transport was very poor. We had to go to school on foot, which took us a long time. It was worse in the rainy season. Now, we have all got our degrees. But, our juniors are lucky. Inter-village roads have been built, so they can go to school by bicycle or by motorbike. We are very happy with it.”

In like manner, many local peoples from hilly villages expressed their heartfelt thanks for the roads.

Project Director U Zaw Min Oo of Shwe Taung Co said, “Our company is undertaking Sagaing-Monywa-Shwebo road section with BOT system. We have provided free service with a bulldozer since December 6, 2010 for sooner completion of inter-village roads. Some staff members from our company contribute to the project.”

Project Director U Zaw Min Oo of Shwetaung Company: “We’ll continue to render assistance till the construction of nine inter-village roads completes.”

Girls of Gaungbwa Village: “While we were at school, transport was very poor. Our juniors are lucky. Inter-village roads have been built, so they can go to school by bicycle and by motorbike. We are very happy with it.”

I supervise construction tasks occasionally. We will keep providing free service till the nine inter-village roads stretching 29 miles in total.”

“Chairman of Pale Township Peace and Development Council U Aung Kyaw Soe made further clarification to the plan to build inter-village roads, arrangements made by Minister for Information U Kyaw Hsan, free service given by the company, and progress in building inter-village roads.

The government is implementing the five rural development programmes for equitable development between rural and urban areas. The single-cropping to double and triple cropping patterns. So, they get on with their businesses. And they have seen inter-district roads apart from inter-village roads.

Pale Township will soon get nine inter-village roads thanks to the assistance rendered by Minister U Kyaw Hsan, supervision of tasks by the Township Peace and Development Council and departments concerned, and altruistic contribution made by Shwe Taung Co. When the project is completed, 54,765 people of 7733 households will be able to travel to and from other villagers with convenience, and they will enjoy better socio-economic status.

In 2009-2010, Pale Township witnessed eight inter-village roads: Ywanaung-Chinpyit road, Pale-Leinong road, Kangyi-Magyeegwa-Nyaunggon road, K w k k o g o n -Nwshaukywa road, Hti-hne-Zeezinnya road, Pale-Gangaw-Thayet road, Kyaythahmya-Khawthanti-Thidin-Kangyi road and Pale-Gangaw-Kyunbogon road. So, when the nine inter-village roads project is completed, the township will see a network of inter-village roads.

On my way home, I happened to visualize that the township will have a promising future. It is very kind of the government, the minister, departments concerned and well-wishers to make wholehearted contribution to the project. So, the region will be able to bring about more and more human resources.

Myanmar Archery team achieve five gold and one silver

YANGON, 20 Feb — Myanmar clinched five gold and a silver in 2011 First Asian Round Robin Archery Competition for World Ranking being held in Bangkok of Thailand on 18 and 19 February. Gold medals for Myanmar Archery Team were secured by men’s team in men’s compound (70-metre) team league with 2011 points; by Aung Hnein in women’s compound single (70-metre) league and by women’s team in women’s compound (70-metre) team league with 1948 points while bronze medal was clinched by Ye Min Swe in men’s compound single (70-metre) league on 18 February. Men’s team and women’s team won golds in each compound team knock-outs yesterday. The Myanmar Archery Team continues to play single knock-outs and mix teams games today and tomorrow.
Nepal’s growing middle class takes to the malls

KATHMANDU, 20 Feb — When the first indoor shopping complex opened in Nepal’s ancient capital Kathmandu in the 1980s, it was such a novelty that visitors had to be shown how to use the escalator.

Few residents of the city, celebrated for its rich cultural heritage and historic palaces, had ever shopped anywhere except the centuries-old bazaars that still do a brisk trade in everything from spices to saris.

Three decades on, a huge rise in land prices in and around the capital and growing remittances from Nepalese migrant workers are fueling a retail boom that has seen Adidas, Nike and Levi’s open their first stores in the country.

Suppliers countries.—

Rukeen Maharan, 21, works in his family business selling handicrafts to tourists. But in his spare time, he goes to one of Kathmandu’s dozen or so malls to shop for clothes and catch up with friends.

“It is so much easier to shop when you have all these branded goods under one roof,” he tells AFP in the Kathmandu Mall. “It’s often cheaper than shopping on the street, it’s convenient because you don’t have to worry about finding a parking space and it’s where young people like to hang out.” Nepal remains one of the world’s poorest countries. Nabucco pipeline still in limbo

VIENNA, 20 Feb — With construction of the EU’s ambitious Nabucco gas pipeline slated to begin in less than a year, huge question marks remain over its financing and the actual supplies of gas it is supposed to transport.

The aim of Nabucco is to bring gas from central Asia to Europe, bypassing Russia and Ukraine where repeated squabbles over prices have in the past left the 27-nation European Union without vital supplies of gas, sometimes in mid-winter.

Nevertheless, the consortium that will build and operate the major new energy corridor has yet to sign a single contract with any of a number of potential supplier countries.—Internet

Leaders wary of eurozone competitiveness pact

WARSAW, 20 Feb — Central European states have given a cool reception to a Franco-German proposal for a eurozone competitiveness pact, pointing to the risk of a two-speed Europe, even though few are in any rush to adopt the single currency.

Leaders of the 17-member eurozone will hold a special Brussels summit on 11 March on the proposed pact aimed at reinforcing policy coordination at a time when the bloc is battling a debt crisis.

The move has raised eyebrows among the 10 EU members who are not yet a part of the euro club and have not been invited to attend the summit.

This is particularly the case in Poland, Central Europe’s heavyweight.

Prime Minister Donald Tusk has warned against the proposed pact “leading to a return to a two-speed Europe.”

European budget commissioner Janusz Lewandowski, a fellow Pole, recently echoed him.

“We are almost on the path of a two-speed Europe,” Lewandowski said commenting on the proposed eurozone pact.

Countries which have not yet joined the eurozone “must try to keep the door open, to be part of the decision-making mechanisms,” he said on a recent visit to 2007 EU entrant Bulgaria.

“After being integrated, we cannot tolerate being excluded once again because the eurozone is constructing some kind of internal structure,” he added.—Internet

Portugal’s state deficit drops by 58.6% on year

LISBON, 20 Feb — Portugal’s state deficit fell by 58.6 percent last month year-on-year, Prime Minister Jose Socrates said Saturday, as his government’s measures to clean up the debt-riddled economy took effect.

The central government’s deficit, which excludes local and regional administrations as well as social security costs, amounted to 281.8 million euros ($383 million), against 680 million euros in January last year.

“The deficit’s very clear reduction is a good start overall for the year,” the Socialist premier said during a visit to northern Vila Real. Official and more detailed results will be published Monday.

“The most important issue for the economy is to ensure its financing and that our international commitment to reduce our deficit will be respected,” he added, although Portuguese borrowing costs have surged recently, making it harder for the government to finance itself.—Internet

Japan’s Ozaki wins Yokohama marathon

YOKOHAMA, 20 Feb — The 2009 world silver medallist Yoshimi Ozaki of Japan broke away in the last three kilometres to win the Yokohama women’s marathon.

The 29-year-old, running against her compatriot Remi Nakazato and Marisa Barros of Portugal, put on a spurt after passing the 38km (23.6-mile) mark, crossing the finishing line in two hours 23 minutes 56 seconds, on Sunday.

Ozaki finished second in 2:24:29 and Barros third in 2:25:04. “I thought about nothing but winning the race. I didn’t think about my time until the end, but I clocked a very good time, so I’m happy about it,” said Ozaki, who qualified for the world championships in August in South Korea.

“I was able to run comfortably, because I was running just behind the three pace-setters. I planned to spur in the last two kilometres, but my coach told me to ‘go for it now’ so I did.—Internet

Chemical is found to block hair loss

LOS ANGELES, 20 Feb — US researchers studying how stress affects gastrointestinal function say they may have found a chemical compound that induces hair growth.

Researchers from UCLA and the Veterans Administration doing stress studies with mice say the chemical was found to block a stress-related hormone associated with hair loss, ScienceDaily.com reported Thursday.

“Our findings show that a short-duration treatment with this compound causes an astounding long-term hair regrowth in chronically stressed mutant mice,” said Million Mulugeta, a professor at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA.

“This could open new venues to treat hair loss in humans through the modulation of the stress hormone receptors, particularly hair loss related to chronic stress and aging.”

Yale scientists build ‘anti-laser’

NEW HAVEN, 20 Feb — US researchers have announced the development of the world’s first “anti-laser,” a device that can absorb and cancel out a laser beam.

Scientists at Yale University say the silicon-based device can absorb an incoming laser beam entirely, converting its light to heat energy, the BBC reported on Thursday.

The technology could lead to a new generation of supercomputers using light rather than electrons, the researchers say.

The anti-laser device can focus two laser beams of a specific frequency into an optical cavity made from silicon, trapping the incoming beams of light and causing them to bounce around until all their energy is dissipated in the form of heat.

Changing the wavelength of the incoming light switches the anti-laser on and off, creating an optical switch that could be the basis of a very fast optically-based computer.

Using silicon to create the anti-laser means optical components could be manufactured using current technology, researchers say, since the material is already widely used in computing.

One thing the anti-laser will not do is create a “shield” against a high-power laser weapon, the researchers say.

Prison for killer car crash mother

EAST MAITLAND, 20 Feb — A mother of five will spend at least eight years in jail after killing two teenagers — including her 13-year-old nephew — and maiming two others in a 210km/h car crash.

Belinda Duncan, 37, stood stony-faced in East Maitland District Court on Friday as Judge John North sentenced her to a maximum 12 years for two counts of manslaughter and three counts of aggravated dangerous driving causing grievous bodily harm.

But the victims’ family and friends did not hold back, bursting into tears and yelling for the sentence to be increased. Ricky Duncan’s son Jayde Belinda Duncan’s nephew — was killed instantly when the car smashed into trees, split in two and burst into flames. “My son got life, all of the rest of us have got a life of pain,” Mr Duncan said outside the court.

Dead baby found at Oprah Winfrey’s South African boarding school

JOHANNESBURG, 20 Feb — A dead newborn baby was found at Oprah Winfrey’s girls school in South Africa, local daily The Times reported on Saturday.

According to police, a 17-year-old student at the Oprah Winfrey Leadership Academy for Girls gave birth to a child on Wednesday and disposed of the body at the school, located 25 miles (40 km) south of Johannesburg.

Police are not sure if the newborn was killed or died of natural causes.

“Yes, the girl gave birth to the baby at the school, but we can’t confirm what happened to it,” said a police spokesperson.

A case of concealment of death is being investigated,” police captain Shado Mashobane told the newspaper.

According to the Afrikaans-language newspaper Beeld, the dead newborn was found in a plastic bag filled with bloodied clothes. Police would not confirm the report. The $46 million school was opened by Winfrey in January 2007 to “nurture, educate and turn gifted South African girls from impoverished backgrounds into the country’s future leaders,” according to a description on the school’s website.

Hibernating bears studied in unprecedented detail

WASHINGTON, 20 Feb — Five bears have been the subject of the most detailed hibernation study ever undertaken in animals of their size. Researchers reporting at the AAAS meeting in Washington say the bears’ metabolism drops to just 25% of its normal level — much more than their drop in body temperature would suggest.

The bears remain in a state of reduced metabolism even weeks after awakening. The research may in time inspire new techniques that could prove useful in emergency medicine. Hibernation is widely held to be a means for animals to reduce their energy use during the coldest seasons.

The body temperatures of small mammals drop to near-freezing levels, with metabolism dropping in some cases to just 2% of normal rates.

Passenger anger at Jetstar’s non-reclining seats

SYDNEY, 20 Feb — Jetstar passengers getting upright about being right have won a reprieve after the airline reversed a cost-saving decision to install non-reclining seats.

The move comes as Qantas mainline is also reversing a decision about seats and dropping plans to put a middle seat in business class on its A330.

It will reconfigure those new planes already delivered in a new 2-3-2 layout to the more user-friendly 2-2-2 arrangement. About a dozen Airbus A320s were delivered to Jetstar with seats that would not recline, an idea pioneered by European low-cost carrier Ryanair to reduce the initial cost of seats and save money on maintenance.

Jetstar did not advertise the change but passengers were quick to notice, particularly on longer flights, and complain.

One regular Jetstar passenger told The Australian that cabin crew had described it as a “multi-million-dollar stuff-up” that had put staff under additional pressure. “The stink has been astronomical,” he said.

Celtic prepared for Rangers challenge

GLASGOW, 20 Feb — Kris Commons says there will be no hint of complacency from Celtic as they prepare for their Scottish Premier League clash with Old Firm rivals Rangers on Sunday. The Glasgow giants clash for the second time in two weeks following their 2-2 draw in the fifth round of the Scottish Cup at Ibrox at the beginning of the month.

Celtic are on a 16-match unbeaten run which stretches back to November and has helped them move five points clear of Rangers at the top of the SPL, although Walter Smith’s men have two games in hand. Commons, who signed from Derby in the January transfer window, says manager Neil Lennon will not allow his players’ standards to drop.

Neeson’s ‘Unknown’ wins weekend with $21.8M debut

LOS ANGELES, 20 Feb.—Liam Neeson has proven himself a known quantity again at the box office. Neeson’s thriller “Unknown” debuted as the No 1 movie with $21.8 million, following in the footsteps of his 2009 action hit “Taken,” according to studio estimates Sunday.

“I’m happy to humble myself for that cause,” he told AAP news agency.

“I had no hesitation mostly because we think the campaign is a good initiative.”

The changes are part of a safety campaign in the southeastern state of Victoria after rural road deaths shot up by about 25 percent last year.

Banksy welcome at Oscars, but will he show?

Guten tag, mate: Austria, Australia in mail mix-up

One is a landlocked, mountainous country in Europe; the other is a vast, island continent in the southern hemisphere. But it seems some people still confuse Austria and Australia.

In the latest sign of collective dyslexia about the countries, Australian Foreign Minister Kevin Rudd admitted he sometimes gets his Austrian counterpart’s post, and vice versa.

“I do occasionally get each other’s correspondence because the rest of the world doesn’t know about the extra syllable,” Rudd said, during a visit by Austria’s Michael Spindelegger.

It is not the first time the countries, which are thousands of kilometres (miles) apart but separated by just two letters when written down, have muddled up.

During November’s G20 meeting in Seoul, a model of Austrian Prime Minister Julia Gillard appeared in Sound of Music-style traditional Austrian dress, before being hastily replaced.
Ancelotti wants Euro glory to salvage season

BERLIN, 20 Feb—Carlo Ancelotti insists success in the Champions League can salvage Chelsea's season after their hopes of winning the FA Cup for a third successive season ended with a penalty shoot-out defeat against Everton. Ancelotti’s Cup holders crashed out 4-3 on penalties after drawing 1-1 with Everton in Saturday's fourth round replay at Stamford Bridge.

With Chelsea currently 12 points behind Premier League leaders Manchester United, the Blues - who are not even certain to finish in the top four - now have to win the Champions League to avoid finishing the campaign empty-handed.

Bayern brush off Mainz to go second

BERLIN, 20 Feb—Defending champions Bayern Munich went second in the Bundesliga on Saturday night with a 3-1 win at Mainz, while league leaders Borussia Dortmund went 13-points clear with a 2-0 win over St Pauli.

German striker Mario Gomez, the league's top scorer, completed Bayern's rout with his ninth goal of the season to extend their lead over Mainz to 15 points. Gomez scored twice, including the opener but then left the field with a groin injury and the club confirmed he will not be able to train until Wednesday.

Donaire stops Montiel to take bantamweight titles

LAS VEGAS, 20 Feb—Filipino fighter Nonito Donaire stopped Mexican Aaron Montiel in the third round of their 115-pound bantamweight title fight, officials announced.

Donaire, the WBO and WBC light-bantamweight champion, knocked down Montiel with a right hand in the second round of Saturday's bout at the Mandalay Bay Events Center. Montiel's 23-year-old challenger was stopped by referee Richard Steele in the third round.

Donaire dominated the fight from the opening bell, knocking Montiel down in the second round to score a comfortable win.

Raonic, Roddick reach Memphis ATP final

MEMPHIS, 20 Feb—US top seed Andy Roddick reached his 50th career ATP final by defeating Juan Martin del Potro 6-3, 6-4 in a showdown of former US Open champions at an ATP and WTA indoor tournament in Memphis.

Roddick will try to capture his 30th career ATP crown on Sunday against Milos Raonic, a 20-year-old Canadian wild card entrant and the hottest player on tour after winning last week at San Jose in only his eighth ATP event.

Baddeley sneaks past Couples and into lead

LOS ANGELES, 20 Feb—Fred Couples was starting to show his age Saturday at Riviera. He hit a poor wedge, knocked it over the back of the green and turned a potential birdie into bogey on the 10th hole to slip three shots behind Aaron Baddeley in the Northern Trust Open. Then came a pounding rain as Couples approached the toughest stretch of the course, and the 51-year-old with an aching back braced for the worst. “I was thinking, ‘What am I going to shoot on the back nine, 40?’” Couples said.

Fergie slams lacklustre United after Crawley test

MANCHESTER, 20 Feb—Sir Alex Ferguson accused his Manchester United players of fading to understand the importance of the FA Cup after the 11-times winners struggled to reach the sixth round at the expense of non-League opposition.

The Premier League leaders were given an uncomfortable time by Crawley Town before edging past the team from the fifth tier of English football 1-0 at Old Trafford on Saturday to book a quarter-final spot. But United's victory came at a cost as Anderson, Rafael da Silva and Fabio da Silva were injured and are now doubtful for Wednesday's Champions League game away to Marseille. Ferguson made his feelings clear after his players failed to perform.

Inter title charge rolls on over Cagliari

ROME, 20 Feb—Inter Milan’s title charge gained momentum on Saturday as the champions squeezed past Cagliari 1-0 to close the gap on leaders AC Milan. Inter’s bitter city rivals can push their lead over their neighbours back out to five points with victory on Sunday at Chievo but the nerazzurri’s ninth win in 11 league games ensured they kept up the pressure ahead of their Champions League clash with Bayern Munich on Wednesday.

Centre-back Andrea Ranocchia scored the only goal of the game in controversial manner as he appeared to be offside. Inter coach Leonardo admitted the champions had struggled to get through this game.—INTERNET

Injuries overshadow Marseille victory

PARIS, 20 Feb—Marcelo Vieira’s apathy was telling as his Marseille side struggled to second in Ligue 1 on Saturday, but suffered a damaging setback when in-form striker Andre-Pierre Gignac went off injured in the second half.

Goals from Lucho Gonzalez and Loic Remy saw the defending champions close to within three points of leaders Lille — who visit Montpellier on Sunday — after an occasionally fractious encounter at Stade Velodrome.

Gignac set up L cucko for the opener but then left the field with a groin injury and the club confirmed he will not be able to play against Manchester United in Wednesday's Champions League last 16 first leg match.

Black County derby ends in a tie

LONDON, 20 Feb—Carlos Vela’s injury-time goal earned West Brom a vital point from a fiercely-fought Black County derby against Wolves at the Hawthorns. Jamie O’Hara’s curling shot at the end of a lively but disjointed first half had looked sure to win it for Wolves.

Marc-Antoine Fortune wasted a great chance and Jonas Olsson had a header cleared off the line as West Brom seemed destined not to score. But at the death Vela followed up a Wayne Hennessey fumble to earn a draw.

But at the death Vela followed up a Wayne Hennessey fumble to earn a draw.

The Welsh keeper was called into action again when he used his knees to block substitute Vela’s deflected shot.

Wolves almost snatched a second goal when Tamas came within inches of putting Kevin Doyle’s cross into his own net, but the longer the game went on the more inevitable Wolves’ victory looked. But in injury time, substitute James Morrison’s shot was blocked but not held by Hennessey, and Vela was quickest to react and earn his side a valuable point.—Internet
