Cultivate reading habit to improve knowledge

In this age of technology, young people need to be familiar with modern technology in order to serve the national interests.

Literature serves as torchlight for promoting knowledge and wisdom. So, today’s youths should learn modern science and technology as well as other subjects worth reading.

The majority of Myanmar’s population lives in rural areas. With the rural people having the habit of reading, it will contribute a lot to national progress. Self-reliant libraries are being established so that the rural people including youths can broaden their horizons.

Now, Rural Library Foundation has been set up for durability of the libraries and development of human resources. The aim of the foundation is to make the rural people cultivate the constant reading habit.

Young people must work hard for improving their abilities. With this end in view, they need to read and study.

Eight people lost their lives in the firing and five others sustained injuries. The injured were shifted to the nearby government-run hospital for treatment.

The two buses were completely destroyed as they caught fire due to firing. Security forces rushed to the site, however, the militants succeeded to flee.

Hangu remains under militants attack due to the presence of Taleban in the area. Just a week ago, at least eight people lost their lives in firing on a passenger bus.

On Thursday, a suicide car blast claimed five lives and injured 25 others at an attack on a police station in the city.

Roadside bombs kill Afghan policeman, two children

ISLAMABAD, 25 March—A roadside bomb killed two children Friday in eastern Afghanistan while a similar attack killed a police officer in the north, officials said.

One more child was injured in the attack in the east, which took place in the Behsood District of Nangarhar Province, said Ahmad Zia Abdulzai, spokesman for the provincial governor.

The explosives were hidden in garbage near a main road frequented by Afghan and foreign troops, he said, adding that an investigation was under way.

Also on Friday, a joint Afghan and German military patrol was hit by a roadside bomb in the Chardarah District of Kunduz Province, said Gholam Muhayuddin, the district police chief.

‘One policeman was killed and a police vehicle was destroyed in the attack, but there were no other casualties among the Afghan or foreign forces,’ he said. No group immediately took responsibility for Friday’s bombings, but the attacks bore the hallmark of Taleban militants.

The militants have relied heavily on roadside bombs as part of their nine-year war.

NATO helicopter kills two civilians in Kabul

KABUL, 25 March—A NATO helicopter gunship inadvertently killed two civilians while attacking suspected insurgents in the northern Afghanistan Province of Ghor, NATO announced Thursday.

The attack targeted a Haquni network leader in Tere Zayi District on Wednesday, according to NATO. “At the time of the strike, two civilians were walking near the moving targeted vehicle,” NATO said Thursday. “They were previously unseen by coalition forces prior to the initiation of the airstrike. Unfortunately both were killed as an unintended result of the strike.”

NATO said a “precision airstrike” killed the Haqani leader and two other militants while they were driving in a vehicle.

The announcement also described how NATO troops nearly missed other civilians near the site of the attack.

“Just prior to the weapon impact, an unasociated civilian vehicle and two pedestrians walking in a wash [gully] appeared, next to the target vehicle,” NATO said—Internet

Pak-Afghan-Turkish forces begin joint anti-terror exercises

ISLAMABAD, 25 March—Afghanistan, Pakistan and Turkey have launched a week-long trilateral joint military exercise at Tuzla, Turkey, Pakistan’s army said Friday.

The three countries decided to hold joint exercises at the conclusion of the 5th Trilateral Summit in Dec 2010, a statement from the Pakistan army’s Inter-Services Public Relations said.

The joint exercise involves military operations in urban terrain (MOUT) against terrorists, it said.

The exercises include basic and battle order training, MOUT demonstration by the Turkish army, combat order, training controls, fighting in built-up and handmade explosives training sessions.

Specialist teams of three countries comprising sniper and anti-tank detachments are undergoing this exercise.

“The purpose of this training is to share military knowledge, to reinforce and maintain coordination among the three countries,” the statement said.

This is the first time that a trilateral exercise among the three countries is being conducted on the Turkish soil, it added.

“It will play a pivotal role in cementing close military ties between the countries in the realm of combating the menace of terrorism and extremism being spearheaded by the sinister forces.”

The exercises coincided with the announcement from the Afghan President Hamid Karzai about the phased handover of security responsibilities from the foreign troops to Afghan forces.

Karzai mentioned several areas where the Afghan National Army will take security responsibility, which also include the Taleban stronghold of Helmand.

National cause and Tatmadaw

The Tatmadaw was behind the pursuance of the national goal of throwing off the yoke of the colonial rule. Before the establishment of the Tatmadaw, the people were hardly united due to diverse ideas of different political organizations. But, they became cohesive due to the Tatmadaw that was the mainstay of independence struggles. The Tatmadaw managed to organize the Burma Communist Party and People’s Uprising Party that exercised different imported policies and many other small parties into the Anti-Fascist People’s Freedom League (AFPFL). The parties won victory over Fascists because they prioritized national politics over party politics.

Politics is exercised in every country. And every country and race has national cause. It is everyone’s knowledge that politics is based on differences. There are different ideas and activities in politics, but there should not be differences in national politics. National cause is the building of unity amidst different ideas and activities. National politics is “working together” amidst different opinions.

One of the reasons why the Tatmadaw has been able to play the leadership role in the national politics in Myanmar till today is that it remains loyal to national cause. Therefore, the Tatmadaw self-confidently claims that it never betrays national cause.

Once, Myanmar fell under the rule of colonialists for more than 100 years. It was very clever of the colonialists to prolong their rule over Myanmar. Inspired by great love of own race and religion, the people launched movements to liberate themselves from the colonial rule. Then, political movements for national cause spread across the nation.

Myanmar’s political campaigns took place under visionary leadership of educated youths. The colonial education system designed to prolong the colonial rule brought about a spate of civil servants loyal to the British Empire, whereas national education campaigns produced a host of educated politicians adhering to national cause. Patriotic politicians, despite so many people thinking highly of colonialists, managed to form the Burma National Army force step by step.

Previous to the Burma National Army, Myanmar had never had an own Tatmadaw. Soon after the emergence of the national force, anti-colonialist armed revolts, Anti-Fascist Resistance and national liberation movements could be launched on the national scale. History shows that young politicians known as Thirty Comrades could build unity among political groups with national spirit, while undergoing harsh military training to form the Burma Independence Army, which later became the Burma National Army.

The Tatmadaw was behind the pursuance of the national goal of throwing off the yoke of the colonial rule. Before the establishment of the Tatmadaw, the people were hardly united due to diverse ideas of different political organizations. But, they became cohesive due to the Tatmadaw that was the mainstay of independence struggles. Only when the Tatmadaw is strong, will the nation be strong.
Yellow Yeboaw due to practice of new dogmatism. White Yeboaw force went underground. Later, KNDO and MNDO became armed insurgent groups after being caught in the political snare set by the colonialists. To make things worse, many forces defected to armed insurgent groups. The AFPFL government was nicknamed Yangon government as its administrative machinery was no longer effective. Had the Tatmadaw collapsed at that time, the whole nation would have collapsed by now. We cannot bear even the thought of the nation’s future unless the Tatmadaw remained loyal to the nation and the people.

With its might of strength, the Tatmadaw managed to repulse the attacks of insurgents by the colonialists. To make things worse, many groups after being caught in the political snare set by the colonialists. The Tatmadaw served as the Caretaker Government in 1958, took over State power in 1962 as the Union was standing on an abyss due to the loopholes of the constitution (1947), served as People’s Tatmadaw in the time of the Myanmar Socialist Programme Party that was in office in 1974, and undertook democratization processes and nation-building tasks after the political unrest in 1988. Therefore, the Tatmadaw came to have political and administrative calibers apart from military prowess.

Besides, the Tatmadaw was convinced of the national cause in the interests of the nation more than ever. Learning from its experiences of international relations, it came to realize that every country maintained smooth relations with other countries, but prioritized national interests. In Myanmar today, the Tatmadaw has more knowledge and experiences in the military, political and administrative fields more than any other organization. And the Tatmadaw is the force that has been improving through constant learning and training with self-discipline and consolidated unity in it. Patriotic, educated youths have been joining the Tatmadaw since 1941-42. Tatmadaw members have access to military training, education, M.A courses and Ph.D courses.

Myanmar people hold the religion in high esteem. They are hypersensitive to threats to national cause. They arm themselves with whatever weapons they get to cope with harms to national cause. Since its birth, the Tatmadaw upholds national cause and equips itself with a strong sense of patriotic spirit. In the course of the history, the Tatmadaw is dedicated to national cause, tries for capacity building and shows benevolent attitude towards the people in discharging responsibilities.

Education Minister elaborates on government’s plans for progress of national education

At today’s Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session, U Htay Maung of Mandalay Region Constituency No (12) put a question about government’s plans for harmonious development of national education and the potential role of private sector in future education system.

Minister for Education Dr Chan Nyen replied that his ministry has been implementing 30-year long-term education promotion plan in connection with 24 Special Development Region Project, Project for Progress of Border Areas and National Races, and rural development schemes being implemented by the government.

With a view to turning out highly-qualified human resources for the nation and particular region and covering access to education, the Ministry of Education has been undertaking such works as upgrading degree colleges to universities, opening new degree colleges and universities, recruiting lecturers and instructors, organizing new learning programmes in states and regions across the nation. In 1988, the nation was only 32 universities in future education system.

At today’s Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session, U Win Maung of Mandalay Region Constituency-2 put a question on arrangements to be made for new generation of today to be proficient in four skills—Reading, Writing, Listening and Speaking—of English Language, saying that English Language plays a vital role in political, social and economic affairs. It is important for today’s new generation to know English in this world of Globalization.

Regarding the query, Minister for Education Dr. Chan Nyen replied that the Ministry of Education is encouraging teachers of Higher and Basic Education to be proficient in their four skills (Reading, Writing, Listening and Speaking) and placing emphasis on use of more effective teaching methods and modern teaching aids and conducting English Language competitions.

For promotion of English Language Proficiency, English Language Proficiency Courses are being conducted for faculty members of universities and degree colleges. English language is being used in compiling and reading researches, except Myanmar.

For students of Higher Education, English language is being taught in degree and postgraduate courses. Arrangements have been made to improve the English language proficiency of students by establishing 57 multimedia lecture rooms and 93 language labs in 44 Universities and Degree Colleges. Besides, students are being nurtured to be proficient in their English by taking part in English Language competitions such as debate, roundtable discussions and essay contests which are held on significant days of the State. English Language Proficiency Courses are being opened at Myanmar-India English Language Training Center which was set up in 2009 and the center produced 2000 trainees. Under Human Resources Development Programme of the ministry, National Center for English Language Center was opened in 2005. So far, 12000 trainees have been produced from English Language Proficiency Postgraduate Course and English Language Course.

Industry-1 Minister explains measures to maintain stable commodity prices

By rua na nat. U Ko Gyi of Aungmyethazan Constituency (Pe 10) at Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session responded to the query of Daw Lé Lé Win Swe (Tamway Constituency) that during 2010, world’s crops production declined due to climate change across the globe. Decline in world’s food production led to an increase in rice, edible oil and food-stuff prices beginning the third quarter of 2010. United Nations, World Food Progranme and other responsible organizations concerned about the issue. Commodity price across the world is on the increase as some countries have stockpiled food-stuff. One of the reasons of high commodity price in Myanmar is high rice and food-stuff for domestic consumption have leaked into neighboring countries that are facing skyrocketing food prices.

World’s crude oil price has been surging gradually since September last year. Drop in oil production resulted from political instability of oil-producing countries in the Middle East added fuel to the situation, which was worsened when the world’s industrialized nations began to store crude oil, being afraid that oil supply would be cut off. The rise in oil price resulted in increased transportation charges which led to rising commodity prices.

Another factor was the rumors of pay rise for governmental staff. Oil production in oil exporters (Egypt, Libya, Yemen, Bahrain, Oman, Tunisia and others) from the Middle East has declined by two third and countries that possess oil are storing it, which leads to rise in oil price. The situation was further worsened when other countries felt worried about the situation in the Middle East and have begun to store oil and other commodities.

Domestic oil use has increased due to mining of jade, jewels, gold and other minerals in this summer. Over 1,100 companies are working in jade mining industry alone and its oil consumption reaches over 2 million gallons per month. Over 400 companies working in gold and other mineral mining industry use over 1.4 million gallons of oil. These companies are stockpiling the oil for fear of potential oil shortage resulted from instability in Middle East, making oil price rocketing high.

To prevent huge damages of roads, ASEAN standard transport system was adopted. Transport charges hit high as transport entrepreneurs are not used to the system.

Regarding speculation of raising salaries of government staff, storing commodities by some merchants makes the increase in demand and price in the market. Following fabri-cated broadcasts of foreign media in previous January and February, deposits were drawn out from domestic banks. But the situation is now stable with this news fading out as rumors.

Commodity Price Supervisory Committee watches production, export and consuming of commoditiy and estimates that the food security covers the entire nation. The State is setting sight on sufficiency of rice, oil, salt, meat, fish, onion, garlic, chili, pulses and beans and vegetables. A total of 1,566,303,000 baskets of rice was harvested from 19,933 million of summer and monsoon paddy farms. The amount is sufficient for 59 million of population accounting for nearly 160 per cent. Rice production increased from 631 million baskets in 1988 to 1,566,303,000 now. Edible oil is somewhat sufficient as 322,435 million of edible oil is produced from 9,271 million acres of farmslands of oil crops. Onion, garlic, chili and pulses and beans production exceeds local consumption. Local food security will not be a matter of concern in any circumstance.

Meat and fish production has been increased to meet local consumption. Compared with 4.1 kg in 1988, the meat individual annual consumption has surged to 24.8 kg. Fish individual annual consumption has increased to 59 kg from 15.3 kg and egg consumption to 122 from 21. Meat and fish exceeded the local consumption are exported. A total of 532,909 million US dollars were obtained from meat and fish export. In 2009-2010, compared to 10.38 million US dollars in 1988. In 2011-2012, the estimated amount of fish and prawn production is 2618.8 million viss, that of meat is 1273.252 million viss and that of egg is 3332.1 million eggs with the cooperation of international projects, local and foreign experts, entrepreneurs and organizations. With short- and long-term objectives, the State is realizing meat and fish sufficiency and price stabilization.

The State is boosting development of agriculture, breeding and production through necessity. The amount is sufficient. Through commodity is in market, transport charges are reasonable and by reducing unneccessary scales and stages which increase the producing price. The State controls food leakage to other countries, joins hands with related organizations to eradicate of rice and food storage following rumors, pursues private entrepreneurs not to play prices and to participate in market, encourages swift commodity flow and helps improve agricultural and breeding production.

Po EPA Taw 25 March—U Ko Gyi of Aungmyethazan Constituency replied to Daw Lé Lé Win Swe of Tamway Constituency saying that commodity price has been surging across the nation since the beginning of January and that especially people with low income are facing hardships due to price rise of basic foodstuffs, and asked what contributing factors to rising commodity prices are and the government’s measures to deal with the situation and maintain stable commodity prices.

Query about prevention of price manipulation, economic monopolization in line with existing laws or by enacting new laws and procedures answered

By rua na nat. U Ko Gyi of Aungmyethazan Constituency at today’s Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session questioned what measures should be taken to handle price manipulation and economic monopolization, how they would be prevented with the existing laws and whether it was necessary to enact new laws and procedures.

In response to the questions, Minister for Commerce U Tin Naing Thein said the existing laws to take (See page 8)

Starting from 2006-07 academic year, English Language Teaching Refresher Courses for primary and middle school teachers have been opened for two times and English Language Teaching Refresher Courses and orientation courses for high school teachers for three times. Effective methods are being used in teaching English in basic education level. In 2006-07 academic year, 1123 BA and MA (English) holders were appointed as SATs after taking Educational Technology Course.

To upgrade the teaching methods of English teachers, they were sent to attend courses and workshops held at home and abroad.

Township level, Region and State level and Central level English Language contests for primary and middle School students are held yearly starting from 2008-09. So far the competitions have been held for three times.

There were 35288 schools equipped with multimedia platform where English language is being taught effectively with the use of multimedia devices. According to the above-mentioned views and means, arrangements have been made for students of basic and higher education level to be proficient in four skills of English language. —MNA

If there is breach of those orders, necessary measures will be taken in line with the existing laws. Pea trading scandals and illegal trading are being exposed and action is being taken against them in line with the existing laws. As there were cases of complaints about price manipulation and monopolization with a wealth of foreign currency in hand, investigation was made and action was taken. The State always takes action whenever there are any malpractices against the right of the private sector to trade openly in the market economy system.

Now, necessary procedures are being studied and drafted to amend and supplement some of the existing laws and promulgate new laws so as to catch up with the current conditions of the market economy. All ASEAN nations are making plans to finalize the competition law in 2015 according to ASEAN Economic Community. Now it has been drafted and prescribed in Singapore, Vietnam, Thailand and Malaysia. In the world, some countries have prescribed fair trade competition law instead of competition law, anti-monopoly law, anti-trust law and against unfair competition law. These laws are prescribed to make sure that there is no individual’s or group’s monopolization of production, service and trade in the market and that a competition system emerges.

For drafting a competition law, the Ministry of National Planning and Economic Development is conducting studies in coordination with related departments.

Section 36 (b) of the 2008 constitution states that the Union shall prevent acts that harm public interests through monopolization or manipulation of prices by an individual or group with intent to endanger fair competition in economic activities. Regarding the question of U Ko Gyi, measures are being taken to implement the provisions of Section 36 (b) of the constitution.—MNA

Construction Minister replies to question on construction of bridge between Tatthitkyun and Bawlekyun in Htantabin Township

Nay Pyi Taw, 25 March—At today session of Pyidaungsu Hluttaw, U Thein Yi of Htantabin Constituency asked whether there is a plan to build a bridge for linking Tatthitkyun and Bawlekyun in Htantabin Township, and he would like to know when it will be built.

Minister for Construction U Khin Maung Myint replied that Htantabin of Yangon Region was an isolated town in the past. After 1980, nine miles and six furlongs long Htantabin-Thidaayez asphalt road was constructed from Yangon-Pathein Road. Therefore, Htantabin has easy access to Yangon day and night.

The government built 1940 feet long Hline River Bridge (Myochaung) and 1940 feet long Bawle River Bridge (Yebawthoung) as two-way RC facilities for development of Bawlekyun region. The 29 miles and two furlongs long Hmantabin-Myochaung-Yebawthoung-Kungyang-Ywatha Road was constructed. The roads were linked with Ywatha and Aphyauk and Ywatha and Uto. Kokkowa River between Tatthitkyun and Bawlekyun flows into Hline River near Htantabin. Mouth of Kokkowa River is about 1000 feet wide, and if the bridge is constructed, the facility will be 1900 feet long including approach roads on both sides.

People from Htantabin Township and Tatthitkyun may travel to Bawlekyun along nine miles long Hmantabin-Tatthitkyun-Danyingon junction of Yangon-Pathein road, one mile and two furlongs long section from Swepyitha-Danyingon junction, 12 miles and four furlongs long section from Danyingon junction to Hmantabin, five miles and one furlong long section from Hmantabin to Myochaung-Yebawthoung Bridge and 16 miles and six furlongs long section from Myochaung Bridge to Bawle Village, taking two hours.

At present, there is no plan to build a bridge between Tatthitkyun and Bawlekyun.

Due to requirements of the regions, the Ministry of Construction is carrying out construction and maintenance of roads and bridges. In this regard, the ministry builds under 180 feet long bridges under its plans and takes approval from the government to construct above 180 feet long bridges.

Tatthitkyun and Bawlekyun in Htantabin Township have better transport based on Yangon and Hmantabin, so there is no plan to build the bridge at present.—MNA

PBANRDA Minister replies to question on upgrading earthen road in Lamudanlay Village in Htantabin Township

Nay Pyi Taw, 25 March—At today’s session of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw, U Thein Yi of Htantabin Constituency asked whether there is a plan to upgrade the earthen road to gravel one in Lamudanlay Village of Kyudaw Village-tract in Htantabin Township, and he would like to know the time for upgrading it if it is possible.

In his response, Minister for Progress of Border Areas and National Races and Development Affairs U Thein Nyunt said that the Development Committees Law was promulgated as Law No. 5/93 on 1 April 1993 by the State Law and Order Restoration Council to undertake urban beautifying and rural development. Section 9 of the law was stipulated to carry out 31 tasks and supervise them. According to the law, tax and revenue are to be collected for spending it on beautifying of urban area and development of rural areas.

As Htantabin Township has least amount of tax yearly, the State provides cash assistance for urban and rural development tasks and upgrading roads. For example, the township has five miles and seven furlongs long tarred roads, one mile long gravel road, 21 miles long laterite roads and 73 miles and seven furlongs long earthen road and 114 bridges at present compared with two miles long gravel road and eight miles long earthen road in 1998.

Spending funds of the State, three miles and one furlong long earthen road linking Yangon West University and Ayeeyawady Village was upgraded to the tarred one from 2000-2001 to 2010-2011 financial year.

Development Affairs Department gives priority to population density, needs of economic development and needs of regional development in constructing the rural roads. Whenever the report is submitted to the State due to deficiency of township funds, the government allows the plan on the priority.

According to Section 254 of the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar, the Chief Ministers of Region and State have the responsibility to manage the spending of funds in line with the Budget Law in the townships. That is why officials at different levels will review the facts of priority for upgrading the earthen road in Lamudanlay Village of Htantabin Township.
Nine hltaw representatives and Finance and Revenue Minister assess proposal submitted by U Htay Oo from Hinthada Constituency

Naw Pi Taung, 25 March—Nine representatives held discussions about the approved proposal “This Hltaw opposes the economic sanctions imposed against Myanmar” submitted by U Htay Oo from Hinthada Constituency at Pyidaungsu Hltaw session today.

Wunna Kyaw Htin Win Win Myint from Sagaing Region Constituency (3) said that the West Bloc has tightened economic sanctions against Myanmar since 1997, thus harming the nation’s economic growth and ordinary people. Economic sanctions also harm foreign trade and Foreign Direct Investment. Myanmar receives least Official Development Assistance and no finance assistance from World Bank, I.M.F and ADB, and have adverse effects on labour intensive industries and tourism industry.

However, there was marked increase in turnover in trade with Asian countries: from 878 million in 1987-88 to over 12 billion US dollars in 2009-2010. The contribution to trade with Europe and America declined sharply from 30% in 1990 to only 5%. Sanctions also harm Myanmar exports’ competitiveness. Economic sanctions are against a principle of WTO, and so he seconded the proposal, he said.

U Thein Nyunt of Thingangyun Constituency said that economic sanctions imposed by the US, EU and Canada harm employees and employers, and money transfers. Rich natural resources alone are not enough for national development. Sanctions also harm FDI. So, he is in support of the motion.

He suggested that a suitable foreign policy be laid down to address the issue as economic sanctions also have effects on the West Bloc, and ASEAN countries are demanding lifting sanctions.

U Tun Aung Kyaw from Ponnagyun Constituency said that economic sanctions harmed the nation especially states. The US government has imposed economic sanctions against Myanmar exercising Customs and Trade Act since 1997, and it tightened sanctions in 2003. That dealt a blow to some states and regions including Rakhine State in export of marine product and finished wood products and hotels in some states. The US government has imposed economic sanctions in 1997 and tightened in 2003 to the closure of many factories including garment factories. That made about 50,000 women redundant and had adverse effect to their families. Many job lost women became sex workers, and many fell victim to unfair treatment and forced marriage abroad. So, public’s outrage can turn to those foreign countries imposing sanctions against Myanmar.

She said that she was opposed to all sanctions and news fabrication, and seconded the proposal.

Daw Dwe Bu from Injanyan Constituency said that every country and people have the right to choose the policy they like and deal with internal affairs without foreign interference that is the theme of the Five Principles of Peaceful Coexistence. The people have chosen the most appropriate way to democracy. Turning a blind eye to objective conditions of the nation, the West Bloc is imposing economic sanctions and trade embargo, which effects both Myanmar and the US, Britain and EU. So, she seconded the proposal, she said.

One of the reasons of imposing sanctions is fabrication of news. So, she is opposed to retooling news stories that disrupts national development. Now, democratization is in full swing in Myanmar. And the people will keep trying for greater development in the process. So, the people will have to welcome mutual cooperation with other countries.

So, the people have to work closely to surmount the economic sanctions that hinder the national goal of building a peaceful, modern and developed country.

Dr Mya Nyana Soe from Yangon Region Constituency (4) said that some are claiming in their own interests that economic sanctions affect the ruling government, not the people. Sanctions caused disruptions to national development and deny humanitarian assistance to Myanmar. Banning their citizens from investing in Myanmar; they are violating human rights. Prohibition of import of agricultural inputs is disruptive to agriculture and life of farmers. And blocking the flow of technologies to Myanmar is violation of technological rights.

All hltaw representatives are required to deal with economic sanctions in order to safeguard national interests. So, he seconded the proposal, he said.

Daw Nan Na Wah from Kunhing Constituency said that parties objected to economic sanctions through announcements. In addition, ASEAN countries called for lifting sanctions.

In economic sector, Myanmar has to rely on other countries for some kinds of goods such as fertilizers, pesticides and agricultural tools and machinery. Process cost is two to three percent, which causes burden on the people. These are evil consequences of economic sanctions.

Due to economic sanctions, Myanmar lost opportunities to get monetary and technological assistance from IMF, ADB and IBF. In comparison with neighbouring countries, Myanmar lost money and technology worth millions of US dollars in the period of economic sanctions.

Owing to lack of foreign direct investments, development tasks faced loss for development of national races and remote areas.

Economic sanction imposed against Myanmar is no beneficial to both sanction imposers and victims. The sanctions imposed with the reasons of democracy and human rights are meaningless for the new Myanmar country that starts democratization process. He on behalf of all Myanmar people said that time has come to welcome progress of Myanmar with assistance and encouragement instead of continuing sanctions, and she deeply supported the proposal.

U Hla Maung (a) U Naing Hla Maung of Chaungzong Constituency said that economic sanctions imposed by the US and the EU do not benefit the Myanmar people. Therefore, all the people are not happy with sanctions. Five national race parties declared a joint statement for removal of sanctions. With regard to the sanction issue, the word “objection” was included in the discussions of U Htay Oo. He suggested that the word “I would like to request to lift the sanction” should be used instead of the word “objection”. Indeed, the request to lift the sanction is not to hope for easily lifting the sanction. So, it is necessary to show the capability of the nation by successfully realizing multi-party democracy system.

Only when the multi-party democracy system can be realized practically, will all democratic nations of the world support Myanmar. Therefore, the US and the European countries must lift the sanctions, and so he said that he supported the proposal.

Dr Pwint Hsan of Mayagon Constiituency said that before imposing sanctions against Myanmar, over 300 garment industries were operated with the larger strength of workers. Due to economic sanctions, a half of industries were closed down and about 850,000 workers became jobless. In consequence, their families faced difficulties.

Businesses, government departments, foreign embassies, NGOs and other enterprises running with US currency faced difficulties due to economic sanctions on transfer of money.

The US and its accomplices banned investment in Myanmar and put pressure on international monetary organizations to cut loans and assistance to Myanmar. In addition to economic sanctions, the UE and Canada restricted import of timber and gems from Myanmar and banned financial services. Their activities made an impact on tourism industry due to misinformation for tourists.

Economic sanctions are designed for political reform, but people missed job opportunities and losses in social economic fields. Hence of U Htay Oo in accord with the wishes of the people.

He expressed his opinion that inventing fabrications, economic sanctions withheld real situations to cause the political change, as they liked. If one reviews discussions, paper compilation and articles of internal and international communities, the wrong doing activities of imposers can be seen.

Without giving priority to prosperity of Myanmar and the people, the activities in support of economic sanctions with selfishness and sending misinformation are destructive acts of the persons who do not want to serve the interest of the State and the people.

Therefore, he objected the releasing of all misinformation that turns a blind eye to endeavours of the State and the people and progress of sound foundations for building a new democratic nation.

As the government has been implementing the seven-step Road Map of the State for democratization process and improvement of human rights, at present the Pyidaungsu Hltaw is being convened for handing over the duties of the State to the democratically elected government as the last step.

Moreover, Myanmar is further strengthening friendly ties with neighbouring countries, regional countries and other global nations that wish to cooperate with

United States which has a foreign source. Beginning May 1997, the successive US presidents from the time of President Bill Clinton to that of President Obama has issued the exceptional threat to the national emergency in the U.S. Presidents to regulate federal law authorizing the Economic Powers Act of International Emergency rights and democracy in Myanmar and the people for serving their interests. Therefore, he deeply supported the proposal of U Htay Oo.Freely, in regard to the proposal, Minister for Finance and Revenue U Hla Tun said that the US government started imposing the sanctions against Myanmar under the pretext of human rights and democracy in 1997 applying the International Economic Emergency Powers Act of 1977-IEEPA. IEEPA is a United States federal law authorizing the U.S. Presidents to regulate commerce after declaring a national emergency in response to any unusual and extraordinary threat to the national emergency in May yearly and continued imposing sanctions that dramatically alter the national security, foreign policy and economy of the US.

In this regard, he would like to discuss an issue that who really threaten national security, foreign policy and economy. With the common sense, everybody knows that hard developed Myanmar with over 50 million population cannot threaten superpower US with 300 population cannot threaten superpower US with 300,000,000. The US military might spending a half of world total military expenditure.

Although economic sanctions cannot effectively stop the endeavours of the State and the people for development of social economy, the sanctions can impact on factories and workshop projects that create job opportunities for the people. In 2003, many garment factories were closed down in Myanmar due to sanctions against imports of Myanmar by the US according to its Burma’s Freedom and Democracy Act. Disadvantages of sanctions left about 120 garment factories in 2009 compared with about 300 factories in Myanmar before the sanctions. Due to the sanctions, hundreds of thousands of female workers of garment factories became jobless. Of them, 95 per cent were female workers from aged 18 to 35. The sanctions imposed by the US affected the fishery industry. From 1998 to 2003, Myanmar stood fourth in Asia in importing fishery products to the US. If the sanctions were not imposed, Myanmar may stand second in the fishery importing countries. Due to prohibiting the transfer of monetary, Myanmar suffered from difficulties in remittance service. The prohibition on financial and monetary services caused crises to businesses, government departments, foreign embassies, NGOs and all the works relying on US monetary system for trade and remittance. As the US traveller’s cheque could not be used, the tourism industry faced difficulties. The World Bank stopped to disburse no more loan to Myanmar beginning 1987. However, IMF and WB provided financial assistance to Thailand, Malaysia and Indonesia during the

Proposals submitted, approved at Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session

NAY PYI TAW, 25 March — Pyidaungsu Hluttaw sought approval to discuss proposals submitted by Pyidaungsu Hluttaw representatives at today’s Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session.

U Banya Aung Moe (a) Dr Banya Aung Moe of Mon State Constituency-7 submitted the proposal “urging the government to implement national reconciliation and internal peace”. U Saw Aung Kyaw Nain (a) Shaur Bu Fot of Kayin State Constituency-1 submitted the proposal.

South-east Asian financial crisis in 1997. In the event of cyclonic storm Nargis in 2008, they did not provide any aid to Myanmar. The US and the EU officially tribute a great deal to development of the State, education and health sectors of the nation.

Generally, the big country imposes economic sanction against the small country to dominate the activities and policy of the victim country for liking of the big country. In addition, the imposition country intends to remove the government of the victim country and substitute its puppet government as an act of regime change.

WTO members US and EU countries imposed sanctions against Myanmar by breaking the Article 1 and Article III of General Agreement on Tariff and Trade (GATT 1947) on nondiscrimination among the WTO member countries in trade and creation of opportunity in equal term without abiding by the provisions of the WTO.

According to Section 35 of the Constitution, the State economic policy is market-oriented economic system. approved the proposal.

Only when the entrepreneurs have capability to compete in the domestic and international markets through the market-oriented economic system, will the State’s economy develop. If the domestic market is being realized in line with the market-oriented economic system and the international market is being banned, the development of market will be far from the goal of Myanmar. In consequence, merchants, farmers, workers and consumer people will face greater difficulties at the free market and free trade stage.

It is obvious that the US and its lackeys that imposed sanctions against Myanmar have the main objective of causing difficulties in remittance and prohibiting import and export of Myanmar. In this regard, Myanmar has made utmost efforts by overcoming the various obstacles and problems and the government is striving for construction of important infrastructures, roads and bridges, implementing hydropower projects for energy sector, building dams and river pumping projects in rivers, building the modern Tatmadaw for State defence and constructing the schools, universities, hospitals, dispensaries and medical institutes in all parts of the nation. As a result, the nation has established the sound foundations for economic and political sectors. Therefore, the approval should be sought at the Hluttaw for the proposal of U Htay Oo.

The Hluttaw took decision by vote with 625 for, five abstentions and four against that the Hluttaw approve the proposal.

NEW YORK, 25 March—Actress Kate Winslet will author a book of celebrity self-portrait photos by Ben Stiller, Jude Law, Meryl Streep and others to support the treatment of autism, Simon & Schuster said on Thursday.

Winslet organized the collection of self-portrait photos for the book titled “The Golden Hat” after becoming inspired by an HBO documentary she narrated called “A Mother’s Courage: Talking Back To Autism” that aired last year.

The film shows Keli Ericsdottir, an Icelandic boy who suffered from severe non-verbal autism, eventually being able to communicate. He now composes poems, including one describing a magical hat that enables an autistic boy to communicate. The book, which will be released later this year, derives its name from Ericsdottir’s poem and tells the story of Winslet’s relationship with the Ericsdottir family as well as Keli Ericsdottir’s poetry and writings.

LONDON, 25 March—As former “saviours of rock’n’roll” The Strokes release their fourth album this week, nowhere is the search for rock’s new standard bearers more intense than in Britain.

But who is up to the task.

The 2001 release of the US band’s debut “Is This It” and the emergence of compatriots The White Stripes sparked a renaissance in guitar music, but with both bands slipping from view it is up to younger bands to fill the void.

Theoretically Britain is the place to look, being the country which gave the world The Beatles, The Rolling Stones, Led Zeppelin, David Bowie and Sex Pistols — but salvation may be far off.

Obese women, children underestimate their weight
BEIJING, 25 March
A new study has found that many overweight women and children often underestimate how heavy they are, according to media reports on Wednesday.
The study, conducted by researchers from Columbia University Medical Centre in New York City, surveyed 111 women with the average age of 39 and 111 children aged between 7 and 13.
Among the participants, about 66 percent of the women and 39 percent of the kids were overweight or obese.
They were shown images of different body silhouettes representing a range of weights, including underweight, normal weight, overweight, obese and extremely obese.
England stars don’t fear Capello any more, says Barry

Watson, 25 March—Gareth Barry admits England’s stars finally feel able to relax around notoriously strict coach Fabio Capello. Capello has tried to rule England’s squad with an iron fist since taking charge of a group who had been over-indulged by previous boss Steve McClaren. The Italian’s no-nonsense approach included banning mobile phones from team dinners, limiting the squad’s leisure activities and insisting that players are on time for every meeting.

Initially Capello’s hardline stance was seen as a positive step but Manchester City midfielder Barry believes it backfired at last year’s World Cup when the players became bored by the daily grind of training and resting with little chance to enjoy the sights of South Africa.

Ramsey to captain Wales

London, 25 March—Arsenal midfielder Aaron Ramsey has been named captain of Wales ahead of their showdown with England, captain of Wales ahead of Ramsey has been named Arsenal midfielder Aaron Ramsey to captain Wales ahead of the Euro 2012 qualifier against England on Friday looking to maintain their three-point lead over their rivals at the top of Group C. But ever since Italy’s dismal showing at the World Cup in South Africa last June, the focus in the country has been on the lack of emerging talent.

I have mentioned before, it is about the future and planning ahead. “There were two or three candidates, I thought about what is best for the team going forward. “I spoke to Aaron before making the decision and told him there were certain responsibilities and duties that would go with it, and to see if he was happy with it.”

Marseille agree Brandao loan move

Paris, 25 March—Marseille president Jean-Claude Dassier confirmed on Thursday that striker Brandao, currently under investigation for rape, is to join Brazilian club Cruzeiro on loan until the end of the year. “Brandao’s departure is official,” Dassier said after meeting the Brazilian player on Thursday. “I wish Brandao and I told him so, lots of success in Brazil. He’s joining a big club and I hope this awful affair will have a positive outcome.”

Brandao was placed under police investigation for allegedly raping a 23-year-old woman after a night out in Aix-en-Provence, near Marseille on 9 March and also faces disciplinary action from his club. He had been allowed to travel to Brazil for a period of rest by the club but returned to Marseille this week.

Loss of Coleman new blow for Ireland

London, 25 March—Republic of Ireland boss Giovanni Trapattoni has been hit by a fresh injury blow with the news Thursday that Seamus Coleman has been forced to withdraw from the squad through injury. The 22-year-old Everton midfielder has not trained all week because of ankle injury, and after assessment on Thursday afternoon, the decision was taken to send him back to Merseyside.

He follows Newcastle striker Leon Best back to England 24 hours after he also had to admit defeat in his efforts to shake off an ankle problem. Sean St Ledger, a regular in Trapattoni’s first-choice defence, has not trained since picking up a knee injury in Tuesday morning’s session, and his fitness is being closely monitored.

Italy need to start all over again - Prandelli

Bild

Italian’s national football team coach Cesare Prandelli admitted on Thursday that Italy need to start rebuilding football in the country from the grassroots level. Italy play Slovenia in a Euro 2012 qualifier on Friday looking to maintain their three-point lead over their rivals at the top of Group C. But ever since Italy’s dismal showing at the World Cup in South Africa last June, the focus in the country has been on the lack of emerging talent. And former Slovenia striker Zlatko Zahovic stuck the knife in earlier this week when he claimed that Italy don’t have many good players any more and that his team should win easily. Prandelli wasn’t hiding from the fact that his squad is lacking in quality, particularly with AC Milan playmaker Andrea Pirlo injured and Manchester City youngster Mario Balotelli frozen out for disciplinary reasons.

Amanda Blumenherst leads Kia Classic industry, 25 March—Amanda Blumenherst bidied the final four holes for a 7-under 66 and a one-stroke lead over German’s Sandra Gail on Thursday in the Kia Classic. Blumenherst, the former Duke star seeking her first LPGA Tour victory, had nine birdies and two bogeys in her opening round on the Industry Hills Golf Club course at Pacific Palms. The American took advantage of tranquil morning conditions on the rain-softened course.

“The fairways are extremely soft right now. So are the greens,” Blumenherst said. “It’s playing a lot longer than it says on the card, which actually suits me because I’m one of the longer ball-strikers.”

Michelle Wie birdied the par-5 18th for a 68. The Kia endorser, returning to the tour after finishing final nals at Stanford, played in chilly conditions late in the afternoon.

Germany goalkeeper Manuel Neuer from Schalke 04

BERLIN, 25 March—Manchester United have expressed interest in signing Germany goalkeeper Manuel Neuer from Schalke 04, the Bundesliga club’s president was quoted as saying on Wednesday. “An international agent has approached me and informed me that Manchester United are interested in Neuer. If we get a written request from Manchester we will look at it,” Clemens Wiese told the Bild daily.

It is not the first time that Neuer, who was Germany’s man between the posts in their highly succes- sful 2010 World Cup campaign, has been touted as a possible re- placement for the retiring Edwin van der Sar at Old Trafford. Neuer, who turns 25 later this month, is under contract until June 2012.

Ribery, Evra won’t overshadow France task: Blanc

LUXEMBOURG, 25 March—Coach Laurent Blanc insists that the return of Franck Ribery and Patrice Evra to the France fold will not overshadow the task of collecting all three points in Friday’s Euro 2012 qualifier against Luxembourg. The pair, recalled for the first time since the 2010 World Cup fiasco, will start for Group D leaders France against tailenders Luxembourg, as the main additions to a side which otherwise resembles the team that beat England 2-1 last November.

Blanc has kept faith with Yoann Gourcouf despite the midfielder’s problems adapting to life at Lyon, as the France coach tries to recreate the Samir Nasri-Gourcouf tandem that succeeded so well against the English at Wembley. Ribery and Evra will replace Mathieu Valbuena, who was not selected, and Eric Abidal, who is recovering after having a liver tumour re- moved.
