Another NLD leader, U MALNG KO, 52, who was arrested at about the same time, died under torture in Insein last November. SLORC said he committed suicide (Alert No.1/2). U NAY MIN, 60, a well-known novelist and local correspondent of the Japanese newspaper, Asahi Shim bun, also died in Insein last November. He was arrested last year because SLORC felt his reporting was too sympathetic to the NLD. SLORC said U NAY MIN died of cirrhosis of the liver.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:
In Dec.90/Jan.91, Dr. HOWARD HU and Dr. KYAW WIN of the Physicians for Human Rights (PHR) visited Burma to interview witnesses of SLORC's violations of medical neutrality. Founded in 1986, PHR is an independent, non-partisan organization whose goal is to bring the skills of the medical profession to the protection of human rights. Copies of the team's report can be obtained from: 58 Day St., Suite 202, Sometville, MA.02144, USA. Tel: 1 (617) 623-1930, Fax: 623-7234.

The Permanent Representative of Panama has brought the human rights situation in Burma and SLORC's refusal to recognize the will of the people to the attention of the Secretary-General, and the Group of Latin American and Caribbean States. It will be discussed at the 46th session of the General Assembly in Sep.91 under the item entitled "Enhancing the effectiveness of the principle of periodic and genuine elections". A letter from the ALL BURMA FEDERATION OF STUDENT UNIONS on Chapter 1, Article 2, Paragraph 7 of the Charter of the United Nations stimulated the action.

COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, GENEVA
At the 47th session of the UN Human Rights Commission in Feb.91, Australia, Austria, Canada, the European Community, India, Japan, Sweden, and the USA condemned SLORC for its serious human rights violations. Professor SADAKO OGATA, the Independent Expert appointed by the Commission in 1990 to investigate Burma tabled a report. Excerpts:

VISIT TO MYANMAR - The Independent Expert's repeated request to meet with detained or restrained leaders of the NLD, including ... U TIN OO and Daw AUNG SAN SUU KYI, were turned down. So were her requests to meet with ex-Prime Minister U NU, said to be restrained, as well as her requests to visit prisons and other detention facilities.

PERSONAL FREEDOMS - In spite of the Government's affirmation that peace and tranquillity has now been restored ... and that law and order now prevails, it is evident that the restrictions on personal freedoms have not been lifted and that the situation adversely affects a large number of people in all walks of life. A curfew is still imposed in the cities ... No outdoor gatherings are permitted ... It was explained ... by a Government Minister that there were no restrictions on freedom of expression except those provided by law. He candidly recognized, however, that criticism of the government was a violation of the law if that criticism was more than slight. In that context, he explained, no one was arrested or detained for expressing an opinion, unless the expression constituted a transgression of the law.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS - An issue of special concern is the timing of the transfer of power from the military to a democratically elected government. The Independent Expert was repeatedly assured that SLORC is devoid of any political ambition and is ready to hand over power to a strong and stable civilian government. The Myanmar authorities, however, could not provide her any time table for the transfer of power. Instead, they presented a (four step) procedural framework. Apart from the first step of accounting by the Election Commission and the work of the Election Tribunals, the Independent Expert could not detect any preparation for the succeeding steps to follow. The continued detention and imprisonment of NLD members are extremely worrying as they undermine the bases of the very political parties that should actively contribute to the process outlined by the authorities ... The formation of a democratically elected government is of central importance to the promotion and protection of human rights ... The opening of the universities would also appear to be a crucial step towards restoring the normal life of Myanmar society, a step which must be regarded by the people of Myanmar as long overdue.

The Human Rights Commission adopted a resolution strengthening the mandate of the Independent Expert and called for SLORC to:
   a) take steps to accelerate the transition to democracy, in particular the convening of the parliament elected in May 1990,
   b) lift the internment and interdiction measures affecting political leaders,
   c) permit the International Committee of the Red Cross to visit prisons and detention facilities to verify prison conditions, and
   d) become a party to the International Covenants on Human Rights and other main human rights treaties.

Seminar:

THE PATH TO PEACE
The seminar: "Burma - Obstacles to Development" held in Ottawa, Feb.28-Mar.l, 1991, concluded that economic development in Burma is not possible as long as the military remains in power. It was recommended that Non-Government Organizations (NGOs) wanting to help Burma develop, should consider recognizing and working with the NCGUB as an alternative to working with SLORC. MARAN BRANG SENG, KIO Chairman and DAB 1st Vice Chairman who spoke at the seminar made the following observations:

We believe that the following steps must be taken if peace and democracy are to be restored to Burma and if national reconciliation and healing are to take place:

1. There can be no peace or development without bringing about a peaceful settlement to the 43-year old civil war.

   International intervention is urgently needed and absolutely essential to ensure:
   a) a nationwide cease-fire,
   b) a return to barracks of all troops,
   c) the release of all political prisoners,
   d) the resumption of national level dialogue and negotiations to discuss and resolve political differences.

2. There can be no lasting peace and stability if any indigenous group or political organization is selectively disenfranchised from full participation in the formation of a Union Government.

   International support is needed for the establishment of a multi-party democratic government representative of all the peoples of Burma. Towards this end, we urge the international community to support the speedy transfer of power to the elected representatives of the May 27, 1990 elections.

3. The present military regime (SLORC) can no longer claim to have the popular support of the people of Burma.

   It is our hope that the international community will increase political and economic pressure and stop all supplies for domestic arms production, military equipment and arms to SLORC until a truly representative government is Installed.

4. When peace and democracy have finally been restored, Burma will have to be rebuilt from the bottom up and its precious natural resources will be needed for the task.

   We call on our friends to support measures by their respective governments to curtail all economic cooperation involving exploitation and extraction of Burma's natural resources.

5. The drug problem is going to get worse if the civil war is not brought to an end.

   The two problems are related. We are not optimistic about cooperative efforts between international narcotics-control agencies and SLORC whose sole interest appears to be to generate as much income as possible by dealing with both the drug producers and those wanting to suppress the narcotics trade.
