Serious efforts made to ease local people's difficulties in Rakhine State

LOCAL residents in Rakhine State presented explanations about their sufferings on social difficulties and having to deal with natural disasters almost every year and the requirements of preparedness when they met with Dr Win Myat Aye, Union Minister for Social Welfare, Relief and Resettlement yesterday at the township administration offices of Kyaukphyu township.

Union Minister Dr Win Myat Aye listened to the reports of the residents with the help of local responsible persons and visited the Internally Displaced Persons (IDP) camps in Kanyintaw to meet IDP people and fulfilled the requirements for moving to newly constructed houses and provided rice, cooking oil, beans and salt as humanitarian assistance.

Local people in the Kyauktalone IDP Camp were encouraged to participate and work for stability and peace and were told of the plan for socio-economic development and received humanitarian assistance.

Local, foreign media to visit Maungtaw

THE Ministry of Information is working for both foreign and local media groups to make excursions into the Maungtaw District in northern Rakhine State, the site of violent attacks in October on border police outposts that prompted months of security clearance operations. A team of 20 foreign and local media groups led by General Manager U Ye Naing from the Ministry of Information's News and Periodicals Enterprise will travel to Maungtaw District from 28 March to 1 April. The media groups have received permission to freely investigate the district for news concerning the October attacks, the fleeing and resettlement of families, damage and reconstruction of areas destroyed by fire, the resulting decline of the fishing industry of the district, immigration and trading of merchandise near the border. Foreign and local media made a previous trip to Maungtaw District on 19 December 2016.—MNA
