Over 60 houses handed over to Mro ethnic people in Maungtaw

Sixty-four houses constructed by the Bago Region Government were handed over to the Kainggyi (Mro) ethnic people in the presence of Rakhine State Chief Minister U Nyi Pu in Maungtaw Township yesterday.

The Bago Region Government funded over Ks600 million for construction of the houses for the ethnic people.

Construction of the houses started on 20 December. The houses are steel-structure, reinforced concrete buildings and cost Ks9.5 million each.

“We have a plan to provide school facilities, power supply and other requirements for the ethnic people here. Ethnic people are urged to live in unity, to preserve culture and to take part in building a democratic federal country,” said Bago Region Chief Minister U Win Thein at the ceremony held in Kainggyi Mro Village in Maungtaw, Rakhine State.

Bago Region Chief Minister also handed over solar panels and other home accessories to the villagers.

VP U Henry Van Thio inspects development works in Tiddim, Falam

Vice President U Henry Van Thio, who was in Tiddim Town, Chin State, inspected development works there and in Falam Township on 18 May.

The Vice President was accompanied by Chin State Chief Minister U Salai Lian Lwal, Chin State Hlutaw Speaker U Zo Bwe, Deputy Minister Rear Admiral Myint Nwe, Deputy Minister Maj-Gen Than Htet, Deputy Minister U Soe Aung, state ministers and other officials. In the morning, the Vice President and party visited the silk factory of the Department of Agriculture silk factory in Tiddim and silkworm plant research farm (Tiddim) and observed the thriving silkworm plants and the various stages of producing silk.

Next, the Vice President heard a report on the factory and farm by Department of Agriculture Director U Aung Maw, with Director-General Dr. Ye Tint Tun providing additional explanations. The Vice President remarked that planting silkworm plants would increase the income of the local families, replace the slash-and-burn farming system and reduce damage to the environment. If the silk factory were to upgrade the raw material produced from silkworm breeding and worked through cooperation with the private sector, it would be beneficial to the silkworm plant farmers, he said.

Family returns after living precariously between border and fence

FTA Alom and his family of five from Taungpyo Letya Village were living precariously on the Myanmar side of the Myanmar-Bangladesh border, between the border line and border fence (near border post 34). As they were facing health and food problems, they requested permission to return to their village in Myanmar.

After the authorities permitted them to return through the official reception centre, they arrived at the Taungpyo Letwe Reception Centre via the Taungpyo Letwe entry and exit gate near the friendship bridge on 13 April 2018.

Afta Alom and his family were interviewed by the Maungtaw District administrator and officials on 15 April 2018.

Q. Were you or any of your family members involved in the incident of 25 August 2017?
A. None of our family members were involved in that incident.

Q. When and why did you go to the area between the border line and the fence near border post 34?
A. We went there twelve days after the incident on 6 September 2017. When we left our village, there was almost no one remaining in the village. A five member committee was formed by ARSA to administer the village, which included Mawlawi Afat, Mawlawi Hatt, Mawlawi Zaid Hussan, Mawlawi Ayut and Mawlawi Havel Georgie Mulla. It was led by Mawlawi Afat. I am the village administrator, but was not permitted to sit on the committee. Most of the villagers went to this area between the border and the fence on the night after the incident. About 30 villagers who remained in the village were planning to attack Taungpyo Letya post with mines (IEDs) on August 26 and 27. Villagers gradually moved their belongings near to border post 35 and 36 and then entered Bangladesh. By 17 September no one was left in the village. (By then) BGB prevented people from entering Bangladesh. After about 20 days, ICRC and international organizations came and provided rice, cooking oil, sugar, salt and flour. As the area we are staying in is not in Bangladesh, some thought of entering into Bangladesh. Some just wanted to stay where they were. BGB told us not to go to the refugee camp (in Bangladesh) and told us to remain where we were, between the border line and the fence.

Q. What rank is the BGB official who told you to remain where you are?
A. He was the commander of a BGB post.

Q. What do you think was the reason behind this?
A. I think they wanted to show the world that Myanmar is not accepting back the people from the Myanmar side of the border.

Q. Might be forced back into Myanmar, so they went to Bangladesh.

Q. When were we there, we saw some INGO’s preparing to send foodstuffs. Is the other country permitting them to do this? What was provided?
A. INGO provides supplies after reporting to BGB. A group was formed for distribution. The group included Nur Hak (Taungpyo Letya), Nay Lin Aung (Taung Pyo Letya) and someone from Mede village and another village. The group distributes to about 25 leaders, who then distributed to households in their group. Once every 15 days ICRC regularly provided 24 kg of rice, cooking oil, flour, 4 kg. of beans and salt. A family has about 10 to 15 members, but these families are subdivided into 3, 4 and 5 families, so the provisions were distributed.

Q. Are there any health problems?
A. Health has not been a problem. They have provided rice, cooking oil, sugar, salt and flour. As they were facing health and food problems, they requested permission to return to their village in Myanmar.

Q. Did the INGO prevent people from going to refugee camps?
A. No. UNHCR said people should not stay in the place and said they’ll construct living areas in refugee camps.

Q. Were there people who lived in the refugee camp and then came back to stay in the village?
A. Of the 1,050 households staying in the place, half had registered in the refugee camps. When it was time to receive rations from the refugee camp, they went to take it. As they were receiving aid from both places, they collected more.

Q. How do you survive in the area without any income?
A. My son worked in the ICRC office on the other side and earned about 35,000 Taka (more than Ks 500,000) a month, and we survive on this. But others are facing difficulties.

Q. What do you want to say about people living in the place?
A. They don’t agree with one another. On social media sites, like Facebook, I read about their complaints. Some were threatening my son for working in the ICRC office there.

Q. What do you want to ask for your family?
A. I want to be safe and have something to do to earn our livelihood.— Myanmar News Agency

Earlier, there were more than 50 (ARSA terrorists). Now there are only about 20 left. They are from villages in southern Maungtaw. I heard that they have some homemade guns. But they mostly use mines (IEDs).
Demand for silk was growing in the international market and supports of the respective departments were required to obtain a firm place in the market. Similarly, further research needed to be conducted in order to produce other high value products from the silkworm plant in addition to silk thread, said the Vice President.

In Myanmar, silkworm plants are planted in Kachin State, Kayah State, Chin State, Shan State and Mandalay Region covering 6,437.90 acres. In 2017-2018, there were 231 silk worm egg cards in silkworm plant research farms and silkworm plant farms producing 11,868 pounds of cocoons.

The first-year planting cost of an acre of silkworm is about Ks50,000. Maintenance in the second year and the making of six silkworm egg cards costs another Ks978,000. The six silkworm egg cards produce about 600 pounds of cocoons.

At the cocoon selling rate of Ks600 per pound, the second-year income of Ks1,320,000 will make a profit of Ks522,000. The break-even point will be reached within two and half years, it is learnt.

Afterwards the Vice President inspected the upgrading of Tiddim-Reed Road, Reed-Falam Road and the strength of the 360 ft. long Mansaung suspension bridge across the Manipur River near Mansaung Village and commented on the importance of continuously inspecting the strength of the bridge and to prevent roadblocks.

From there, the Vice President and party inspected developments in Laitui Village, Tiddim Township and a border trade station in New Haimual Village, Tiddim Township. At the border trade station, the Station Manager and officials explained the operations of the border trade station. Ministry of Commerce Permanent Secretary U Yi Mon and other officials explained the operations being conducted for convenient trade and travel, he said.

The Reed border trade station was established on 4.814 acres of land in Tiddim Township, New Haimual Village in Chin State on 10 December 2013. During fiscal year 2017-2018, the border trade station handled trade worth US$44.35 million, of which import value was US$18.334 million and export value was US$26.016 million.

Trade in fiscal year 2016-2017 was US$39.652, and there was an increase in trade of US$4.698 million, it is learnt.

Later, the Vice President and party inspected the retaining wall and fence construction works near the border trade bridge that connects Rikhhawdar Town in Myanmar with India. The Vice President and party then went to meet and encourage household members in Rikhhawdar Town, Ward (4) who were affected by fire on 16 April and presented cash assistance to patients undergoing treatment.

The Vice President then arrived at the Falam (Surbung) airport construction project, which is in phase 1 of construction on the Surbung mountain range in Tiddim.

Opening of new Kayah State Hluttaw building in Loikaw, Kayah State

AMYOTHA Hluttaw Speaker Mahn Win Khaing Than delivered a speech at the opening ceremony of a new Kayah State Hluttaw building held in Loikaw, Kayah State, yesterday morning.

During the ceremony, Amyotha Hluttaw Speaker Mahn Win Khaing Than said the role of the Hluttaw was very important in a democratic system, and the new Kayah State Hluttaw building would showcase the unity and peace prevailing among local ethnic groups in the region. He noted that it was an honor to see the establishment of a new Hluttaw building, which was joining other landmarks, such as Ngwe Taung Dam, Taung Kwe Pagoda and the Lawpita waterfall.

Also, the Amyotha Hluttaw Speaker, the Kayah State Chief Minister, the State Hluttaw Speaker and Deputy Speaker opened the new Hluttaw building by cutting the ceremonial ribbon. Afterwards, the Amyotha Hluttaw Speaker and Kayah State Chief Minister sprinkled scented water on the plaque commemorating the opening of the Hluttaw.

Union Minister Lt-General Ye Aung opens women’s vocational training school (Katha)

UNION Minister for Border Affairs Lt-General Ye Aung opened the Ministry of Border Affairs, Education and Training Department, women’s vocational training school (Katha) on 18 May.

The school was built with a budget allocated from fiscal year 2017-2018. Officials opened the training school by cutting the ceremonial ribbon. Also, Union Minister Lt-Gen Ye Aung unveiled the signboard and sprinkled scented water onto the commemorative plaque.

The Union Minister delivered a speech at the opening, and Hluttaw representative U Nyi Nyi Tun spoke words of thanks. Afterward, the Union Minister inspected the dormitories, dining hall and kitchens at the training school.

Additionally, on the afternoon of 16 May, the Union Minister inspected construction on sections of the Wuntho-Bamauk road, Naungkan-Mawlin road and Pinlebu-Bamauk road.

Earlier in the morning of 16 May, the Union Minister inspected a site in Bamauk Township where a border areas national race youth development training school is to be built, and on 17 May the Union Minister inspected the Pinlebu Township border area national races youth development training school, where he provided cash assistance and urged the planting of seasonal fruit trees.

On 18 May, the Union Minister also inspected construction on a road connecting No. 6 Ward to Their Inn Village in Katha Town and Naungkan-Mawlin road.

The Union Minister remarked about the requirements of the officials, Hluttaw representatives, and quality inspection groups to systematically inspect the construction, and for local residents to participate in the maintenance of the road, for long term utilization.

During his tour of the region, the union minister visited the Progress of Border Areas and National Races Department, District Development Supervision office (Katha), Township Development Supervision office (Bamauk and Pinlebu) and coordinated on discussions with officials.

While in Pinlebu, the Union Minister also visited the Pinlebu Township Hospital, where he met and encouraged patients undergoing treatment and provided cash assistance.

The Union Minister later visited the Myithaychin Village basic education primary school in Bamauk Township and Pinn Mu Village basic education middle school (branch), where he presented school uniforms and books.

Further, Chairman of the Work Committee for Implementation of Development of Border Areas and National Races Union Minister for Border Affairs Lt-Gen Ye Aung inspected regional and human resources development works in Sagaing Region Bamauk, Pinlebu and Katha townships from 16 to 18 May. —Myanmar News Agency

Myanmar-Indonesia trade exceeds $1bln in FY2017-18

BILATERAL trade between Myanmar and the Republic of Indonesia topped US$1.025 billion at the end of the 2017-2018 fiscal year, according to the latest report from the Ministry of Commerce.

The total trade with the Southeast Asian nation included imports amounting to $901.4 million and exports valued at $123.9 million. When compared with the previous fiscal year, Myanmar-Indonesia trade increased by $198 million in FY2017-18.

Myanmar exports marine products, agriculture products and miscellaneous items to the Southeast Asian nation, while imports from Indonesia include paper, palm oil, steel, tobacco, rubber, medicine and other items.

The ministry’s yearly statistical reports indicate that bilateral trade with Indonesia has gradually increased since the 2013-2014 FY. Myanmar-Indonesia trade was $406 million in the 2013-2014 FY. It increased to $606 million in the 2014-2015 FY, $741 million in the 2015-2016 FY and $827 million in the 2016-2017 FY.

According to the Directorate of Investment and Company Administration (DICA), Indonesia’s investment in Myanmar in FY2017-2018 was $9.650 million from one project.—Shwe Khine

Prices of areca nuts unlikely to rise this month: merchants

INDIA’s demand for Myanmar areca nuts is currently falling in the export market due to market competition, resulting in a decrease in prices of areca nuts in the domestic market, according to a report by the Myawady Daily.

U Hla Maung, chair of Tamu Trading at the Border Trade Chambers of Commerce, said that the country mainly exports areca nuts to India, which purchases nuts not only from Myanmar, but also from Indonesia. At present, the prices of areca nuts from Indonesia are less expensive than from Myanmar.

The market saw a decline in prices of areca nuts, in comparison with last month. The current selling price of areca nuts is between Ks3,400 and Ks3,600, based upon the quality.

U Aung Ngwe, one of the merchants, said that it is expected that the price of areca nuts is unlikely to rise until the end of this month.

Areca nuts are primarily grown in Ye Township in Mon State. The town produces approximately 60 viss (one viss equals 3.6 pounds) of areca nuts each year. The country exports nuts to India, the second largest neighbouring country, through the Tamu and Reed border trade stations.

According to official statistics provided by the border trade camps, Myanmar exported $7.706 million worth of areca nuts, weighing 8,452 tonnes, to India in the 2014-2015 FY.

The export volume increased to more than 20,000 tonnes in the 2015-2016 FY and 21,492 tonnes in the 2016-2017 FY.—GNLM

Border trade with Thailand up over $47mln in current FY

MYANMAR-Thailand border trade showed an increase of over US$47 million in the past 41 days during the current interim fiscal year, according to the official weekly statistical report of the Ministry of Commerce.

Between 1 April and 11 May this year, trade between the two countries totalled $71.4 million, while at this time last year, the bilateral trade was $123.6 million.

Myanmar and Thailand continue to conduct trade through seven cross-border gates at Tachilek, Myawady, Kawthoung, Myeik, Hteekehe, Maese and Mawlaung. Myawady has the largest volume and value of trade.

During the period, border trade between the two nations saw a significant increase in value, compared with the similar period in the last year, apart from the Hteekehe and Maese border gates.

Bilateral trade, as of 11 May, was valued at US$81.9 million in Myawady, US$39.4 million in Myeik, US$29.7 million in Kawthoung and US$8.6 million in Tachilek. The value of border trade between both countries coming across at Hteekehe, Mawlaung and Maese was fewer than $1.5 million each. According to the Ministry’s official figures, the total trade value at all borders reached $875.7 million, an increase of $230 million over the last fiscal year.

Myanmar primarily imports a wide range of consumer products, food, soft drinks, cooking oil, plastic ware, and cosmetics, while exporting marine products, agricultural commodities and other items to neighbouring country.—Swe Nyein

Union Minister Dr. Myint Htwe inspects Hlinethaya General Hospital

UNION MINISTER for Sports and Health Dr. Myint Htwe conducted a spot check of the 200-bed Hlinethaya General Hospital in Hlinethaya Township, Yangon Region yesterday.

The Union Minister and party visited the pediatric ward, gynecology ward, emergency and outpatient department, radiology department, ophthalmology department and emergency ward in the hospital and coordinated with officials on the requirements of staff, difficulties faced by the patients and the state of current health care service.

The Union Minister said Hlinethaya General Hospital is located in a crucial place. The area around the hospital is densely populated and patients cannot travel easily to downtown Yangon for treatment as there are many difficulties including traffic jams. Therefore, Hlinethaya Hospital needs to be upgraded in all sectors including treatment, general services, workplace happiness of the staff, and improvement of health care service to the level of Yangon General Hospital.

A party consisting of Deputy Directors General and other officials from the Department of Public Health and Department of Medical Services is also inspecting the public health care and medical service works conducted by Hlinethaya General Hospital. They will then submit a report to the Ministry, said the Union Minister.

Afterwards, the Union Minister met and spoke openly with hospital staff, patients, family members and friends accompanying the patients, it is learnt. — Myanmar News Agency

Stake driving ceremony for Teachers Training Institute

A traditional stake driving ceremony to commence construction of the Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET) Teachers Training Institute (TTTI) jointly operated by the Department of Technical and Vocational Education and the Korea International Cooperation Agency (KOICA) was held at TTTI on Thanlwin Road in Bahan Township, Yangon yesterday morning.

Union Ministers U Thein Swe, U Khin Maung Cho and Dr. Myo Thein Gyi, Deputy Minister U Win Maw Tun, National Education Policy Commission Vice Chairman Dr. U Nyi Hla Nge, the Korean Ambassador to Myanmar H.E. Mr. Lee Sang-hwa, and KOICA representative Dr. Shin Euicheal drove the stake and splashed scented waters onto the stake.

In his speech at the event, Union Minister Dr. Myo Thein Gyi said in any country, the technical and vocational education sector plays an important role in the socio-economic development of its people. State Counsellor Daw Aung San Suu Kyi pointed out this in her speech delivered at the TVET Forum held in Nay Pyi Taw in 2016. Although Myanmar is facing difficulties and challenges in the technical and vocational sector, national-level strategy and policies were set and were being implemented.

There is a requirement to train TVET teachers, and the TVET Teacher Training Institute (TTTI) jointly organised by Department of Technical and Vocational Education and KOICA will help meet this requirement, said the Union Minister.

At yesterday’s ceremony, the Korean Ambassador to Myanmar H.E. Mr. Lee Sang-hwa and KOICA representative Dr. Shin Euicheal delivered speeches and took commemorative photos.

After the event, Union Minister Dr. Myo Thein Gyi, Bago Region minister for development and social affairs and other officials went to Bago General Hospital to encourage teachers undergoing treatment who were hurt in a traffic accident. They then went on to No. 1 Basic Education High School to present texts and teaching guide books and to observe training courses being conducted. — Myanmar News Agency

Speed up afforestation, fight illegal logging to avert impact of climate change

By Ye Lin Aung & Kyaw Khaung Thantzin (WCS)

Myanmar is situated in continental Southeast Asia, between latitudes 9º 10’ to 21º 30’ and longitudes 92º 10’ to 101º 10’ E. The country covers an area of 671,793 km², extending 2,100 km from north to south and 1,100 km from east to west. With an altitude that varies from 5 m above sea level to 5,906 m above sea level, Myanmar has a diverse ecosystem and biota. Forest genetic resources play a major role in socio-economic development, and forest products are an important source of foreign exchange in the country. Myanmar is the world’s largest supplier of natural teak (Tectona grandis). Myanmar’s forests also support large volumes of plants and animal species.

With a growing population, Myanmar is currently facing a depletion of natural resources because the country has been heavily dependent on natural resources for production. According to the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environmental Conservation, it has been working tirelessly on the tasks of conservation of forests and forest plantations, as well as the promotion of sustainable development of the economy. Despite the challenges, Myanmar’s forests are home to a variety of species such as tigers, leopards, geese, barking deer, jungles, goats, mountain goats, bears, wild boars and jungle civets. It is estimated that there are 40 species of native birds, including 230 species of butterflies. As part of the measures for greening the arid region, more than 5,000 acres of agricultural land, including 3,700 acres of natural forest, have been designated as forest reserves.

In addition to the devastating impact on the environment and biodiversity, illegal logging and forest crime also contribute to billions in lost tax revenues for the governments.

Japan, Pacific island nations urge N Korea to denuclearize

IWAKI, (Japan) — Japan and Pacific island countries on Saturday called on North Korea to take concrete actions toward denuclearization by complying with UN sanctions over its nuclear and missile development, as they wrapped up a two-day summit meeting in northeastern Japan.

In the joint declaration released after the gathering in Iwaki, Fukushima Prefecture, Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe and leaders from 14 Pacific island countries expressed deep concerns over the North evading international sanctions by transferring cargoes at sea.

It is the first time for Japan and the Pacific island countries to mention the North Korean issue in their declaration. Japan has hosted a regional summit with the Pacific island nations every three years since 1997.

The participants at the eight Pacific Islands Leaders Meeting also noted the importance of the complete, verifiable and irreversible scrapping of all of weapons of mass destruction and ballistic missiles, while stressing the need of an immediate resolution of the abductions of Japanese nationals by North Korea in the 1970s and 1980s.

The declaration also touched on the importance of the maritime order based on the rule of law and welcomed the “free and open Indo-Pacific strategy,” a policy the Abe administration has pushed ahead with in an apparent effort to counter the growing maritime assertiveness of China.

Abe said talks to ease a major tension in the region were “going well,” but a deal remained elusive on 18 Friday May.

Trump has demanded China reduce its trade surplus with the United States, sparking a dispute over the North evading international sanctions by transferring cargoes at sea, including each country’s exports.

In a keynote speech at the outset of the summit, Abe pledged to support Pacific island countries in enhancing their maritime security capabilities, given their vulnerable coastal security.

“Japan will be unyielding in its assistance toward improving countries’ capacity to protect the sea,” including each country’s legal enforcement capabilities,” Abe said.

“It is the rule of law that gives protection to the nations, big and small, for their inherent rights,” he said. “Safeguarding the sea and safeguarding the planet and human kind are one and the same. My country will continue to make efforts with you all,” Abe added.

The summit also focused on building infrastructure, including ports.

To support their sustainable development, Abe promised continued assistance to the island nations to protect the environment and cope with climate change.

Abe also vowed Japan’s engagement in human resource development and people-to-people exchanges involving 4,000 people over the next three years.

The forum brings together Japan, the 14 Pacific island nations, Australia and New Zealand, as well as French Polynesia and New Caledonia, both of which are French territories.

The 14 Pacific island countries are the Cook Islands, Fiji, Kiribati, the Marshall Islands, Micronesia, Nauru, Niue, Palau, Papua New Guinea, Samoa, the Solomon Islands, Tonga, Tuvalu and Vanuatu. The previous meeting also took place in Iwaki, an area in northeastern Japan devastated by the massive 2011 earthquake and ensuing tsunami.

US says China trade talks going well, but ‘no deal yet’

WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump’s top economic aide said talks to ease a major trade dispute between the United States and China were “going well,” but a deal remained elusive on 18 Friday May.

Trump has demanded China reduce its trade surplus with the United States, sparking a dispute over the North evading international sanctions by transferring cargoes at sea, including each country’s exports.

On Thursday Trump unleashed a barrage of criticism against former US administrations for allowing Beijing to take advantage of the United States, and he discounted chances of settling the trade dispute with Beijing.

“[They] are meeting many of our demands,” he claimed, “I believe they want to make a deal.”

Trump has threatened to hit China with tariffs on up to US$150 billion of imports, prompting Beijing to threaten US agricultural exports.

Abe said: “China has become very spoiled... Because they always got 100 percent of whatever they wanted from the United States,” he said.

The White House is wary of hurting largely Republican-voting farm states or damaging the economy before legislative elections this November.

But Trump is also keen to appear tough on trade and fulfill a campaign promise to make a “deal” that better benefits the United States.—AFP

Russia unveils world’s first floating nuclear power station

MURMANSK — Russia on Saturday unveiled the world’s first floating nuclear power station at a ceremony in the port of the far northern city of Murmansk where it will be loaded with nuclear fuel before heading to eastern Siberia.

Built in Saint Petersburg, the Akademik Lomonosov arrived in Murmansk on Thursday where it was moored in the port and presented to the media on Saturday.

Constructed by the state nuclear power firm Rosatom, the 144 by 30 metre (472 by 98 foot) ship holds two reactors with two 33 megawatt nuclear reactors that are similar to those used to power icebreaker ships. The 21,000-tonne barge will be towed in the summer of 2019 to the port of Pevek in Russia’s extreme northeast, 350 kilometres (217 miles) north of the Arctic Circle. The barge can produce enough electricity to power a town of 200,000 residents, far more than the 5,000 live in Pevek, Russia’s northernmost town. It will be primarily used to power oil rigs as Russia pushes further north into the Arctic to drill for oil and gas and needs electricity in far-flung locations.

Vitaly Trunov, who is in charge of the construction and operation of floating nuclear power stations at Rosatom, said such units would “supply electricity and heat to the most remote regions, supporting also growth and sustainable development.” He said use of such floating reactors can save 50,000 tonnes of carbon dioxide emissions per year.

The barge had initially been scheduled to be fuelled in Saint Petersburg, but that work was moved to Murmansk instead due to concerns in countries along the Baltic Sea.—AFP
Afghan cricket stadium attack leaves 8 dead, 45 wounded

JALALABAD—Eight people were killed and 45 wounded in a series of explosions targeting a cricket match in the eastern Afghan city of Jalalabad, officials said on Saturday, the first attack since the holy month of Ramadan began.

The blasts exploded among spectators crowded into the stadium at around 11pm (1830 GMT) on Friday evening as they watched the local “Ramadan Cup”, the provincial governor’s office said.

No group has yet claimed the murders but the Taliban said they were not responsible in a WhatsApp message.

Jalalabad, the capital of Nangarhar province, on the border with Pakistan, has a Taliban presence and is also a stronghold of the Islamic State group.

In September 2017 IS claimed a suicide bombing on a cricket match in Kabul where three died and five injured.

Afghan President Ashraf Ghani on Saturday condemned the attack in Jalalabad.

“The terrorists did not stop killing our people even during the holy month of Ramadan ... by carrying out a terrorist attack in a populated sport stadium, once again they have proved that they are not bound to any creed or religion, and they are the enemy of humanity,” a statement from his office said.

Cricket in Afghanistan struggled under the hardline Islamist Taliban regime in the late 1990s, which viewed sports as a distraction from religious duties.

But its popularity has surged in the years since the US invasion, a dizzying rise which saw Afghanistan become part of the elite group of Test nations last year.—AFP

Israel army disputes Hamas ‘fake news’ on tear gas baby

JERUSALEM—The Israeli army on Friday disputed Palestinian accounts that a baby had died of tear gas inhalation during protests on the Gaza border.

“This is another instance of Hamas fake news,” said Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Conricus, an army spokesman, referring to the Palestinian Islamist movement which runs the Gaza Strip.

“We got reports... from a doctor that said that the baby had a preexisting heart condition and that was most likely the cause of death,” he told AFP, without naming the physician or explaining how the information was obtained.

“We don’t have any additional evidence, the body of that poor baby is in Gaza... There is no way of finding out for sure,” Conricus said.

The Hamas health ministry in Gaza reiterated on Friday that it had provided medical assistance to the baby but was too early to offer a diagnosis.

The baby’s family has blamed the Israeli army for her death, while explaining that Leila had been at the scene of the border protests because of infiltrations from the blockaded Palestinian enclave.—AFP

BAGHDAD — The final results of Iraq’s elections confirmed on Saturday a breakthrough for nationalist cleric Moqtada Sadr, who was in the lead, ahead of internationally favoured prime minister Haider al-Abadi.

But the possibilities for alliances to form a coalition government remain wide open.

None of the three leading groups won more than 50 of the 329 seats up for grabs in parliament at the 12 May vote, which saw record high abstentions with just 44.52 per cent turnout — the lowest since the first multiparty elections in 2005.

In a system calibrated to divide parliament after the fall of dictator Saddam Hussein following the American-led invasion of 2003, Moqtada Sadr’s Marching Towards Reform alliance is far from assured of governing Iraq for the next four years.

Sadr, who has ruled himself out of becoming prime minister, is looking to be the kingmaker and to cobble together a technocrat government from a dozen parties.

But despite leading the tally, his alliance falls short of a majority and it will take lengthy wrangling to forge a coalition.

Negotiations to form a coalition government began as soon as the vote ended a week ago, with the involvement of the US and Iran — both opponents of the populist Shiite preacher and Iraq’s communists won 34 seats.

In second place is the Conquest Alliance, made up of excl-fighters from mainly Iran-backed paramilitary units that battled IS, which won 47 seats, ahead of the Victory Alliance, headed by Abadi, which had 42.

The vote was a slap in the face to the widely revered elite that has dominated Iraq since the 2003 US-led invasion that ousted Saddam Hussein.

Sadr rose to prominence in the wake of the US invasion, when his militia fought a bloody insurgency against American troops.

After years on the sidelines, he has reinvented himself as a champion of the poor and linked up with secularists to battle corruption.

He is one of the few Iraqi politicians opposed to both the presence of American troops and the heavy influence that neighbouring Iran exercises over Iraq.

Sadr declared on Twitter that the results showed “reform has won and corruption is weakened,” but he faces a tricky regional context as he begins coalition negotiations.

HAVANA — Cuba begins two days of national mourning on Saturday for victims of the crash of a state airlines plane that killed all but three of its 110 passengers and crew.

President Miguel Diaz-Canel said an investigation was under way into Friday’s crash of the nearly 40-year-old Boeing 737, leased to the national carrier Cubana de Aviacion by a Mexican company.

Three women pulled alive from the mangled wreckage are the only known survivors.

The Boeing crashed shortly after taking off from Jose Marti airport, coming down in a field near the airport and sending a thick column of acrid smoke into the air. The mourning period is to last from 6:00 am (1000 GMT) on Saturday to midnight on Sunday, the Communist Party leader and former president Raul Castro said. Flags are to be flown at half-mast throughout the country.

The plane was on an internal flight from Havana to the eastern city of Holguin. Most of the passengers were Cuban, with five foreigners, including two Argentines, among them.

The plane — carrying 104 passengers — was almost completely destroyed in the crash and subsequent fire. Firefighters raced to the scene put out the blaze along with a fleet of ambulances to assist any survivors.

What appeared to be one of the wings of the plane was wedged among scorched trees.

Ten dead in Texas school shooting, student arrested

SANTA FE (United States) — Ten people, mostly students, were killed when a teenage classmate armed with a shotgun and a revolver opened fire in a Texas high school on Friday, the latest deadly school shooting to hit the United States.

The gunman, arrested on murder charges, was identified as Dimitrios Pagourtzis, a 17-year-old junior at Santa Fe High School. He is being held on capital murder charges, meaning he could face the death penalty.

Governor Greg Abbott said 10 people died and another 10 were wounded in “one of the most heinous attacks that we’ve ever seen in the history of Texas schools.”

“Nothing can prepare a parent for the loss of a child,” Abbott told reporters in Santa Fe, located about 30 miles (50 kilometres) southeast of Houston.

Abbott said the gunman apparently carried out the attack with a shotgun and a .38 revolver that were legally owned by his father.

At dusk, hundreds of people turned out for a candlelight vigil as the community sought to cope with the tragedy. People prayed and sang “Amazing Grace,” tears streaming down some faces.

Abbott said searches were being conducted at two residencies and “explosive devices” had been found, including a Molotov cocktail. He said journal entries by the gunman suggested he wanted to commit suicide but “he gave himself up.”

Abbott said the suspect had no criminal history, although he did post a picture on his Facebook page of a T-shirt with the words “Born to Kill” on it.

Law enforcement authorities were questioning two “people of interest,” the governor said. One may have “certain information,” he said, and the other had some “suspicious reactions.”

Harris County Sheriff Ed Gonzalez said most victims were students.

Area hospitals said two victims were in critical condition. One of the wounded was a police officer, John Barnes, who engaged the gunman and was shot in the elbow, officials said. — AFP

Malaysia’s Najib summoned to anti-corruption agency: report

KUALA LUMPUR — Scandal-tainted former Malaysian leader Najib Razak has been summoned to appear before the country’s anti-corruption authorities next week as part of an anti-graft investigations, state media has reported.

Najib, 64, unexpectedly lost a 9 May election to a political coalition that had previously held power, the New Straits Times reported.

The summons comes after 15 March elections in which the former prime minister’s Barisan Nasional party lost 86 seats, said state news agency Bernama.

It cited Najib’s personal investment company, SRC, as the focus of the investigation.

“Najib was among others summoned to appear before the Anti-Corruption Commission (MACC) next Tuesday. Najib had been ordered to appear before the Malaysian Anti-Corruption Commission (MACC) next Tuesday. He was summoned to appear before a MACC investigating the affair, the report said.

Najib is expected to be questioned about SRC, which was accused of having received kickbacks from 1MDB.

The resolution came after Israeli forces killed 60 Palestinians during protests on the Gaza border on Monday as the US relocated its embassy from Tel Aviv to the disputed city of Jerusalem.

In its statement, the Israeli foreign ministry said the results of the inquiry were a “foregone conclusion inherent in the wording of the resolution”.

Israel condemns ‘hypocrisy’ of UN rights council on Gaza

JERUSALEM — Israel condemned the “hypocrisy and absurdity” of the UN Human Rights Council after it voted on Friday to send war crimes investigators to probe the shootings of Gaza protesters by Israeli forces. “Israel totally rejects the resolution of the UN Human Rights Council, that once again has proven itself to be a body made up of a built-in anti-Israeli majority, guided by hypocrisy and absurdity,” the Israeli foreign ministry said in a statement. In Geneva, 39 of the council’s 47 members voted for a resolution calling on the body to “urgently dispatch an independent, international commission of inquiry” — its highest level of investigation.

Only two members, the United States and Australia, voted against the resolution, while 29 voted in favour and 14 abstained, including Britain, Switzerland and Germany. PARIS — A jury led by Cate Blanchett will crown the winner of the coveted Palme d’Or for best film at Cannes Saturday, after a politically charged festival rocked by controversy and the MeToo movement.

Movies by Spike Lee, South Korea’s Lee Chang-dong, Italian Matteo Garrone and Nadine Labaki of Lebanon — one of three female directors among the 21 in contention — drew critical acclaim ahead of the famously unpredictable awards night.

But more than the prize winners, the 71st Cannes festival may linger more for its off-screen moments in the first edition since the Harvey Weinstein sexual assault scandal broke.

Hollywood stars including Blanchett, Kristen Stewart, Helen Mirren and Salma Hayek and directors Ava DuVernay and Patty Jenkins joined a red-carpet protest to demand equal opportunity and a “safe workplace”.

Two days later, festival organizers signed a pledge to encourage more diversity in its selection by 2020, saying they hoped it would set an industry standard.

Despite being one of the most sought-after tickets, the premiere of Danish bad boy Lars von Trier’s slash-ereek flick “The House That Jack Built” saw audience members walk out in droves, as reviewers slammed what they called a misogynistic orgy of violence.

Both its female stars, Uma Thurman and Riley Keough, were notably absent from the red carpet, where Stewart on another night staged a kind of protest of her own by kicking her high heels and climbing the vaunted Cannes stairs barefoot.

Even hardened critics shed tears for “Whitney”, an explosive new British documentary on the tragic life of superstar Whitney Houston which alleges she was sexually abused as a child.

Anti-Trump tirade

The glamour-drenched festi-val spotlighted dissident directors including Jafar Panahi of Iran and Russia’s Kirill Serebrennikov, who were barred by their governments from attending.

Their films drew lengthy standing ovations, while a single seat marked with their names remained empty.

Polish Oscar winner Pawel Pawlikowski, who won the foreign-language movie Oscar for “Ida” in 2015, caused a scandal at home when he told AFP at the festival that the film had been “blacklisted” by the nationalist government. Warsaw denied the claim.

Critics swooned over Pawlikowski’s latest, the slow-burn period love story “Cold War”. Political realities dominated the Cannes race, as Labaki won hearts with “Capernaum” set among the poorest of the poor in Beirut and featuring a devastating performance by a 13-year-old Syrian refugee boy.

“While this is unquestionably an issue film, it tackles its subject with intelligence and heart,” industry bible Variety said.

Spike Lee scored a hit with “BlacKkKlansman”, the stranger-than-fiction story of an African-American police officer who manages to infiltrate the highest levels of the Ku Klux Klan.

The film, which several critics called a return to form for the “Do the Right Thing” director, explicitly links the tale set in the 1970s with white nationalism in the Trump era. Lee attacked the US president with an explosive-filled tirade at his press conference that quickly went viral on social media.

Critics fawned over Asian masters like Lee Chang-dong who scored a record 3.5 out of 4 stars in a Screen magazine poll for “Burning”, about a young man’s mounting rage over thwarted ambitions set near the North Korean border.

Hirokazu Kore-eda of Japan moved audiences with “Shoplifters”, about a family of small-time crooks who take in a child they find on the street. Film website IndieWire called it “heart-wrenching”.

‘Less America-centric’

Garrone, best known for mafia tableau “Gomorrah”, later delighted them with “Dogman” about a soft-spoken Italian dog groomer who stands up to a lethal heavy. In 2017, the top prize went to Ruben Ostlund’s “The Square,” an art world send-up that went on to bag an Oscar nomination. There were less lavish parties this year and fewer A-list stars on the Croisette seaside boulevard.

However industry insiders dismissed talk of a festival in crisis, saying the sprawling annual event was returning to its roots in the face of showbiz “disruption”.

US magazine Vanity Fair called 2018 a “pivot year”, as movie studios plump for social media to promote their blockbusters instead of the splashy French Riviera promotions of old.

“We’ve found a festival with a renewed spirit,” Vanity Fair said.

“In making the festival a little less America-centric than it has been lately, Cannes has re-asserted itself as the premier destination for daring, provocative international cinema.”

Variety noted that Cannes remained a “major hub” for the film rights trade and said “many projects for sale are embracing inclusiveness, with a raft of sales for female filmmakers”.

Spike Lee told AFP that for directors doing provocative work, “Cannes is the greatest film festival in the world, there is no argument. This is the Mecca, this is the greatest stage.” —AFP

Winfrey queen of the celebs at Britain’s royal wedding

WINDSOR (United Kingdom) — Oprah Winfrey and Idris Elba were among the celebrities in the pews at St George’s Chapel for the wedding of Prince Harry and Meghan Markle on Saturday.

Winfrey, the US talk show queen, was seen strolling through the grounds of Windsor Castle ahead of the service, as was Elba, the British actor who is a star on both sides of the Atlantic for his roles in “The Wire” and “Luther”.

Celebrities from Britain and North America took their places among the 600 guests the chapel, including US former actress Markle’s co-stars in the TV legal drama series “Suits”. Harry’s ex-girlfriends Chelsy Davy and Cressida Bonas were seen going in.

Harry struggled to find lasting love, with the pair finding the scrutiny and weight of expectation all too much.

The three siblings of Harry’s mother Diana, princess of Wales, have been invited.

Earl Charles Spencer, who spoke memorably at Diana’s funeral on behalf of his family was seen entering the church. His sister Jane Fellowes was to read from the Song of Solomon during the service.

Singer James Blunt, famous for his hit “You’re Beautiful” and like Harry an army veteran, took his place in the Gothic chapel.

Blunt has performed at the Invictus Games, an international competition for military veterans set up by Harry. Nicholas Soames, a grandson of wartime prime minister Winston Churchill and a close friend of Harry’s father Prince Charles, was also among the guests.

Following the service, Queen Elizabeth II was to host a lunch in the castle’s St George’s Hall for the 600 guests.

Charles, the heir to the throne, will be hosting 200 family and close friends from among the guests at an evening reception at Frogmore House.

Politicians have been left off the guest list, meaning there was no invite for US President Donald Trump or British Prime Minister Theresa May.—AFP
Four Korean artists show works in Yangon

Four Korean artists will exhibit their works at the Yangon Gallery from 19 to 23 May under a cultural exchange programme.

The quartet of Korean artists brought their creations on canvas that reflect their creativity and unconstrained thought, event organisers said.

Portraits of State Counsellor Daw Aung San Suu Kyi and her father General Aung San by Park Jin Woo have attracted the attention of visitors as they reflect the Korean artist’s thoughts on the emotions of Myanmar’s people.

“The wrinkles on her neck show her struggle for democracy in Myanmar,” said Park Jin Woo, showing his hyper-realistic portrait of Daw Aung San Suu Kyi.

Several cherry blossoms portrayed in the daytime and at night in May in Korea are also being exhibited under the title “Things Beautiful in May.” The works are by Chong Eun Mi, an award-winning artist from South Korea. This is the first time her works have been exhibited in Myanmar. It is also the first time the works of Kwon Yong Sil, who paints scenes of nature on canvas, has shown her paintings in Myanmar. “When expressing these on to a canvas, rather than reproducing it realistically, I follow the stream of my consciousness and the time flow to restructure puzzles of nature to form a different level of nature,” said Kwon Young Sil.

Nam Yeo Joo, a female artist, has shown her creation of bowls on canvas with flowing water on them. “I reflected myself as a bowl and would like to express the flowing water harmonised with an image of nature,” she said. —GNLM

Under the exchange program, a group of Myanmar artists will conduct a group show in South Korea in December.

Harry, Meghan will be Duke and Duchess of Sussex

LONDON — Prince Harry and his bride Meghan Markle will be known as the Duke and Duchess of Sussex after their wedding on Saturday, Buckingham Palace announced just hours before the ceremony.

“The Queen has today been pleased to confer a dukedom on Prince Henry of Wales. His titles will be Duke of Sussex, Earl of Dumbarton and Baron Kilkeel,” it said in a statement.

“Prince Harry thus becomes His Royal Highness The Duke of Sussex, and Ms. Meghan Markle on marriage will become Her Royal Highness The Duchess of Sussex.”

A dukedom is the highest rank in the British peerage. It is traditional to give royal sons titles reflecting the three historic realms — England, Scotland and Ireland — that made up the United Kingdom.

Dumbarton is on the north bank of the River Clyde in Scotland and Kilkeel is a small fishing town in Northern Ireland’s County Down.

When in Scotland, the couple will be referred to as the Earl and Countess of Dumbarton.

There have been earls of Sussex since 1141, and it became a dukedom in 1801, when prince Augustus Frederick, the sixth son of king George III, was given the title.

Queen Victoria’s third son prince Arthur was made earl of Sussex in 1874 but the title became extinct upon the death of his grandson in 1943. —AFP
Zwekapin trounces Hantharwady in MNL match

ZWEKAPIN United played to a 3-1 win over Hantharwady United in a Week-12 match of MPT Myanmar National League 2018 yesterday at Thuwunna Stadium in Yangon.

The battle was a good one, with back-and-forth efforts used by the young Myanmar players.

The opening goal for Zwekapin United came at the 39-minute mark when Than Htet Aung scored.

The goal forced Hantharwady to play hard for the equalizer with open attacks.

Instead, Zwekapin scored their second goal two minutes later with a brilliant shot from a new comer of the team, Zun Moe Aung.

Hantharwady never gave up and were rewarded when striker Joseph scored a consolation goal at the 44-minute mark.

The first half ended with a score 2-1.

In the 2nd half, Hantharwady was better and the play was even, with both teams establishing good positions.

The win was ensured for Zwekapin with a score by substitute player Yan Kyaw Htwe at the 88-minute mark.—Lynn Thit (Tgj) ■

Chun leads rain-hit Kingsmill Championship by one shot

WASHINGTON — Chun In-gee fired a five-under 66 to take the clubhouse lead in the second round of the USLPGA Kingsmill Championship which was disrupted by storms on Friday.

South Korea’s Chun finished with a 11-under par total of 131 for one-shot lead over Japan’s Nasa Hataoka and Austria’s Ernst of the US who shot 66 and 65 respectively on the River Course in Williamsburg, Virginia.

Players had to endure two rain delays before play was suspended in the evening with about 60 golfers still on the links.

Players had to endure two rain delays before play was suspended in the evening with about 60 golfers still on the course trying to finish their rounds.

The second round will resume early Saturday morning with the third round beginning a couple of hours later.

Chun, who is ranked 15th in the world, took advantage of the soft playing conditions to shoot a half dozen birdies. Her first bogey of the tournament came on the par-four fourth hole.

“I felt good. I could see the putting lines very well today, so I made a good score,” Chun said.

Chun said she spent the morning rain delay working on her health and fitness.

“When I came here the weather was not good so we got a one hour delay. So I did treatment this morning before the start,” she said.

Ernst shot one of the best rounds of the day and her lowest round of the season.

“It was a lot of fun. I should do this more often,” said Ernst.

“My game has felt really good all year; it’s really just been a matter of cleaning a few things up,” she said. “Whatever it is about the course, I really like it.”

Thailand’s Ariya Jutanugarn shot a four-under 67 and was tied for fourth with Angel Yin (66) at nine-under; two shots adrift of Chun.—AFP ■

Nadal, Djokovic to meet for 51st time in Rome

ROME — Novak Djokovic set up an Italian Open semi-final blockbuster against Rafael Nadal after both former world number one players battled back in thrilling last-eight clashes on Friday.

The Serb fought back against Kei Nishikori to earn a 2-6, 6-1, 6-3 win while top seed Nadal continued his clay court domination with a 4-6, 6-1, 6-2 defeat of Italy’s Fabio Fognini.

On a dramatic and exhausting day in the Italian capital, there were also quarter-final wins for two-time champion Maria Sharapova and defending men’s champion Alexander Zverev.

Djokovic, seeded 11th after his elbow injury problems, beat Japan’s top player for the 12th time in succession.

“It was a fantastic match, we went toe-to-toe all the way to the last shot. He started, he was flawless from both ends,” said Djokovic who will face Nadal for the 51st time, holding a narrow 26-24 advantage.

Nadal beat Djokovic in their last meeting in May 2017 in a Madrid semi-final and the Serb will be out for revenge after winning seven in a row prior to that.

“We will see tomorrow. I’ve not played so many matches in the last six months,” said Djokovic whose last semi-final spot was in Eastbourne on the eve of Wimbledon in 2017.

“Physically, I’m OK. I just need some rest now and then go out and give it everything I’ve got.”—AFP ■
FINALLY, it is going to be a full moon night. I believe it will be so stunning. As we all know, the moon is the queen of the night and the stars all around her are her best ladies-in-waiting. There are some people who have already faced with full moon nights while some have never experienced them yet.

Moon, otherwise, is also the satellite of our earth. A beautiful night is not complete without the moon and the stars in the dark sky. This kind of night is like a fantasy for those who are dreamers and who love to imagine. The mellifluous song of the night breeze wonders around our environment. Going and coming here and there. For little babies, it can even become a lullaby saying, “Go to sleep, go to sleep.”

If you imagine a full moon night in your eyes while closing them, you will start to know the taste of the moonlight on your skin and the soft kiss of the moon on your cheeks.

In the countryside where large lakes can be found, a full moon night is dreamier than ever. We can see moonglade and sometimes even a moonbow, which is formed by the refraction and the reflection of the light from the moon. The moon is so beautiful that the blue ocean holds up the mirror every night. I want to advise that instead of being someone like the sun to lighten up someone’s life, why not become someone like the moon to brighten in the darkest hours? You and I, everybody should consider it. At the full moon night, the villagers look up the sky and compose such happy songs and tell the legends of the moon. The advantage of staying in the countryside is that we can feel the full moon nights together with our beloved families, unlike in the city. The kids there can happily play around under the full moon's ray of love.

There are thousands of stars around the moon. But have you ever wondered when the brightest stars are produced? Certainly, the darkest nights when the full moon shines brightly produce the brightest stars.

The full moon nights are the time when the selenophiles (people who love the moon) have their party in the ocean of the fireflies under the sky full of stars. There’s a saying, “The moon sees your soul,” which means the moon knows what is inside of you. How you are feeling and how you have determined yourself to the world. There are so many charming sights to see during the full moon nights that I can’t describe all of them.

The full moon nights are also the time when I look up to the night sky where the fully-sized moon is smiling sweetly down on me. At the same time, I really believe that somebody at somewhere else is staring to the moon as well. Sometimes I feel so annoying due to the everyday life that I want to escape to the place where the full moon kisses the earth.

We should never underestimate the healing power of the full moon. She waters the fire in our hearts and she wipes the tears in our eyes. Some couples kill their times watching the clouds as they dance around the full moon and they tell the story about how the sun loved the moon so much that he died every night to let her breathe.

However, no matter what our differences are, we all look at the same moon. The moon, she always comes to say good night to us even though everyone ignores her kindness by sleeping deeply. But we still cannot blame it on ourselves.

All in all, the full moon night is the night to harvest the intentions and wishes of the past month. So, we will all harvest our intentions while looking forward for the next new moon.

As we all are living on the earth, still, we have to hug and sleep soundly under the warmth of the moon.

CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION FOR THE 21ST CENTURY
WHAT IS MEANT BY CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION?

CITIZENSHIP education can be defined as educating children, from early childhood, to become clear-thinking and enlightened citizens who participate in decisions concerning society. ‘Society’ is here understood in the special sense of a nation with a circumscribed territory which is recognized as a state.

A knowledge of the nation’s institutions, and also an awareness that the rule of law applies to social and human relationships, obviously form part of any citizenship education course. Taken in this sense, citizenship education is based on the distinction between the individual as a subject of ethics and law, entitled to all the rights inherent in the human condition (human rights); and the citizen – entitled to the civil and political rights recognized by the national constitution of the country concerned.

All human beings are both individuals and citizens of the society to which they belong. Therefore, human rights and citizen rights are interdependent.

Men, women and children all come into the world as individual human beings. Thanks to the immense historical conquest of human rights, we are equal, in rights and dignity, to all other human beings. When citizenship education has the purpose of ‘educating future citizens’ it must necessarily address children, young people and adults, who are living beings, having the status of human beings endowed with conscience and reason. It cannot, therefore, exclude consideration of individuals as subjects, each with individual characteristics.

Moreover, human rights include civil and political rights, the latter obviously relating to the rights and obligations of citizens. Thus a comprehensive human rights education takes account of citizenship, and considers that good citizenship is connected with human rights as a whole. Comprehensive citizenship education is the one which trains ‘good’ citizens, i.e. citizens aware of the human and political issues at stake in their society or nation, requiring from each citizen ethical and moral qualities. All forms of citizenship education include respect and recognition of the equality of all human beings; and at combating all forms of discrimination (racist, gender-based, religious, etc.) by fostering a spirit of tolerance and peace among human beings. Thus, when we speak of the profound meaning of citizenship, we can link it with the fundamental duties, which each individual, within the framework of state respects government of the people by the people, and makes it accountable to citizens.

However, this way of tackling democracy may seem remote and foreign to the world of modern school subjects and children. It is therefore desirable to imbue the whole of school life with a culture of democracy.

Educational practice is of equal value with knowledge when we come to tackle civic education. One of the major flaws in the way schools function democratically is that it fails to bring democracy to life in schools, and remains at the stage of merely enunciating principles and describing institutions. When the organization of a school does not lead to a democratic mode of operating on which pupils can give their opinions, and how the operation of the machinery of education, respect for the ‘Other’, regarded as ‘moral’ or ‘ethical’, are required of all human beings and all citizens. They form part of both civic ‘virtues’ and individual ‘virtues’. They enable each individual to live as a ‘good’ citizen.

In other words, in citizenship education we can find a simple, clear cut approach: education for the ‘whole’ citizen.

Thus, citizenship education can be regarded as an ethical (or moral) education as well as education in citizenship.

A NEW WAY OF TEACHING CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION

The introduction and continuity in schools of a democratic culture forbid dogmatism in any kind of civic education. The methods and approaches chosen are those based on discussion among pupils and between pupils and teachers, and make provision for children and young people to speak and express themselves. Modes of expression may be varied: in addition to oral exchanges, drawings, songs, poems, different kinds of written material and the use of instruments for reflection on citizenship, democracy, justice, freedom and peace.

In a democracy, citizenship education seeks to educate citizens who will be free to make their own judgements and hold their own opinions. Compliance with the existing laws should not prevent citizens from seeking and planning better and ever more just laws. Respect for law, which is one of the objectives of civic education, calls not for blind submission to rules and laws already passed but the ability to participate in drawing them up.

One of the practical tasks of citizenship education is therefore to look at the rules governing a school, improve them and bring them "up to date".

The values transmitted by citizenship education are not dogmatic principles laid down once and for all. A living culture calls for the creation of new values, although they should all be judged by the criterion of respect for others and for human dignity. Thus, with regard to the laws and values accepted by an entire social group, citizenship education can in no way be a catalogue of set questions and answers. Citizenship education should be the forum which gives rise to and nurtures a genuine culture of discussion. Whatever the problem posed, such as the ongoing development of humanity or the stability of the rule of law, an exchange of ideas, notions, judgements and individual opinions is necessary. Even among young children, dialogue of this kind is possible.

Citizenship education needs also to be taught in ways that bring out the ever-constant link between knowledge and practice. The interaction between concepts and action gradually produces the ability to think in terms of values and to refer to them. Values are universal when they concern human rights: for example, the values of liberty, dignity, solidarity and tolerance. As they are firmly anchored and promoted in different cultures they can also concern a region of the world or even a special country, nation or religion. All should be made the subject of discussion and reflection and situatd in each course of citizenship education.

In other words, citizenship education is based on knowledge, practice and values that constantly interact. To be precise, let us say that awareness of the necessary reference to values gradually gives rise to practices and action which are themselves related to knowledge and skills about human rights and the institutions that regulate life in society. Pupils benefiting in this way from citizenship education learn both to understand and unfold and develops in a society imbued with values and in the human community as a whole.

CONCLUSION

This approach opens up new paths for education for peace, human rights and democracy.

Thus, citizenship education addresses both the individual and the citizen and provides the means by which each individual citizen can acquire an understanding of the issues of peace in the world, and the challenges of the globalisation of economic, environmental and cultural problems.

Since sustained progress in the development of human beings and the world they live in is linked to the quality of education, the time has come to regard citizenship education as a vital part of any education system and any teaching programme.
To Hakha town
Hakha town is 36 miles long from the east to the west and 45 miles from the south to the north with a total area of 1688 square miles; it borders Gangai town in the east, Thantlang town in the west, Matupi town in the south and Falam town in the north. There are several mountains in the town which are higher than 6449 feet, water resources come from raining torrents which flow from the north to the south and among them Zabch, New and Daung creeks are popular and the water channels into the town for the use of drinking water. The weather in the Hakha town is extremely cold with highest temperature of 28.4C and the lowest 4 Celsius. There were 131 rainy days during 2015-2016 calendar year with a rainfall of 61.2". The town is covered with evergreen forests where many different kinds of trees are naturally grown including pine trees, oak trees, cherry trees, rosewood, fig tree, teak, rhododendrons and bamboo forests. Although the Hakha town is the capital of Chin State, its economy has lagged behind the rest of other States and Regions due to poor transport and local produce. Local people mostly cultivate paddy and corn, rye, currants, grapes and keep poultry farming. For the sake of education for local students there are several educational institutions including the Hakha College, four high schools, six affiliated schools, middle and monastic schools. For the health purposes of the people, the Hakha General Hospital, Administrative hospitals, four rural health departments and 16 health units: Kamhouk, Soake and Ciyam administrative ones. The town is covered with evergreen forests: 2609 acres of forest reserve and 34827 acres of nature reserve. The 22000 people of the entire population of 32717 in the town are Chin nationals who are of the Christian faith. The Thib Lake, a heart-shaped and world-famous, attracts both domestic and foreign tourists.

To Falam town
The Thantlang town was included in Falam District at the time of British rule and was administered by a俸iowaw, after the independence, it was ruled by a Circle Headman. In 1972, 38 village tracts of the western part of Hakha/northwest were integrated into Thantlang township, thereby forming three wards and 37 village tracts (87 villages) in 2008. Thantlang town is situated at the north-east of Myanmar and 44 miles from the west of Hakha town. It is 46 miles from the north of Matupi town and 28 miles from the south of Falam town. Situated above the town is the highest mountain is 8703 feet. In the east, the town borders Hakha town and in the west Matupi town, India in the south, Matupi town and the north Falam town. As one of the towns in Chin State, Thantlang town has a range of mountains with a dense forest of pine trees in 15342 acres of nature reserve. Borders between Myanmar and India have been demarcated by Burma and Yaa rivers in the town. The town is relatively cold with temperature highs of 27.6C and lows of 3C. There were 144 rainy days in the past, but during 2015-2016 year, there were 113 rainy days with a rainfall of 58.8". Majority of the people are Chin nationals with few Bamas, 12792 out of a population of 14337 are of the Christian faith. Falam, Kevu, ironwood tree, rhododendron and pine trees are naturally grown in the town. Forest rangers and other medicinal plants are also found. Wild animals such as monkeys, bears, leopards, boars and mountain goats are few people abide by these restrictions. As the town is situated on the Kalay-Tonzang-Chika road, it has served as an economic hub by means of transport services. Apple, oranges and tea leaves are local product and they are sent to the Kalay town.

To Tonzang town
The Thantlang town was integrated into Thantlang township and the township was composed of one town, six rural health departments and four health hospitals, four rural health departments and 18 health units: Kamhouk, Soake and Ciyam administrative ones. The 6472 feet above sea level. For the health purposes of the people, the Thantlang People’s Hospital, other administrative hospitals and rural health centres have been opened for local populace. The town in Falam District is situated at the northern edge of Chin State with Chika town at the northwestern part of the State. Situated on the Chika-Thibba road, the town with an area of 1868.35 square miles is 4749 feet above the sea level. The town started with a population of 50 persons in 1878, in 1929, the town was named as Tonzang; Ten means living together and zung means a place of sheltering place. The office of Tonzang Township Officer was opened on 30 December, 1985 and it was organized as a townships with two wards and 31 village tracts(191 villages). The town is covered with mountain ranges with peaks of plains. Tonzang borders Kalay and Tamu townships in the east, Mynamar State, India in the west, Tizit township in the south and Manipur State, India in the north. Falam river runs and settled down in huts and shabby houses. Because of the security reasons during the war, the origin of the town has started from the old village of Ta-sho, the town in Thantlang region due to poor transport and little local produce. Local people mostly cultivate paddy and corn, rye, currants, grapes and keep poultry farming. For the sake of education for local students there are several educational institutions including the Hakha College, four high schools, six affiliated schools, middle and monastic schools. THE Kyaik Wine bazaar is located at Maynagone Township near the Kyaik Wine Pagoda. The bazaar is thought to be naming after the Kyaik Wine Pagoda. I live near the bazaar where I moved ten months ago. The bazaar is where I go to shop and pass through daily when I go to my work and classes. The surrounding area of the bazaar is very developed as people near the place are working hard. The bazaar plays an important role for the dwellers around it. The bazaar is a very busy place where people go to buy their needed articles. It is a major attraction for both buyers and sellers. There is no other place in the area having so much brisk business as the bazaar.

The bazaar is near to the Thirimin-galar Market, one of the big vegetable and meat market in Yangon. Therefore, vegetables and meats selling at Kyaik Wine bazaar are cheaper than the other bazaars in Yangon. Then, the Kyaik Wine bazaar is not far from Thamine junction as well as 8th Miles junction.

The bazaar building which has a lot of shops inside is next to Kyaik Wine Pagoda. At the streets near the bazaar and pagoda are also filled with many vendors who selling their products beside the streets.

The main shopkeepers are the people who living in that area. The scene of our Kyaik Wine bazaar is very interesting. I always find a big crowd there. The market is usually crowded with trishaws, motorbikes, bicycles, cars and shoppers. As the prices of most items are not fixed, the shoppers as well as the buyers do bargain. I watch these people who feel greatly satisfied after buying anarticle at a lowest price from the shopkeepers and vendors.

Our Kyaik Wine bazaar is a very noisy place in the morning and evening when the bazaar is busy. All sorts of people come there to buy and sell. I also find the hawkers shouting loudly to sell their goods at the bazaar. There is joy and laughter on all sides. Some people discuss politics in the light of their selling. Sellers are shouting to advertise their goods, and many buyers curiously head toward them. Buyers pay more interest to the louder sellers.

Our market presents a lively glimpse and fill us with a feeling of delight. It is a really very pleasant to go to the market, particularly in the morning.

I always welcome those moments when I visit the market for this purpose or that. It is a place where one can see the lives in so many colours as well as one can get valuable experiences by visiting bazaar and buying various goods.
