Suicide bomb kills four policemen in Afghanistan

KANDAHAR, 14 Dec—A suicide bomb killed at least four policemen on Sunday in the southern Afghan city of Kandahar, local police said.

The escalation of violence in Afghanistan this year, the bloodiest period since the Taliban was ousted in 2001, has raised fears about the prospects of stability in the country despite an increasing number of foreign troops.

A Reuters witness at the scene said the attacker detonated his device in front of the Chinese hospital in the capital of Kandahar Province.

Removed from power in 2001, the Taliban largely rely on suicide and roadside bomb attacks as part of their campaign to topple the Western-backed government and drive out foreign troops under the command of NATO and the US military.—Internet

Arab League denounces suicide attack in Iraq’s Kirkuk

CAIRO, 14 Dec—The Cairo-based Arab league (AL) on Saturday condemned the suicide attack that killed at least 47 and injured some 93 others two day ago in the Iraqi city of Kirkuk.

In a statement issued on Saturday, AL Secretary General Amr Moussa said such attacks hinder the national reconciliation process and stability that “we all hope to be achieved” in Iraq.

The chief of the pan-Arab body called on the Iraqi people to “face up to such bloody attacks and protect their national unity,” said the statement.

On Thursday, a suicide bomber wearing an explosive belt detonated himself in the afternoon at the Abdullah Restaurant in northern suburb of Kirkuk, killing at least 47 and wounding 93 others.

Such violence was not unusual in the ethnically mixed oil-rich city, some 250 km north of Baghdad.

Three Canadian soldiers killed in Afghanistan

TORONTO, 14 Dec—Three Canadian soldiers were killed and one wounded in southern Afghanistan on Saturday when an explosive device detonated near the armored car in which they were riding, military officials said. With the latest casualties, 103 members of the Canadian forces have lost their lives since the country’s military mission in Afghanistan started in 2002. One diplomat has also been killed.

A statement by military officials did not identify the soldiers. They said further details would become available after the families were notified.

Canada has about 2,700 soldiers in the southern city of Kandahar on a combat mission set to end in 2011. Roadside bomb attacks on NATO forces in Afghanistan have risen sharply this autumn, reversing the seasonal decline that usually occurs with the onset of winter, according to Pentagon data released on Thursday.—Internet

Afghan parents keep children home

KABUL, 13 Dec—Fears of worsening security and a recent acid attack on schoolgirls have led many parents in one Afghan Province to keep their children at home.

There has been a significant decline recently in the number of pupils, especially girls, attending school in the central province of Ghazni. The provincial council says 15,000 pupils have stopped going to school so far this year.

Fifty schools have closed because of the security situation. The Taleban denied it was responsible for last month’s acid attack on schoolgirls in Kandahar Province, but parents fear something similar could happen to their daughters. Many of them have stopped sending their children to school.—Internet

Obama’s choice for housing secretary Donovan

WASHINGTON, 14 Dec—Shann Donovan, New York City’s housing commissioner, was chosen by US President-elect Barack Obama on Saturday as his secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Donovan, 42, is expected to bring extensive experience with housing issues to the Obama administration.

Since he became New York City’s housing commissioner in 2004, he has focused on ambitious goals of building more low-income housing in city while navigating the web of interests, including landlords, developers and lenders.

He also has experience in the HUD, where he served as deputy assistant secretary for multifamily housing in the Clinton administration, managing a multibillion-US-dollar housing subsidy program that served 1.7 million people annually.

During this year’s presidential election, Donovan took a leave of absence from his job in New York to campaign Obama.

He also worked as a manager of Federal Housing Administration loans and affordable housing investments at Prudential Mortgage Capital Company.

After serving in the Clinton administration, Donovan was also a visiting scholar at New York University.

Jobs still aplenty for Singaporeans

SINGAPORE, 14 Dec—Singapore’s Finance Minister Tharman Shanmugaratnam said on Saturday that despite the weaker economic outlook, jobs are still aplenty for Singaporeans.

Speaking to the local media at an Indian community event here on Saturday, Shanmugaratnam said that Singaporeans must be confident to fill the vacancies especially with ministries expected to bring forward hiring plans, but there is a need to sustain Singaporeans’ readiness for the changing workplace, according to Channel NewsAsia reports.

“In the retail sector, in the hotel sector, front line jobs, service jobs, quite a lot of jobs are available so Singaporeans need to have the confidence so that they can obtain these jobs. We can provide them some training,” he said.

More job opportunities can be expected with all ministries looking to accelerate their hiring and spending plans, he said, adding that Singaporeans can take advantage of present wide-ranging job opportunities especially in the healthcare and childcare sectors.

After rising for two consecutive quarters, the overall jobless rate in the city state remained at a seasonally adjusted 2.2 percent in September, unchanged from June this year but higher than 1.7 percent in September last year.

North Korea warns nuclear dismantling might slow

BEIJING, 14 Dec—North Korea’s envoy to nuclear talks warned on Saturday that Pyongyang will slow work on dismantling its nuclear programme if energy aid by Washington and others is delayed.

Four days of disarmament talks ended in a stalemate last week after North Korea refused to make written commitments on inspection of its nuclear programme. That blocked progress on an aid-for-disarmament agreement reached last year.

“Let’s watch whether economic and energy compensation projects stop or move forward,” the North Korean envoy, Kim Kye Gwan, said as he prepared to return to Pyongyang. “We’ll adjust the speed of our disablement work if it (energy aid) doesn’t come in.”

South Korea’s foreign minister said on Thursday the North might be trying to extract more aid by resisting verification of the dismantling of its nuclear programme. Pyongyang complained on Wednesday about a delay in energy aid, saying it has slowed progress on an aid-for-disarmament agreement reached last year.

North Korea has agreed to give up nuclear weapons but has resisted Washington’s attempts to put in place strict measures to ensure it is not hiding any active atomic programmes.—Internet

Panic as Ukraine’s currency plummets

KIEV, 14 Dec—The national currency of Ukraine, whose pro-West government wants to join the European Union, has almost halved in value in the last six months, prompting panic amongst its heavily indebted population.

The sudden fall in the hryvnia has sent Ukrainians rushing to exchange booths to change local money for hard currency, in scenes that recalled the hyperinflation suffered by the country in the early 1990s.

Not only do Ukrainian consumers have to pay back loans taken out in more prosperous times but many will also have to pay them back in dollars.

The hryvnia (UAH) was on Friday trading at 7.49 UAH against the dollar compared with 5.05 UAH at the beginning of the year and 4.84 UAH in July.

The National Bank of Ukraine has allowed the hryvnia to trade freely in line with the conditions of a 16.4-billion-dollar (12.8 billion euro) IMF loan aimed at helping the country through the financial crisis.

The hryvnia—a currency introduced in 1996 and named after money used in ancient Kiev—has endured the ignominy of suffering one of the worst devaluations, along with the Icelandic krona, in the global financial crisis.

“I consider myself a cultivated gentleman. But at the moment I’m thinking of taking petrol and a lighter and setting the National Bank of Ukraine on fire,” said Egor Sobolev, a journalist who owes 60,000 dollars for his flat.—Internet

Mexican schools close as children are threatened

CIUDAD JUAREZ, 14 Dec—Fourth-grader Ricardo Ivan Ortega knows he is a target in this violent city. His school closed temporarily last month after an anonymous note demanded teachers hand over their year-end bonuses — or students would be kidnapped.

Ricardo has a plan.

“I will just hide,” the shy 9-year-old said in late November, waiting in the family car while his mother inquired when Luis Urrias Elementary would reopen. “My mom told me not to get near the front gate, and if I need to, to run out of my classroom.”

Across Ciudad Juarez, parents and students are stricken by reports of kidnapping and extortion threats, starting with a sign that appeared on 12 Nov on the front door of another school, the Elena Garro kindergarten, demanding: “Either give us your bonuses, or we will start to kidnap the children.”

Police removed it before the children arrived. Some speculate that cartels now are targeting schools to supplement income with the Mexican government’s crackdown on drug trafficking, much as they’ve already extorted businesses. Others say common criminals are trying to cash in on the fear that pervades border cities, where terrified residents are seeing ever more brutal murders—more than 1,300 so far this year in Ciudad Juarez.—Internet

Zimbabwean President says UK caused cholera

Robert Mugabe

Harare, 14 Dec — The cholera outbreak in Zimbabwe, which has left hundreds dead was caused by the UK, an ally of Zimbabwean President Robert Mugabe has said.

Information Minister Sikhanyiso Ndlovu described the outbreak as a "genocidal onslaught on the people of Zimbabwe by the British".

On Thursday, Mr Mugabe said the spread of cholera had been halted. But aid workers warned that the situation was worsening and the outbreak could last for months.

In his comments to media in Harare, Mr Ndlovu likened the appearance of cholera in Zimbabwe to a "serious biological chemical weapon" used by the British.

He described it as "a calculated, racist, terrorist attack on Zimbabwe".

Mr Mugabe has already accused Western powers of plotting to use biological chemical weapons "to inflict the wounds on himself".

Zimbabwe President named the UK as the supporter of the use of said weapons. Mr Mugabe named the UK as the supporter of the use of said weapons.

Mr Mugabe likened the apocalyptic times Zimbabwe is experiencing to the Second World War.

The report was published earlier this year in the journal Appetite.

Crews fight cold, ice to return power to Northeast

CONCORD, 14 Dec — Temperatures fell over the ice-coated Northeast on Saturday, where storm-related power failures had already plunged more than a million homes and businesses from Pennsylvania to Maine into the dark and cold.

"If you don’t have power, assume that you will not get it restored today, and right now make arrangements to stay someplace warm tonight," Gov John Lynch of hardest-hit New Hampshire warned.

Officials expected more people in shelters on Saturday night with temperatures forecast to dip into the teens. It was the third night without power for many.

Utilities in New Hampshire said it would likely be Thursday or Friday — a week after the storm — before all power is restored in the region, partly because of the sheer number of outages and partly because of the devastation.

"What is facing us is the apparent need to rebuild the entire infrastructure of some sections of the electrical delivery system," said Martin Murray, spokesman for Public Service Company of New Hampshire.

He said pilots confirmed some rebel bunkers were successfully hit but casualty details were not available.

The US psychologist says a low carbohydrate diet can reduce memory skills. Holly A Taylor of Tufts University said dieters who eliminated carbohydrates from their meals performed more poorly on memory-based tasks than when they reduced calories, but maintain carbohydrates, the university said on Wednesday in a release. She said reduced carbohydrate intake reduces the brain’s source of energy.

Since yore, the wonderful lakes have been on Kachin mountain range. The lakes are less known because people hardly get to the lakes located on the over 10,000 feet high mountain ranges naturally.

Madwel Lake and Htawtagaw Lake in Machanbaw Township of Putao District in Kachin State are two of the wonderful lakes in the region.

Madwel Lake located at an altitude of 12,700 feet stores water at the full brim all the year round. The water is so clean and transparent that pebbles and stones under water can be seen.

Madwel Lake is situated amidst the walls of mountains. According to the surveys, the area of the lake is 0.95 square miles. The one who would walk around it would take about two hours. It is because the route around the lake beside the walls of mountains is difficult.

The lake is the habitat of the tadpoles and the strange species of fish. In the absence of those wishing to catch and disturb, some species of fish get bigger and bigger.

Although the fact that all the mountains on Kachin mountain range are capped with mist, snow and ice, the water does not freeze at Madwel Lake. It is a natural drinking water lake for mountaineers, local hunters and those who search herbal plants.

Furthermore, Htawtagaw Lake is naturally located at the area, 1,000 feet higher than the location of Madwel Lake. Htawtagaw Lake is near Htawtagaw snow-capped mountain and it is at an altitude of over 13,500 feet.

In fact, Htawtagaw Lake is one of the largest lakes located on mountains at an altitude of over 10,000 feet in Putao District. The area of the lake is about 2 square miles and the length from south to north is longer than the width. The water in Htawtagaw Lake is cleaner than that of Madwel Lake. Due to inflow of water melted from ice-capped mountains, the cold and clean water is stored at the full brim of the lake.

Htawtagaw Lake is also unfrozen similar to that of Madwel Lake although surrounding areas are covered with ice. The environs of Htawtagaw Lake are the habitat of the flocks of mountain quail, squirrels, gorals and musk deer.

Around the lake and the slopes of mountains are fertile areas for rare species of herbal plants. Therefore, some herbal plant hunters have visited there. However, the area is not frequented by the people because the water there is frozen in eight months out of the 12.

The water flows from both lakes into Madwel Creek at an altitude of 2,000 feet through the slopes and waterfalls between the mountains. After that, the water flows into Maliwam Creek from Madwel Creek. Maliwam Creek empties into Malikha River. Significant and wonderful scenes can be seen at the lakes on the mountains at an altitude of over 10,000 feet on Kachin mountain range.

Iran says has proof US, UK back police killer group

TEHERAN, 14 Dec— Iran has documentos to prove the United States and Britain, the Islamic Republic’s two Western arch foes, back a group that killed 16 abducted Iranian police officers, state radio reported on Saturday.

Shi’ite-dominated Iran said this month the Sunni group Jundollah (God’s Soldiers) had killed 16 police hostages who were abducted from a checkpoint in the southeastern Sistan-Baluchestan Province in June.

Teheran, which often accuses Britain and the United States of trying to destabilise the Islamic Republic, has said Jundollah’s head, Abdol-Imulek Rigi, is part of the Sunni Islamist al-Qaeda network.

“There are documents that show that Britain and America are supporting Rigi’s terrorist group with arms and information,” the radio quoted Ebrahim Raisi, first deputy to Iran’s judiciary chief, as saying.

“The Iranian nation will avenge the blood of the border post soldiers powerfully,” it added, without providing further details on the documents.

Somali gunmen kill local aid worker, kidnap two

MOGADISHU, Dec— Somali gunmen killed a local employee of the International Committee of the Red Cross on Saturday and kidnapped two of his colleagues, witnesses said. Residents said unidentified gunmen opened fire on the aid worker’s car in the Madina district of the capital Mogadishu, which has been the focus of a two-year Islamist insurgency against Somalia’s Western-backed interim government.

“He died on the spot,” witness Rahma Farah told Reuters. “The gunmen loaded his dead body into the boot of his vehicle and then they took off with his two colleagues.”

ICRC officials in the city declined to comment.

Attacks on aid workers are common in Somalia and are normally blamed on the Islamist rebels. But the Islamists say government hard-liners are behind the killings, and accuse them of trying to spur the UN Security Council into sending a peacekeeping mission to support the administration.

Historic Taj hotel to reopen after Mumbai attacks

NEW DELHI, Dec— The 105-year-old Taj Mahal hotel, one of two luxury hotels hit by Islamist militants in the Mumbai attacks, is set to reopen its doors on 21 December, its owner said on Saturday.

Gunmen took scores of guests hostage and battled commandos inside the flagship hotel of Indian conglomerate Tata Group, as the militants killed 179 people on a three-day rampage in the financial hub last month.

“For the first time in 150 years, we are opening the Taj with such speed but with no loss of attention to detail. We are too determined to make up for lost time,” said Raymond Bickson, managing director and chief executive of The Indian Hotels Company, part of Tata.

Heavy fog delays flights in Central China, stranding 2,000 passengers

CHANGSHA, Dec— More than 2,000 passengers were stranded at the airport in Changsha, capital of central China’s Hunan Province, on Saturday due to heavy fog.

According to an unnamed official with the Huanghua International Airport, visibility was between 1,000 and 1,200 metres, lower than the required 1,400 metres for safe flights.

As a result, 21 flights into the airport and 18 outbound flights were delayed starting at 10 am.

One flight from Urumqi of northwestern Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region to Shenzhen of southern Guangdong Province that transferred in Changsha was cancelled.

Flights resumed at 1:22 pm. Special sections were set up for passengers to change or return their tickets.

US lacks intelligence to fight Somalia pirates

MANAMA, Dec— The United States lacks the intelligence needed to pursue the fight against pirates on Somali soil, Defence Secretary Robert Gates said on Saturday.

His comments came days after the US delegation at the United Nations circulated a draft resolution that would give countries the right to pursue pirates on land as well as at sea. Analysts say that pursuing pirates on land is crucial to any military response to attacks that have targeted dozens of ships in the Gulf of Aden and Indian Ocean in recent months.

“With the level of information we have at the moment, we’re not in a position to do that kind of land-based operation,” Gates told a regional security conference in Bahrain. —MNA/Reuters

Russian warships visit Cold War ally Nicaragua

MANAGUA, 14 Dec — Russian officials donated generators and computers to Nicaragua on Saturday during a visit by three Russian warships to the Central American nation that opposition leaders condemned as illegal.

Russia donated about 200,000 US dollars worth of equipment to hospitals, police and the Army during the stop at the southern port of Bluefields, General Julio Aviles, the Nicaraguan Army’s chief of staff, told state radio.

The visit by the anti-submarine destroyer Admiral Chabanenko and two support vessels was the first since the 1990 fall of Daniel Ortega’s Marxist Sandinista government, which allied itself with the Soviet Union during the Cold War.

One dead as storms hit Dorset

LONDON, 14 Dec — One motorist died as high winds, torrential rain and flash floods lashed southwest England on Saturday as nearly 100 flood warnings were imposed across the region.

A 22-year-old woman died in the county of Dorset when her car crashed off the road in heavy rain. It is thought her car may have aquaplaned.

Some roads in the counties of Devon and Somerset were submerged under 46 centimetres (18 inches) of water. Thirty people were rescued from their vehicles and homes.

A reduced train service was operating between London and the southwest, with some services between the capital and the region’s main cities suspended. The Environment Agency authority has 247 flood warnings in place, with 99 in the southwest, 46 in the English Midlands and 30 in Wales.

Nearly frozen sea turtle heading to rehab

Boston, 14 Dec — His name is Herb, and he was very, very cold when he was found on a Cape Cod beach.

The 75-pound loggerhead sea turtle was discovered by volunteers from the Massachusetts Audubon Sanctuary at Wellfleet Bay and was taken to the New England Aquarium in Boston for a slow but steady warmup.

The aquarium said Herb’s body temperature was in the 40s when he was found on the beach in Truro on 3 Dec. Veterinarians and rescue biologists slowly warmed him about five degrees each day, and his body temperature is now in the low 70s.

Now Herb is ready to be moved to the Riverhead Foundation on New York’s Long Island, which rehabilitates and releases seals, whales, dolphins, and sea turtles.

Beijing, 14 Dec — Two Chinese auto plants run by German automaker Volkswagen AG through joint ventures are planning to partly suspend production lines to conduct maintenance work, state television reported on Sunday.

China’s CCTV said in its midday bulletin that FAW-Volkswagen Automotive Co plans to suspend part of its production at a plant in Changchun, the capital of Jilin province in northeastern China, at the end of the year to carry out maintenance.

New study firmly ties hormone use to breast cancer

San Antonio, 14 Dec — Taking menopause hormones for five years doubles the risk for breast cancer, according to a new analysis of a big federal study that reveals the most dramatic evidence yet of the dangers of these still-popular pills.

Even women who took estrogen and progesterin pills for as little as a couple of years had a greater chance of getting cancer. And when they stopped taking them, their odds quickly improved, returning to a normal risk level roughly two years after quitting.

Collectively, these new findings are likely to end any doubt that the risks outweigh the benefits for most women.

It is clear that breast cancer rates plunged in recent years mainly because millions of women quit hormone therapy and fewer newly menopausal women started on it, said the study’s leader, Dr Rowan Chlebowski of Harbor-UCLA Medical Centre in Los Angeles.

Police search for Irish tourist in Tiber river

Rome, 14 Dec — Police divers in Rome searched the swollen Tiber river on Saturday for an Irish tourist who fell in while watching the waters rise from days of heavy rains that have thrashed much of Italy.

The storms stopped for a few hours on Saturday but started again in the afternoon, and more rain was expected on Sunday. Nevertheless, civil protection officials said the threat that the Tiber might burst its banks appeared to have receded.

The storms have claimed at least four lives and prompted the capital to declare a state of emergency. Mayor Gianni Alemanno said on Saturday that the situation appeared under control, but he said the city had to be prepared for Sunday’s expected storms.

On Saturday, Romans and tourists alike lined up along bridges to watch police divers and other rescue workers search the rising currents for the Irish tourist identified by Carabinieri police as Vincent Thomas Wall, 27.

Police said he fell in overnight while watching the muddy river rise.
Mexico’s Pachuca learn lesson in Club World Cup
Tokyo, 14 Dec—Pachuca’s painful defeat in last year’s Club World Cup inspired the Mexican team to secure a semi-final place against South American champions Liga de Quito in this year’s tournament.
Pachuca’s Club World Cup debut last year saw them dominate possession but squander chances to lose 1-0 to Tunisia’s El-Etoile Sahel in the quarter final.
This time, the Mexican team stormed back from two goals down to beat six-time African champions Al Ahly of Egypt 4-2 on Saturday. “Last year, I wept, because we had thought we were destined to win that game. We were thinking about our next game,” said Pachuca goalkeeper and skipper Miguel Calero. “It’s natural that I wept after beating Al Ahly.”—INTERNET

Hewitt training six hours a day to crack tennis top 10
Sydney, 14 Dec—Australia’s former world number one Lleyton Hewitt is training six hours a day as he bids to recover from hip surgery and make a surprise return to the top 10, according to reports.
The Wimbledon and US Open champion has slumped to 67 in the ATP rankings after an injury-ravaged year and faces a make-or-break 2009 season, starting with next month’s Australian Open in Melbourne. The 27-year-old had surgery for a long-standing hip complaint in August after being knocked out of the Beijing Olympics by Rafael Nadal in straight sets.—INTERNET

Ferguson rues United’s setback at Spurs
London, 14 Dec—Sir Alex Ferguson admitted Manchester United had wasted a golden opportunity to reinvigorate their English Premier League title challenge after they were held to a goalless draw by Tottenham Hotspur.
United could have moved to within four points of leaders Liverpool following their surprise draw at home to Hull City, but Ferguson’s team suffered their own frustrations here on Saturday.
This stalemate means United remain six points adrift of top spot, but that gap could stretch if Chelsea defeat West Ham on Sunday and will almost certainly be significantly extended by the time the English and European champions return from the Club World Cup in Japan.
United fly to Japan on Sunday and so will miss next weekend’s round of Premier League matches as they attempt to become the first British side to win the FIFA tournament in its revised format.—INTERNET

Wenger issues rallying cry after Boro draw
Middlesbrough, 14 Dec—Throughout his career as renowned nurturer of emerging talent, the Arsenal manager, Arsene Wenger, has readily switched emphasis from football coach to father figure in a bid to get the best out of natural talents with fragile personalities.

That ability to marry lessons in life with teaching the beautiful game has brought the best out of three generations of the North London club’s brightest stars and now, more than ever, a team in transition requires comforting words as much as carefully chosen tactics.
Arsenal’s youngsters appeared crestfallen as they trooped away from Teeside on Saturday having surrendered a lead in a 1-1 draw with Middlesbrough and failed to make up meaningful ground in the Premier League’s top three.—INTERNET

Sorenstam shoots 75, drops to 6th place in Dubai
Dubai, 14 Dec—Annika Sorenstam shot a 3-over 75 on Saturday, hurting her chances of ending a stellar career by winning the Dubai Ladies Masters for a third straight time.
Sorenstam held a one-shot lead going into the third round but had four bogeys and one birdie to fall four shots behind leader Anja Monke of Germany. Monke shot 68 for a 9-under 207 total, two shots ahead of Helen Tinning of Denmark (70) and Veronica Zorzzi of Italy (71).
Sorenstam, a winner of 72 LPGA titles and 10 major championships, plans to retire after this tournament.
“I am not giving up,” Sorenstam said. “I just walked off the course disappointed, but I will be ready for tomorrow. I really don’t know what emotions I will have tomorrow. It’s nothing that I have practiced before.”—INTERNET
Couple guilty of killing 5-year-old girl

Winnipeg (Manitoba), 14 Dec—A Canadian woman and her boyfriend were convicted on Friday of subjecting her daughter to years of abuse that finally killed her when she was 5.

Samantha Kematch and Karl McKay face life sentences with no parole for 25 years, the Winnipeg Free Press reported.

The jury rejected a manslaughter verdict, instead finding the defendants guilty of the murder of Star Phoenix.

“I’m sad for Phoenix, but happy they’re getting justice,” McKay’s sister, Hilda, said after the verdict. “Justice is never going to be done for this little girl. Too much happened to her.

It shouldn’t have happened to her, we all know that. It shouldn’t happen to any little child.”

Star died in 2005. Investigators found her body in 2006 at the Fisher River First Nation 160 miles north of Winnipeg after McKay’s two sons by a previous relationship went to police.

One son, now 18, testified for the prosecution. He described trying to smuggle food to Star.

Zoledronic acid may shrink breast tumors

SAN ANTONIO, 13 Dec—Zoledronic acid may shrink breast tumors when used in addition to chemotherapy, scientists meeting in San Antonio said.

“Zoledronic acid is primarily targeted to bone and metastasis within the bone marrow microenvironment, but it may also be enhancing the response in the primary breast tumor,” Dr Robert Coleman, professor of medical oncology at the University of Sheffield in Britain, said in a statement.

Coleman presented the findings at the CTRC-AACR San Antonio Breast Cancer Symposium.

He is the lead researcher in the Adjuvant Zoledronic Acid to Reduce Recurrence trial that includes 3,360 women with stage II/III breast cancer to determine whether treatment with zoledronic acid in addition to adjuvant or neoadjuvant chemotherapy would improve disease outcomes.

Zoledronic acid, marketed as Zometa, is currently approved for the treatment of bone metastasis and osteoporosis.

Ecological impact of African cities

Nairobi, 14 Dec — African cities are growing faster than anywhere else in the world. This is having a major impact, but few ecologists are studying the urban environment and effect of cities on rural areas. One of the most important ecological changes in Africa’s history is being over-looked.

Joy Clancy from the University of Twente has reviewed the problem in the current issue of the African Journal of Ecology. She says, “A hundred years ago 95% of the African population was rural, today 38% live in cities with about half the population expected to be urban by 2010.” This rapid growth is resulting in huge changes in natural resource use, but the effects are highly controversial.

Van Bommel offered new deal

Munich, 14 Dec — Bayern Munich have made captain Mark van Bommel an offer to extend his contract beyond the end of the season.

The Dutch midfielder is out of contract in the summer and has been strongly linked with a move away after Bayern recently held talks with Zenit St Petersburg midfielder Anatoli Tymaschuk.

But Bayern have now offered the new 31-year-old a new deal, although details of the contract have not been disclosed.

In a statement on their official website, the club added they are hoping Van Bommel will have made a decision on his future by the end of the winter break.
