Fully equip people with nationalistic fervour through might of pen

Literature is a source of national culture. Being the cultural pillar of each and every citizen, literature highlights the cultural status of the State and the people of a particular nation.

In the course of Myanmar history, men of letters have had the right to inherit the legacy of Myanmar literature. Thus, they are to hand down the national legacy to the new generation. Meanwhile, they need to exert constant efforts for the development of Myanmar literature.

While making all-out efforts for the development of Myanmar literature, the government chooses the masterpieces of literature and holds a ceremony to present handsome prizes to the men of letters yearly.

The authorities concerned announced the winners of the Life-long National Literary Award and the National Literary Award the other day. The awards cover novel genre, collected short stories genre, collected poems genre, belles-lettres genre, literature on Myanmar culture and fine arts genre, child literature genre, youth literature genre, translation (knowledge) genre, translation (aesthetics) genre, general knowledge (arts) genre and general knowledge (applied science) genre.

It is incumbent upon all the men of letters to widen the scope of knowledge of the people so that they can keep pace with changes and developments. At the same time, they are to equip the people with national outlooks and nationalistic fervour through the might of their pen.

Today, efforts are being made for the development of Myanmar literature. At such a time, the onus is on the literati to serve the best interest of the State and the people by producing literature depicting nationalistic spirit and nationalistic fervour.

Iraq: bombs kill more than 30 in Baghdad, Mosul

BAGHDAD, 1 Dec — A series of bombs struck US and Iraqi security forces in Baghdad and the northern city of Mosul on Monday, killing at least 32 people and wounding dozens more, Iraqi officials said.

At least 16 people were killed and 46 wounded in a nearly simultaneous double bombing near a police academy in eastern Baghdad.

In Mosul, a suicide car bomber detonated his explosives as a joint US-Iraqi convoy drove by in a crowded commercial area, a police officer said. The officer also declined to be identified for the same reason.

At least 15 people — most civilians — were killed and 30 wounded in that attack, the officer said. An official at the morgue where the bodies were taken confirmed the death toll.

Earlier Monday, a senior Defense Ministry official was wounded in a roadside bomb attack that killed one of his bodyguards, Iraqi military spokesman Maj. Gen. Qassim al-Moussawi said.

NATO trucks attacked in Pakistan; bomber kills eight

PESHAWAR (Pakistan), 1 Dec — Militants in northwestern Pakistan attacked trucks ferrying supplies to NATO and US forces in Afghanistan on Monday, killing two people and destroying a dozen vehicles, witnesses and police said.

Meanwhile, a suicide bomber detonated his explosives as a joint US-Iraqi convoy drove by in a crowded commercial area, a police officer said.

The attack on the US-led coalition trucks took place at a terminal in Peshawar, which sits along the supply route from Pakistan to Afghanistan. The city has seen an upsurge in violence in recent weeks, including the slaying of an American working on a US-funded aid project. Several gunmen fired rockets and automatic weapons at the Faisal terminal, killing a driver and a clerk and destroying 12 trucks, said police officer Ahsanullah Khan.

Up to 75 percent of the supplies for Western forces in landlocked Afghanistan pass through Pakistan. Earlier this month, suspected Taliban militants hijacked several trucks carrying Humvees near the Khyber Pass.

Al-Qaeda and Taliban militants in the northwestern border region are blamed for rising attacks in Pakistan and also in Afghanistan, where violence is running at its highest level since the US-led invasion in 2001.

Meanwhile, shooting and violence continued in parts of Karachi, the largest city and commercial hub of Pakistan, raising the death toll to 32 in three days of violence.—INTERNET

90,000 civilians killed since US invasion

BAGHDAD, 1 Dec — The number of civilians killed in Iraq rose last month after a series of Baghdad bombings, data showed.

Iraqi government figures showed 296 civilians died violent deaths in November, up from 238 in October.

Last year’s November civilian death toll was 538.

Officials said a series of Baghdad bombings last month aimed at derailing a parliamentary vote on a controversial security deal with Washington, which was approved on Thursday.

Since the invasion a total of 4,207 US soldiers have died in Iraq or in surrounding areas where troops are stationed, including those killed by non-hostile causes such as accidents or illness. At least 90,000 civilians have been killed, according to www.iraqbodycount.net.

India clears last Mumbai siege site

MUMBAI, 1 Dec—Authorities finished removing bodies from the bullet-and-grenade-scarred Taj Mahal hotel Monday, the final site of the Mumbai siege to be cleared, and said the death toll from the attack stood at 172 killed.

Security forces were securing the 565 room hotel for booby traps and bodies, and declared the landmark building cleared two days after they killed the last three militants holed up inside following a deadly, three-day rampage in India’s financial center.

“We were apprehensive about more bodies being found. But this is not likely — all rooms in the Taj have been opened and checked,” said Maharashtra state government spokesman Bhushan Gagrani.

The army had already cleared two other sites, the five-star Oberoi hotel and the headquarters of an ultra-Orthodox Jewish Center.

The only gunman captured after the 60-hour terrorist siege of Mumbai said he belonged to a Pakistani militant group with links to the disputed Himalayan region of Kashmir, a senior police officer said.

Raining season in Colombia kills at least 57 people

BOGOTA, 1 Dec — The second raining season in Colombia this year has left at least 57 people dead and some 67,000 houses destroyed since mid-September, the director of Colombia’s Red Cross said on Sunday.

Carlos Marquez said more than 154,000 families have been affected by floods and landslides, especially along the country’s two longest rivers of Magdalena and Cauca.

The situation on the ground has caused great concern as the raining season is expected to last at least another 15 days, Marquez said, adding the government has maintained alert levels given the swollen rivers and brooks in the country.

Juan Lozano, Colombia’s minister of environment and housing, urged mayors of the affected cities to carry out immediate assessment of possible strikes of flood-related disasters. —Xinhua

Israeli missile wounds three militants in Gaza

GAZA, 1 Dec — Three Palestinian militants were wounded early on Sunday in an Israeli strike in central Gaza Strip, near the border with Israel, sources said.

The sources added that the Israeli artillery shelling followed an explosion as Israeli forces infiltrated for 150 meters into the east of al-Maghazi refugee camp in central Gaza Strip.

The Popular Resistance Committees (PRC), an armed group loyal to Hamas, said the wounded gunmen were from its members and that they set off a bomb, targeting the invading troops, before the Israeli tanks attacked them.

The incidents took place around midnight. Israeli soldiers and Palestinian militants have frequently engaged each other near the border between Gaza and Israel since 4 Nov when Israel launched a sudden incursion into Gaza, rocking a June ceasefire that Egypt brokered in the Hamas-controlled Gaza Strip.

The ceasefire calls on Israel to halt its military operations into Gaza and ease the blockade on the territory in exchange for stopping Palestinian rocket fire that targets Israeli border towns. —Xinhua

Iran says oil market oversupply at two million bpd

TEHRAN, 1 Dec — The global oil market is oversupplied by 2 million barrels per day (bpd), Iran’s oil minister said here Sunday, a day after the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) deferred a decision on a new output cut.

“Market assessments indicate that the market has around 2 million barrels per day of oversupply,” Gholam Hossein Nozari was quoted by Iran’s satellite Press TV as saying.

OPEC announced in Cairo on Saturday that it would maintain the current crude oil output until next month’s meeting in Algeria.

OPEC President Chakib Khelil, who is also Algeria’s energy and mines minister, made the remarks after a consultative ministerial meeting of the group to discuss ways to shore up the oil prices.

The ministers agreed to take any additional action to balance supply and demand and achieve market stability, Khelil said, adding that the oil cartel was concerned about the continued deterioration of the world-economy and its impact on oil demand.

OPEC, which supplies about 40 percent of the global oil output, believed oil demand would be affected significantly amid concerns of world economic recession in the first half of next year.

“The first quarter of next year we are probably going to have a decline in demand,” Khelil said. —Xinhua

Israeli PM condemns Mumbai attack as reminiscent of worst moments

JERUSALEM, 1 Dec — Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Olmert on Sunday harshly condemned the terrorist attacks in India’s Mumbai, saying that it was a “terrible act” that takes Jews back to the worst moments in their history.

At least six Israelis were among the 195 killed, with 295 others injured during the shocking incident after 10 gunmen stormed luxury hotels, hospitals, train stations and the Chabad House, a Jewish prayer and study center in the Indian economical capital for the past three days.

The images from the Chabad House, including pictures of the murdered victims wrapped in prayer shawls, “are shocking and take us back to events that we pray never recur,” local daily Ha’arets quoted Olmert as saying at a cabinet meeting. “The hatred of Jews, the State of Israel and Jewish symbols are still a factor that spurs and encourages such murderous acts,” Olmert said.

Olmert, meanwhile, toned down criticism voiced by some Israeli security experts who blamed some of the casualties on Indian military’s mishandling of the standoff. —Xinhua

IAEA monitors safety of Iran’s Bushehr nuclear power plant

TEHRAN, 1 Dec — The International Atomic Energy Organization (IAEA) representative to Iran Christer Viktorsson said on Sunday that IAEA monitors the safety of Iran’s Bushehr nuclear power plant, in Iran’s southern Bushehr province, the official IRNA news agency reported.

He made the remarks in the First International Seminar on Nuclear Power Plant, Environment and Sustainable Development which was opened in Teheran Sunday morning in the presence of Iranian Parliament (Majlis) Speaker Ali Larijani. Referring to IAEA’s due obligations, he added that “IAEA renders any services to meet safety demands during setting up of new nuclear power plants,” and technical points should be observed by the countries in the construction of the nuclear power plants.

Six killed, three injured in South Africa’s head-on collision

JOHANNESBURG, 1 Dec — Six people died and three others were seriously injured as two vehicles collided on Pretoria road in Kempton Park on Sunday, Ekurhuleni Metro police confirmed.

Local police spokesman Kobeli Mokheseng said a maroon Ford Bonsedan, believed to be transporting staff from East Rand Mall in Boksburg to Tembisa, collided with a Volkswagen Touran station wagon at 1:15 am (23:15 GMT Saturday).

“Six people, including a 10 year-old boy died and three sustained serious injuries. A 45-year old male, whom we assume was the driver of the Volkswagen Touran, was rushed to Arwyp hospital for medical treatment due to serious injuries he suffered,” said Mokheseng.

Two men and a woman between the ages of 38 and 40 also sustained serious injuries and were taken to the Tembisa hospital.

“We are not sure at this stage who the driver of the Ford Ikon is,” he said.

Beijing meets pollution target

BEIJING, 1 Dec — Beijing achieved its annual target of low pollution days one month early due in part to Olympics measures, but repeating the success next year will be a big challenge, state media said Monday.

China’s capital on Sunday experienced its 256th so-called “blue sky day”, when air pollution falls below 100 on the local index, the state-run China Daily reported, quoting the municipal environmental protection bureau.

This was due in part to two months of strict pollution controls for the Beijing Olympics in August, such as restricting vehicle traffic and shutting down factories.

The measures, as well as long-term policies taken since 1998, saw Beijing reduce pollution by over 60 percent during the Olympic and Paralympic Games, the report quoted Du Shaozhong, deputy director of the bureau, as saying.

Du warned that achieving a similar target in 2009 would be “a big challenge” but promised that authorities would continue to fight air pollution, according to the China Daily.

Turkey to send aid boat to Gaza

GAZA, 1 Dec — Turkey will send an aid ship to the Gaza Strip as the Palestinians expect a similar Libyan boat to dock in Gaza harbour, deposed Hamas government said Sunday.

“The Turkish ship will be carrying pro-Palestinian campaigners and medicine,” said a Hamas press release. “The new voyage comes as part of the revolution of ships that try to overcome (Israeli) siege on the Gaza Strip.” The statement did not reveal the time of the Turkish voyage, but it said the Libyan boat which carries 3,000 tons of aid is expected to enter Gaza territorial waters on Monday if Israel did not intercept the journey.

The attempts to break Gaza siege were first succeeded in August when the US-based private Free Gaza Movement ferried international peace and human rights activists to Gaza.

In October and November, another two boats arrived here with international activists and European lawmakers. Israel first threatened to prevent the ships from getting to the Hamas-controlled Gaza Strip but retreated the threats in order not to give the campaigners the publicity they sought if they were denied entry, according to the Israeli Foreign Ministry.
Iraq-Iran war dead are exchanged

BASRA, 1 Dec — For the first time since 2003, Iran and Iraq have exchanged the remains of soldiers killed in the war between the two countries. The bodies of 241 soldiers, most of them Iraqis, were handed over at a border crossing near Basra. It is the first time remains were exchanged since the fall of Saddam Hussein in 2003. It is also the first ever direct contact between Tehran and Baghdad to secure the release of their war dead. Previously they had done this via third parties or diplomatic channels. At the Shalamjah border post coffins draped in the Iranian and Iraqi flags were carried in a solemn procession at the handover ceremony. For the relatives of the fallen soldiers it was an emotional moment. Many women broke down in tears after waiting for more than 20 years to be reunited with the remains of their brothers, fathers and sons. The eight-year Iran-Iraq war claimed the lives of close to a million men.

Libyan ship carrying Gaza supplies turns back

GAZA CITY, 1 Dec — Israeli and Palestinian officials say a Libyan ship carrying 3,000 tons of supplies for the Gaza Strip has turned back before reaching the coast. The change of course ended the highest-profile attempt yet to break the blockade of Hamas-ruled Gaza by Israel and Egypt. A smaller vessel carrying activists has made three successful runs from Cyprus to Gaza this year. It was not clear why the Libyan ship changed course.

Three Mexicans face court in Australia over cocaine swoop

CANBERRA, 1 Dec — Australian police said Monday they have seized a multi-national drug cartel and seized up to 16 million Austrian dollars (10.4 million US dollars) of cocaine and three Mexican nationals being charged. Australian Federal Police (AFP) believed the Mexicans were only part of the operation and hope their arrests would lead to the local arm of a sophisticated drug ring. We believe the cocaine originated in South America and has had to transit through the US into Australia, sojete a degree of planning involved in this attempt," AFP Assistant Commissioner Tim Morris said. “We suspect there’s a local end to this syndicate. Those investigations are continuing, so we’re not going to speculate about who or when action might be taken, other than to say we expect substantially more investigations to happen over the next weeks or months and even more arrests,” the Australian Associated Press quoted Morris as saying in Melbourne.

Eiffel Tower staircase fragment fetches half a million euros

A piece of the original staircase of the Eiffel Tower fetched 553,000 euros (710,000 dollars), 10 times its estimated price, in a Paris auction on Wednesday. The 2.7-metre (nine-foot) high chunk, the third of its kind sold in a year, went to private US buyer after a tense battle between him and another interested party who both placed bids by phone, said Sotheby’s auctioneers. The spiral section was part of the flight leading from the second to the third levels of the tower. It was scaled by Gustav Eiffel himself at the inauguration in 1889, when the lift was not yet in service. Some descendents of Eiffel were present at Wednesday’s auction. “What we are selling is a symbol,” said Cecile Verdier of Sotheby’s Paris. “It’s more than an object, it’s a piece of Paris - of the Eiffel Tower and that’s the stuff of dreams.”

Health Tip: Hide or get rid of excess hair

In women, factors such as hormonal changes, diet, illness, or use of certain medications can trigger the growth of excess or unwanted hair. To remove or minimize its appearance, the US National Library of Medicine offers these suggestions:

* Bleach the hair so that it is less visible.
* Shave, wax, pluck or chemically remove the hair.
* Use electrolysis, a procedure in which an electric current is used to prevent hair from growing. But several treatments may be required.
* Remove hair with laser treatments.
* Lose weight. This can affect hormone levels, and in turn, reduce hair growth.

GPS guides Norwegian tourists into trouble in Rio

Three Norwegian tourists came under fire and one was shot after the satellite navigation system in their car guided them straight into one of Rio de Janeiro’s most dangerous slums.

The three men cut short their vacation in Brazil and headed home Monday after Trygve Killin Guitveit, 24, was shot in the shoulder by suspected drug traffickers from one of the gangs that control hundreds of shantytowns in Rio.

The tourists were returning from the beach resort of Buzios about three hours north of Rio Saturday when they got lost, Brazil’s Globo TV and several newspapers reported.
Thriving prawn farms of Rakhine State

A female tiger prawn lays about 800,000 eggs the first time. After being processed by the Fisheries Department, she lays 600,000 eggs in the second time and 500,000 eggs in the third and last time.

The mother tiger prawn grew up in the sea, so, tiger shrimps can be raised only on a seashore line.

Tiger shrimps are kept in seawater with the PPT rate between 28 and 30 in the dark for 45 days. After the 45-day period, a shrimp has grown as big as a matchstick. They are sold to private prawn breeders at the price of 6 to 6.5 kyats a fry, accounting for over 1 million kyats in the first time, and over 1.5 million kyats in the second and third times. So, by making an investment of 25,000 kyats, a breeder can make a healthy profit of over 2.5 million kyats from a tiger prawn.

However, the process is easier said than done. It is, indeed, a demanding task. The whole business is paused in the rainy season when there is no customer. But, the power generator is kept on operating round the clock. Babies and the mother tiger prawn are not resistant to the light at all.

“We produce 150,000 shrimps once a day. However, if there is no customer, we lose all our investments. In this region, there are many private-owned natural prawn breeding ponds. Baby prawns get into those ponds naturally. So, they do not buy shrimps from us. Last year, an entrepreneur brought shrimps from us to breed, and made a good profit from his farm. We learnt that some entrepreneurs will get shrimps from us this season” said the entrepreneur brought shrimps from us.

In addition to salaries, they get kilo bonus, overtime wages and bonus for non-attendance. U Zaw Aung of ASIA Golden Shrimp Ltd (AGS) told the Myanma Alin Daily, “Our factory has 214 monthly wages and daily wages workers. They get kilo bonus, overtime wages and leave bonus apart from their salaries. So, they get 50,000 to 200,000 kyats a month. And we provide them with 140,000 kyats a day.

2.5 million kyats from a healthy profit of over 1.5 million kyats in the first time, and over 20,000 to 70,000 kyats a viss. Byproducts are processed by the Fisher's Department, she lays 800,000 eggs in the third and last time.

Lobsters that fall asleep after being kept in natural water three times, a day, and wake up when they are touched with natural water are unique to Rakhine State. It is expensive and marketable. So, Rakhine State is expected to play a greater role in the nation’s fish and prawn farming.

Prawn farmers do not guess how many shrimps get into their farm naturally. Mostly, the production goes downward if shrimps do not get into their ponds as many as expected. Kyaukpyu’s private prawn farming is expected to make an economic boom due to the fact that local entrepreneurs have come to realize the benefits of knowing exact number of the shrimps they breed.

Kyaukpyu has two cold storages, two entrepreneurs, 18 purchasing centres, 300 offshore trawlers, 800 deep sea trawlers, 25 sales centres and two processing centres.

NCR 100-ton ice factory and cold storage of Peace Makers Ltd is also situated in Zetiya Village. It has 96 workers, whose monthly salaries range from 20,000 to 70,000 kyats. Byproducts are produced for the workers free.

In addition to salaries, they get kilo bonus, overtime wages and bonus for non-attendance. U Zaw Aung of ASIA Golden Shrimp Ltd (AGS) told the Myanma Alin Daily, “Our factory has 214 monthly wages and daily wages workers. They get kilo bonus, overtime wages and leave bonus apart from their salaries. So, they get 50,000 to 200,000 kyats a month. And we provide them with 140,000 kyats a day.

The two factories ship about 70 tons of prawns to Yangon a month and export via Yangon.

Proprietor of ASM fish and prawn purchasing centre U Aung Hsan Myint said that he got 100 viss of fish and 50 viss of prawn from fishermen daily; that he transported the products to Sanpya Market of Yangon; and that local entrepreneurs were doing well in their businesses due to smooth transport.

He said, “I have made an investment of about 30 million kyats. I transport fish and prawn to Yangon every two days. Trucks are not allowed to drive on Yangon-Sittway Road in the rainy season. So, I send fish and prawn containers by ship to Yangon. It takes me only a day for me if I transport my goods to Yangon through Sittway Road. If so, I can minimize losses and wastage. It takes me four days if I transport by ship, so it costs more with more loss and wastage. I earn more than 500,000 kyats a month.”

We also visited lobster processing factory of U Myint Aung. He explained that he got lobsters at the price of 20,000 kyats a viss; that the weight of a viss represents seven to 10 lobsters; that lobsters were kept in three tanks, a tank a day, and they fell asleep in the last tank; that the lobsters that had fallen asleep were wrapped up in pieces of newspaper and packed; that 200 viss of lobsters were transported to Yangon by air and purchasing centres of Yangon exported them; and that he got lobsters at the prices of 50,000 to 80,000 kyats a viss.

not adequate expertise and capital to tap such natural resources. There need lots of intellectuals and intel- ligentia, resources and capital to establish an indus- trial nation. For human resource development, basic education schools, universities and colleges have been opened throughout the nation for pursuing ba- sic, high and higher education. Likewise, seeking great investments must be based on the agricultural sector, said the Prime Minister.

Agriculture is an investment as well as a legacy Myanmar has inherited from nature. The country is blessed with temperate climate with favorable condi- tions. Agricultural sector contributes most to the national economy in terms of proportion and the volume of agricultural produce in exportation is far greater than any other export items. This is why it is necessary to boost agricultural production year by year for domestic consumption and exports.

Similarly, cultivation of crops such as paddy, beans and pulses, corn and sesame is to be boosted to ensure local self-sufficiency and more exports. For example, rice is a major crop in the country as well as a marketable item in the world market.

The Prime Minister went on to say that in 1988 only more than 11 million acres could be put under paddy and 630 million baskets of paddy produced. In 2002, the cultivation area of paddy was 28.8 million acres of paddy (65.9%) could be grown. Out of 43.7 million acres of cultivable land, only 28.8 million acres of paddy (65.9%) could be grown. Myanmar has more than 40 million tons of rice every year for domestic consumption and exports. In 2002, the export volume of rice was limited due to the cyclone Nargis, more rice was exported as new harvests have taken place.

Agriculture is an investment as well as a legacy Myanmar has inherited from nature.

There is no economic effect on the country as the government is building infrastructures on self-reliance basis.

But the previous year saw over 19 million acres of paddy, and over 1500 million baskets of paddy were produced. However, only about 20000 tons of rice was exported. Up to October this year, over 170,000 tons of rice has been exported. Although the export of rice was limited due to the cyclone Nargis, more rice is to be exported as new harvests have taken place.

Although Myanmar’s rice production has in- creased, it can be found that she has not been capable of producing more rice than the nations that are smaller and have fewer farmlands than Myanmar. Today, Thailand exports seven million tons of quality rice and Vietnam 4.5 million tons. So Myanmar needs greater effort for exporting more rice. Myanmar has enough cultivable land to boost paddy pro- duction. Out of 43.7 million acres of cultivable land, only 28.8 million acres of paddy (65.9%) could be grown.

Myanmar has land as well as water resources. Even the Central Myanmar with scarcity of water has seen clusters of dams, embankments and river water pumping stations, noted the Prime Minister.

It is necessary for Myanmar to have quality high- yield paddy strains and quality fertilizers. In addi- tion, harvesting and winnowing should be carried out systematically and carefully in order not to cause wastage and damage due to the weather. The Minis- try of Agriculture and Irrigation on its part is plan- ning to produce high yield paddy strains and the State is also establishing two more fertilizer plants. At the time of paddy becoming ripe, the system of harvesting, reaping and collecting loss and wastage have to be minimized. Small harvesters and winnowers have been produced for every household of farmers to see to it.

Myanmar is to strive for ensuring local self- sufficiency in rice and export about 3 million tons of rice annually.

It is also necessary to keep boosting export items. Up to October 2008, more and more crops such as rice, corn and sesame could be produced. But export volume of beans and pulses fell by 5.4 percent and that of rubber by 0.7 percent.

He said the export volume of animal product was up by 25.4% compared to the previous year. In marine product group the export volume was down by 6.1%. The export volumes of fish and prawn were down by 1.7% and 4.2% respectively. Similarly, the export volumes of forest products and industrial commodities were down by 0.6% and 15.9% respectively. The export volume of gas was down by 18.2%.

He spoke of the need to review the reason for the fall in export volume.

He said most of the countries are facing difficul- ties due to the financial crisis. It is necessary for the country that exports consumer goods to boost pro- duction because every nation always needs com- modities.

The financial crisis that began in a big western nation spread rapidly in a short time to other countries and caused damages them. European countries and some nations in Asia are feeling the effects of the economic problem.

There are economic difficulties in most of the countries such as decline in their currencies and export items on account of less demand, decline in production, unemployment because of the close-down of some factories, decline in tourism industry and bankruptcy of banks, he said.

Unlike other nations, there are significant situa- tions in the country. Regarding the banks, the Central Bank constantly supervises the State-run banks and private banks in accord with laws and rules and regu- lations and the people can trust in the banks, he said.

The main export markets of the country are neighing countries in Asia and the main export items are foodstuff — rice, beans and pulses and meat and fish. The crisis does not affect the demand and products can be exported as much as it can produce.

Moreover, he said, the country has no contact with west bloc banks, western bloc monetary organi- zations. In monetary sector, there will be no loss as the foreign loans are few compared with other coun- tries.

There is no economic effect on the country as the government is building infrastructures on self- reliance basis with her own technology and own money and the economy is growing.

There is sufficiency of rice, the main food of the country, beans and pulses and meat and fish. There is no need to worry about the food as the country exports its surplus food.

As extended cultivation of the high yield cotton is being carried out with the emergence of more textile mills the nation will be in no way short of clothing in time of emergency. For shelters also, raw materials for sheltering buildings such as timber, bamboo, cement, bricks, sand, marble, etc are in abundance in the nation where there is favorable weather. This being the case, there is no problems for shelters.

All in all, there are many job opportunities in Myanmar as it is rich in natural resources, thereby resulting in satisfying the food, clothing and shel- ter needs of the people. But what is important is that the entire people are to work hard. The government, on its part, is to render all necessary assistance to the people paying serious attention to the national interest.

There are only 46,057 Myanmar workers work- ing abroad legally out of those working abroad legally and illegally. According to the statistics of some countries it is estimated that there may be over 2 million Myanmar workers who are working abroad illegally.

Out of over 2 million workers, the number of workers who would arrive back home will not exceed 500,000 should the nations concerned cut the jobs or close factories and mills.

The agricultural sector alone requires millions of workers. The agricultural sector alone requires millions of workers. Taninthayi Division has already put 249,274 acres under oil palm against the target of 500,000 acres. At present, as there are 17974 workers only, many more workers will be needed so that the division can continue growing oil palm to meet the target as well as to harvest fruits of oil palm and run the crude palm oil factory. It is obvious that employers of the oil palm company are providing employees with all necessary re- quirements including education health, housing and other social matters.

Likewise, as 939700 acres of rubber has been grown millions of workers are required in the rubber industry in order to produce latex and raw rubber materials and to establish new rubber plantations. At present, there are about 200,000 workers.

State aims to build up industrial...

As workers are still in demand in teak plantations, timber extraction, fisheries and salt industry, jobs are ready for Myanmar nationals who will come back home when they are out of work abroad. The impact of global financial crisis on Myanmar is insignificant. More jobs will emerge if the entire national people make concerted efforts in all seriousness, and this will undeniably fulfill the food, clothing and shelter needs of the people. As the nation has been able to make progress on the basis of own strength, own capital and own education and knowledge even though it has been subject to economic sanctions imposed by western nations, it will in no way ignore the interest of the national people.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry of Agriculture and Irrigation are ready to extend help to those who come back home on account of losing their jobs abroad, and they are to contact the ministries concerned.

Next, Minister for Agriculture and Irrigation Maj-Gen Htay Oo made clarifications on cultivation of paddy with the use of high yield strains, fulfillment of fertilizer, implementations of dam and water pumping projects using underground water, extended cultivation of industrial crops, production and exports of value-added industrial crops, reduction of difficulties in investment of peasants and assistance to be provided for the emergence of the correct market of the produce.

Similarly, Minister for National Planning and Economic Development U Soe Tha made clarifications on plans for implementing projects in the sectors of agriculture, industry, energy and forestry and present productivity in the various sectors, world economic crisis and situation of export items.

Later, Minister for Commerce Brig-Gen Tin Naing Thein reported on ways and means sought to guard against the impact on export services due to the global economic crisis, arrangements to be made to extend markets for different export items and requirements for speedy flow of export items to the markets.

Next, Minister for Transport Maj-Gen Thein Swe made clarifications on conditions of domestic flight services, run of vessels and transportation of export items.

Afterwards, Minister for Mines Brig-Gen Ohn Myint explained gem mining, mineral exploration, extension of export items and job opportunities.

Palm oil and entrepreneurs and representatives of various industrial zones presented reports on sector-wise production and export conditions, production and distribution of ethanol, boosting production of farm implements from industrial zones, condition of industrial goods and job opportunities.

In response to the reports, the Prime Minister made arrangements to fulfill the requirements and gave concluding remarks. In his concluding remarks he said the global economic crisis did not impact directly on the country but can do indirectly on it. Moreover, the country may see instability of markets due to the economic crisis. Unlike other countries, Myanmar is blessed with basis needs and thus it is required to place emphasis on boosting production, savings in production costs and minimizing loss and wastage.—MNA

Nine headless bodies found in Mexican border city

TIJUANA, 1 Dec—The bodies of nine decapitated men were found in a vacant lot in Tijuana Sunday, part of a wave of violence that claimed at least 23 lives over the weekend in this border city plagued by warring traffickers, authorities said.

The heads were discovered in plastic bags near the bodies in a poor neighborhood of Tijuana, across from San Diego, Baja California state police said in a statement. Three police identification cards were also found at the site.

The statement gave no motive for the killings, but they came as Mexico’s drug cartels wage a bloody fight for smuggling routes and against government forces, dumping beheaded bodies onto streets, carrying out massacres and even tossing grenades into a crowd of Independence Day revelers—an attack that killed eight people in September.

Iran to stage naval maneuver in December

TEHRAN, 1 Dec—Iran’s Navy Force commander Rear Admiral Habibollah Sayyari said that his country will stage a naval drill in and around the Strait of Hormuz next month, Iran’s satellite Press TV reported Sunday. The drill will be carried out to test Iran’s defensive power and combat readiness, Sayyari was quoted as saying.

Dubbing the forthcoming maneuver as “Unity 87,” he said that “every exercise seeks particular objectives, and the Unity 87 maneuver will focus on designated objectives.”

Earlier last week, Sayyari said that “All the movements of the enemy in Oman Sea, Persian Gulf and Hormuz Strait are under control and the enemy will never dare to enter Iran’s waters.”

The United States and Israel have consistently refused to rule out the possibility of military strikes against Iran over its refusal to halt its nuclear program.

The United States and its allies have accused Iran of trying to develop nuclear weapons under the cover of a civilian nuclear program.

Malaysia probes alleged Malaysian link in Mumbai attacks

KUALA LUMPUR, 1 Dec—Malaysian police were probing if there was any link to Malaysia in the recent terrorist attacks in Mumbai, India, local newspapers reported Monday. The Star reported on Monday.

Malaysian police were ascertaining if Malaysian travel documents were used to facilitate the movements of the terrorists in the Mumbai massacre, the English-language daily said.

Some Foreign reports claimed that the gunmen who killed 180 people in Mumbai attacks were said to have had Malaysian addresses, and Malaysian-issued credit cards were also found there, according to the daily.

Malaysian Home Minister Syed Hamid Albar denied any link to Malaysia in the attacks.

He said that the Malaysian authorities would assist their Indian counterparts to investigate the identities of the gunmen who allegedly had Malaysian addresses.

Syed Hamid said that Malaysian travel documents were much sought after in the international arena and syndicates liked to forge Malaysian travel documents. Malaysian Consul-General to India Wan Zaidi Wan Abdullah has also dismissed the alleged Malaysian involvement in the terrorist attacks, The Star said.

He said the Times of India newspaper could have misreported that some of the terrorists had Malaysian identity cards, adding that only a fake Mauritius identity card was found.

Congo’s war-baby gorillas bring hope for endangered species

A baby mountain gorilla plays near another one and a female adult in a clearing on the slopes of Mount Mikeno in the Virunga National Park on 28 Nov. 2008.—INTERNET

He was above the war-battered plain, a giant silverback gorilla rummaging through a plot of its leaves with green tombstone teeth. Five females nearby suckle their babies. The world can celebrate a small miracle in eastern Congo.

Park director Emmanuel de Merode later described the discovery of five new-borns at the outset of a month-long census as “quite phenomenal”, given that the endangered gorillas’ habitat has long been a war zone.

“They’ve had a growth of about 11 percent in 10 years, less than two percent a year. To get five births in a group of 30 is about 15 percent growth. It’s quite tremendous and very unusual,” he said. The infants are all war-babies, born in the 15-month period since CNDP rebels wrested control of the eastern gorilla-sector of Virunga national park from government forces in September 2007. The rangers they chased away lost all contact with park, home to 200 of the world’s last 700 mountain gorillas.

Nutritionist John Ivy, who has been working with the gorillas for 15 years, described the discovery of five new-borns in the park as a “小小的miracle”.

But the new studies, they say, indicate that human activity may be triggering powerful natural forces that would be nearly impossible to reverse and that could push temperatures up even further.

At the top of the list for virtually all the scientists canvassed was the rapid melting of the Arctic ice cap.

“In the last couple of years, Arctic Sea ice is at all-time low in summer, which has got a lot of people very, very concerned,” commented Robert Watson, Chief Scientific Advisor for Britain’s department for environmental affairs.—INTERNET

Over 135,000 HIV-infected people reported in Vietnam

HANOI, 1 Dec — There has been 135,171 HIV positive people reported in Vietnam nationwide, the local newspaper New Hanoi reported on Monday.

Local health officials warned that Vietnam is facing the risk of disease’s expansion to young population. HIV-accused cases aged from 20 to 39 increased to 89 percent from 15 percent, according to MoH.

People with HIV live in all of the country’s provinces and cities. Ho Chi Minh City has the highest number of HIV/AIDS cases, followed by two northern provinces of Quang Ninh and Hai Phong of Vietnam.

Espanyol sacks coach Marquez

MADRID, 1 Dec — Spanish Primera Liga club Espanyol took the decision to sack their coach Bartolome “Tintin” Marquez late on Sunday night.

The 46-year-old lasted just 13 games as Espanyol first team coach after replacing Ernesto Valverde during the summer. However, despite a positive start to the season, Espanyol had a disappointing campaign to date.

The Barcelona based side won their opening two Primera Liga matches, raising hopes of a push for a place in Europe, but a dreadful run of just one win in the last 11 matches has ended those hopes.

This Sunday saw Espanyol lose 1-0 at home to recently promoted Sporting Gijon in what had widely been reported to be Martin's last chance to save his job.

The Espanyol fans booed their players off the pitch and barely four hours later the club President Daniel Sanchez Llibre announced Marquez's departure.

Barcelona display authority as Real Madrid lose their way

MADRID, 1 Dec — Barcelona stamped their authority on match day 13 of the Primera Liga with a 3-0 away win against Sevilla in the Sanchez Pizjuan Stadium.

A first half goal from Samuel Eto'o opened the scoring before two late strikes from Leo Messi sealed a convincing win in one of the most difficult grounds in Spain. Barcelona's win was made all the more important by the fact that Real Madrid slipped to defeat away to Getafe.

Getafe had proved a week ago that it is a tough team to break down and against Real Madrid they played positive attacking football.

Two goals from Juan Albin put Getafo two goals ahead after 47 minutes, before Javier Saviola a chance of taking something from the match when he pulled a goal back seven minutes later. However, Ikechukwu Uche sealed the points for Getafe six minutes from the final whistle in a game where Getafe also had two clear penalty appeals turned down. — Internet

LONDON, 1 Dec — Wayne Rooney led 10-man Manchester United to a 1-0 victory over Manchester City in the English Premier League on Sunday in a heated 150th derby that saw Cristiano Ronaldo sent off.

The England striker ended a six-week goal drought to ensure fame prevailed over fortune as the European and English champions took on their neighbor for the first time since Abu Dhabi royalty made City the wealthiest club in the world.

Rooney had been determined to show that the Red Devils are the true “Kings of Manchester,” and his 42nd-minute goal — his 100th in club football — proved decisive. City goalkeeper Joe Hart spilled Michael Carrick's shot from a tight angle, and Rooney was able to tap over into an unguarded net.

United clung onto their slender advantage despite facing a far-more assertive City in the second half and playing the last 22 minutes a man down. — Xinhu
Suicide bomber hits German embassy vehicle in Kabul

KABUL, 1 DEC—A suicide bomber hit a German embassy vehicle in Kabul on Sunday, killing three Afghan civilians, said the government, an attack claimed by the Taleban which left six wounded. Violence has escalated this year in Afghanistan, the bloodiest period since Taleban’s ouster in 2001, raising doubts about the prospects for stability despite increasing numbers of foreign troops in the country.

“IT was a suicide attack on the German embassy car,” Ali Shahi Pitiawai, a senior Kabul police official told reporters near the scene.

The bomber was on foot when he attacked the embassy vehicle opposite a high school on the main road leading to the parliamen building in the southwestern part of the city, he said.

Another police officer said the only occupant of the vehicle, its driver, escaped unhurt. — Internet

150 whales die in standing off Australian coast

SYDNEY, 1 Dec—At least 150 whales have died in a mass stranding off Tasmania’s west coast, Australian authorities said on Sunday, despite the efforts of rescuers who managed to shepherd a small number back to the ocean.

The state government said the number of long-finned pilot whales that had perished had climbed to 150 after a body count on Sunday, almost double the earlier estimate of 80.

The stranded whales were discovered on Saturday and members of the local community and government officials worked to rescue them, but the whales had been badly injured by the rocks. Department of Primary Industries and Water spokesman Warwick Brennan was quoted in Australian media said rescuers in a boat managed to steer about 30 whales out of the bay.

Want sustainable fishing?

TORONTO, 1 Dec — Scientists at the University of Toronto analysed Canadian fisheries data to determine the effect of the “keep the large ones” policy that is typical of fisheries. What they found is that the effect of this policy is an unsustainable fishery.

In fact, the opposite policy (keep the small young ones and throw back the large old ones) would result in a more sustainable fishery. In short — a big fish in the water is worth two in the net.—Internet
