1. NUG calls for sanctions on aviation fuel to save Myanmar people 23/01/2023

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs urged the United Nations Security Council and the international community to impose immediate and effective sanctions on aviation fuel to halt the supply to the military due to the military junta's continued airstrikes against civilians throughout Myanmar. Hundreds of people have been killed in these airstrikes while pilots and commanders are targeting schools and hospitals in offensive and unwarranted actions that constitute clear war crimes and crimes against humanity.

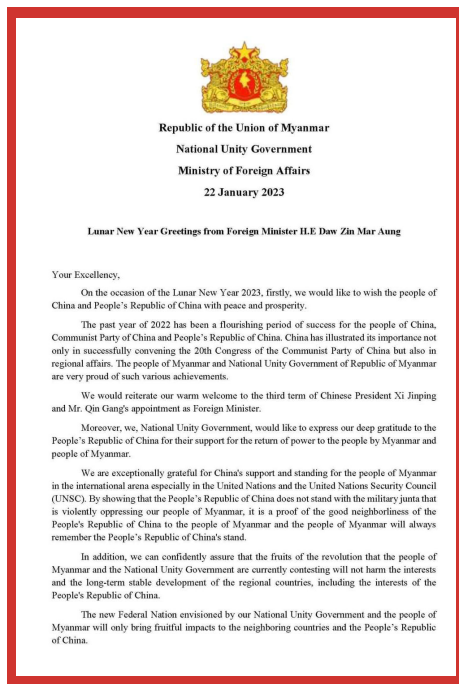

The ministry also added that it welcomes Resolution 2669 of December last year adopted by the UNSC in which the council expressed its deep concern at "violent attacks undertaken by the vicious junta against civilians and civilian infrastructure, including educational, health and energy infrastructure and facilities, and attacks on businesses and public properties." and in which the Council demanded "an immediate end to all forms of violence." <https://bit.ly/3kUojCs>

2. NUG conveys lunar new year greetings to PRC

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs sent a lunar new year greeting to the People's Republic of China on Jan 22nd, expressing the NUG's deep gratitude to the People's Republic of China for their support for the return of power to the people of Myanmar, and its support and standing with the people of Myanmar in the international arena, particularly in the UNGA and UNSC. These acts demonstrate that the PRC does not stand with the military junta which is violently oppressing the Myanmar people. It is proof of the good neighborliness of the PRC towards Myanmar and accordingly her people will always remember the People's Republic of China's support.

4. Ambassador Kyaw Moe Tun urges it is a high time for UN to raise a single voice to take actions against the terrorist SAC

Ambassador Kyaw Moe Tun, Permanent Representative to United Nations stated at the ECOSOC Special Meeting on "Social and economic measures to prevent genocide, war crimes, ethnic cleansing and crimes against humanity" held on Jan 24th that it is high time for the UN to raise a single voice, uphold the principles of responsibility to protect, and act collectively by using all tools at its disposal to hold all perpetrators, including the military junta, accountable and finally end their cycle of impunity. The Ambassador added that the fascist military has committed numerous atrocities against the Myanmar people including ethnic minorities such as the Rohingyas. The military's atrocities against the Rohingyas in 2017 represent one chapter of many in a litany of crimes and resulted in hundreds of thousands of Rohingyas taking refuge in Bangladesh.

He remarked that the fascist military did not stop committing such crimes. It attempted to stage an illegal coup in February 2021. During this 2-year period, the inhumane military junta has completely dismantled rule of law, and caused serious consequences to the population in Myanmar, and other nations in the region.
