Today at this time, we are witnessing the transformation of an era and a system in accordance with democratic principles. This is just the beginning of the democratic transition. To make this transition process smooth and successful, it is very important for our peoples, government employees and civil servants to change their dogmatic mindset and habits. Those government institutions which are lagging behind in the transformation process will need to be put under tight management controls. The country’s weak judiciary system would need to be strengthened. More efforts need to be exerted to stamp out corruption. More efforts need to be exerted to prevent human rights violations. More efforts need to be exerted to crack down illegal drug trade. We need to manage public funds properly so that there is no wastage. Measures need to be taken to return confiscated farmland to farmers and to give compensation to farmers for losses they have suffered in accordance with the law. We also need to improve the socio-economic life of farmers, improve the lives of workers and ensure that students gain access to higher education.

(Excerpt from the speech by President U Win Myint at the ceremony to take oath of office at Pyidaungsu Hluttaw on 30th March 2018)

Labourers may get hiked minimum wages from May

THE Ministry of Labour, Immigration and Population is trying to ensure that labourers are paid the revised minimum wages from May onwards, according to a recent report in Myawady Daily.

The minimum wage is fixed every two years. In 2015, a daily minimum wage of Ks3,600 was set for eight working hours. Prior to the approval of the proposed minimum wage of Ks4,800, labourers will keep receiving wages of Ks3,600.

We will make efforts to implement the revised minimum wage in May. Earlier, we targetted to achieve this last month, said U Myo Aung, Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Labour, Immigration and Population.

Earlier, in some cases, employers did not pay the daily wage of Ks3,600 set by the National Committee on Minimum Wage. To avoid such cases and to deal with problems between employers and employees, committees have already been formed in Yangon and Mandalay to check if labourers are receiving the actual minimum wage of Ks4,800, and if the employers are cutting other allowances that were previously given.

After the proposed minimum wage is approved, workers will be paid at the set rate. Inexperienced workers will be paid not less than 50 per cent of the minimum wages during their three-month training period (before probation). Employees serving the three-month probation period will receive 75 per cent of the minimum wages. —GNLM

Ministry of Information: To Inform, To Educate & To Entertain

By Khin Yadana

MINISTRY of Information is a bridge between the government and the public. The ministry is discharging duties of informing, educating and entertaining the people.

Dr Pe Myint, Union Minister for Information

Question: Could Your Excellency Union Minister explain policies adopted by the ministry during the second year in office of the government?

Answer: Ministry of Information has to inform, educate and entertain the people. All these three tasks are carried out by Myanma Radio and Television, Information and Public Relations Department, Printing and Publishing Department and News and Periodicals Enterprise.

Q: What are the ways and means the ministry is setting out to inform the public?

A: NPE and MRTV are the main sources of informing the public. Kyemon and Myanma Alinn dailies under NPE are state-owned dailies, and the Global New Light of Myanmar is run under joint venture with a private company.

MRTV airs news both on radio and from TV. This is the age of Information Technology which has grown rapidly. NPE is posting digital news enabling the people to know latest news in time. Moreover, in every townships, there are established IPRD offices. IPRD’s staff collect news in their areas and they also are journalists.

Arrangements are being made to combine news presenting, collecting, airing and publishing. News will be published in printed media, posted online and aired from TV and radio through Myanmar Digital News after combining the staff, sources and news from the aforementioned three departments.

As it is aiming at applying the strength of all three departments, news writing, collecting, editing and presenting will be combined. For example, news casters from MRTV are good at presenting and thus their skills can be used in MDN in terms of multimedia. The ministry is focusing on combining all departments under it and mobilizing news sources to establish a better media tool.

Q: What is a plan of the ministry to promote the role of private media?

A: Arrangements are being made for the people to be informed and for media development. As regards to dailies and journals, they are allowed to do their business independently. Currently, 400 periodicals are permitted to publish but the number appearing on the market is just 230. There are also many magazines. What I mean is that private media are also encouraged for their development.

As regard to TV, there was only one and it was MRTV. Later, Forever Group and Shwe Than Lwin companies became engaged in the business. After assuming the duties, arrangements were made to add new channels. Five firms were allowed on multi channel Playout System of MRTV. Now, Mizzima Media and DVB Media are testing its programmes.

For those who are interested, airing on radio are also allowed. Recently Khayae FM started airing from Hantabin. If a comprehensive TV and radio law is enacted, business in TV and radio will be booming.

Q: What is the ministry’s arrangement for improvement of literary world?

A: Literature development including Myanmar literature development and increase in the number of readers in our country are the main factors for knowledge enrichment. So, we focus on it, and book festivals were held as well as the literature festivals with paper reading session. The significant work was that Theinbyu road on which PPD is located was designated as Book Road and bookstalls were allowed to open on every Saturday and Sunday. This will continue this year.

Literature improvement will attract the people and reading will surely improve knowledge of people. Book producers disclosed their difficulties saying that prices are skyrocketing for publishing a book and as a consequence, readers will not buy a book if the price is high. To overcome this difficulty, Ministry of Information consulted with other related ministries to exempt tax on periodicals and newspapers according to 2018 Tax Law. This is the indirect assistance rendered to the people.

Q: What measures are the ministry taking for increasing the number of readers, to increase the reading habit and to enhance knowledge?
A: It is said that many of the youths today are not fond of reading and the number of readers is decreasing. To increase the number of readers, it is needed to cultivate reading habit among youth. This habit is easier to cultivate in the mind of children than in adult. Therefore, children literature festivals have been held, children’s books are given and children are allowed to participate in competitions. This attracts children and they develop a good habit of reading.

Children literature attracts not only children but also their parents. Therefore, to conduct literature and other development programmes, Youth all-round Development Festival was held in Yangon University. This is combined efforts of MoE and Education Ministry, and Health and Sports Ministry and Yangon Region Gov- ernment. It is also arranged to be held in Mandalay.

Research works and paper reading sessions are also carried out for literature development.

There are IPRD offices and libraries in every township. There, reading circles were established, reading associations founded. These efforts are aiming at enriching knowledge of people.

Q: Could Your Excellency tell me Myanmar literature’s sustainability?
A: Sarpay Beikman is a branch under PPD. Since before independence, pilot teams of it existed and after independ- ence, it came into existence. It can be seen good traditions of Sarpay Beikman are re-exposed.

As Myanmar encyclopedia is pub- lished around 1960s, efforts are being made together with Tun Foundation for new edition.

Unprecedented work is to publish My- annmar Literature Selections which include 100 books and bulletins. The first volume will come out next month. New version of Myanmar encyclopedia is expected to come out this year.

Myanmar is home to 135 ethnic groups. They have their own language and literature. Some have alphabets and some verbal. They are also encouraged, paper reading sessions on literature of ethnic groups and were held in Kayin State and Shan State.

Next year, paper reading sessions of all ethnic groups will be held together with culture and education.

Q: Please explain about Community Centre for the public.
A: Libraries in the respective IPRD office have been transformed into community libraries and Community Centres. The places are used not only for reading but for consultations. Arrangements are being made to transform them into places available by all people including children, mothers and organizations. There are some requirements for those with same interests. Although there are space and equipment difficulties, we have sponsors to render assistance to community-based activities.

For example a place with larger space will be turned into Volleyball ground, or futsal or sepak takraw pitches and the smaller space is for table tennis. In ad- dition to sports activities, music, art or photograph enthusiasts can gather there.

Q: Are there any plan to be known directly by government and the three pillars on people’s voice?
A: This is arranged by MoL. Reading corners are set up in literature develop- ment programmes and such topics as political, economic, social affairs and job opportunities are discussed widely and these are the places where people are expressing their feelings. This is aimed at enabling those from management circles to know the voice of the people.

Q: Regarding entertainment, what new chapters can the ministry open?
A: The major platform for entertainment is MRTV. To inform and to entertain, staff themselves are participating in the programmes and experts from outside are invited to participate in these programmes. These programmes produce youth with creative and innovative potentials and this is aimed at possessing the spirit of peace and prosperity in building a federal union.

MRTV organized Democracy Motion Picture Week this year. Four movies depicting democracy were shot and of them, the movie—Nay Chi Hmar Shweyi Laung—won academy award.

Q: My last and final question is what is the measure the ministry is taking for Myanmar movie development?
A: As regard movie industry, MoL en- courages development of movie industry. Arrangement is being made to establish a movie studio and a movie skills training school in Nay Pyi Taw. The project is im- plemented in cooperation with Ministry of Religious Affairs and Culture, Ministry of Hotels and Tourism, Ministry of Construction, Nay Pyi Taw Council, and Motion Picture Association.

U Aung Hla Tun, Deputy Minister for Ministry of Information

Question: Could you please tell to what extent the role of media is important in Myanmar?
Answer: Media plays a very important role in our country. It is more important for us compared with other countries because the challenges faced by the country in the transition period to democracy are greater than of other countries. The events in the country attract attention of international media and community.

Causse of some major problems the country has been facing was rooted since colonial period and these problems could not be solved properly but have accelerated into complications. Democracy and freedom of press met its end in 1962 but revived in 2011 and has been growing gradually.

The term of democracy is just seven years old and media gained its freedom about five years ago. As regard media, there exists international media and domes- tic media in the country. Media in the country has state- and private-owned media. Media inform the events in the country to enthusiasts within and without the country.

When a policy related to a certain country is adopted in the international community, this policy is based much on the image of that country portrayed by international media. Therefore, it is important to deal systematically with international media. Both state- and private-owned media in the country have lagged far behind for half a cen- tury. Myanmar had to face and is facing difficulties in reporting its news to the world.

Q: What measures have been taken regarding media during the years in office of the government?
A: It is better to explain what will be done in coming three years than recount the previous works.

State- and private-owned media serve as a bridge between the government and the three pillars namely legislation, ad- ministration and judiciary.

As a watchdog, media is to make healthy criticism on performances of these three pillars and inform its find- ings to the public. It and must report the situation of the public. That is why we acknowledge the important role of media and we are trying to improve the media as much as we can.

The most important factors for all media persons are access to information and freedom of press.

We are contacting authorities encour- aging them to assign spokespersons for the respective authorities, to set focal points to answer the queries raised by media persons and to pose news not harming national security in advance on websites and social media. We conduct trainings for staff in the respective departments to deal with media and hold workshops on building mutual trust and cooperation.

Q: Could you please tell me the fu- ture plan for media development?
A: Guided Bears are arranged once in two weeks for the media persons at home and abroad to visit northern Rakhine State on which the international community put their attention much.

Standard Operation Procedure re- garding media is being worked out for amendment of the law which needs to be amended and to make a new law which is needed. A press conference was held last month to explain the preparation made for repatriation of those who left for Bangla- desh from northern Rakhine State. We’ll try our best for holding the next round of press conference. We also receive the international media persons who propose us to meet them.

Q: What is your message to the media world?
A: We absolutely agree emergence of independent, responsible and self-reg- ulated media and we also understand it is not satisfactory. I would like to request all media persons to cooperate with us with patience as there are many difficulties and challenges.

TANINTHAYI Region Government has carried out to achieve all-round development in all socio-economic sectors of the people.

Tourism Sector

Tanzinthyi Region can be boasting of the Myeik archipelago, a cluster of more than 800 largely untouched islands which can draw the attention of the international visitors around the world. In order to promote the sustainable path for tourism development, the Taninthayi Region Government has formed a Taninthayi Tourism Development Committee, made up tourism ministry officials and private sector representatives which can make success as a tourist destination without harming the environment. Efforts are being made to increase the number of tourists coming to the Myeik archipelago but with less impact on the environment.

In order to make sustainable development, plans are under way to draw up a master plan for developing tourism in the region and specifically the Myeik archipelago, with the aim of creating job opportunities for local people while protecting the area’s natural resources and landscape. Edible bird’s nest production

The forestry sector of the Taninthayi Region has generated a large amount of tax revenues for the country. The edible bird’s nest business contributed to generate in the forestry sector.

Edible bird’s nests are bird nests created by edible-nest swift-lets using solidified saliva. They are prized particularly by the Chinese for their supposedly high nutritional value, rarity and flavour.

Permits are granted to private companies in order to harvest the bird’s nests which can enable firms to harvest and produce edible bird’s nests. As the auction is on a yearly-basis, prices for the working permits are different every year.

Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement

As for the Taninthayi Region Government, efforts are being made to jointly cooperate with the New Mon State Party (NMSP), and KNU in the peace process regarding territorial disputes.

The Taninthayi Region Government invited them to discuss and find ways in order to avoid further clashes and learn from the past to prevent disputes.

Boosting marine products

The Taninthayi Region Government Chief Minister Dr. Lei Lei Maw said, “Efforts are being made to develop a domestic-based system for the trading of marine products at between Myanmar and Thailand as part of a new economic policy for Taninthayi Region.
To sell fish and other marine produce or seafood, Myanmar traders currently have to travel specific trading sites and we need to have a strong local market in Myanmar and Thailand.

There are currently plans to establish markets for trading marine products like fish and other seafood in Myeik, Dawei and Kawthoung districts under an auction system, she added. The initial plan includes two markets in Myeik, and one each in Dawei and Kawthoung.

The first fish market is likely to be in Myeik district at Ph Htet Kan, which has a marine product processing factory. Meanwhile, several businesses have applied for permission to build a jetty and fish auction market there and it may take time. Therefore it is quite difficult to guess how long it will take as the move will change the whole market.

Another market will be established at Thayetchaung Township in Dawei District with $18 million in private investments approved by the Myanmar Investment Commission. That market is now at ground-leveling stage. The marine product and seafood sector, which include small-scale fishermen, is one of the top economic industries in Taninthayi Region.

Oil Palm Plantation
The Taninthayi Region Government is planning an oil palm-sector assessment project as part of an effort to help solve land use issues in the region.

The government held a workshop with participation from a variety of civil society organizations and representatives from local and ethnic groups including stakeholders from the regional government, oil palm companies and representatives from local and ethnic groups.

It is of great importance to made sure sustainable development which can produce quality seeds and build an oil plant in cooperation with local and foreign companies. As a result, oil palm companies have bought huge amounts of land in the region. The authorities concerned should support local edible oil consumption to reduce edible oil imports, and local companies followed their directives.

Dawei Special Economic Zone
Myanmar and Thailand had signed a memorandum of understanding to permit the Italian-Thai Development public company (ITD) to begin work on the Dawei deep sea port infrastructure project in 2018. The original project started in 2008 and was set to build and develop a port, a highway to and from Myanmar and Thailand, industrial zones, office buildings, residential buildings and other infrastructure. However, the project never took off due to the large scale of the project. The Dawei Special Economic Zone Management Committee convened in August 2015 and March 2016 and have agreed to allow Italian-Thai Plc. and other related companies to begin working on the area for the deep sea port. The deep sea port measures 27 square kilometers, while the total project area is 196 square kilometers.

The budget for the construction of the highway to and from Thailand’s border had provided by the Thai Government in the form of a low-interest loan. Myanmar’s Ministry of Construction and Thailand’s Department of Highways have officially measured the length of the highway.

In 2015, Myanmar, Thailand and Japan signed a memorandum of intent (MOI) which allows the three countries to use Dawei SEZ Development Co. Ltd as a special purpose vehicle.

The Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) had conducted a survey for the deep sea port project, including setting up an electrical grid, basic infrastructure and buildings which would begin after the pilot project is completed. With the cooperation of the Taninthayi Region Government, the Ministry of Electricity and Energy had collaborated to install 12 gas engines to the Dawei SEZ. Moreover there was a plan to supply electricity to Dawei and it was a joint collaboration between Italian-Thai, Shell Co. Ltd and LNG Plus.

The Union Government had made many plans for the development of both Dawei and Myeik areas in the Taninthayi Region. The Ministry is in negotiations with Asian Development Bank to acquire a loan at a low interest rate.

According to an official, connecting to the national grid via Ye and Mawlamyine is the first plan and the second plan had involved forming a joint venture company with Total S.A, a French multinational integrated oil and gas company, and Siemens AG, a German conglomerate with a division in the energy sector. The company would be based in Kanpauk and import LNG gas by ship.

The ship would dock in Kanpauk’s vicinity and send the LNG via pipelines to Kanpauk, where it will power two engines to produce 1,230 megawatts of energy. From there the electricity would be sent to Dawei, situated south of Kanpauk.

Arrangements have been made to supply electricity from these factories and upon its completion these plants can be able to transmit the power supply to other regions in Myanmar.

World Intellectual Property Day (2018) ceremony held in Nay Pyi Taw

THE World Intellectual Property Day (2018) ceremony was held at M Gallery Hotel, Nay Pyi Taw, yesterday morning.

The ceremony was opened by Union Minister for Education Dr. Myo Thein Gyi, United States Agency for International Development (USAID) Mission Director Ms. Teresa McGhie and Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) Expert Ms. Hiromi Takaoka, who cut the ceremonial ribbon.

At the event, Union Minister Dr. Myo Thein Gyi said the Ministry of Education was the main entity that was in contact with the World Intellectual Property Organisation (WIPO) in the intellectual property rights sector.

WIPO holds the World Intellectual Property Day event annually by designating a theme. The theme for 2018 is “Powering Change: Women in Innovation and Creativity.” WIPO highlighted this theme to encourage women in creative and technological fields. It also wants to prove that the intellectual property rights system is playing an important role in putting ideas into the market.

The Ministry of Education is striving to enact four laws – industrial design copyright law, invention copyright law, trademark copyright law, and copyright law. It has already obtained the agreement and permission for this purpose from the Amyotha Hluttaw. Arrangements are being made to submit these to the Pyithu Hluttaw, said the Union Minister.

In Myanmar, the cooperation between universities and businesses is weak. Laws to protect inventions, innovations and technical transfers do not exist. This reduces the opportunity for more inventions and innovations, but despite this, with the support of USAID, students of Yangon Technological University and Information Technology University stood sixth among the 163 teams that competed in the First Global Challenge 2017 Robotic Competition.

Furthermore, together with a team of students from Texas State, USA, the University of Technology (Yadanarbon Cyber City) students participated in the “Invent for the Planet 2018” challenge and achieved the highest award by inventing a new system to produce electrical power. In addition to raising the image of the country, it also became a driving force for the quick enactment and implementation of the intellectual property rights law.

With attempts being made towards reforms, the practice and implementation of intellectual property rights is linked to foreign investment entering the country, raising the GDP and developing the trade sector. Therefore, it is the responsibility and duty of all citizens to establish a copyright system as soon as possible, said the union minister.

Next, Teresa McGhie and Hiromi Takaoka of JICA delivered speeches, while the Ministry of Education Copyright Department Deputy Director General Dr. Moe Moe Thwe read the message sent by WIPO. Later, Union Minister for Industry U Khin Maung Cho, Union Minister for Education Dr. Myo Thein Gyi, Teresa McGhie and Hiromi Takaoka presented the documents of honour.

The Union Minister and the officials then viewed the research conducted by universities and college students, award-winning inventions at international invention competitions, posters showing the works of the intellectual property department in Myanmar on establishing a copyright system and other agriculture products, handicrafts and SME products.

The ceremony was attended by invited guests from the Amyotha Hluttaw and Pyithu Hluttaw, Amotha Hluttaw and Pyithu Hluttaw bill committeees chairmen and secretaries, director generals of relevant ministries and officials, representatives of local and international NGOs, officials from the Union of Myanmar Federation of Chambers of Commerce and Industry and Myanmar Positive Group, and other invited guests.

Ministry of Health and Sports provides healthcare services following garbage fire

THE Ministry of Health and Sports is providing cooperation works in the health sector and public healthcare services in response to a fire at Hlein Bin garbage dump, Hlinethaya Township, Yangon Region.

Some 19 in-patients, 13 on 24 April, two on 25 April and four on 26 April, as well as 19 out-patients, including three on 24 April, 11 on 25 April and five on 26 April, were treated for smoke inhalation and other related ailments in Hlinethaya People’s Hospital since the dump fire started. One in-patient had a lung disease and was transferred and treated at Yangon People’s Hospital. In addition to this, a patient from Hlinethaya was treated for smoke inhalation and other related ailments. Of the patients undergoing treatment at the hospital, three were discharged from the hospital on 24 April and one was discharged on 25 April. The condition of the remaining 14 patients is improving.

In Hlinethaya Township, six temporary emergency health-care clinics were opened and will remain open 24 hours a day. Each clinic was equipped with medicines, medical equipment, five oxygen cylinders and an ambulance to transfer patients. The township public health department is coordinating with welfare groups to keep sufficient oxygen cylinders ready to transfer patients speedily and conveniently.

The air quality measurement works were started by the Department of Public Health, work site and environmental health sub-department in Hlinethaya Township, ward (20) on 24 April and ward (6) on 26 April.

The central field group members from the Department of Public Health and Department of Medical Services joined the existing field groups on site and the Yangon Region Public Health Department officials, and formed three smaller groups to reinforce the firefighting works conducted in Hlinethaya Township ward (6), ward (26) and inner Padan village tract, Myasaneyaung field. The field groups provided healthcare services to the firefighters.

The dangers associated with smoke inhalation and health-related information were posted on vinyl signboards for the public. The ministry also gave talks and made announcements on loudspeakers to inform the public.

“Hence, today’s talks will be a historic milestone for the people in Kayah State,” said the Union Minister.

Natural scenic beauty and attractions for travellers in Kayah State are reasons why Kayah State could develop quickly if it gains peace, said U Kyaw Tin Swe.

As the shortest route from Thailand to Nay Pyi Taw is passing through Kayah State, the state also possesses good prospects for trading and the trip makes clear why the people of Kayah have desired peace for many decades.

If we look back at the history of our armed conflicts, we could see that we failed to resolve political problems with peaceful political solutions, and that had led to this prolonged conflict. The incumbent government had put more focus on national reconciliation and peace building and working for inclusion in roundtable discussions such as the 21st Century Panglong Conference. The Peace Commission was continuously working for all stakeholders to be a part of the Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement (NCA) which was the door to political dialogue.

There have been misconceptions that signing the NCA meant forfeiting your weapons, but it was actually working for armed conflicts to end while simultaneously endeavouring for political dialogue to solve political problems. The Panglong Conference is discussing the establishment of a democratic federal union, which is something all ethnic groups desire. He added that they were able to sign the first part of the union agreement in the second Panglong Conference and they would discuss inclusion of ethnic groups left over and self-administration in a federal union during the third Panglong Conference.

He said national equality, self-administration, and a basic constitution for each state is something all ethnic people want. He said he wishes for the voice of the Karreri National Progressive Party (KNPP) and the Kayah People to be heard during the meeting.

He said the government would work to resolve the difficulties of the KNPP and remove obstacles that hindered them from signing the NCA. He said that solving the present problems now would help shape the federal union in the future. He said he wanted them to think of the Kayah children of today and their situation when they grow up. He said the children would face the good and bad consequences of our actions today.

He said he hoped today’s meeting would be transparent and honest from both sides and would lead to solutions to overcome obstacles and challenges for the federal democratic union in the future. He said that the hopes and desires of the Kayah people would be given due consideration and good results would be had from the meeting that will lead to signing of the NCA. This was followed by KNPP Executive Committee Member U Bi Htoo delivered a speech saying the KNPP had been involved in the peace process all along and was heading towards signing the NCA. He said they desired to be a part of the federal union and hoped for good results from the meeting.

Afterwards, the Peace Commission and the KNPP began discussions. The meeting continues today.—MNA

Messi scores in EU court battle to trademark name

BRUSSELS — Barcelona footballer Lionel Messi won a legal battle Thursday to register his name as a trademark to sell sports goods after an EU court ruled that he is too famous to be confused with other businesses.

The Argentine star, the world’s highest earning footballer, rode out a challenge by a Spanish cycling gear manufacturer called Massi, which had challenged his trademark on the grounds that it was too similar to its own.

“Lionel Messi may register his trade mark ‘MESSI’ for sports equipment and clothing,” said a ruling by the General Court of the European Union, the bloc’s second-highest court.

“The football player’s fame counteracts the visual and phonetic similarities between his trade mark and the trade mark ‘MASSI’ belonging to a Spanish company,” the Luxembourg-based court said.

The ruling caps a seven-year legal fight since the footballer first tried in 2011 to trademark his name with the EU’s intellectual property office.

The boss of the Massi cycling goods company filed an appeal the same year, saying there was a “likelihood of confusion” with its own trademark, and the trademark office agreed.

Judges admitted that the trademarks “are very similar phonetically” but said the IPO was wrong to assume that Messi was only known by people who were interested in football or sport.

“Mr Messi is, in fact, a well-known public figure who can be seen on television and who is regularly discussed on television or on the radio,” the court said.

The ruling comes days after a ruling by the General Court of the European Union, the bloc’s second-highest court.

Messi’s trademark was rejected by the EU trademark office in 2011, but the footballer appealed the decision.

Two Italian men charged over assault on Liverpool fan

LONDON — Two Italian men were charged on Thursday in connection with an assault which left a 53-year-old Liverpool fan in a critical condition before Tuesday’s Champions League clash with AS Roma.

Filippo Lombardi, 29, has been charged with violent disorder and wounding and inflicting grievous bodily harm, Merseyside Police said in a statement. Daniele Sciusco, 29, was also charged with violent disorder.

The two men will appear in court later on Thursday. Sean Cox, 53, who had travelled over from Ireland for the match, suffered a serious head injury after being attacked outside Liverpool’s Anfield Stadium.

Cox, described as a “cornerstone of his local community” by Irish media, is being treated for his injuries at a neurological centre, where his condition remains critical, Merseyside Police said.—AFP
