Ethnic Liberation Movements Symbolize Collapse of Military Dictatorship, Says NUG Acting President

Acting President of the National Unity Government, Duwa Lashi La, emphasized the significance of ethnic liberation movements in symbolizing the collapse of the military dictatorship during a cabinet meeting on July 16. He highlighted the importance of strengthening and expanding these movements to accelerate the resistance war of the Spring Revolution.

“We can see that ethnic liberation struggles can be won while rooting out the military dictatorship. All national liberation movements of the ethnic regions symbolize the fall of the military dictatorship. Because this has a reciprocal effect, we must consider that we can continue the direct link between the Spring Revolution and the ethnic liberation movement,” said the Acting President.

He also urged vigilance to avoid ethnic conflict traps, emphasized the need for greater harmony among ethnic groups, and called for uniting the armed revolutionary forces.

NUG Vows Justice for Martyrs, Promises to Punish Junta Leaders

At the 77th Martyr’s Day commemoration ceremony on July 19, Prime Minister Mahn Winn Khaing Thann of the National Unity Government pledged to intensify efforts with the entire populace to ensure that terrorist leader Min Aung Hlaing and his associates face legal punishment.

“The revolutionary journey is getting closer to reaching its goal. Today, on the 77th Martyr’s Day, we are once again determined to work together with the entire people to ensure that Min Aung Hlaing and his associates, who are enemies of the country, are properly punished before the law,” said the Prime Minister.

NUG Prime Minister Urges Effective Use of Tax Revenue for Revolution

National Unity Government Prime Minister Mahn Winn Khaing Than, during a Central Committee for Interim Implementation of Public Administration meeting on July 18, urged the committee to effectively meet the revolution’s basic needs using the taxes currently being collected.

The Prime Minister emphasized the importance of increasing cooperation among committee members, advising against focusing on the benefit of any one group or individual in tax collection. He called for a comprehensive approach to utilizing and sharing resources in key areas.

NUG Ready to Cooperate with Thailand on Migrant Worker Issues

On July 18, the Ministry of Labour of the National Unity Government announced its readiness to collaborate with relevant Thai ministries regarding the concerns of Myanmar migrant workers in Thailand. The Ministry called on the Thai government, parliament, and organizations concerned with labor and human rights to prevent the Burmese military junta from oppressing Myanmar nationals in Thailand.

The Ministry urged the Thai government to issue Non-Thai Identification Cards (pink cards) to Burmese migrant workers without identification promptly. It emphasized that Burmese nationals holding documents like the Non-Thai Identification Card and Work Permit should be allowed to travel, live, and work freely in Thailand. The Ministry also requested the cessation of the Burmese military junta's process of issuing CI documents in Thailand and asked the Thai government to review the policy that makes CI mandatory.

Furthermore, the Ministry called for an effective prohibition of actions by the Burmese military council, such as violating the agreement not to double-tax Myanmar nationals' salary income in Thailand and forcing migrant workers to send 25 percent of their income through junta-specified banks and financial services.

Additionally, the Ministry appealed to Thai authorities to extend the Work Permit and Visa for Burmese migrant workers with expired passports, allowing them to continue working for a certain period.

Military Affairs Summary for Third Week of July, 2024

In the third week of July 2024, revolutionary forces captured Singu, near Mandalay, and several junta military bases, with renewed fighting erupting in Lashio.

The Mandalay People's Defense Force (PDF) seized a junta camp at the Alpha Cement factory in Madaya Township, Mandalay Region, along with 28 other junta camps in the township. The PDF's capture of Singu Town and ongoing advances towards other towns and bases near the junta's Central Command headquarters underline the military's diminishing power and capabilities.

The PDF captured Kyaw Soe, a pro-junta militia leader, in Htone Gyi Village, Singu Township. Kyaw Soe attempted to escape but was captured alive, while 49 remaining Pyusawhti militia members surrendered. This development reflects the increasing number of junta captives and the growing disillusionment among its loyal militias.

In Taungtar Township, the Myingyan District 3 Battalion repelled a 150-strong junta column, killing thirty soldiers. Additionally, the PDF intercepted another 150-strong junta column in Minhla Township, Bago Region.

Fighting has intensified in Lashio following the end of a four-day ceasefire declared by the Kokang MNDAA on July 19. Revolutionary forces have advanced near the entrance to Lashio, where the junta's Light Infantry Battalion 41 is stationed. The Ta'ang National Liberation Front (TNLA) reported capturing four junta bases to the east of Mogok Town, with four bases remaining to be seized for effective control of the town.

The ongoing battles near the junta's two military commands in Lashio and Mandalay highlight its weakened state, as it struggles to defend against coordinated revolutionary attacks.

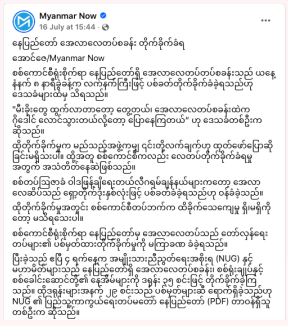
Fact Check

Fake news

Pro-junta Telegram channel Ko Thet has been spreading false information, claiming there was no collateral damage from the revolutionary attack on Aye Lar military airbase near Naypyidaw International Airport and that the attackers had been captured.

Pro-junta Telegram channel Myawaddy has been spreading false information, claiming there were no civilian casualties during their bombardment in Gantgaw, Magway Region.

Authentic news



However, independent news outlets have reported a different story. According to local residents, the Aye Lar airbase was hit by heavy weapons, resulting in significant damage. Junta soldiers reportedly beat and captured farmers working in fields near Pan Tin Village, close to the base. There has been no contact with the captured individuals since the incident.

The independent sources also reported multiple casualties, deaths, and the destruction of junta airplanes during the attack.
