Afghan President condemns US forces killed 16 civilians

HERAT, 26 Jan—Police in remote northwestern Afghanistan killed 13 Taleban fighters in a clash triggered by the killings of five civilians by the militiants, police said on Sunday.

The militiants first shot dead a tribal elder and his wife in their home in Badghis Province on Saturday because the man did not agree to collect food and money for them, a senior police official said.

Biden says American deaths in Afghanistan are likely to increase

WASHINGTON, 26 Jan—President Hamid Karzai condemned a US operation he said killed 16 Afghan civilians, while hundreds of villagers denounced the American military during an angry demonstration on Sunday.

Karzai said the killing of innocent Afghans during US military operations “is strengthening the terrorists.” He also announced that his Ministry of Defence sent Washington a draft technical agreement that seeks to give Afghanistan more oversight over US military operations. The same letter has also been sent to NATO headquarters.

Karzai in recent weeks has increasingly lashed out at his Western backers over the issue of civilian casualties, even as US politicians and a top NATO official have publicly criticized Karzai for the slow pace of progress here.

The back-and-forth comes as the new administration of President Barack Obama must decide whether to support Karzai as he seeks re-election later this year as part of the United States’ overall Afghan strategy. Karzai’s latest criticism follows a Saturday raid in Laghman Province that the US says killed 15 armed militants, including a woman with an RPG, but that Afghan officials say killed civilians.

Five civilians, 13 Taleban killed in Afghanistan

HERAT, 26 Jan—Police in remote northwestern Afghanistan killed 13 Taleban fighters in a clash triggered by the killings of five civilians by the militants, police said on Sunday.

The militiants first shot dead a tribal elder and his wife in their home in Badghis Province on Saturday because the man did not agree to collect food and money for them, provincial police chief Mohamed Ayob Niazyar said. Three more local men were killed and five wounded when residents attacked the rebels, Niazyar told AFP. Police later arrived at the scene and another battle ensued.

“Thirteen of the Taleban have been killed and seven of them were injured in a clash when police arrived at the area,” he said.

The fighting took place in Muqur district, which is on the border with Turkmenistan.

Military officials say Badghis Province is home to a key smuggling route for drugs and other goods, which contributes to the number of attacks in the area. The extremist Taleban were in government between 1996 and 2001, when they were ousted for sheltering Al-Qaeda, and are now waging an insurgency to regain power.

WASHINGTON, 26 Jan—President Hugo Chavez on Sunday welcomed a US offer to improve diplomatic relations across the world — but said the United States needs to make the first move.

In a column published in 28 Venezuelan newspapers, Chavez said that his and other nations will reach toward the US “full of fraternity,” as long as President Barack Obama avoids being trapped by old antagonisms.

In his inaugural address, Obama directed a line toward “those who cling to power through corruption and deceit and the silencing of dissent.”

Without mentioning specific names, Obama said that the US “will extend a hand if you are willing to unclench your fist.”

US business climate worst in 27 years

WASHINGTON, 26 Jan—US firms are experiencing the worst business conditions in 27 years as the year-long recession worsens, a survey showed on Monday.

The National Association of Business Economists’ (NABE) quarterly industry poll found that the economic slump worsened in the fourth quarter and the majority of respondents expected gross domestic product to contract at a faster pace in 2009.

The US economy tipped into recession in December 2007 and there are worries the downturn, triggered by the domestic housing market crash, could be the worst since World War Two. “The NABE’s industry survey depicts the worst business conditions since the survey began in 1982, confirming the US recession deepened in the fourth quarter of 2008,” said spokeswoman Sara Johnson.
Chinese Lunar New Year triggers shopping spree in Beijing

BEIJING, 26 Jan—The worldwide financial crisis has yet to dampen the shopping enthusiasm of people in Beijing, with 1,904 outlets recording a total turnover of 639 million yuan (about 85.2 million US dollars) on Sunday, the eve of the Spring Festival.

The sales volume is up 13.4 percent from the same period last year, according to sources with the Beijing commerce information center, which monitored the sales of the 1,904 stores. The Caishikou department store topped the list with a 30 million-yuan turnover, a growth of 74.7 percent from the same day last year.

Beijing's restaurants also had a brisk business as Spring Festival is a time for family reunion. Many of them have been fully booked days before the festival.

92% Cambodians with HIV/AIDS receive treatment

PHnom PenH, 26 Jan—More than 92 percent of the Cambodians living with HIV/AIDS have been provided with antiretroviral (ARV) treatment in 2008, a 7 percent rise over 2007, national media said on Monday.

With this, Cambodia is coming closer to its objective of making ARV drugs available to nearly all who need them by 2010, Mean Chhi Vun, director of the National Center for HIV/AIDS, Dermatology and STDs, was quoted by English-Khmer newspaper the Cambodia Daily as saying.

“We now cover 92 percent. Our target is 97 percent in 2010. The universal access target is about 85 percent, but for Cambodia, we want to provide anti-retroviral treatment for all,” he said.—Xinhua

China to step up solar energy research, development

BEIJING, 26 Jan—The Chinese Academy of Sciences (CAS) has launched an initiative to boost the development of solar energy technology, in a bid to turn it into a major energy source in China by 2050.

CAS experts said that the academy had organized academicians and scientists to make an action plan and will set up a platform to support scientific innovations involving solar energy.

The plan will be carried out in three phases, including “distributed utilization” by 2015, “alternative utilization” by 2025 and “large-scale utilization” by 2035, respectively.

This action plan aims to form value chain on technological innovation, including basic studies, application studies and market research.

CAS experts said that China has a big potential for solar energy development. The duration of sunshine for two-thirds of its territory is more than 2,200 hours a year. It also has vast desert areas, where solar energy could be “harvested.”—Xinhua

Obama faces Republican rancour as economy reels

WASHINGTON, 26 Jan—President Barack Obama entered his first full week in office Monday battling to win over Republicans hostile to his signature plan to haul the US economy out of a paralyzing recession.

Obama’s 825-billion-dollar stimulus bill, which is set for debate in Congress this week, has become a litmus test of the new Democratic president’s pledge to drain Washington of partisan rancour.

Before heading to Capitol Hill to lobby for the bill in person Tuesday, Obama was Monday hoping to add a crucial name to his cabinet with the Senate expected to confirm his pick for Treasury secretary, Timothy Geithner.

Praising the former head of the New York Federal Reserve, Vice President Joseph Biden said on CBS programme “Face the Nation” Sunday: “I think he’ll get a strong bipartisan vote in the Senate.”

Despite criticism of Geithner’s failure to pay some US payroll taxes earlier this decade, the Senate’s finance committee voted last week for his nomination, and the new Treasury boss will immediately have his work cut out.

In his first presidential radio address Saturday, Obama raised the specter of double-digit unemployment, a massive erosion of family incomes and an entire generation losing its potential if Congress does not act on the stimulus bill.—INTERNET

Iran tests air-to-air missile
Tehran, 26 Jan—Iran’s state television says the country has successfully test-fired a heat-seeking air-to-air missile.

The Sunday report quotes air force chief Gen Hasan Shahsafi as saying the missile has a range of 62 miles, or 100 kilometres. The report did not elaborate. Iran periodically announces missile tests to demonstrate the self-sufficiency of its defence industries.

Iran launched an arms development program during its 1980-88 war with Iraq to compensate for a US weapons embargo.

Iraq to pay 300 mlion dollars to airline over Kuwait invasion
BAGHDAD, 26 Jan—Iraq and its national airline will pay 300 million dollars in compensation to Kuwait Airways for Saddam Hussein’s invasion of the emirate almost 20 years ago, a government spokesman said on Sunday.

The payment is a final settlement that would end a row that has simmered since the seven-month occupation by Saddam’s forces was ended by a US-led coalition in 1991.

“The Council of Ministers decided on Sunday to pay 300 million dollars to Kuwait Airways and the two parties agreed to put an end to the legal process,” government spokesman Ali al-Dabbagh said. The precise terms of the deal were agreed after discussions between the Emir of Kuwait and Iraqi President Jalal Talabani at an economic summit of Arab states in the past week.

Kuwait Airways demanded 1.2 billion dollars in reparations from Iraq Airways for planes and equipment stolen during Saddam’s 1990 invasion of the emirate.

The company used a Montreal court in August 2008 to stop 10 Bombardier CRJ900 aircraft ordered by Iraqi Airways from the Canadian company from being transferred, a decision that eventually prompted the settlement.—INTERNET

World’s highest drug levels entering India stream

PATANJALI, 26 Jan—When researchers analyzed vials of treated wastewater taken from a plant where about 90 Indian drug factories dump their residues, they were shocked. Enough of a single, powerful antibiotic was being spewed into one stream each day to treat every person in a city of 90,000. And it wasn’t just ciprofloxacin being detected. The supposedly cleaned water was a floating medicine — a soup of 21 different active pharmaceutical ingredients, used in generics for treatment of hypertension, heart disease, chronic liver ailments, depression, gonorrhea, ulcers and other ailments. Half of the drugs measured at the highest levels of pharmaceuticals ever detected in the environment, researchers say.

Those Indian factories produce drugs for much of the world, including many Americans.—Internet

New Zealanders see Asia more important than any other region

WELLINGTON, 26 Jan—Increasing number of New Zealanders believe that Asia is a region that is becoming more significant to their country than any other region, according to a recent New Zealand Foundation survey.

The 2008 Perceptions of Asia report, released on Monday, showed that 75 percent of New Zealanders see the Asia region as “important” to New Zealand’s future, up from 71 percent in 2007.

The Asia region is rated as “more important” than Europe (67 percent rated this region as “important”), and North America (55 percent rated this region as “important”).

Only the South Pacific region (including Australia) is rated as “more important” to New Zealand’s future than Asia (86 percent of New Zealanders rate the South Pacific region as “important” to New Zealand’s future). Respondents were also asked to think about New Zealand in the next 10 to 20 years, and to indicate how much a positive or negative impact various factors will have on New Zealand.

Economic forecasters see more job cuts ahead

WASHINGTON, 26 Jan—It’s shaping up to be another lousy year for workers, with more companies expecting to cut payrolls in the months ahead.

That’s part of the latest outlook from forecasters in a survey to be released on Monday by the National Association for Business Economics that depicts the worst business conditions in the US since the report’s inception in 1982.

Thirty-nine percent predicted job reductions through attrition or “significant” layoffs over the next six months, up from 32 percent in the previous survey in October. Around 45 percent in the current survey anticipated no change in hiring plans, while roughly 17 percent thought hiring would increase.

The recession, which started in December 2007, and is expected to stretch into this year, has been a job killer. The economy lost 2.6 million jobs last year, the most since 1945. The unemployment rate jumped to 7.2 percent in December, the highest in 16 years, and is expected to keep climbing.

“Job losses accelerated in the fourth quarter, and the employment outlook for the next six months has weakened further,” said Sara Johnson, NABE’s lead analyst on the survey and an economist at IHS Global Insight.

Diamond ring lost in shoe, reunited with owner

A diamond ring that a South Florida department store sales associate found inside a shoe has been returned to its owner. Susan Ray said she thinks she lost her great-grandmother’s engagement ring while she was looking at shoes at a Loehmann’s store. A sales associate, Maria del Carmen Servin, found the piece of jewelry in a Cole Haan pump.

Servin gave the ring to loss-prevention employees, and Ray soon contacted the store.

Ray, a retired tax attorney, said the experience “made me really rethink how I think about people.”

For turning in the ring, Servin will be featured in a company newsletter and get a Loehmann’s gift card.

Man swaps empty lobster shell for crab legs

After he finished his lobster dinner, an upstate New York man apparently was still hungry for seafood so he swapped the lobster shell for crab legs — and now he faces a petit larceny charge.

Montgomery County Sheriff’s deputies said a 57-year-old man brought back a reassembled lobster shell to his local Price Chopper store and claimed the crustacean was spoiled.

The store manager was about to let him trade the lobster for a $27 bag of king crab legs when he discovered the lobster was just a shell. Deputies said the man ran from the store clutching the crab legs when he was confronted.

Bago mountain range in Hlegu Township greening with teak and other plantations

Article & Photos: Khin Maung Than (Sethmu)

From 2004-2005 to 2008-2009 financial years, the Forest Department under the Ministry of Forestry has been undertaking the greening of Bago Mountain range, the establishment of teak and other tree plantations, the development of natural forests, the setting up of plantations in watershed areas and the conservation of natural strains of forests in divisions, districts and townships. Under the arrangement of Assistant Director U Than Oo of Yangon North District Forest Department, I left for Hlegu Township Forest Department to observe the establishment of forests in Taikkyi and Hlegu townships. I met with Staff Officer U Soe Tint in Hlegu Township Forest Department. Afterwards, I, together with the Staff Officer, Senior Forester U Maung Maung Aye, Foresters U Myint Hlaing and U Han Win, Forest Rangers U Than Hlaing and U Sao Khin Win, went to Phaunggyi Forest Region Office and arrived at Ngamoeyeik Dam. Next, we proceeded to Mahuya Forest Reserve from Ngamoeyeik Dam, 18 miles from Hlegu, by boat of the department along Mahuya Creek.

At the block 55 of Mahuya Forest Reserve, we saw greening and thriving 400 acres of teak special plantation. Staff Officer U Soe Tint explained that although teak plantations are being grown, the soil is unfavourable for teak plantations, and therefore the workers were urged to nurture the forest plantations.

We visited No. 49 Block of Mahuya Forest Reserve and No. 80 Block of Paunglin Forest Reserve. We witnessed thriving 500 acres of teak plantation in Paunglin Forest Reserve established in 2005-06. Moreover, we saw a total of 625 acres of commercial teak plantation set up in 2006-07 and 625 acres of teak plantation established in 2007-08. A total of 750 acres of teak plantations planted in 2008-09 are thriving at No. 100 block.

From 2004-05 to date, 3,005 acres of teak plantations in total have been grown in Mahuya and Paunglin forest reserves.

Furthermore, oil Eugenia, Thitseint (Belleric myrobalan), ironwood tree, gum-kno and other trees have been planted on 1,850 acres of land at block Nos. 56, 57, 58 and 59 of Mahuya Forest Reserve.

In Hlegu Township, the Forest Department set a plan on growing of three value-added plantations at Paunglin forest reserves. A total of 2,000 acres of value-added plantations were established at Mahuya Forest Reserve from 2002 to 2004 and 7,000 acres of similar plantations at Paunglin Forest Reserve from 2005 to 2009.

The natural plant propagation was carried out at 1,000 acres of land at Paunglin Forest Reserve in 2005-06, 1,000 acres in 2006-07 and 500 acres in 2007-08. Ngamoeyeik Dam was built 100 yards downstream of the confluence of Mahuya and Ngamoeyeik creeks. Ngamoeyeik, Mahuya, Paunglin, Wanetchaung and Chaungma creeks flow into the dam. A total of 180,000 acre feet of water can be seen at 11,000 acre feet wetland area of Ngamoeyeik Dam.

Dry docks helping improve fishing of Taninthayi Division

A trawler is docked for repairs.

Offshore and deep-sea fishing is the main business of Taninthayi Division. So, ship repairing and shipbuilding have become important part of the region’s fishing.

Inviting participation in terms of technical know-how and investment, national entrepreneurs have come to engage in ship repairing and building, thus saving foreign exchange on the business.

On the recent tour of Taninthayi Division to get facts about regional development for articles, we dropped in Kawthoung. Under the arrangements of Chairman U Aung Tun Thein of Township Peace and Development Council, we visited the dry dock of Thida Fishery Co on the seaport in Shwepyitha, Kawthoung.

We found that many company-owned trawlers, cargo ships and sea-going ships were in dock for major repairs in the dockyard. U Min Aung, dockyard in-charge as well as a nephew of proprietor U Tin Myint of Thida Fishery Co told the Myanma Alin Daily, “We established this dockyard in 2000 for the convenience of the ships of our country that had to undergo repairs in Thailand in the past. But, now many local workers no longer need to work in the neighbouring country, and they can work here. Moreover, we can save foreign exchange on shipbuilding and repairing.”

We learnt that U Tin Myint is one of the national entrepreneurs who provide funds most for social and economic affairs of local people.

Kawthoung has about 1500 offshore and deep-sea trawlers, and U Tin Myint’s dockyard is the busiest one in the region. The dockyard can withstand 200 tons of loads, and can repair 24 vessels at the same time. So far, it has repaired nearly 1000 trawlers, cargo ships and large motorboats.

We also visited another dry dock in Pahtet Port, Kyunsu Township, on the other bank of Myeik. It can withstand 200 tons of loads, and can repair and build about 200 ships a year. U Than Sin, the dockyard in-charge, said that they built the dockyard in 2005; and that previously, trawlers of Myeik got repaired in the port of Thailand.

We witnessed that several trawlers were being built in the wet dock in Pahtet Port. Wet docks do not work as much as dry docks. Lower iron parts of ships become rusty after months in the seawater, and sea mollusks destroy ships’ wooden parts under seawater. So, a ship should be under repair once every six months.

Yangon has several dockyards. However, the trawlers of Taninthayi Division are mostly in dock for repairs in Myeik and Kawthoung.

Repairs of deep-sea trawlers and vessels of Taninthayi Division in a short time, the docks along Taninthayi coast is part of the drive for improvement of fishing of the region.

India celebrates the Republic Day

NEW DELHI, 26 Jan—India’s 60th Republic Day celebrations began here Monday morning with Defense Minister A.K. Antony paying homage to the heroes at the India Gate war memorial.

Antony was standing in for Prime Minister Manmohan Singh, who is recuperating from heart surgery. This is the first time that a prime minister has been forced to skip a Republic Day parade, according to the Indo-Asian News Service.

India’s President Pratibha Patil saluted the marching contingents, accompanied by visiting Kazakhstan President Nursultan Nazarbayev, the chief guest on the occasion.

Patil conferred 11 posthumous Ashok Chakras, the nation’s highest gallantry award in peacetime, on security personnel who died fighting terrorists in India controlled Kashmir district, Mumbai and New Delhi.

The parade began with a contingent of the 61st Cavalry. Overhead, four Mi-17 helicopters of the Indian Air Force in a formation, showered rose petals on the hundreds of spectators.

Following them were contingents of the three armed forces and the para-military forces.

The Republic Day of India is a national holiday of India to mark the adoption of the Constitution of India and the transition of India from a British dominion to a republic on 26 Jan, 1950.

Oxfam warns global food crisis likely to worsen

NAIROBI, 26 Jan—International agency Oxfam has warned that an urgent action is needed to prevent hundreds of millions more people slipping into hunger as a result of volatile food prices and increasing energy and water scarcity.

Oxfam said decades of under investment in agriculture coupled with the increasing threat of climate change mean that despite recent price falls, future food security is by no means guaranteed, and in fact the situation could get worse. “Although global food prices have fallen in the last few months, they are not back to previous levels, and are likely to rise sharply again in the future. Furthermore, price volatility itself is a problem, and more needs to be done to address the underlying structural issue that cause the chronic hunger affecting 1 in 6 people in the world today,” Oxfam Kenya Country Director Philippa Cрослол Taylor told journalists in Nairobi.

Oxfam’s warning came a week after the government of Kenya declared the current food crisis a national disaster that could adversely affect millions of people in marginalized areas (arid and semi-arid, urban slums).—INTERNET

Ethiopia completes withdrawal of troops from Somalia

BAIDAO, 26 Jan—Somalia and Ethiopia have both confirmed the complete withdrawal of Ethiopian troops from the war-wrecked horn of African nation.

The last Ethiopian soldiers had left their base in the southern Somali town of Baidoa, a senior Somali government official said on Monday.

Baidoa is the seat of the Somali parliament and the last place in the country where the Ethiopian troops remained after two years in the country.

“I can confirm you that there is no single Ethiopian soldier in Baidoa today (Monday) and if what the insurgent forces were fighting was the foreign forces, they have now left the town and I see no reason for further violence,” Mohamed Ibrahim Habsade, a senior Somali cabinet minister, told Xinhua in Baidoa, 245 km southwest of Mogadishu.

He said he is aware that the insurgents, who are now surrounding Baidoa, have been threatening to enter the town since the withdrawal of Ethiopian troops in the early hours of Monday morning.

Habsade revealed that there are indirect talks with the insurgents for a peacefull resolution of the standoff, saying that local elders are mediating between the two sides. Meanwhile, Ethiopia confirmed on Sunday that it had withdrawn all of its troops from Somalia. Bereket Simon, head of the newly established Government Communication Affairs Office, told journalists that the country’s defense force had been fully withdrawn from Somalia after successfully completing its mission in that country.—INTERNET

“The delegation in Cairo is authorized to only discuss the issues of the truce and reopening the border crossings,” said the official, adding “other issues like the internal reconciliation would be discussed too.” Secretary of Israeli Defense Ministry Amos Gilad, who met with Egypt’s Suleiman recently, said that Israel wants a longer term truce with Hamas.—INTERNET

Australian PM says “no” to change Australian Day

CANBERRA, 26 Jan—Australian Prime Minister Kevin Rudd on Monday rejected calls for changing the date of Australia Day, delivering a straightforward “no.”

Australian of the Year Mick Dodson on Sunday called for Australia Day, which commemorates the landing of the First Fleet on Australian shores in 1788, to be moved, adding Jan. 26 represented a “day of mourning” for many of his people.

Rudd rejected the call on Sunday and reiterated his position on Monday at a citizenship ceremony in Canberra, saying he believed it was a day all Australians could celebrate.

“There those who have come to this land 200 years ago, those who are welcomed into the nation’s family today. Indigenous Australians, non-indigenous Australians. We are all in this together,” Rudd said.—INTERNET

Study looks for possible leukemia link

Les Cester, 26 Jan — University of Leicester researchers are trying to determine whether consuming caffeine during pregnancy affects the risk of childhood leukemia.

Dr Marcus Cooke said that while childhood leukemia could be initiated by DNA alterations in the unborn child, it is thought that leukemia would only develop if there was a secondary trigger. There is currently no single proven cause of childhood leukemia, though exposure to radiation, or a rare response to a common infection, are thought likely to play a part, Cooke said.

Scientists know caffeine can pass back and forth across the placenta — meaning the unborn baby will come in contact with caffeine consumed by the mother, Cooke said.

The study involves 1,340 pregnant women. A blood sample is routinely taken from each newborn baby’s heel and tested for DNA changes. By comparing any DNA changes to the levels of caffeine the mother consumed, the team will try to find out whether the two are linked. — Internet

Red makes men feel more amorous with women

Rochester, 26 Jan — When wearing red, a woman may be more likely to score an invitation to the prom or be treated to an expensive outing, US researchers said. Two University of Rochester psychologists demonstrated that the color red makes men feel more amorous toward women — yet men are unaware of the role the colour plays in their attraction. Andrew Elliot, professor of psychology, and Daniela Niesta, post-doctoral researcher said it may be no accident that red hearts are associated with Valentine’s Day.

To quantify the red effect, the study looked at men’s responses to photos of women under a variety of color presentations.

In one experiment, test subjects looked at a woman’s photo framed by a border of either red or white and answered a series of questions, such as: “How pretty do you think this person is?” Other experiments contrasted red with gray, green or blue.

The study, published in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, found under all conditions, the women shown framed by or wearing red were rated significantly more attractive and sexually desirable by men than the exact same women shown with other colours.

Cardiff replay worries Arsenal manager
Cardiff, 26 Jan—Arsene Wenger admits he is concerned at the prospect of a fixture back-log after Arsenal were held to a goalless draw in the fourth round of the FA Cup by Cardiff.

The north Londoners have seen their resources dangerously stretched by a spate of injuries to key attacking players such as Cesc Fabregas, Tomas Rosicky, Theo Walcott and Eduardo da Silva, and the prospect of shoulder-soring another game into an already-crowded schedule drew a downbeat response from Wenger after Sunday’s stalemate here at Ninian Park. “We could do without it, of course,” the Arsenal manager said. “But let’s not complain because we play football.

“It’s one more game to play. If that’s the price we have to pay to stay in the hat, we’re happy to do it,” added Wenger, whose team—if they see off Cardiff—will face either Premier League strugglers West Brom or another second-tier side in Burnley in the last 16. Internet

Djokovic calls for end to late nights
Melbourne, 26 Jan—Defending champion Novak Djokovic has called for “compromise” with Australian Open organisers after he was involved in another late night finish.

The third seed took the court at 11:10 pm on Sunday against Cypriot Marcos Baghdatis and did not wrap up until 2:26 am on Monday, with both complaining about the schedule.

“You have this unique excitement when you play the night matches. It’s really fun. You make history by going into the 2:00, 3:00, 4:00 in the morning,” Djokovic said.

Verdasco sends Murray packing
Melbourne, 26 Jan—Britain’s Fernando Verdasco sent British hope Andy Murray crashing out of the Australian Open when he won their fourth round clash 2-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4 on Monday.

Verdasco shrugged off a lightningstart from the fourth seeded Murray to get back on terms and quell the large crowd of British fans at the Hisense Arena and make his first Grand Slam quarter-final in 23 attempts.

Even after losing the third set 6-1, the 14th seeded Verdasco played far steadier than Murray over the closing two sets, keeping his cool as the Scotsman became more and more frustrated.

Murray has said he will never leave Barcelona amid curious speculation Real Madrid want to sign the Argentine playmaker from their arch rivals.

Reports from Madrid suggested champions Real were preparing a sensational swoop but Messi laughed off the talk and pledged his future to Barcelona.

“I’ll never leave Barca,” the 21-year-old Messi told the club’s official website. “I’ll only leave if they throw me out. Barcelona is my home.”

Messi is unlikely to be thrown out having scored 14 goals this season, including two in Saturday’s 4-1 win over Numancia, as Barca sit 15 points clear of Real at the top of the Spanish first division.

Barcelona president Joan Laporta hit out at Real for using the media to try and unsettle the league leaders.

“They (Real Madrid) are relying on biased mass media institutions to spread these rumours,” said Laporta.

“It is an attempt to unsettle us and cover up their own problems. “The most important thing is that he (Messi) is happy here, this is where he has grown up, and he is showing this with his performances.”—INTERNET
