As for the States and Regions governments, it was of great importance to make the effective use of the additional funds for the welfare of the local populace while making an attempt to avoid bragging and showing off. The President urged the States and Regions governments to supervise and complete the work schemes within the allotted time and to meet the quality standard as well.

As it has already been said at the Finance Commission meeting 1/2019, the reminder would be made again that severe action will be taken against those who invite tenders that are not in conformity with the rules and regulations, and those who take advantage of loopholes in the tender system for their own benefit, said the President. This warning was given again so tender rules and processes should be followed accurately.

To sum up, the President urged that the 2018-2019 Fiscal Year Union Supplementary Budget Allocation Bill, including the 2018-2019 Fiscal Year Supplementary Budget Allotment, would be approved after having reviewed by the Finance Commission and concluded his remarks.

Next, Finance Commission Vice-Chairman, Vice-President U Myint Swe said that supplementary funds would be approved to carry out the implementation of the regional development in the states and regions. There were no amendments in the Supplementary

Then Finance Commission Vice-Chairman, Vice-President U Henry Van Thio said that the supplementary budget K 121 billion and K 39 billion for Union Funds had been approved at Finance Commission meeting 1/2019 on 9 April, after securitizing it in accordance with the constitution, and which would be spent for the regional development of the states and regions. He added that K 40 billion would be granted to conduct the development works of the states and regions in 2018-2019 Fiscal Year. He also submitted the Finance Commission to review and make an approval of it.

Financial Commission secretary Union Minister U Soe Win then explained about fiscal year 2018-2019 union supplementary budget, revised budget and the Union Supplementary Budget Allocation Bill while Financial Commission members Nay Pyi Taw Council Chairman, state and region chief ministers discussed in support of the bill.

In delivering his concluding speech the President said the union government, state and regional governments were required to use the supplementary budget precisely according to laws, rules, financial regulations and procedures. And it must be audited systematically in the fiscal year 2018-2019 union supplementary budget, revised budget and the Union Supplementary Budget Allocation Bill would be submitted to the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw.

The capacity to evaluate

The opening ceremony began with speeches by the Russian Defence Minister and Foreign Affairs Minister, and Lieutenant General Carlos Loitey, the Military Adviser to the Department of Peacekeeping Operations Office of Military Affairs.

The first plenary session then commenced with the title 'Security in Modern World: Regional and Global Factors and Trends' and Senior General Min Aung Hlaing discussed under the topic 'Military Cooperation in the Indo-Pacific Region and Prospective Regional Security'.

In his discussion, the Senior General said the Indo-Pacific Region was geographically crucial for global development and opportunities but faces complications concerning security and stability.

He said the global interest in the Indo-Pacific Region rose in the 21st Century as it constituted countries that have the strongest military, economy, democracy and with some of the largest population such as China, India, Bangladesh, Pakistan and Indonesia.

The Senior General said the actions of some countries to dominate the Indo-Pacific Region via military strength has caused worries among the countries of the region. He said transporting crude oil and natural gases was the most important task for all countries and since it mainly passes through the Indian Ocean, the region has gained economic importance.

The Senior General said international cooperation has reduced piracy in the region to some extent but it still remained as a threat to marine transportation. He said human trafficking and illegal drug trade were still being prevalent in the region as transnational crime. He said these issues all created a complex threat in the Indo-Pacific Region.

The Senior General said implementing stability in the region and promoting good military cooperation would require setting rules based on the sovereignty, administrative unit and equality of all countries within the region.

Conquering TB by putting up a strong fight on the ground

THE incidence of new tuberculosis cases in Myanmar has reached 358 for every 100,000 people, and the number of deaths stands at 51, according to data from a nationwide project launched in 2018 to fight TB.

While statistics show the annual rate of TB cases has declined to 3.5 per cent, Myanmar is still on the list of 30 countries most affected by TB.

In 2018, the Ministry of Health and Sports provided treatment to over 135,000 TB patients, and recorded an 87 per cent rate of success in nationwide medical care. The ministry's mobile medical teams carried out field trips to diagnose and treat TB patients, reaching areas which were difficult to access, along with factories and prisons.

The Ministry of Health and Sports cannot fight TB alone. It will take the combined strength of the concerned ministries and departments, international non-governmental organizations, local NGOs, and civil society organizations to rid the country of this contagious disease.

It was found that over 50 per cent of TB patients are aged 50 and above. The figures from the survey indicate the country has managed to control TB infections to a certain extent.

of recurring TB patients, said the Union Minister.

The treatment deficit for MDRTB was 43 per cent in 2012, but was reduced significantly to 17 per cent by 2017.

There are three BSL-3 TB labs in Yangon, Mandalay, and Taunggyi that perform scans for MDRTB. There are also 86 Gene-Xpert module machines available for rapid diagnostic testing for MDRTB across the country.

The Nationwide TB Prevalence Survey 2017-2018 was carried out from October, 2017, to September, 2018. According to the survey, 73 per cent of TB patients are men.

It was found that over 50 per cent of TB patients are aged 50 and above. The figures from the survey indicate the country has managed to control TB infections to a certain extent.

When we draw up a strategy to fight TB for 2021-2025, it is important we make plans that can be carried out on the ground on the basis of continual evaluation and research.

AYEYAWADY REGIONAL Government has accomplished many during their third year in the government—agricultural and industrial developments, increased access to electricity, improving public transportation and the boom of tourism. There were milestones accomplished as well as challenges overcome (or still in the process of overcoming) in the previous year. We met up with U Hla Moe Aung, Chief Minister of Ayeyawady Regional Government to discuss about the past accomplishments and future plans for the region.

Q: What are some investment programs in the region right now?

A: In terms of investments, there are 14 foreign investment companies, 26 local investment companies totaling up till US $78 million and Kyats 498,935 million with 10,788 jobs created. There are also plans to build a port along with a port city as well as a beach in Nga Yoke Kaung Town as well as another port in Shwe Thaung

Yan. Another objective is to be able to create a coastal road from Nga Pu Taw town up to Gwa, Rakhine. The regional government is currently seeking investors for such projects.

Q: There have been talk regarding creating more industrial zones in the Ayeyawady Region. Can you tell us a little bit about that?

A: There is currently an industrial zone project with plans for up to 50 factories being built within the two years. It is expected to create about 1 million opportunities after the project is completed in 2020. Businesses in the Maubin industrial zone just got their permits as well and is expected to start soon. For Nyaungdon industrial area, the investors are applying for permits according to existing rules and procedures.

Q: What are the main agricultural developments in the region?

A: The Ayeyawady Region is known for Rice bowl of Myanmar. There are 3.7 million acres of rice paddies for export in the rainy season and 1.4 million acres in the summer. These were able to produce 226 million baskets of rice in the 2018-2019 year.

One challenge we had was a case of Fall Army Worms on over 40,000 acres of corn farms. With the combined efforts of the union government and the regional government, we were able to provide pesticides and fertilizers.

Q: Can you tell us about the efforts in redistributing confiscated land to the farmers?

An aerial view of new Myaungmya bridge in Ayeyawady Region.

State Counsellor Daw Aung San Suu Kyi attends the opening ceremony of new Myaungmya bridge in Ayeyawady Region.

A: Out of the 100,462 acres that were confiscated, we were able to return 100,334 acres back to the farmers. The rest are in process to be redistributed as well. During the Peasant's Day celebrations on 2 March 2019, our Vice President U Henry Van Thio handed 6603 acres to 1102 farmers whose land was confiscated. We also invited up to 3000 farmers last year for a tradeshow up to 55 merchants showcasing the latest development in agricultural tech.

Q: What about efforts regarding drainage and water management as well livestock farming?

A: We managed to build irrigation systems to save up 893,000 acres from floods last year by building trenches and dam in nearby regions with over Kyats 990 million from the Union Budget. There were over 187,286 acres of fishery/prawn farms for around 187,286 acres in the 2018-2019 fiscal year. We are also helping farmers and livestock owners with taking care of their animals such as vaccinations and feed. There were also animal safe land and shelter built to help ease the burden on the farmers.

Q: What about transportation within the region?

A: During the third year of the incumbent government, there were up till 298 miles of new roads, as well as over 1986 feet of concrete bridges constructed. The 2723 feet Steel Truss Deck Type bridge in Myaungmya was also opened for transport vehicles this April 2019. The 2380 feet Patheingyi Bridge is also currently in construction with plans to open it by August 2020.

Q: What about access to electricity?

A: We added 26 townships, 3 towns and 768 villages to the grid along with solar power systems installed in 1491 villages. Substations are also being built in Kyite Latt, Nga Yoke Kaung and Ngwehsaung as well. In Shwe Thaung Yan, the LNG to Power Plant is starting to take shape and is set to be the biggest power plant in Myanmar when completed, providing up to 1390 MWs. Hopefully, not only will this plant be able to supply the whole region with electricity, the excess may be able to supply the national grid as well.

Q: Can you tell us about the public communication efforts?

A: There is an additional 763 mobile shelters within the past three years from 2016-2019 in 6 areas. Children Literacy Festivals were held annually at different cities as well to encourage kids to pick up reading as a habit, expanding their knowledge. The City Development Committee was also able to buy 33 vehicles, 57 machines costing Kyats 2378 million in efforts to renovate and expand city development efforts.

A: There were 86 licenses for hotels and motels with more than 3000 rooms approved within the past three years. There was a 48 percent increase in the number of tourists coming in the country as well. The Yangon-Pathin route for flights recently opened December 2018 to help accommodate travelers who prefer to take a flight. There are four bus routes per week bringing tourists to the Ngwe Hsaung, Chaung Tha area.

Q: Lastly, can you explain to us on efforts regarding disaster preparedness as well as health and education developments?

A: We were able to support up to 80,000 households providing up to Kyats 2,400 million as support in the past three years. We also rebuilt 800 houses in 3 townships for disaster preparation as well as help 2700 houses stock up on emergency equipment/food. There were also 62 Cyclone Shelters, Multipurpose shelters and School Shelters built with 48 renovated.

For education, there were a total of 13345 additional schools built with 1478 renovated and upgraded. There were over 3000 new teachers hired to fill in the gaps of the teaching forces as well as 76 new testing stations for the matriculation exam. In the health field, hospitals in the area got new equipment such as the CT Scan in addition to the new departments (such as the cancer and new emergency response departments). There are district health workers that are formed into pods that manages donation funds to distribute food, medicine and health supplements for breastfeeding mothers. Lastly, we are working towards giving 100% free treatment for tuberculosis, rabies patients and children of under five years of age.

Destruction of rice in Côte d'Ivoire will not affect exports: MoC

By Nyein Nyein

THE destruction of a consignment of rice by officials at Côte d'Ivoire last Wednesday will have no impact on Myanmar's rice export market, according to a press release from the Ministry of Commerce.

In spite of the incident at Côte d'Ivoire, Myanmar exported 27,995 tons of rice to African countries between 1 and 19 April 2019. During the same period, 1,190 tons of rice and 1,150 tons of broken rice were shipped to Asian countries, and 15,271 tons of rice and 19,010 tons of broken rice were sent to the European market. On 17 April, officials from Côte d'Ivoire, a West African Country, destroyed 18,000 tons of Myanmar rice, after declaring it unfit for human consumption, according to reports in the foreign media.

During an investigation into the incident, the Commerce Ministry found that the rice that was destroyed was supplied by three Myanmar companies — 13,500 tons by the Shwe Wah Yaung Company, 8,000 tons by the Myanmar Economic Corporation Co. Ltd, and 500 tons by the Ayeyahinthia Company. The rice was traded under an FOB (free-on-board) agreement.

The MV Ocean Princess docked at the Yangon Port on 20 August, 2018, and it left Myanmar with the shipment of rice on 12 September, after passing a quality check conducted by the Bureau Veritas Company. The ship unloaded 4,000 tons of rice at the Port of Conakry, but the rice was rejected as some rice bags were found to be underweight. The ship then left for Togo, which also refused the shipment. Thereafter, the ship was berthed at the Abidjan Port of Côte d'Ivoire. Representatives from the buyer, Olam International Co. Ltd, met with officials from the Commerce Ministry on 19 February, and the ministry issued three import licences for 'repair and return shipment' of 18,104.55 tons of rice.

The Commerce Ministry was planning to inspect the shipment after it was returned. However, the ship failed to come back to Myanmar, and foreign media reported that officials at Côte d'Ivoire destroyed the rice as it was found to be unfit for consumption, thereby affecting the country's reputation, according to the press release. On 23 April, a coordination meeting for establishing a firm international market and promoting rice exports was held, which was attended by officials from the Ministry of Commerce, related ministries, representatives from the Republic of the Union of Myanmar Federation of Chambers of Commerce and Industry, the Myanmar Rice Federation, local companies, and those companies which perform quality testing. The companies which exported the rice have been in business for years, and the companies which conducted a quality inspection did not find any issues before shipment, and the rice was shipped in line with international rules and regulations, said U Ye Min Aung.

Myanmar's rice was purchased under an FOB system, and it was more than seven months before the rice was unloaded, according to the press release. The decline in quality might be attributed to high humidity levels during shipping, it added. "Three Myanmar companies sold the rice under an FOB agreement, under which, the buyer is liable for any risk once it is loaded onto the ship. In this case, there was no damage or financial loss to the exporter companies and they cannot be held responsible," according to the press release. A team comprising officials from the exporter companies, Bureau Veritas Company, and rice buyer Olam International Co. Ltd will investigate the matter further; the press release stated. ■ (Trns: EMM)

Strong winds, torrential rain damage buildings, vehicles in Tachilek

STRONG winds and torrential rain along with hail-stones damaged some buildings and vehicles in Tachilek Township in the evening on 23 April.

"It was extremely hot the whole day. But, in the evening, starting from around 5:30 p.m, the wind began to blow and it soon picked up speed. The roofs of 15 houses were damaged in Lwedawkham while the roof of a workshop near the Parhlan staff quarter was blown away. Some trees also fell near the Myoma market. Fortunately, no one was injured. Some areas experienced a power outage around the same time.

There were torrential showers around 5:45 p.m. This is the first time such heavy downpour has been seen in Tachilek, said U Myo Kyaw Soe, a local.

In addition, strong winds damaged the roof of a school in Hsan Lu Village in Lwedawkham village-tract, and a building housing an old age home near Lwedawkham Bridge, according to locals. No one was injured as locals managed to rescue the elderly dwellers in time.

The authorities are still preparing a list of the damage and calculating the losses incurred.—Maung Yin Kyay ■

Canada oil sands CO₂ emissions hugely underestimated: study

OTTAWA (Canada) — Canada's oil sands CO₂ emissions are significantly higher than indicated by industry data collected using internationally recommended methods, according to a study published Tuesday.

Environment Canada scientists flying over the region took atmospheric measurements and found CO₂ emission intensities up to 123 per cent higher than current estimates. Their findings were published in the journal Nature Communications. "This leads to 64 per cent higher annual GHG emissions from surface mining operations, and 30 per cent higher overall oil sands GHG emissions (17 Mt) compared to that reported by industry, despite emissions reporting which uses the most up to date and recommended bottom-up approaches," said the study, referring to greenhouse gases. The current method of calculating emissions uses a combination of ground measurements based on fuel usage and mathematical modelling. This includes emissions from mining, processing, upgrading and tailings ponds. Because similar reporting methods are used across the entire oil and gas sector, the scientists concluded that all oil and gas CO₂ emissions data "may be more uncertain than previously considered."—AFP ■

State's reliable workers with hardworking and initiative

By Htet Wai Aung (Sagaing)

NOWADAYS, all global countries are placing an emphasis on creation of employment opportunities for their citizens. Employment plays a key role in improving social economic status of the majority of people and ensuring poverty alleviation. Likewise, systematic management of labour is of great importance in focusing on development of the State. It needs to emerge employment opportunities which should be actually created for job seekers. Continuous turning out of skilled labourers to develop human resources is a very basic need in modernizing the nation. As such, it needs to uplift the role of workers in order to ensure sustainable development of economy. In fact, skills and experiences of massive workers and their vigorous efforts are invaluable capabilities for the country.

All the workers participating in respective sectors of the State are striving for improving production capacity, achieving success in production and earning increased income. They all are manual labourers who are trying hard for continuously operating production industries. It is true that the country requires a large number of labourers in carrying out all-round development tasks. It needs to effectively deploy the strength of labourers. It is important that the skillful labourers should be deployed in the workplaces where actually require strength of labourers in order not to lose chains of experienced labourers. Only when the country turns out the high capable labourers having disciplines, will it be development system. It can be seen that labourers, a basic need in nation-building task, is important for implementing the developed human resource sector.

Many labourers throughout the world are working for serving interest of their countries and nationals. As they are following the reform process of economic system, they need to have creativity and capable qualification. At this juncture, it should not leave the veteran workers. Experiences and exposure of veteran workers can help save production time. Various industries are mushrooming in modern and developed nations. At the same time, all workplaces demand new labourers. Such a move eases work operations of employees as well as increases employment opportunities for the majority of labourers. They have rights of enjoying fruitful results of development together with all the people. Skillful workers have to enjoy rights of deserved salaries and fair rights. If employees and employers relate to each other with compassion, the workplaces will be peaceful worlds. Fulfilling health and social needs of labourers with sympathetic aid can help emerge mutual understanding between them.

Employees should understand difficulties of employers, and they all need to peacefully solve the necessary problems of labourers. Worksite safety is important for all workers.

Only when healthy and fit labourers are working at the workplaces, will production sector avoid less development. Creating the proper workplace in all fields will be encouragement for the massive workers.

These expectations can create chances for all workers to enjoy mental wellbeing although they face tiredness in workplaces.

Only when the entire labourers are healthy and fit with capability, will economic sector of the State see sectoral development. Hence, the authorities should give encouragement to all labourers to be able to enjoy glittering dreams. Strength of the State should lie within the nation. Mental and physical power of workers at home is the most essential sound foundation to develop the nation. Today, shortages of labour are the hottest issue in agriculture sector of Myanmar. As the majority of labourers go abroad to seek jobs in overseas countries, the motherland loses strength of labour. On the other land, the labourers may face lesser amount of salaries than the deserved due to weakness in languages and lose rights in foreign countries.

As a gesture of appreciating the endeavours of the workers throughout the world, the International Workers' Day was designated on 1 May every year. The Workers' Day has been marked in global countries for many years in honour of workers.

The May Day or Workers' Day is a significant one for the massive labourers, expressing the unity among the workers. In reviewing the emergence of the Workers' Day, it started a conflict between employers and employees in the United States of America. At that time, every employee worked 20 hours per day. Lives of workers were at the bottom due to facing various difficulties and plights in factories and workshops. Those workers demanded the employers to set 10 hours per day as working hours. As employees bravely opposed all restrictions of employees, the formers finally set eight hours per day as working time with blossoming of the rights of labourers.

Workers need to dutifully carry out the assigned tasks with hardworking and goodwill under the disciplines. Their harmonious achievement will be based on specially abiding by workplace laws, rules and regulations, constantly learning advanced technologies to have better skills and giving a helping hand to each other as part of shaping the massive labourers in unison. In fact, employers are working partners of employees. Reciprocally, employees are mutual interest implementers of employers. Hence, the aforesaid two strata should be in unity and harmony in order to create development sound foundations for the State.

Tripartite good relations among the government, the employers and the employees help emerge a stable and peaceful workplace.

The government is on the duty of enacting the labour law for enabling the workers to enjoy deserved rights and have worksite safety. As such, families including wives and offspring who rely on the workers will have to enjoy safety life in the future.

Based on diverse life situations, some persons are facing much difficulty. Two types of humans applying their physical and mental powers are working at various workplaces. Even their wives are working at home.

Their offspring who finished the learning of school education are working at respective fields in white colour status. At this juncture, those who could not reach the learning of school education are engaging in the worksites with the use of their physical power. Good livelihoods are harder in lives of labourers in order to earn income for their families all the year round. Deserved wage and salary are a great expectation of families of workers. Such a wage or salary should be powerful to defy the daily prices of commodities. It can be seen that income of a family member could not cover all family members of household. Incomes of employees should be sufficiency for their families in comparison with increasing number of population. Situation of over workload may cause a burden for worker with consequences of overload of jobs and unhappiness in workplaces which may lead to the mistakes in jobs.

So far, the laws and bylaws which can protect the rights of workers have been enacted in the nation. Promulgating the laws and bylaws helps emerge employment opportunities. Consequently, workers will have to enjoy advantages of providing training to them in order to enhance their capacity and fairly solving labour disputes. These laws create links between employees and employers to enjoy rights of labourers and implement the better employer-employee relations.

That is why it needs to manage freedom of migration for skilled workers among ASEAN countries. They need to work various types of livelihoods based on their physical and mental capabilities.

They have rights of engaging in the good livelihoods in an honest manner. Workplaces in various fields focusing on development tasks always require strength of labourers. Even industrialized countries are still deploying manpower in their workplaces.

It proves the prowess of massive labourers. Individual desires of workers who can join hands in realizing the economic paradigm of the State is still taking a leading role.

Employers and employees should make negotiations not to lose deserved rights for them. As such, as spirits of hardworking, creation, innovation and initiative will be improving among the workers, the role of workers should be dubbed as "State's reliable workers with hardworking and initiative" as a gesture of honouring the Workers' Day which falls on 1 May.

THE Myanmar Football Federation announced the appointment of Miodrag Radulovic as the new head coach of the men's national football team at a press conference on Tuesday.

The federation has signed the 51-year-old coach from Montenegro, who takes over the mantle of head coach from Antoine Hey, till December 2020.

During the press conference, MFF General Secretary U Ko Ko Thein said 55 coaches had applied for the position. Radulovic was selected from the final list of three coaches after a video interview, he said.

"We looked for a new head coach for three months, and we found him. He headed the Lebanon team for four years, and was instrumental in raising their FIFA ranking from 140 to 77," he added.

Upon his recruitment, Radulovic said he wanted to express his thanks to the MFF President and concerned officials.

He recalled the FIFA World Cup Asian Qualifier between Myanmar and Lebanon in 2016, and said Myanmar players are talented and know how to play tactically. He also recalled team Myanmar's match in Thailand where around 500 Myanmar fans cheered their team.

He said he started his professional football career as a midfielder, and hence, liked setting the attack. An attacking style will likely fit with the Myanmar team, he added.

Team Myanmar will need some time to up their game to perform like Lebanon, who managed a huge jump in their FIFA ranking, he said.

He focused on the importance of unity to help team Myanmar reach its goal.

He also promised to work with sincerity.

Lopes powers Jeonbuk towards last 16, Kashima suffer shock defeat

SEOUL (South Korea) — A thumping finish and an assist from man-of-the-match Ricardo Lopes put Jeonbuk Motors on the verge of the last 16 of the AFC Champions League on Wednesday.

But reigning Asian champions Kashima Antlers slumped to a shock 1-0 home defeat at the hands of Gyeongnam FC on a great night for South Korean sides in the continental club championship.

Jeonbuk recorded a sixth consecutive win against Japanese opposition, 2-1 against Urawa Red Diamonds, to leave them comfortably atop Group G on nine points with two games to go.

Lopes struck in the 12th minute, capitalising on a defensive error to lash an unstoppable right-foot rocket into the bottom corner.

He turned provider just after half-time, crossing from the left for giant striker Kim Shin-wook to head home at the near post.

A missed clearance by captain Hong Jeong-ho allowed Shinzo Koroki to pull one back against the run of play in the 58th minute, but Jeonbuk survived a nervy finale to take all three points in the top-of-the-table clash.

With Beijing Guoan playing Thailand's Buriram United in the later game, Jeonbuk need just one win from either of their last two matches -- away to Beijing and home to minnows Buriram -- to reach the knockout stages.

Meanwhile Japan's Kashima looked a shadow of the side that became Asian champions last year as they were beaten 1-0 at home by Gyeongnam to leave Group E wide open.

Two weeks ago the 2018 AFC Champions League winners had needed stoppage-time goals from Takeshi Kanamori and Serginho to claim a 3-2 victory over Gyeongnam after having been 2-0 down and reduced to 10 men.—AFP ■
