Report on the current work of the government: political, economic and social development, and the peace process.

In order to achieve these aims, it is important that we create opportunities for citizens from across the country to participate in these endeavours. We urge all our citizens to cooperate together with the government.

We have witnessed the cooperation of government, civil society organisations and citizens both during the peace process and holding 21st Century Panglong Conferences, as well as in the course of adapting and creating new government policies.

Speaker and all members of Parliament.

The government is undertaking to establish a Union for the benefit of all its citizens, however, there are still many challenges to overcome to ensure our successful transition to democracy.

As the government has anticipated, the 2008 Constitution should be amended step-by-step, to guarantee the smooth transition. Similarly, the Democratic Federal Union can only be implemented if we can build freedom, equality and mutual respect amongst the ethnic people.

With this in mind, the current government has made the peace process a top priority. With the peace process at the centre, national reconciliation can be achieved, and this, shall lead to democratic transition and the establishment of the Union.

The main goal of the current peace process is to reach political agreements and sign the Union Accord, to implement steps for establishing a Union based on democracy and federalism. In doing so, common approaches will be agreed upon to the process of holding political dialogue.

The role of military in the peace process is also very crucial. We need to overcome many challenges harmoniously during the peace process.

Establishing the federal Union and achieving the democratic standards anticipated by the government will take time and effort. However, our ultimate goal is to establish a democratic federal Union is unavenging. In order to bring about a political agreement, the 21st Century Panglong (Union Peace Conference) has already been held three times. As of now, 31 political agreements have been agreed. The government has reiterated its commitment to establish a Union based on democracy and federalism which has been unusually requested by the ethnic people.

At the second meeting of the 21st Century Panglong (Union Peace Conference), an agreement was in fact reached on matters regarding the right to self-determination and the formation of state constitutions. However, after reaching agreement, this had to be set aside. Just as non-secessionism is important, it is equally important to join hands together to build up a federal Union.

Speaker and all members of Parliament.

While the government is working to establish peace, stability and a democratic federal Union, there are many challenges. For over 70 years, previous governments have been trying to resolve the issues in Rakhine State, which have been smouldering in the background. This is the reason why the transition to democracy has been slow, as the current government is trying to take care of the Rakhine issue first.

Since the ARSA attacks in October 2016, the situation has been unstable. The issues reigned in 2017 when 30 border police outposts and a military headquarters were attacked by ARSA. Due to the terrorist attacks, a significant number of people fled over to neighbouring Bangladesh, and as a consequence, many challenges have been increased in the international arena.

The necessary arrangements for repatriation, relief and resettlement have now been undertaken in accordance with the bilateral arrangement signed by Myanmar and Bangladesh on 23 November 2017.

The Independent Commission of Enquiry (ICOE)

The Independent Commission of Enquiry (ICOE) consisting of two well-known international personalities and two local experts was established in accordance with the law. This Commission was to investigate allegations of human rights violations and the related issues of terrorist attacks. There will be cooperation and collaboration among relevant departments and organisations, the security forces and the ICOE.

We are capable of handling our national affairs not only by utilising our sovereign power, but also by being able and willing to do so.

Myanmar respects the sovereignty and dignity of each individual nation, and therefore it will continuously work towards fostering closer friendships that will contribute towards global peace and the improvement of international relations. In this regard, it is also crucial to follow international laws and agreements.

In order to handle the Rakhine issue, peaceful coexistence through diversity will be implemented. However, if mind-sets and perspectives remain the same as when the conflicts and tension occurred, we will not be able to resolve these issues.

Thus, the issue should be addressed with a new approach, taking into consideration regional and international perspectives, in accordance with 21st century globalisation. We will only be able to overcome the unfair challenges and pressures with the unity of our citizens.

The Rakhine situation is a very complex and sensitive issue.

The government would like to express its gratitude to the public for its understanding, trust and support during this difficult and stressful period as it is trying its utmost for the future development of the nation.

In its nation building endeavour, the government continues to strive to amend laws that are no longer agreeable to democratic values and accepted human rights standards.

The Union Government aims to institute the rule of law, through the development and promulgation of laws, rules and regulations, law enforcement, and the administration of justice through the legal system to promote good governance.

The Union Government has put great efforts into enhancing the ability of the youth to think critically and philosophically, by providing more access to libraries and research, so that a new generation of highly educated youth can be produced.

Opportunities to educational opportunities

In order for the new generation to have better access to educational opportunities, better and higher school attendance levels and to lower the rates of school leaving, the union government has upgraded 6,386 schools.

10,732 primary school teachers, 383 middle school teachers and 1,221 high school teachers have been appointed. A total of 4,799 buildings comprising 4,585 school halls and 214 staff accommodations were built.

Text books, exercise books and school uniforms have been distributed to government and monastic schools, free of charge.

Pre-schools and primary school syllabuses were changed and 81 non-formal education programs, introduced.

In order to ensure greater job opportunities, the government training and vocational institutions have been further strengthened in Insein, Pyin-Ulwin and Kyaithitt. In addition, the Singapore-Myanmar Vocational Training Institute (SMVTI), the Nyaung Shwe Vocational Training Institute (NVTI) and the Nay Pyi Taw English Proficiency Training School were further introduced.

Similarly, before 2021, the government will open 38 technical institutes, government technical high-schools and vocational training schools, along with an increase of 2,933 teachers. Two-year educational colleges will be advanced to four-year degree colleges.

During the last three financial years, the education budget has been gradually increased. In the 2016/17 financial year, the budget was 1,726 billion Kyat; in the 2017/18 financial year, the education budget was 1,756 billion Kyat; and in the 2018/19 financial year, there will be an increase to 1,757 billion Kyat in education expenditure.

An increase in the health budget

Similarly, in the health budget, there has been an increase. In the 2016/17 financial year, the budget was 881 billion Kyat; in the 2017/18 financial year, the budget was 1,076 billion Kyat; and in the coming 2018/19 financial year, the expenditure will be increased to 1,131 billion Kyats.

With the increase of budget in the health sector, health care services have also been improved. A new 16-bed regional hospital, 18 health clinics, 20 rural sub-clinics, and 16 traditional medicine hospitals were newly built and 7 hospitals also received upgrades. A total of 22,421 doctors, nurses, midwives, health workers, dental experts and health workers were also newly appointed.

The building of 3,644 health-care staff quarters were also completed. Public health clinics have also been expanded in rural areas. This helped the early detection of diabetes, hypertension, etc. so that effective health care can be given in the early stages.

Work on the eradication of malaria is being conducted. 64,960 chronic disease patients suffering from TB and 156,372 patients suffering from HIV were being given health care. In order to give better health education, health care workers and health service staff were provided with mobile tablets to assist them with “e-Education, e-Consultation and e-Medicine.”

Medical student enrolment from remote regions has increased from 3% to 6%. In 2016/17, 59 students were accepted. In 2017/2018, 81 students were accepted. There was also an increase in post-graduate studies in 10 disciplines and there are now 126 disciplines of post-graduate studies.

In terms of human resources, 3,952 doctors, 492 dentists, 1,121 health workers, 4,143 nurses, 2,550 midwives, 299 women health workers, 529 post graduate diploma holders, 529 masters degree holders, 1,501 Master of Science degree holders and 220 PhDs were produced. During the tenure of the new government, funds were made available for medical research, and advances in medical research projects were achieved.

We acknowledge the role of the Myanmar Representatives in making possible a notable improvement in the education and health budget, thus allowing the government to realize a future generation that is healthier and better educated. The government also holds seriously its accountability in expending the nation’s budget.

Sufficient and good infrastructures are mainly required for building a nation. 67 numbers of over 180-feet bridges, 218 numbers of bridges between 180 and 50 feet that are 265 numbers of bridges that have been constructed across the country in the past two years. It is planned to complete the construction of Thayet-Aunglan Ayeyarwaddy bridge in the third year. It is also planned to complete the construction of over 400 bridges needed by the people across the country.

Apart from the construction works by Ministry of Construction, 144 Union roads were upgrad- ed with the assistance of the ADB, the World Bank, JICA, KfW of Germany. Of them, 333 miles of concrete road, 356 miles of tar road and 1,065 miles of nylon-tar road were upgraded.

Besides, the ministry upgra- ded 2,916 miles of road in total and 1,940 bridges in rural areas as part of efforts for providing the rural people with smooth transportation. The Ministry of Construction would upgra- de roads in rural areas every year, setting its target of turn- ing the roads to all-weather roads to be accessed by 80 per cent of the villages and 90 per cent of the rural population of the country.

Urban projects and industrial cities

Urban projects and industri- al cities are being developed in some big cities like Yangon and Mandalay within 3 years for systematic development of urban housing.

Economic growth is expec- ted to accelerate by having busi- nessmen participate in these mega projects. The development of these mega projects will create job opportunities and have multiplier effects in the economy. These effects will drive the economy and positively influence on the national GDP.

The role of active young entrepre- neurs has become important among today’s busi- nesses. The government has been supporting to have more young entrepreneurs emerged. These young businessmen are the future of Myanmar’s business environment. More businesses at the international level will emerge by supporting and nurturing them.

Negotiations have been made in cooperation with the IFC of the World Bank Group for the development of Yangon elevated road. In coming 2019 with a view to address the traffic issues in Yangon. Such development is being pursued with the expectation not only to address traffic issues but also to create job opportu- nities.

Urban development is becom- ing a challenge in highly popu- lated cities. It is important that future potential developments are taken into consideration to address these challenges.

During the past 2 years, it was planned to construct 10,924 rooms for public housing and for government employees, among which 57,48 rooms that is 70 percent of the plan are now available. Efforts are being made for timely construction of the rest and in addition, construction of over 10,000 rooms are planned, out of which over 4,000 rooms are to be constructed through different PPP models and over 6,000 rooms are to be constructed by private companies.

Urban projects in 33 cities across the country have been implemented and planning for ad- ditional urban projects are being developed in cooperation with the states and regional governments. The Master Plan for Yang- on Region, Master Plan for Yangon-Hanthawaddy-Iago corridor and Master Plan for Southwest of Yangon have been developed in cooperation with JICA of Japan and KOICA of Korea.

It is important to have higher electricity supply in the process of developing road and transport connectivities, and also develop- ing urban housing and infra- structures. Development of these basic infrastructures could open up business and job opportu- nities.

Electricity supply increased by 556 MW

During the past two and a half years, electricity supply has increased by 556 MW from 2,802 MW to 3,388 MW. Hence, electri- city can be supplied to 33 cities, 3,843 villages and 664,013 house- holds. As the electricity consump- tion has been rising from 15% to 19% per annum, it will increase up to 4,521 MW in 2020-2021.

In order to meet the electri- city demand, efforts are being made to generate 220 MW in 2018, 449 MW in 2018-19, 737 MW in 2019-2010, 1,351 MW in 2020-2021 that are 2,757 MW in total.

The natural gas production may gradually decline as the produc- tion from Yadana project has reached a plateau level. Offshore national gas exploration and onshore oil exploration are being expanded to mitigate the effect of gradual national gas production decline.

Drilling of deep and shallow wells are being conducted in the sea near Bakhine, Ayeayarwaddy and Tanintharyi coastal areas. Currently, prospects are obser- ved in A-6 off the Ayeayarwaddy coast. Once the estimated reser- ved have been confirmed, official announcement would be made. Tender proposals will be solicited to international companies for the exploration of onshore and offshore blocks.

Agricultural sector depen- ded on by the majority of popu- lation has become an important foundation in developing basic infrastructures for the nation building. To strengthen the im- portant economic foundation, to have farmers’ families benefited from their own farming, and to have the generations of farmers possess the right to their farm land, the 2012 Law on Farm Land and 2012 Vacant, Fallow and Vir- gin Land Management Law have been amended to reflect the actual onground situation.

Encountering natural disasters on a regular basis

Along with the environmen- tal degradation around the world, Myanmar has been encountering natural disasters on a regular basis due to climate change and losses are encountered on the annual basis.

During the period under the existing government, Disaster Risk Management Committee and Ministry of Social Welfa- re Relief and Resettlement have spent Kyats 2.4 billion and Kyats 11.330 billion respectively that are Kyats 13.739 billion in total for the support and rehabi- litation activities in the disaster areas.

To avoid difficulty in access to agricultural and drinking water in the dry zone and coastal areas, plans are being made for effective storage of rain water.

Thanks to renovation and main- tenance of reservoirs and irrigation system, about 1.23 mil- lion acres of rice received irri- gation water sufficiently in this rainy season and about 1.17 million acres of rice were supplied with irrigation water from the reser- voirs and dams. Besides, this year saw further 260,000 acres of rice in summer while about 1,500 tube-wells were drilled for agricultural purpose and about 400 tube-wells for supply drinking water.

To be able to adapt to climate change impacts on agriculture, to improve timeliness in agricultural production and to minimize the loss and wastages in the sector, we believe that the use of farm machinery should be increased. Therefore, plans are underway to promote the use of agricultur- al machinery. Today, about 75 per cent of the cultivation were operated by mechanization from ploughing to harvesting.

The incumbent government has released a total of 63,417 acres of confiscated farmland so far and returned 13,991 acres to farmers and 50,226 acres to ministries and regions and states.

To accelerate the country’s economy based on the agricul- tural sector and to boost the agricultural products, the Union Government laid down the nation- al export strategy; practicing all possible means and ways to get the export market for Myanmar products.

Regarding the export sector, efforts are being made to pro- duce value-added products from rice, peas and pulses, fish, textile, woods and rubber. Besides, the Union Government has stepped up its efforts for promoting trans- port, quality of export products, availability of information on trade and financial services. Today, Myanmar’s export is relying on agricultural sector, fishery and livestock sector, and private small and medium enterprises.

Local production sector facing challenges

Meanwhile, local production sector is facing challenges such as getting quality seeds, shortage of machinery in production, fertil- izer, systematic use of pesticid- es, shortage of skilled laborers. To be able to provide the people with safety and nutritious food, efforts are being made to promo- te organic crops production and high-quality products. It is found that the special challenges for our SMEs are capital, technology and market penetration.

Government borrows ODA from JICA as two-step loans for SMEs in order to fill the need for finance and Kyats 60 billion loans has been extended to SMEs within 3 years. It is also planned to extend the loan of ad- ditional Kyats 290 billion to the SMEs in 2018-2019. In addition, the State-owned Myanmar Eco- nomic Bank also plans to extend the loan amounting to Kyats 250 billion as SME loans.

Similarly, JICA two-step loans amounting to Kyats 200 billion was acquired to support farmers and help them have bet- ter access to finance during a transformation process towards mechanized farming and Kyats 30 billion loans has been extend- ed to farmers so far. Myanmar Economic Bank also plans to extend the loans amounting to Kyats 200 billion for agriculture and livestock farming businesses.

Agriculture loans extended by Myanmar Agricultural Deve- lopment Bank has increased from Kyats 100,000 to Kyats 150,000 per acre for paddy farming. Loans extended for other crops have increased from Kyats 20,000 to Kyats 50,000 per acre and it is planned to further increase up to Kyats 100,000 per acre.

The presence of ille- gal trades, lower export generated incomes, loss of taxes, depletion of natural resources, illegal importation of consumer products have significant impacts on domestic small and medium sized industries and pose signifi- cant challenges exposing risks to consumers. It is planned to have these challenges properly hand- led in accordance with the Laws.

Trade imbalances exist due to current account defi- cits as imports are much high- er than exports. As US dollar has strengthened significantly since the past April and June, many currencies in the world including Myanmar Kyats are becoming weaker. Although that is a global impact, deprecia- tion of Myanmar Kyats is found to be more significant than those of other countries.

While there are many fac- tors that cause Myanmar Kyat to depreciate, current account deficit, interest rates, inflation and economic prospects are fac- tors among others that mainly influence on the exchange rate.

Analyzing the deprecia- tion of Myanmar Kyat, although it started with the external im- pacts, factors that include but are not limited to weak economic fundamentals and structural issues have sig- nificant impacts on the exchange rate. Looking at the trade, trade deficit was US$3.6 billion in 2017-18 and it is actually lower than previous years.

This was followed by speeches from Nepalese Ambassador to Myanmar Mr. Bim K. Udhas and the Union Minister, after which they proceeded to cut the celebratory cake.

The Ambassador and his wife then entertained the guests with a dinner banquet.

Report on the current work of the government: political, economic and social development, and the peace process

In 2016-2017, trade deficit was US$ 5.2 billion and it was US$ 5.4 billion in 2015-2016. It is evident that these deficits have had a lot of pressure on the domestic currency.

Second, changes in seasonal foreign currency demands also have impacts on the exchange rate. Especially during the period from July to December, demands for foreign currency is usually high.

In order to reduce the trade deficit, to strengthen domestic economy and to be resilient and to withstand various impacts, the government has been going through various reform processes in cooperation with the private sector stakeholders.

Government of Myanmar places a lot of effort in enhancing productivity, developing main economic drivers, and creating favorable investment and business climate. Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) for application of business approvals and permits are being developed and a Single Window system according to which applications can be made and approvals and permits can be received at one place will be developed soon. Now, the new Companies Law has been enacted and online system through which companies can be incorporated without needing to come to the office has been up and running. Hence, it is projected that Myanmar’s Ease of Doing Business ranking will improve in the years ahead.

With the cooperation of private sector and based on the efforts made by relevant government departments, it is planned to improve the ranking of Ease of Doing Business for Myanmar from the current status of 171 to less than 100 in a few years time. It is aimed not only at improving the ranking but also at changing the existing procedures of the government departments, especially to change the current situation of unpopular red-tapes, increased corruption, and the mismatch between the government’s policy objectives and its departments’ organization and performance.

Legal aid for people who cannot afford legal representation

Legal aid for people who cannot afford legal representation has been established. Legal aid is given to citizens who are poor and unable to defend for themselves, such as children, women, the elderly, disabled, and people suffering from communicable diseases.

Similarly, the President’s Office has taken direct responsibility of the anti-narcotics taskforce. It is encouraging to see that there has been continuous cooperation from the people in reporting information on drug-related crimes.

Since the taskforce was established on 27th June 2018, until 17th September 2018, a total of 698 reports were made and 514 of these were investigated, resulting in 174 arrests made. A total of 426 people (336 males and 70 females) were apprehended. A total of 2,626,97 grams of heroin, 16.71 grams of ICE, 34,896.85 grams of opium, 144,781 tablets of amphetamine, 3,356.74 grams of marijuana, 10 assorted arms, 179 assorted ammunitions and 1 hand grenade were confiscated. To date, there have still not been many reports of large-scale drug traffickers received.

Three centres for youth rehabilitation managed by the Central Committee for Drug Abuse Control, and 9 centres for rehabilitation managed by the Ministry of Social Welfare, Relief and Resettlement were opened to give assistance, education and treatment programs to people taking mind-altering drugs and other kinds of substances. Assistance and rehabilitation to people suffering both physically and mentally was also given through educational and vocational training.

The Myanmar police force, which plays a vital role in upholding the role of law, has been enhanced to improve law enforcement. Arms and weapons have been updated, and training schools have been upgraded together with international institutions. Updates were also made to the forensics and DNA lab facilities. Communication equipment has been upgraded. It is understood that for nations going through transition, it takes an average of 10 years for the rule of law to take firm hold.

It is a long-term investment, where dynamic and unremitting motivation is required, if the nation is to live in harmony, peace and security under a strong and firm rule of law.

Speaker and all members of Parliament,

May I conclude by clarifying that the government will exercise the powers vested in them by the people, with the collected efforts of the people, by:

- Ensuring the rule of law and promoting socio-economic development;
- Peace and national reconciliation; and
- Firmly upholding our objective to amend the constitution, which is the basic foundation for building a Democratic Federal Union.

Low pressure in Bay of Bengal likely to form depression in next 24 hours

THE cyclonic circulation in Bay of Bengal over the East Central Bay of Bengal and adjoining Myanmar Coast still persists and the low pressure is likely to intensify into a depression in the next 24 hours, according to the 6:30 pm observation of the weather bureau yesterday.

With this system in the bay, squalls with rough sea are likely to happen at times off and along Myanmar coasts, said the Meteorology and Hydrology Department.

Surface wind speed in squalls may reach 40 miles per hour and wave height will be about 9 to 12 feet off and along Myanmar coasts.

Fishermen and locals are advised not to venture into the sea. The forecast of the weather bureau said that rain or thundershowers will be scattered in southern and eastern Shan and Kayah states, fairly widespread in Nay Pyi Taw, Lower Sagaing, Mandalay, Magway and Bago regions, northern Shan and Chin states and widespread in the remaining regions and states with isolated heavy falls in Sagaing, Mandalay, Magway, Bago, Yangon, Ayeyawady and Tanintharyi regions, Rakhine and Mon states, with full percent degree of certainty.

Zo National Region Development Party presents its policy, stance and work program

Chairman U Kham En Thang of Zo National Region Development (ZNRD) Party presented the party’s policy, stance, work programs and other issues on radio and TV on 19 September.

Following is a translation of the presentation:

Mingalarbar.

I am Chairman U Kham En Thang of Zo National Region Development Party. The party is also known as Zo Party.

First of all, I would like to introduce our party to the people. I will make my presentation in two parts – one is Zo National, and the other is Region Development.

Zo is one of the 135 tribes of ethnic legally acknowledged in Myanmar. Its ethnic code is 421. The significance of Zo is when Chin tribes are translated, it becomes Zo Minam; Zo is in Myanmar language. Mi refers to human being (Homo sapiens), and Minam means tribes. Therefore, Zo Mi means Zo human being or Chin human being, and Zo Minam refers to Zo tribes or Chin tribes. So, it can be deducted from these facts that Zo ethnic refers not only to Zo but all the Chin tribes. In a similar way, Chin State is called Zo Gam, Chin cuisine is Zo An and Chin songs are Zo La, replacing Chin by the word Zo.

Regarding the second part, Region Development, it refers to development across the region in which all national races including Zo tribes. The federal union, the main topic of today’s political dialogue, is a chance to carry out development undertakings in own respective regions independently. A country is formed with several regions and regional stability and unity are essential for development of these regions or a country. Although there may be differences in traditions and religious belief, unity in diversity will help ensure peaceful coexistence automatically. A politician from the Western world said, “Peace is not unity in similarity, but unity in diversity.”

Same opinion is basically needed for regional development. The best example is Singapore which we claim to be on a par with her within 20 years. Singapore gained her independence on 31 August in 1957, ten years after Myanmar gained independence. But 30 years later, around 1990, she became one of the Four Tigers of Asia. In other words, Singapore which was at the status of a fishing village, when Myanmar gained independence, became a developed country in the 1990s to which illegal immigrants tried to enter against the severe punishment of caning.

In retrospect, there have been three main factors for multi-racial and multi-religious Singapore’s development, and they are as follows:

1. Singaporeans share the same view with its leader Lee Kuan Yew who prioritized regional development and equality of citizens;
2. Discrimination of race and religion is strictly prohibited;
3. Nurturing modern and educated youths and encouraging them to participate in nation-building tasks.

We need to learn and take good examples from them if we really want to develop Myanmar. A policy of prioritizing extreme racism and religion is based on similarities, and thus there is a never-ending cycle of conflicts, pending development. It is the mother of the concept, “Those who are not similar to me are my enemies”, which leads to harming of peace. Since peaceful coexistence is the essence of democracy, it is very important for us not to try to be similar but to share same opinion.

Our party will compete for a vacant seat in Tamu Township constituency 2 for the Sagaing Regional Hluttaw. The region is known as Kabaw valley. As the region is composed of plains and mountain ranges, it possesses scenic beauties and it is home to various nationalities. It is easy to access and thriving with agriculture and trade.

Our party has nominated a youth candidate who is educated and who can lead the people for ensuring regional development.

We would like to urge you, who love this Kabaw area, to help us with your ballot paper which comes from the bottom of your heart. Let me take this opportunity to inform you that supporting the national race parties is practicing multiparty democracy system which is the cause of the State. In developed countries with mature democracy, they vote in favour of qualified candidates of other parties if necessary. This is the symbol of independent democratic practice. A garden blooming only one species of flowers cannot be beautiful, but colourfull flowers make it gorgeous. In like manner, Myanmar’s future will be bright only with participation of national races’ parties, in addition to strong parties in the respective parliaments.

In conclusion, I would like to urge you to give support to the candidate of Zo National Region Development Party at the coming by-election who will beautify the Kabaw valley.

Thank you.

Traders: High dollar exchange rate can adversely affect nation’s economy

By May Thet Hnin

AMIDST concerns by entrepreneurs, Myanmar currency - the US dollar exchange rate is weakening in the market, which can adversely affect Myanmar’s economy, businesspersons remarked.

The US dollar exchange rate to Myanmar currency yesterday was Ks1,620, under the floating exchange rate system.

“The appreciating dollar exchange rate hiked up prices of fuel oil, fundamental food items and pharmaceuticals. All key stakeholders involved in the currency market, including government, private banks, the Central Bank of Myanmar and businesspersons should tackle this issue. Some unscrupulous traders manipulating the market with massive buying of cash notes should consider the economy of the country and lives of the people with low-income”, said Dr. Soe Tun, a money changer, who is also chair of Myanmar Automobile Manufacturers and Distributors Association.

In the floating exchange rate regime, traders buying foreign currency in hard cash are more seen than international bank-to-bank transfers or foreign exchange dealing services for large multi national.

“Policies are needed to regulate growing illegal currency market and to persuade them to enter legal market from black market.”, said U Than Lwin, senior advisor at Kanbawza Bank.

The escalating trade war between US and China is a contributing factor to dollar appreciation in the global market. Myanmar is drastically affected from this, as Myanmar’s export volume is lesser than those of neighbouring countries. The country needs to formulate long-term plans to bolster potential export items. Also, small and medium enterprises should be encouraged to support import-substituting businesses. Myanmar should significantly reduce unnecessary import items, according to traders.

“Myanmar has export-related plans. However, implementing stages are not so satisfying,” said U Ye Myint Maung, an exporter from Myanmar Food Processors and Exporters Association.

“Current exchange rate is on an unexpected high. After all, people are suffering from this. If we cannot deal with this, it will get worse”, said Daw Toe Nanda Tin, vice chair of Myanmar Fisheries Processors and Exporters Association.

Despite dollar appreciation, exporters do not reap a great profit as they have to buy raw materials at current exchange rate. Traders are expecting a dollar price stability for their businesses to run well. They are concerned over devaluations in local currency.

The dollar exchange rate in the first quarter of this year was around Ks1,300-1,400. The rate increased above Ks1,500 in mid-August. It hit a record high of Ks1,620 on 19 September. Last fiscal year’s highest record was only Ks1,380.

From 1 April to 7 September of mini-budget period, trade deficit is registered at US$1.33 billion, which is down form $2.1 billion in the similar period of last FY 2017-2018. Trade deficit can be narrowed down against last FY. Also, the export income is up by $1.5 million, according to data released by the Ministry of Commerce.

The Central Bank of Myanmar (CBM), the Ministry of Commerce, the Ministry of Planning and Finance are jointly conducting weekly discussions to regulate the dollar exchange rate. The CBM has also sold dollars to private banks. At present, the US is planning increase retaliatory tariffs on China’s imported goods next week, which has also led to dollar instability in domestic market, besides money manipulation.

Japan-Myanmar trade worth over $696 million from April to July

THE value of trade between Myanmar and its development partner Japan reached US$696.6 million from April to July, during six-month mini-budget period, according to the data of the Ministry of Commerce. In these four months, Myanmar’s export to Japan is worth $452 million, while its import fetched only $244 million.

Myanmar’s export items to Japan are garments, marine products, rice, black sesame, green grams, rubber and other products. In return, it imported machines and machine equipment, electronic equipment, fertilizers, chemical products, medicines, automobiles, and other products.

Bilateral trade was registered at $1.92 billion in the 2017-2018 FY, $2 billion in the 2016-2017 FY, $1.84 billion in the 2015-16 FY, $2.3 billion in the 2014-2015 FY, $1.8 billion in the 2013-2014 FY, $1.49 billion in the 2012-2013 FY and $822 million in the 2011-2012 FY.

Japan-listed three enterprises brought in foreign direct investments of $85 million in the four months, according to statistics released by the Directorate of Investment and Company Administration.

In addition to this, Japan makes up nearly 30 per cent of total FDI in Thilawa Special Economic Zone, with an estimated value of $441 million, since its establishment in 2014-2015 fiscal year.

The Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) offers loans, such as ODA and two-step loan, with a view to bringing about socioeconomic development in Myanmar. JICA and Myanmar signed loan agreements for many development projects such as Agriculture Income Improvement Project, Project for the Development of Finance for Small-and Medium-sized Enterprises, Housing Finance Development Project and Yangon-Mandalay Railway Improvement Project Phase II, Regional Development Project for Poverty Reduction Phase II, Agriculture and Rural Development, Power Distribution System Improvement Project in Major Cities, Greater Yangon Water Supply Improvement Project, Yangon Circular Railway Project, etc.—GNLM

Export to Germany outperforms import during four months

MYANMAR’S export to Germany from April to July, during mini-budget, surpassed its import, with US$186 million worth of export and $60.6 million valued import, according to the statistics released by the Ministry of Commerce. Germany was ranked first among members of European Union with the largest trade value of US$247 million with Myanmar, followed by the UK with about $190 million. France was listed at the third place with trade values of about $132.9 million.

Time to show zero tolerance to wildlife crime

Myanmar has become an illegal wildlife trading hub with an increasing demand for wildlife products. The new law seems to cover criminal liability and so, reenacted on 21 May 2018. Authorities seized 20 bags of pangolin scales, which are prized for their alleged medicinal value, with a street value of over Kc 16 million at a check point in Kalay Township, Sagaing Region, on 15 September. The latest seizures in Sagaing Region are just the tip of the iceberg. In another event, villagers in northern Myanmar near the country’s border with China stopped a truck just before it crossed the border into China and saved 175 star tortoises. Wildlife trafficking in Myanmar involves many species of animals and animal parts besides pangolin scales, tigers, tigers, tigers and tigers.

Long term aims were established and efforts made to eradicate illegal trades and install good practices for abiding the law in the community. Only then a stable, peaceful community where rule of law prevails, be achieved.

Meanwhile, the Ministry of Forestry is conducting awareness campaigns to stop illegal fishing, poaching, killing of wildlife and other illicit activities in the coastal areas. The Department of Wildlife and Protected Areas Law 1994 was revised and enacted on 23 May 2018. When the by-law of the wildlife protection law is ready, illegal wildlife trade can be strictly controlled.

The new law also recognizes that the law is being implemented in a way that all the people are responsible for the law.

Putin vows to improve security of military personnel in Syria in wake of Il-20 tragedy

MOSCOW — Moscow’s response to the Ilyushin Il-20 aircraft crash will be aimed at ensuring the security of Russian military personnel deployed to Syria, Russian President Vladimir Putin said at a news conference following Russian-Hungarian talks.

“Russia will strengthen its air defences because the Israeli fighter jet shot down our plane, it was a different situation. This time it looks like a string of tragic circumstances.”

Downing of Il-20 aircraft

According to the Russian Defence Ministry, at about 23:00 Moscow time (20:00 GMT) on September 17, contact was lost with a Russian Il-20 aircraft flying over the Mediterranean Sea back to the Russian Hmeimim air base in Syria.

The ministry said the aircraft had disappeared from radar during an airstrike carried out by four Israeli F-16 fighter jets on targets in the Syrian province of Latakia.

On Tuesday morning, the Russian Defence Ministry stated that the Il-20 aircraft had been accidentally downed by Syrian air defences because the Israeli F-16 jets had been using it as cover. According to Defence Ministry Spokesman Major General Igor Konashenkov, Israeli pilots “could not but see the Russian plane, which was approaching the runway from an altitude of five kilometres.” The ministry added that it considered such actions by Israel to be hostile.

Later in the day, Russian Defence Minister Sergei Shoigu held a telephone call with his Israeli counterpart Avigdor Lieberman, stating that Israel was solely to blame for the downing of Russia’s Il-20 aircraft over the Mediterranean Sea. “The Israeli Defence Ministry’s actions are not in the spirit of Russian-Israeli partnership so we reserve the right to take retaliatory steps,” the Russian defence chief stressed.—Tass ■

Israel expresses ‘sorrow’ for Russian deaths, blames Assad and Iran

JERUSALEM (Undefined) — Israel’s military expressed “sorrow” on Tuesday for the deaths of crew members of a Russian military aircraft accidentally downed by Syria during an Israeli strike, but blamed Syrian President Bashar al-Assad and Iran.

“Israel expresses sorrow for the deaths of the aircrew members of the Russian plane that was downed tonight due to Syrian anti-aircraft fire, a military statement said in Israel’s first reaction to the incident. “Israel holds the Assad regime, whose military shot down the Russian plane, fully responsible for this incident. Israel also holds Iran and the Hezbollah terror organisation accountable for this unfortunate incident.”—AFP ■
China sets retaliatory tariffs on $60bn in US goods

BELLING (China) — China on Tuesday announced tariffs on US goods worth $60 billion in retaliation for President Donald Trump’s decision to slap duties on $200 billion in Chinese products next week.

The rate of between five and 10 percent will take effect on some 5,200 US products on Monday, on the same day as the new US duties, the finance ministry said.

The two side already traded tariffs salvos on $50 billion in goods from each country in the summer. “If the United States insists on raising tariffs even more, China will respond accordingly,” the finance ministry said in a statement. China had previously warned that it would target $60 billion in US goods if Trump made good on his threat to impose the new tariffs.

The lower Chinese figure highlights Beijing’s inability to match the US dollar-for-dollar in a tariffs war.

The US imported around $500 billion worth of products from China last year, compared to $130 billion in US imports exported by the Asian country.

Trump threatened to hit another $200 billion in Chinese goods if Beijing took retaliatory action. The Chinese finance ministry did not provide a detailed list of products to be hit by the new tariffs on Monday.

A previous list said products ranging from pig hides to cocoa butter and condoms would be targeted. China had previously said the $60 billion in US goods would face tariffs of five to 25 percent. It was unclear if the tariffs announced on Tuesday were lower to match the US plan.

The US said the Chinese imports will face 10 percent tariffs through the end of the year, and then the rate will jump to 25 percent. —AFP

Eight people rushed to hospital, 24 treated at scene after chemical leak at Sydney hotel

SYDNEY — A chemical leak at a luxury Sydney hotel on Wednesday has seen eight people taken to nearby hospital and 24 others treated at the scene, a New South Wales State Ambulance spokesperson said.

The guests at the Pullman Sydney Hyde Park Hotel were treated for “eye irritation and breathing problems,” the spokesperson told Xinhua.

Despite the initial panic, he confirmed that everyone who was treated is now in a stable condition. Four fire trucks and 16 firefighters responded to the incident on level 20, 21 and 22 of the building at around 9:00 am, local time this morning, after a strong odor was detected. “It happened on the pool level area,” the spokesperson explained. “Someone was doing some kind of work on the pool and apparently there was a mixture of chemicals that did not mix well together.” “Somehow the fumes have escaped and gone through the building.” —AFP

EU targets BMW, Daimler, VW in pollution cartel probe

BRUSSELS (Belgium) — The EU opened an in-depth probe into alleged collusion by major German carmakers over anti-pollution technology on Tuesday, a fresh blow to the scandal-hit industry three years after the notorious “dieselgate.”

Competition Commissioner Margrethe Vestager said BMW, Daimler, and VW are suspected of agreeing “not to compete against each other on the development and roll-out” of anti-pollution systems for petrol and diesel passenger cars.

“If proven, this collusion may have denied consumers the opportunity to buy less polluting cars, despite the technology being available to the manufacturers,” she added.

The probe lands three years to the day after shock revelations in the US that VW installed software in millions of its diesel vehicles around the world to cheat emissions tests.

The latest case does not involve these so-called “defeat devices” but instead focuses on the development of state-of-the-art control systems that reduce smog-causing pollution, such as nitrogen oxides and particulate matter.

The Commission said the probe was working with evidence of meetings and collusion by a group it called the “circle of five”: BMW, Daimler, Volkswagen, in addition to VW units Audi and Porsche.

EU regulators working with the investigation launched a series of raids a year ago in Germany. Daimler and VW are widely reported to be putting themselves forward as whistle-blowers in the case, in order to win leniency with the EU authorities.—AFP

Ben is trying to be sober for his kids’ sake and for their mom: Casey Affleck

LOS ANGELES—Actor Casey Affleck has said his brother Hollywood star Ben Affleck is trying hard to get over his alcohol addiction for the sake of his kids and their mother, ex Jennifer Garner.

“Ben is an addict and an alcoholic. Most of my grandparents are alcoholics. My father is an alcoholic, as bad as you can be, and he’s been sober for about 30 years. I’ve been sober for about six years,” he added.

Casey said it is “hard” for Ben but he is lucky to have resources to treat his addiction.

“Ben is trying to put it together, and it can be a very hard thing to do. He has the kind of resources and time, luckily, to take the time and go to a good facility. —PTI ■

Belgian builds musical bridge across the Bosphorus

BRUSSELS—Belgian musician Tristan Driessens found his inspiration and his calling east of the Bosphorus, becoming one of the West’s few masters of the oud and of Ottoman classical music.

Now he is helping build a musical bridge for others, working with refugees arriving from the east to help preserve and develop their musical culture in European exile. “Sometimes you choose your fate, sometimes fate chooses you,” Driessens told AFP, explaining how he came to embrace his calling.

Seger hangs up guitar after half-century career

NEW YORK (United States)—Heartland rocker Bob Seger said on Tuesday that he was retiring from touring, announcing final dates after a half-century career. The 73-year-old songwriter—best known for his hit “Old Time Rock and Roll,” his 1979 tribute to what then already seemed like a retro musical style—will tour across North America starting in November with a final date on May 2 in Houston.

Seger’s representative said in a statement that the concerts would be his “final tour” but did not elaborate on the reasons. But Seger has repeatedly hinted at retirement and last year underwent surgery for a ruptured disc in his back.

“I hope this pain goes away, ‘cause they can never really guarantee it—and if it doesn’t, then I’m done, dude,” Seger told the music site Louder this year, while emphasizing that he was recovering and his voice was unaffected. —AFP ■
Roscosmos commission on Soyuz MS-09 air leak to end work in November

MOSCOW—A commission of Russia’s state corporation Roscosmos to investigate circumstances under which the Soyuz MS-09 spacecraft was damaged plans to complete its work by the end of November, Roscosmos First Deputy Director General Nikolai Savostyanov told reporters.

“We have outlined the plan of work,” he said, commenting on the commission’s first meeting that took place on Tuesday. “We plan to gather once in two weeks and complete the commission’s work in late November.”

Savostyanov said that an internal check in the Rocket and Space Corporation Energia (RSC Energia) revealed no systemic flaws in the production of the Soyuz spacecraft.

“A check by the company’s internal commission found no systemic problems in the production technology of the Soyuz spacecraft, which could have led to an accidental damage of the Soyuz MS-09 spacecraft,” he said.

Meanwhile, Roscosmos Executive Director for Piloted Programs Sergei Krikalyov said Russian cosmonauts would examine the hole in the Soyuz MS-09 spacecraft during their scheduled spacewalk on 15 November.

“In line with the work schedule of the Russia segment of the ISS (International Space Station), a scheduled spacewalk will take place on 15 November. Among other things, works outside the Soyuz MS-09 spacecraft are planned to examine the hole,” Krikalyov said. He said the cosmonauts will remove the layer of thermal isolation and the anti-meteorite shield to get to the hole.

“The work is expected to take about two hours.

The crew has already been given instructions and started preparations for the operation. A drop in air pressure occurred on the ISS on 30 August. The station’s crew examined the ISS compartments and spacecraft attached to it one by one to spot a two-millimeter hole in the hull of the Soyuz MS-09 spacecraft. It was patched with several layers of epoxy resin.

The air pressure returned to normal. On 31 August the crew added another sealant layer.

Roscosmos chief Dmitry Rogozin earlier said the inquiry would last as long as necessary, but “within reasonable limits.”

Also, he said the incident had turned far more difficult to investigate and all “competent agencies” were taking part in the work.—Tass

Scientists resort to machine learning’s seeing powers on cell structures

WASHINGTON — Scientists at the Allen Institute used machine learning to train computers to see more clear parts of the cell, without the costly fluorescent labels.

The study published on Monday in the journal Nature Methods described the AI technique that used only black and white images generated by inexpensive technique known as brightfield microscope.

It allowed scientists to see larger picture of human cells that have more than 20,000 proteins.

“This technology lets us view a larger set of those structures than was possible before,” said Greg Johnson, scientist at the Allen Institute for Cell Science and the senior author on the study.

“This means that we can explore the organization of the cell in ways that nobody has been able to do, especially in live cells,” said Johnson. Fluorescence microscopy, which uses glowing molecular labels to pinpoint specific parts of cells, is very precise but only allows scientists to see a few structures in the cell at a time.

The prediction tool could also help scientists understand what goes wrong in cells during disease, according to Rick Horwitz, Executive Director of the Seattle-based Allen Institute for Cell Science.

Cancer researchers could potentially apply the technique to archived tumor biopsy samples to better understand how cellular structures change as cancers progress or respond to treatment.

The algorithm could also aid regeneration medicine by uncovering how cells change in real time as scientists attempt to grow organs or other new body structures in the lab. The researchers used an existing machine learning technique, known as a convolutional neural network, to train computers to recognize finer details in the black and white images, such as the mitochondria, cells’ powerhouses.

They tested 12 different cellular structures and the model generated predicted images that matched the fluorescently labeled images for most of those structures, according to the researchers.—Xinhua

Twitter to offer users option to go back to ‘chronological’ feed

WASHINGTON, (United States) — Twitter is preparing an option for users to go back to its original chronological news feed, responding to complaints about its algorithmic system implemented two years ago.

In a series of tweets late Monday, Twitter told users it was “working on new ways to give you more control over your timeline.”

The short-message social network said it still believes most users will want to see the “best” tweets at the top of their feed but will allow people to switch based on their preference. “We’ve learned that when showing the best tweets first, people find Twitter more relevant and useful,” the San Francisco company said.

“However, we’ve heard feedback from people who at times prefer to see the most recent tweets.”

After years of operating with a chronological timeline, Twitter began in 2016 to follow the lead of Facebook in using algorithms to offer what it deemed to be the most relevant messages for users as part of an effort to stimulate growth and engagement. But it acknowledged Monday that some users don’t like this approach.

“Our goal with the timeline is to balance showing you the most recent tweets with the best tweets you’re likely to care about, but we don’t always get this balance right,” the company tweeted. “So, we’re working on providing you with an easily accessible way to switch between a timeline of tweets that are most relevant for you and a timeline of the latest tweets. You’ll see us test this in the coming weeks.”

Twitter and other social networks have faced criticism in recent weeks including from President Donald Trump that they suppress some messages based on political bias. The company has denied the allegations.—AFP
Messi scores hat-trick as Barcelona thrash PSV

BARCELONA—Lionel Messi pictures the Champions League ending with him hoisting the trophy and it began with him scoring a hat-trick on Tuesday as Barcelona put four goals past PSV Eindhoven.

An early kick-off at Camp Nou meant that before most of the tournament’s teams had even named their line-ups, Messi was up and running, his sumptuous free-kick from the edge of the area nestling in the top corner; exactly where it was intended.

Messi would have his second and third before the end, and a record eighth Champions League treble, but the game was up by then thanks to a superb strike from the excellent Ousmane Dembele.

Only when Barca were three ahead was Samuel Umtiti sent off for a second yellow card, meaning he will miss the trip to Wembley to face Tottenham next month. Even with 10 men, Messi completed his set for a 4-0 win.

Dembele’s goal was worthy of deciding any match but this was Messi’s night. After a miserable World Cup trying to retrieve the irretrievable Argentina, Barcelona’s now-captain proved his quality again to any doubters that are left.

Four goals already in La Liga, seven overall, neither age nor Cristiano Ronaldo’s exit from Spain appear to have taken the edge off.

“Normally if you score a hat-trick you frame it,” said Barca coach Ernesto Valverde.

“But he makes the extraordinary routine.”

Even if Messi remains as good as ever, his team will need others to step up. Philippe Coutinho was impressive here and, after a difficult debut campaign, Dembele is finding his rhythm, and his place.

“Just as there is room for players that pass, there must be others that can make things happen,” Valverde said.

The 21-year-old’s driving run earned Messi his free-kick while a sizzling shot brought the goal his bustling display deserved.

Perhaps more importantly, this victory was a clean slate for Barcelona.

It was exactly 23 weeks ago that Roma pulled off one of the greatest comebacks ever seen in this competition and sent the club into a depth of disappointment that, in truth, not even winning the double could alleviate.

Instead, Madrid rubbed salt into the wound by making it look easy and winning their third in a row. “It is a thorn in our side,” Luis Suarez said. “It’s time to win the Champions League,” said Messi. —AFP

Man City have best players to finally conquer Champions League: Arteta

MANCHESTER (United Kingdom)—Manchester City’s tag as favourites to win the Champions League is recognition for having the best players in the world to choose from, according to assistant manager Mikel Arteta.

The Spaniard will take charge of City’s European opener on Wednesday at home to Lyon as Pep Guardiola serves a ban for being sent to the stands during a quarter-final defeat to Liverpool last season.

Arteta admitted he is surprised that Real Madrid haven’t retained their status as favourites after winning three consecutive Champions League titles and with the final to be played in the Spanish capital this season.

However, the former Arsenal midfielder insists there is far more to what City are building in trying to win the European Cup for the first time than simply spending hundreds of millions in assembling one of the strongest squads in the competition.

“For me, we have the best players in the world,” Arteta said.

“They are fantastic, the mix we have between senior players and younger players, the hunger they still have in this group it is incredible.

“People talk about other things because of the money that has been spent, but people have to see what is inside this club and what has been created which is phenomenal.”

City recently celebrated a decade under the ownership of Emirati owner Sheikh Mansour, which has transformed the club fortunes thanks to huge investment on and off the field in facilities. That has reaped rewards domestically with three Premier League wins, but City’s best run in Europe remains a semi-final appearance in 2015/16 before Guardiola took charge.

“That’s the aim (to win the Champions League),” added Arteta. “We have a young squad, they have gained experience and we feel better prepared than in the previous two years.

“We are preparing every single detail and learning from the past because we believe we can do better.”

Arteta was linked with a return to Arsenal as Arsene Wenger’s successor as manager earlier this year. —AFP

Myanmar’s big win was due to the 3 goals scored by its brilliant player Myat Noe Khin.

Both teams displayed good tactics and choice of strategies and demonstrated good communication among the players. There were some goal opportunities in the late minutes of the first half, but neither team could convert them into goals.

Again, Myanmar used speedy and skilful play in the second half.

After a goalless first half, Myanmar opened the scoring through Myat Noe Khin’s 73rd minute goal, before she added two more goals in the 87th and 89th minutes to secure the win.
