Clear and concise news and information vital for peace and harmony between two different societies

UNION Enterprise for Humanitarian Assistance, Resettlement and Development in Rakhine (UEHRD) Vice-Chairman Union Minister for Social Welfare, Relief and Resettlement Dr. Win Myat Aye attended and addressed the opening ceremony of the second training course on conducting social works among societies in conflict held yesterday morning at the Social Welfare training school in Mayangon Township.

The Union Minister said conflicts are occurring in many countries of the world and conflicts are threatening our country. This is a country where differences exist but were being united and exist as a union. If the problems are resolved with union spirit, there'll be harmony among all and successes will be achieved. It is easy to achieve harmony if it is based on union spirit. There are problems that can be resolved within a country as well as problems that will have to be resolved among countries in the region and by working together with the countries of the world. Problems occur because there are differences between two societies. Inequalities are the source of the problems and it affects the development. Resolving the problems is the issue of the people and people should participate in it. Those attending this training are to coordinate in obtaining peace between two different societies. There is a need to remove the suspicions and hatred between the two societies and build trust and love. Especially in order to achieve social harmony between the two societies social service personnel must ensure the spreading of clear and concise news and information and avoid long term conflicts. UEHRD projects are being implemented to resolve the problems existing in Rakhine State with union spirit. The aims of the union projects are to avoid long term conflicts and preventing conflicts from occurring again. There is a need for people with experience to give training and that is why this training is being conducted. When social welfare personnel went to rural areas to serve, they are to use the social welfare knowledge they had learnt to prevent conflicts from occurring again, said the Union Minister.

Community and Family Services International (CFSI) Executive Director Mr. Steven Muncy then explained about the aim of conducting the training. The five-day training course is conducted for 30 social welfare personnel who will serve in Rakhine State. The training was implemented with a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) between Social Welfare Department and CFSI and similar trainings on achieving harmony in societies with conflicts and problems will be conducted in the future, it is learnt. — Myanmar News Agency ■

Two Mayyu Mountain roads to support development in Maungtaw region

Afterwards, 18 ft. wide concrete road will be laid on top of the gravel layer. A total of 75 bridges are also being planned to be built along this road.

The second Mayyu Mountain road is the Kyeinchaung-Gopi road. The road which is being constructed by Road Special team 17 is on the northern part of Maungtaw region.

It is 15 miles long and the construction is being undertaken with 15 road laying vehicles. A total of 52 bridges of various sizes are also being planned to be built along this road. An initial 34 ft. wide road is being constructed and then will have gravels 8-inch thick laid on top. And then, there'll be 18 ft. wide concrete road on top of it all.

Mayyu Mountain range faces the Bay of Bengal and Naf River and ran from north to south. As such, even though Buthidaung, Maungtaw and Yathedaung townships border each other, the Mayyu Mountain range is like a natural obstacle between them.

The roads will connect the eastern and western part of the mountain range allowing more transport and communications which will support the development, security and peace of the region.—Myint Maung, Zeya ■
