Two NATO soldiers killed in S Afghanistan

KABUL, 9 Oct—Two NATO soldiers were killed on Saturday in an militant attack in restive southern Afghanistan’s region, the military alliance confirmed on Sunday.

“Two International Security Assistance Force service members died following an militant attack in southern Afghanistan yesterday,” the NATO-led International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) said in a statement.

The brief statement did not give details and the nationalities of the casualties under ISAF policy, only saying “it is ISAF policy to defer casualty identification procedures to the relevant national authorities.”

Troops mainly from US, Britain, Canada and Australia have been stationed in the southern region within the framework of ISAF to fight Taliban militants. Militancy has been rampant since May this year when Taliban militants announced to launch spring offensive in the war-battered Afghanistan.

Gunman killed in southern Kyrgyz city

BISHKEK, 9 Oct—Kyrgyz security forces Saturday foiled an attempt by “a group of terrorists” to penetrate into the city of Osh, killing one of them, security service sources told Interfax.

Security service sources said that in an operation to besiege and arrest the alleged terrorists, two armoured vehicles and several army trucks were involved. The operation was in the Kara-Suu District, which borders Osh.

Three checkpoints had been set up on Osh’s boundary and more might be set up. Reinforced traffic police and other patrols were inspecting vehicles arriving in the city.

Earlier on Saturday, State National Security Committee forces killed one of the alleged terrorists, who had hijacked a minibus, taken its passengers hostage, and tried to get into the city, the sources said.

The bus was stopped at one of the checkpoints. The hostage taker resisted an attempt to arrest him and was killed. The gunman had been armed with two pistols.

“According to our information, he wasn’t alone, and his accomplices are hiding in the Kara-Suu District,” one of the security sources said.

Deputy Interior Minister Kursan Asanov said that law enforcement services in the city and region of Osh were put on alert after the operation.

KABUL, 9 Oct—A policeman and 10 militants were killed on Saturday when gunbattle broke out in Afghanistan’s Nimroz Province 790 km southwest of capital city of Kabul, provincial police chief said on Sunday.

“A unit of Afghan National Police (ANP) was travelling to Chaar Buriak District Saturday night but a group of armed militants ambushed their convoy triggering a firefight lasting for hours,” Nimroz provincial police chief, Abdul Jabar Purdili told Xinhua.

According to Purdili, one policeman was killed and two others injured in the incident.

“A total of 10 armed militants have been killed and ANP confiscate a handful of weapons and several motorcycles on the ground,” the police official said.

Taliban militants, whose regime was toppled in a US-led incursion in late 2001, have intensified activities since the militant group announced to launch spring offensive against Afghan security forces and NATO-led troops stationed in Afghanistan on 1 May.

The militants group has yet to make comments.

In another development, Afghan and NATO-led Coalition forces launched a night raid operation in Spin Ghar district of eastern Nangarhar Province Saturday night killing one person and capturing four suspected militants, spokesman for provincial government, Ahmad Zia Abdul Zia told Xinhua on Sunday.

However, Malik Usman, a tribal elder in Spin Ghar District, said that the killed man, 70, was a civilian and had no links with the anti-government militants.

CAO to invest in oil storage terminal in South Korea

SINGAPORE, 9 Oct—Singapore-listed jet fuel supplier and trader China Aviation Oil (Singapore) Corporation (CAO) has agreed to invest about 34 billion won (32 million US dollars) for a 26 percent equity stake in an oil storage firm in Yeosu, South Korea, the company announced on Saturday. The announcement came two days after a similar announcement on an investment of 10 million dollars by the jet fuel trader in an oil storage terminal in Johor, Malaysia for the exclusive use of the company. The Malaysia project was the first investment made by CAO in an enterprise outside China since its restructuring in 2004 and marks a milestone in its effort to build its network of assets in China since its restructuring in 2004 and marks a milestone in its effort to build its network of assets in oil fuel trading, said Meng Fanqiu, chief executive officer of the company.

CAO will be the second largest shareholder in Oilhub Korea Yeosu Co, Ltd (OKYC), which is building the Northeast Asia Hub Terminal in Yeosu, a storage facility with a capacity of 8.18 million barrels, of which 4.22 million barrels will be used for oil products and the rest for crude oil.

Vladivostok gets facelift to be ‘San Francisco’

VLADIVOSTOK, 9 Oct—Vladivostok, the mythical terminus of the Trans-Siberian railway, is being turned upside down in a huge rebuilding project that aims to turn the city into the Russian Far East’s answer to Istanbul or San Francisco. A city closed to foreigners under the Soviet Union due to its hosting of the Pacific Fleet, Vladivostok suffered after the USSR collapse as inhabitants left, buildings crumbled and it acquired a seedy reputation for mafia crime.

But in one of the Kremlin’s most wildly ambitious construction projects, the city currently resembles a vast building site as vast new hotel complexes, highways and two bridges are built to host a major summit in 2012. And as if welcoming leaders including the US president at the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) summit was not enough, the meeting is due to be held on an island outside Vladivostok that has never been connected to the mainland. Russki Ostrov (Russian Island) has until now been a sleepy verdant area popular largely with daytrippers and nature lovers who make the journey by ferry.

All that will change with the construction of the APEC conference facilities on the island and — the crowning glory of the entire project — a gigantic 1.9-kilometre (1.2-mile) bridge to connect it to the mainland.

The authorities hope the bridge will become a symbol of the city and the Russian Far East.

New prostate cancer test advice overturns dogma

WASHINGTON, 9 Oct—Men finally may be getting a clearer message about undergoing PSA screening for prostate cancer: Don’t do it. They may not listen. After all, the vast majority of men over 50 already have tested.

The idea that finding cancer early can harm instead of help is a hard one to understand. But it’s at the heart of a government panel’s draft recommendation that those PSA blood tests should no longer be part of routine screening for healthy men.

The US Preventive Services Task Force examined all the evidence and found little if any reduction in deaths from routine PSA screening. But it did conclude that too many men are diagnosed with tumors that never would have killed them and suffer serious side effects from resulting treatment.

That recommendation isn’t final — it’s a draft open for public comment. But it goes a step further than several major cancer groups including the American Cancer Society, which urges that men be told the pros and cons and decide for themselves.

The new advice is sure to be hugely controversial. Already some doctors are rejecting it.

Video games used for ICU physical therapy

BALTIMORE, 9 Oct—Interactive video games, which help stroke patients recover, appear to enhance physical therapy for patients in intensive care units, US researchers say. Study leader Michelle E Kho of The Johns Hopkins School of Medicine and colleagues identified a select group of 22 critically ill adult patients for a one-year period who received video games as part of routine physical therapy.

The patients were part of a group of 410 patients who received early physical therapy in the medical intensive care unit during the same time frame from physical therapists. The patients in the study, mostly males ages 32–64 were admitted to the medical intensive care unit as a result of health problems, such as respiratory failure, sepsis and cardiovascular issues.

Business jet industry looks to 2012 for growth

WASHINGTON, 9 Oct—The business jet industry is expecting 2012 to mark its first year of growth in deliveries since the financial downturn, but more pain could still be ahead for the low end of the segment that has been hardest hit. “2011 did not play out as we expected to see the growth and orders being placed, so we’re shifting our hopes to 2012,” said Jens Hennig, vice president of operations at the General Aviation Manufacturers Association, a Washington, DC-based international group that tracks noncommercial aviation. Honeywell Interna-tional, maker of avionics and engines, also thinks better times are coming. “We believe 2011 will be the low point,” said Rob Wilson, president of Honeywell’s business and general aviation unit. Unit deliveries will rise 3 to 5 percent in 2012 as new models such as the long-range Gulfstream G650 enter service, Honeywell projected in its annual business aviation outlook released on Saturday.

Demand for business jets fell in 2009 after five years of growth in deliveries as companies clamped down on spending after the global financial crisis peaked in 2008 and stricter credit made purchases difficult. Business jet shipments fell again in 2010 and were down about 27 percent through the first six months of this year, according to GAMA data on worldwide deliveries.

AT&T sells 200,000 new iPhones in first pre-orders

NEW YORK, 9 Oct— US telecom giant AT&T said Friday it has seen an unprecedented demand for the updated iPhone, with over 200,000 pre-orders of the latest Apple gadget in the first 12 hours alone.

The iPhone 4S, unveiled on Tuesday on the eve of the death of legendary Apple founder and leader Steve Jobs, goes on wide release on 14 October in the United States and six other countries, but customers seeking to reserve the new device could start pre-orders Friday.

Two other US carriers — Verizon Wireless and Sprint — also released the iPhone for pre-order, but did not post sales figures late Friday.

The device has disappointed some analysts due to its similarity with the earlier iPhone 4, released last year, but the processor is said to be as powerful as the Apple iPad, and comes with a sophisticated voice command system, called Siri. In addition to its stand-alone appeal, as latest incarnation of the revolutionary device, sales of the iPhone 4S are also expected to benefit from the enormous outpouring of sympathy for Jobs, who died this week at age 56, after years battling prostate cancer.

In the United States, iPhone 4S prices will start at $199 for a 16 gigabyte model and top out at $399 for a model with 64GB of memory. Internet

Ambitions in check on global climate deal

PRETORIA, 9 Oct—With just weeks to go before UN talks on climate change open in South Africa, negotiators have shifted their goal from striking a historic deal to ensuring that the global system survives. Participants have long billed the conference opening on 28 November in Durban as a last chance to find a way forward on fighting climate change, with the Kyoto Protocol’s commitments to cut carbon emissions expiring after 2012.

Officials from key nations reported progress in preparatory talks that closed Friday in Panama City — not in resolving the most knotty issues, but in starting to work out a technical framework for the future. “Countries are trying pretty hard to scale expectations down to a realistic level for Durban,” said Jennifer Haverkamp, the international climate program director at the US-based Environmental Defense Fund.

Haunting the talks is the 2009 summit in Copenhagen, where more than 100 world leaders swooped in as public pressure mounted for a sweeping deal but found themselves ready only to take incremental steps.

Politics have also shifted in the United States, the world’s largest economy. Proposals to cut carbon emissions nationwide floundered in Congress as President Barack Obama’s rivals question the science behind climate change.

US negotiators have pushed vigorously in talks for China, the world’s largest emitter, to face binding obligations. But Beijing and other emerging economies have hit back that Washington must make firmer commitments. Internet

India to build world largest fridge for fusion reactor

NEW DELHI, 9 Oct— India is planning to build the “world’s largest high-vacuum cold storage” vessel to house fusion reactor, sources said on Sunday.

A team at the Institute of Plasma Research is to build the vessel, called the cryostat which will house International Thermonuclear Experimental Reactor, the largest facility of its kind built in France.

The fridge is part of an ambitious international project to generate energy from a process that powers the sun.

It will be built at a cost of 100 million euros and will be sent to France for assembly, the sources said.

India is part of a seven nation consortium that is building the fusion reactor designed to produce 500 MW of output electricity with a power input of 50 MW. Xinhua

US FDA outlines steps to spur biomedical innovation

WASHINGTON, 9 Oct—US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Commissioner Margaret Hamburg on Wednesday released a blueprint containing immediate steps that can be taken to drive biomedical innovation.

Titled “Driving Biomedical Innovation: Initiatives for Improving Products for Patients,” the blueprint addresses concerns about the sustainability of the medical product development pipeline, which is slowing down despite record investments in research and development.

According to the FDA, the blueprint focuses on rebuilding FDA’s small business outreach services; building the infrastructure to drive and support personalized medicine; creating a rapid drug development pathway for important targeted therapies; harnessing the potential of data mining and information sharing while protecting patient privacy; improving consistency and clarity in the medical device review process; training the next generation of innovators; streamlining and reforming FDA regulations.

“America is at an important crossroads, where the science before us presents unprecedented opportunities to create new and better medical products and to promote better health for the public,” said Hamburg in a statement. “Our innovation blueprint highlights some of the initiatives FDA will be implementing to ensure that these opportunities are translated into safe and effective treatments that can keep both American patients and American industry healthy and strong.”— Internet

Swiss speedster trapped by his own mobile phone

GENEVA, 9 Oct—A Swiss motorist used his mobile phone to record himself driving on an autoroute near Geneva at 320 km an hour, nearly three times the speed limit, police said on Wednesday.

But the offence was only uncovered six months later when the 28-year-old was questioned in another case and investigators found the images still on the phone.

Some shots were focussed on the speedo-meter of his car, a Bentley Continental, according to a police spokesman.

Others showed the road, revealing where he was, and the phone’s timer recorded the date and the time — just before 3:30 in the morning local time last April. Reuters

Ozone found in atmosphere of Venus

PARIS, 9 Oct—A spacecraft orbiting Venus has detected ozone in the planet’s atmosphere, similar to layers surrounding Earth and Mars, European astronomers say.

The European Space Agency’s Venus Express orbiter made the discovery while observing stars seen right at the edge of the planet through its atmosphere. Instruments measured the characteristic fingerprints of gases in the atmosphere as they absorbed starlight at specific wavelengths, an ESA release said Thursday.

The finding may help in the search for life on other planets, astronomers said.

Ozone, a molecule containing three oxygen atoms, has only previously been detected in the atmospheres of Earth and Mars. It is of vital importance on Earth because it absorbs much of the sun’s harmful ultraviolet rays. The build-up of oxygen, and consequently ozone, in Earth’s atmosphere began 2.4 billion years ago.

Scientists theorize microbes excreting oxygen as a waste gas must have played an important role in the process. As a result, some astrobiologists say the simultaneous presence of carbon dioxide, oxygen and ozone in an atmosphere could be used to tell whether there could be life on a planet.

Homeowner cleared in stabbing of intruder

MANCHESTER, 9 Oct—A British homeowner arrested on suspicion of murder for stabbing an intruder at his house was cleared after prosecutors concluded he acted in self-defence.

The Daily Telegraph reported Vincent Cooke, 39, was arrested in the 17 Sept death of an intruder who smashed down his door and threatened him with a knife.

The Crown Prosecution Service said Cooke acted in self-defence when he stabbed Raymond Jacob, 37, one of two alleged intruders, six times.

Cooke’s wife, Karen, 34, and 12-year-old son returned home during the incident but weren’t injured. Nazir Alizada, chief crown prosecutor for the North West area, said evidence indicated Cooke acted “honestly and instinctively” and shouldn’t face charges.

“At the time, he was in fear for his own safety and the safety of his wife and son, who arrived at the house as the incident was happening,” Alizada said.

Alizada said the law makes clear “anyone who acts in good faith in using whatever force they honestly feel is necessary to protect themselves, their families or their property will not be prosecuted for such action.”

In a statement, Cooke said he was relieved he wasn’t being charged and that he still suffers flashbacks. “I hope to now be able to get on with my life but will never forget the day that I had to fight for my life,” the statement said.

The Telegraph said a 33-year-old man was in custody, charged with aggravated burglary in the incident. He is to appear in court in December.

“Minor leak” happens at nuclear plant in Scotland

LONDON, 9 Oct—A “Minor leak” has happened in a nuclear plant in Scotland, but it was isolated and stopped, environmental authority confirmed on Saturday, saying there is no need to worry.

Radioactive material leaked in a former nuclear plant named Dounreay Fast Reactor, which was constructed in the 1950s and has not generated electricity since 1994. It is now in a process of decommissioning by a company named Dounreay Site Restoration.

The company said in a statement on Saturday that “during routine operation of the plant destroying the liquid metal, coolant in the Dounreay Fast Reactor, drips of caustic liquid from pipework in a shielded cell were detected by the monitoring systems.”

“The plant was immediately shut down and the leak isolated and stopped. There was no release of radio activity to the environment and no harm to the workers.”

The Scottish Environment Protection Agency (SEPA) has confirmed the incident. A spokesperson told Xinhua that it happened on Friday and the SEPA was informed. She emphasized it was minor and under control, so there is no need to worry.

“The pipework will be flushed out to lower the radiation levels before workers enter the cell to repair the area of pipe where the drips were seen,” Mike Brown, the reactor decommissioning manager of Dounreay Site Restoration, said.

“The amount of liquid released into the cell was extremely small and it was contained in the cell. There was no danger at any time to either staff or environment,” the manager added. —Xinhua

Obama urges lawmakers to pass jobs bill

WASHINGTON, 9 Oct—US President Barack Obama Saturday urged the country’s lawmakers to pass the American Jobs Act to shore up the economy and business hiring.

“This is not the time for the usual games or political gridlock in Washington. The chal-lenges facing financial markets around the world could have very real effects on our own economy at a time when it’s already fragile. But this jobs bill can help guard against another downturn here in America,” Obama said in his weekly address.

He called for passage of the bill as the Democratic-led Senate will vote on the American Jobs Act next week, and pressed his Republican foes to support this bill if they could not give a better alternative solution.

Obama stressed that independent economists believed that this jobs bill will provide a strong boost to the weak economy and job market. Facing a sluggish economic growth and stubbornly high unemploym-ment rate, Obama unveiled a 447-billion-US-dollar jobs plan on 8 Sept, including mea-sures like payroll tax cuts for employers and emp-loyees as well as new investment in infrastruc-ture projects.

Many docs unaware of low testosterone’s risk to middle-aged men

LONDON, 9 Oct—Two thirds of GP’s don’t know that low testosterone in middle-aged men can cause heart disease and diabetes, researchers say.

Testosterone Deficiency Syndrome (TDS) affects almost a tenth of men in their 40s and 12 per cent in their 50s, leading to loss of sex drive, tiredness, weight gain and depression.

A survey presented at the Men’s Health World Congress in Vienna yesterday said many GPs were unaware of the link between TDS, cardiovascular disease and Type 2 diabetes, reports the Daily Express.

Only eight per cent of those questioned would suspect TDS if a patient complained of the key symptoms and 90 per cent said they wanted more information on TDS and erectile dysfunction.

TDS is easily treated with hormone replace-ment therapy injections or gels.

Burglars turn victim in for child porn

Authorities in California said a pair of admitted burglars were not arrested after turning in child pornography allegedly belonging to their victim. Deputy Tom McKenzie of the Merced County Sheriff’s Department said a 19-year-old and a juvenile broke into a Delhi barn belonging to Kraig Stockard Sept. 12 and took 50 CD-Rs they believed to be blank, KTXL-TV, Sacramento, reported. However, when the burglars attempted to burn music onto the CD-Rs, they allegedly discovered more than 30 of them were filled with child pornography, the report said. “[A] family member convinced the two suspects to come forward; they contacted law enforcement,” McKenzie said. He said Stockard had reported the burglary. “I’m in kind of surprised that he wanted to draw attention to himself, knowing what was taken,” the deputy said. Investigators seized three desktop computers and three laptops from Stockard’s property. Deputies said he is believed to have been allegedly downloading child pornography since 2004. Stockard was arrested and charged with possession of child pornography. He was released after posting $35,000 bail. The burglars were not arrested. “We did not actually go out and arrest the suspects for the burglary. They were obviously the lesser of two evils,” McKenzie said.

Shakira adds fireworks to Kiev’s troubled arena

KIEV, 9 Oct—Colombian pop sensation Shakira joined forces with Ukraine president Viktor Yanukovych and 60,000 spectators as the covers came off Kiev’s troubled Euro 2012 Olympiysky stadium on Saturday in a politically-tinged opening. “With this stadium, Ukraine will organize a worthy Euro 2012,” said Yanukovych of a ground which will host five matches, including the 1 July final, at the championships being co-hosted with Poland, but which has been dogged by construction delays and accusations of corruption. Yanukovych, whose popularity ratings have plummeted, was jeered as he spoke while the festivities were also held up by three naked female demonstrators who ran onto the pitch to demand a “Euro 2012 without punishment.” The FEMEN pressure group believes that the tournament will encourage sex tourism in the financially struggling country.

Shakira, who also featured at the opening of the 2010 World Cup in South Africa, performed for 40 minutes, singing the official song from last year’s football showpiece, “Waka Waka.”

Buck says Villas-Boas here to stay

LONDON, 9 Oct—Chelsea chairman Bruce Buck says Andre Villas-Boas could stay as manager for the next 15 years. Villas-Boas is the seventh boss of the eight-year Roman Abramovich era, with the Russian billionaire ruthlessly disposing of the 33-year-old’s predecessors. But Buck believes Chelsea may have had enough upon their Sir Alex Ferguson figure in Villas-Boas, who he said had made a huge impression on Abramovich and the Blues squad. He said: “There’s a real excitement, a buzz. The players seem happy, they’re jumping around. It’s just a really good feeling. I don’t know that you can put that in words.”

Tepid reception for Brazil’s 1-0 win in Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, 9 Oct — Brazil’s 1-0 victory over Costa Rica in a friendly international on Friday failed to impress critics back home, who expected more from the 2014 World Cup hosts. “Drowsy Brazil beat Costa Rica,” was the verdict of O Globo newspaper on the performance of Mano Menezes’ side. “Without playing well, Brazil beat Costa Rica 1-0 with a goal by Neymar after an hour of mediocre football in the rain,” the newspaper said.

Sports daily Lance was similarly unimpressed, calling the football on display “without imagination, without anything very interesting.” With no qualifying campaign for the 2014 World Cup as the host nation, Brazil elected to begin their build-up in Central America.

US men’s soccer win first under Klinsmann

MIAMI, 9 Oct — Clint Dempsey scored in the 36th minute and Tim Howard made several nice saves to help lift the US Men’s National Team past Honduras 1-0 on Saturday night and give the team its first victory in four games under coach Jurgen Klinsmann.

The US had scored once while going 0-2-1 in Klinsmann’s first three games as coach. Offensively speaking, the US gave indication it was making strides in adapting to Klinsmann’s system in this international friendly. Howard made up for a few defensive lapses. The US had several scoring chances in the first half, during which a frog was seen on the wet field. Dempsey’s goal — his 23rd career tally — gave the US a 1-0 halftime lead.

Arshavin ready to shine at Euro 2012

Moscow, 9 Oct.—Russia skipper Andrei Arshavin recently experienced a rocky period of his career when he was repeatedly criticized for his performances both with the national team and his club side. However, he has shrugged off the criticism to confirm his status on both fronts. “He had a good start to the new season,” said Arsenal manager Arsene Wenger. He showed his worth clearly in the Premier League matches and the Champions League games.

Cliché gets past Ljubicic to reach China Open final

Beijing, 9 Oct — Croatian big-server Marin Cilic outscored compatriot Ivan Ljubicic 6-4, 6-3 to march into the final at China Open here on Saturday. The 23-year-old world No 25 powered 13 aces through the match, four more than his opponent, and converted three of his break points to win the match. Sunday’s final would be Cilic’s third final show in the 2011 season. The top ranking Croat, who pocketed at least one title in past three years, was still in want of an ATP champion in 2011. Both players held their serve in the first eight games. Cilic met huge pressure at the sixth game, in which Ljubicic got two break points in hand, but Cilic managed to survive both of them to level the score to 3-3. Cilic found a chance in the ninth game, completing the first break in the match to take a 5-4 lead. The former world No 9 held his serve to take the first set 6-4.

Murray beats Nadal to win Japan Open

Tokyo, 9 Oct—Andy Murray of Britain rallied to beat Rafael Nadal 5-6, 6-2, 6-0 and win the Japan Open on Sunday. Murray overcame losing the first set to win his second straight ATP tour victory.

Murray, who also won last week in Bangkok, broke his Spanish opponent in the fourth game of the second set and then proceeded to win 11 of the next 12 games to clinch the title at Ariake Colosseum.

Nadal, the defending champion, had beaten Murray five straight times entering the match, and had not lost a service game in the tournament.

The title was Murray’s fourth of the season after triumphs at Queen’s Club, Cincinnati and in Thailand.

There was a lot of close games in the first set and early in the second set, then I started to get the momentum and didn’t give him any chances,” Murray said. “I played some great tennis, especially in the third set.”

Murray added that his performance was the best he had ever played against Nadal. The Briton’s record against the Spaniard improved to 13-5.

“Rafa is one of the greatest players ever,” Murray said. “It is always a pleasure to play against him.” The match turned for good in the fifth game of the second set. After being broken in the previous game, Nadal squandered four break points and fell behind 4-1.

Murray pressed his advantage after the break, pressuring Nadal the rest of the way. In the final set, Murray broke Nadal three times, behind a combination of forehand winners and unforced errors by the Spaniard. “He played unbelievable in the third set with no mistakes,” Nadal said. “His returns were impressive. After I had my chances in the second set, he started playing at a very high level.” The victory gave fourth-ranked Murray his 26th career ATP tour title. —Internet
