Message of Greetings from President U Win Myint to 68th Anniversary of Kayah State Day

15 January 2020

Dear esteemed Kayah ethnic brothers and sisters,

On this auspicious occasion of Kayah State Day which has great significance, I wish to extend my Message of Greetings for the good fortune and auspiciousness of all Kayah ethnic nationals and Union citizens living in Kayah State.

When the states and divisions were established after achieving independence, in accordance with Section 180, sub-section (1) of the 1947 Constitution, Karreni State was absorbed into Kayin State and then in accordance with the 1951 Constitutional Amendment Act, Section 8 (1951 Act number 62), it was stipulated that in all instances where the term "Karreni state" occurred, the term

"Kayah State" should be substituted in the Constitution of the Union of Burma.

Thus, the first Kayah State Day celebration was held on 15 January 1952 to mark the first usage of the term "Kayah State" in place of "Karreni State". Today marks the 68th anniversary. Nine Kayah racial groups together with other ethnic races have been living in close friendship together since ancient times for many years.

The Union Government has established a ministry for the development and preservation of traditions, cultures, language, literature and rights of national ethnic races providing encouragement and support.

They were welcomed by Sagaing Region Chief Minister Dr Myint Naing, Regional Hluttaw Speaker U Than, Commander of Northwest Command Maj-Gen Soe Tint Naing.

The President and party took military helicopters to Leshi Township where they were welcomed by Hluttaw representatives, heads of local tribes and local ethnic people.

President U Win Myint held a meeting at the Taungzalat Hall in Leshi Township with Hluttaw representatives, departmental officials, heads of local tribes, town elders and civil communities.

During the meeting, the President called for cooperation of local people in development works together with the government.

He also advised the civil service personnel to perform their duties well with the participation of local ethnic people, Hluttaw representatives and departmental officials local development programmes.

U Chit Nyo, the town elder of Leshi, reported on local development programmes.

The President replied that the programmes are to be implemented in line with budget allocations, and to submit reports on requirements through the Region government.

The President and party then proceeded to Lahe Township by military helicopters.

elders and civil communities.

At the meeting, the President explained the government's efforts on harmonious developments of States and Regions, as well as the self-administered zones and far-flung areas as Myanmar is a Union comprising many national races who have been living on the same land since a very long period of time.

The President added he constantly supported languages, literatures, cultures and traditions of ethnic people.

He also emphasized the needs of peace and stability for the development, with the collaborative efforts of local people, including departmental officials, Hluttaw representatives and judicial staff.

He continued saying that the government has expected to set up an administrative system that can grant independence and security to all the citizens, and that can ensure rule of law for the people, and their intrinsic and basic rights.

The President said justice plays an important role in the administrative sector, and the lack of justice could lead to instability, and it is an important foundation for building democracy.

Those in the legislative pillar were also advised to develop appropriate laws with the local contexts to ensure the rights for all citizens and national people.

The judicial pillar is to follow the existing laws with fairness and justice in maintaining democracy for basic rights of citizens, the President added.

He also suggested the civil service staff to retain loyalty to the country, to abide by civil service laws, bylaws and principles as their role is very crucial for the democratic reform processes.

The President finally called for harmonious cooperation of the three estates in executive, legislature and judiciary sectors.

Chairman of Leading Body of Naga Self-Administered Zone U Kay Sai, Lahe Township Pyithu Hluttaw Representative U Thet Naung, Nanyun Township Pyithu Hluttaw Representative U Wan Hla, Lahe Town Elder U Chit Tin and Lahe Township Naga Literature and Culture Committee Chairman U Paung Khu presented local development programmes.

The President replied to fulfill the requirements in line with budget allocations of ministries.

The President and party

then visited the Training School for Development of Nationalities Youths from Border Areas in Lahe Township, and gave instructions on study, healthy practices, avoidance of gambling and abstaining from narcotic drugs.

The President also presented cash awards to the students and staff members before he inspected the school library, dining hall and dormitory.

The President and party proceeded to the Vocational Training School of Domestic Science for Women in Lahe Township, and presented cash to the trainees and staff members.

The President and party arrived at the People's Hospital, comforted the patients and gave them food and cash.—MNA ■

Message of Greetings from President U Win Myint to 68th Anniversary of Kayah State Day

It has given more focus and attention to least developed states in order to support and uplift their level of development.

Because of the natural beauty of Kayah State consisting of mountains, forests, rivers, streams, waterfalls, natural caves and the honesty, generosity and friendliness of the local ethnic people, it has become increasingly well known by domestic and foreign tourists as a destination for recreation and travel. Thus it has great potential to become a state for eco-tourism. Since Loikaw, the capital of Kayah State has been awarded the ASEAN Clean City award, I wish to solemnly urge all Kayah ethnic nationals to make collective efforts so that the whole Kayah State will become a model state.

Furthermore, Kayah State has great potential to become a state for investments, trade and tourism to come in as it has many border trading posts from Thailand in the east. As our Union Government has been working hard to supply electricity to the whole country, at the moment 50 per cent of the whole population now has electricity. With regard to Kayah State, more than 88.7 per cent of the people are consuming electricity. As such, the state is now ready for the development of industries.

As soon as our Union Government assumed office, we have been striving hard to implement the following three Goals: -

- Establish rule of law and uplift the socio-economic status of the people.
- National reconciliation and internal peace.
- Amendment of the Constitution which is the foundation for establishing the Democratic Federal Union.

At one time, differences of political ideology and mistrusts among ethnic national races were settled through the use of arms, instead of using discussions and compromise. As the root cause of armed conflicts was based on political problems, due to the inability to solve this problem through political dialogue and compromise, for over 70 years we have not come anywhere near achieving internal peace. As a result, the whole country is still suffering painfully from the bitter experiences of internal armed conflicts.

In order to achieve sustainable peace which has been the aspiration for many years, to solve political problems through political means, and for the establishment of the Democratic Federal Union acceptable to all ethnic national brothers and sisters, we have been convening the Union Peace Conference – 21st Century Panglong sessions and peace talks; as a result, we have already reached agreement on (51) points of common agreement.

If we all strive hard together in unity with genuine Union spirit as our guiding force, in the not too distant future we will be able to build a peaceful, modern and developed Democratic Federal Union free from armed conflicts all across the Union.

I fervently believe that we will achieve total success in building the Democratic Federal Union, by overcoming all obstacles and difficulties, if all the ethnic nationals within Kayah State and all Union nationals strive together collectively in unity with the Union Government. By firmly holding on to the good foundations of peace and development already achieved, I urge all ethnic nationals to work in unity with collective efforts for the establish of the Democratic Federal Union which we have all yearned for so many years. With these exhortations I send my Message of Greetings to welcome and honor the 68th anniversary of Kayah State Day.

THE more than 180-year-old Bagaya Kyaung (monastery) located in Inwa region, Tada-U Township, Mandalay Region, is currently crowded with local and foreign tourists.

“The wooden monastery was constructed over 180 years ago. A number of local and foreign travellers as well as students are visiting the monastery every day. The monastery is more crowded on the weekends. Students visit Bagaya Kyaung to explore its architecture and the artwork of ancient Myanmar artists. The monastery was constructed during the reign of an ancient king and is full of interesting things in terms of cultural heritage, rare ancient architecture, sculptures, statues, and pillars. On account of this, it has become a famous tourist attraction in Myanmar,” said a local from Inwa.

The Bagaya monastery was built in the 1196 Myanmar Era during the reign of King Bagyidaw. It is supported by 267 teak posts, measuring 60ft in height and 9ft in circumference. The monastery measures an imposing 188 feet in length and 103 feet in width.

Five brick stairs have been constructed around the monastery, and it has been decorated with many ancient floral and animal motifs. —Than Zaw Min (IPRD)

GAqP key for ensuring export market, food safety

THE Union Government has taken steps to bring aquaculture in Myanmar in line with international standards by allowing farmland to be used for other purposes, but farmers can exploit this opportunity only by employing Good Aquaculture Practices (GAqP).

Besides, aquaculture farms that have obtained permission for exporting to European Union countries would need to ensure GAqP to be able to continue exports.

The government is also obliged to raise awareness about GAqP in the private fishery sector through its staff and provide assistance related with fishing technology to fishery department staff to promote the sector.

The government's push for GAqP is aimed at not just producing food for export, but also ensuring safe and healthy food for local consumption.

To conserve fish resources and ensure food safety, not only fish farms, but also those involved in the food production chain are required to follow the rules and regulations set by the government.

Some farms got the opportunity to export aquaculture products to the EU after good laboratory results for chemical residues in aquaculture products from Myanmar.

To ensure the safety of all food, the European market requires suppliers to have Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Points (HACCP) and Good Aquaculture Practices (GAqP) certificates.

Earlier, only fish caught in the wild were permitted for export to the EU market.

As export of Myanmar's farmed fish is now allowed to the European Union, breeders are making preparations to ensure Myanmar fishery products meet the regulations of importing countries, including the European Union (EU), according to the Myanmar Fisheries Federation (MFF).

Hence, those who are taking a leading role in both public and private fishery sectors are urged to take advantage of this situation, make the best use of their experiences, and use innovative methods to put the country's fishery sector on the right path.

Earlier, breeders did not understand GAqP. Now, they have come to understand the EU import standards and are willing to produce fishery products using GAqP to find more foreign markets.

The government is also obliged to raise awareness about GAqP in the private fishery sector through its staff and provide assistance related with fishing technology to fishery department staff to promote the sector.

Meanwhile, farming systems, including mixed farming, which cannot guarantee export quality and food safety should be banned as soon as possible.

To penetrate the global market, GAqP is a must for breeders.

Eating Habits of Myanmar people

By Lokethar

WHEN Myanmar people, especially the older folks, meet each other the traditional greeting is "Saar-pee-bee-lar", meaning literally "have you eaten?". It seems rather odd that in a country in which affordable food is found in abundance, that would be the form of traditional greeting. May be it's the indirect way of asking about some ones health as eating regular meals would be an indication of good health. The generally accepted greeting nowadays is, of course, Mingalar-bar.

Myanmar people, especially the younger ones, love to eat "snacks" between their main meals. Any time is snack time, if the chance arises. Not surprisingly, Myanmar has a large variety of indigenous snacks, of the Burmese and of the other National races. Snacks are popular "eats" when friends get together.

There are many types of Myanmar snacks. They are mostly rice or glutinous rice based eatables. There are the crispy deep fries of Bottle Gourd or Potatoes or Onions or Chick Peas or Small Prawns etc. In fact temporary shops lining some of the streets of the city, can be found selling these deep fries. If the deep fries are fried in good clean oil they are very much edible and when taken with a dip of the appropriate sauce, is quite tasty. Then there are the

could be added. Mohinga is tasty and to an extent, nutritious as well. There are a varieties of Mohinga dishes including those that are of the National races. All kinds of Mohinga are liked

Generally speaking, for future people of Myanmar to be "well built and fit" it would take more than just limiting "Fast Foods". It would include eating nutritious food for their daily meals.

"athokes" which are more or less salad like mixtures of vegetables and noodles or rice or "deep fries" with ripe Tamarind and Chilli sauce. Then there is Mohinga which is a very common and popular "snack".

Mohinga, is a rice noodle dish taken with a fish based soup and "deep fries" of either bottle gourd, or chick pea or onions with a sprinkle of coriander leaves and a twist of lemon juice. For those who like it "spicy" a spoonful of fried chilli flakes by almost all people. In fact you can get Mohinga at most Food Courts or Tea Shops early in the morning and late in the evening; and through out the day in the special Mohinga shops.

However, since the early nineteen nineties I presume, Western style fast foods of all varieties made their way into Myanmar. The fast foods include fried/ grilled meats and fishes of all kinds, potato fries, burgers of all sorts, fried or soupy noodles of all sorts, pizzas and so on. The Western style fast food "shops" and "outlets" have been set up all over the country starting with the big cities. The fast food culture has caught on rather quickly in Myanmar and many persons, especially of the younger generation, have now become more or less "addicted" to the fast foods. There has even emerged food delivery services of the common Western style fast foods. Considering the fact that fast food overconsumption in the developed countries had resulted supposedly, in young people gaining weight and in many instances seen as being "obese," it should be a lesson to our young generation to limit fast food intake. It would be bad for them if they grow up to be "obese with disease" instead of being "well built and fit".

Generally speaking, for future people of Myanmar to be "well built and fit" it would take more than just limiting "Fast Foods". It would include eating nutritious food for their daily meals. That does not mean that they have to take special food for their growth and development. Available food can supply the nutrition they need. However the Myanmar people especially from the rural areas, who form the largest percentage of the population, consume rice as their main food. This was the case in some now developed countries in Asia. Their people were not well built physically. But, according to them, after reducing the consumption of rice and eating more protein and vegetables which are the requirements of a "balanced meal", they have over a generation, greatly improved their growth and physical dant and some, liked by the rural folks, even grow naturally in Myanmar. However the rural folks can be guided to grow a variety of nutritious vegetables for their own consumption and possibly to sell in the local markets.

If the nutritionists are few and visits by them to all the rural areas are not possible, they could perhaps advise the rural folks through nationally broadcast TV programs. One thing though, they may have to devel-development. We may have to do the same with the help of "nutritionists". They can recommend making up balanced meals with whatever ingredients are available. If meat protein is hard to come by for some poorer rural folks, the nutritionists could recommend alternatives to meat protein. "Vegetables" are abunop their programs based on the availability of the types of raw food resources in the particular area or region concerned, and come up with a "plan" of "balanced meals" suitable for the folks living there.

With Charity to all and Malice to none.

Varsity gets Bio Museum

A BIO Museum was inaugurated yesterday at the University of Forestry and Environmental Science (Yezin) in Nay Pyi Taw’s Zeyarthiri Township.

Jointly established by the university and the Japan Wildlife Research Centre (JWRC), the museum was formally opened by the acting rector of the university, Dr. San Win, and Dr. Sanei Ichikawa of the JWRC.

“The purpose of establishing this museum is to motivate students to carry out biodiversity conservation,” said Dr. San Win.

The idea of establishing the research museum came after a survey showed that youths are growing less interested in conservation of biodiversity as they cannot easily access equipment for conducting research on the subject, he added.

The Convention on Biodiversity in 1998 also reflected this fact, he said.

The UFES (Yezin) and JWRC have jointly produced over 20 objects for doing research on biodiversity.

The University is also collaborating with seven foreign institutions, including Kyoto University, Himalayan University Consortium (HUC), University of Sustainable Development, and the University of Forestry of Viet Nam. — Zin Oo (Myanma Alin)

Illegal wine imports causing revenue loss: liquor association

THE government is losing revenue on account of illegal wine imports, according to a media conference held by the Myanmar Liquor Association (MLA).

“We’ve found that we cannot eliminate the illegal market in some places yet. So, we need to resolve the issue of illegal wine imports. You may also be well aware that traders are illegally importing wine through the border gates without paying any taxes whatsoever. Whether it is in the case of import or export, entrepreneurs need to conduct their businesses under the same policy so that there will prevail fairness on the part of producers who are paying taxes,” said U Win Thaw, joint secretary of the MLA.

“The MLA is ready for fair competition in terms of transparency. We also have complete confidence in our products. The government generally imposes tax amounting to only about one-fifth of the real income. Some of the products do not require payment of any taxes at all. We’ve found that the government is losing revenue daily because of the illegal market,” he added.

The tax is being raised year after year on locally produced liquor. The government earned over K200 billion from tax on liquor in the 2018-2019 financial year.

According to official statistics on income tax for the year 2019, the Myanmar Liquor Association was among the top 10 taxpayers in Myanmar. —Myint Maung

Two houses destroyed by kitchen fire in Mawlamyine

A KITCHEN FIRE gutted two houses on 14 January on Hninsi 3rd street in Zayarthiri Ward of Mawlamyine Town. There were no casualties.

According to investigators, the fire started in U

Tun Hla’s house on Hninsi 3rd street after he forgot to turn off the kitchen stove. The fire quickly got out of control and spread to his neighbour’s house.

The kitchen fire destroyed U Hla Tun’s house, measuring 35x14x15 feet, and U Maw Si (a) U Thet Myo Min’s house, measuring 45x18x15 ft.

The Fire Services Department rushed to the scene and put out the blaze within 20 minutes.

The police have filed a case against U Tun Hla, 41, under Section 285 of the Penal Code. —Moe Tauk (Shwebo)

YCDC has revised land lease rates upwards in line with market price: Yangon Mayor

By Nyein Nyein

THE rent on Yangon City Development Committee’s land has been raised during the incumbent government’s term, said Yangon Mayor U Maung Maung Soe.

“The land lease rates have increased in line with the market price. It is a fold increase,” he said.

Yangon Region Auditor General Daw Khin Than Hla told the regional Hluttaw on 8 January that a report on the Yangon Region government’s spending in the 2017-2018 financial year showed wastage of money as the YCDC’s land lease was priced too low.

“The Auditor General’s report pointed out low rent rates of YCDC land. However, it was way back in the 2017-2018FY. We have already modernized land grants and the rates have been revised, depending on regulations of the lease agreement. Furthermore, the Auditor General’s report also revealed a percentage increase along with the market price. We have raised them by quite a margin after the 2017-2018 report. The rates have been raised by percentage and fold,” said U Maung Maung Soe.

“The YCDC has discussed the land lease rate with entrepreneurs. The low rate is attributed to previously signed contracts,” said the Yangon Mayor.

“The rent rates fixed in the previously signed contract were too low compared with the market price. Some contracts need to be revised. Some businesses, like the Yangon water boom, are still under discussion as they cannot afford to pay in line with the market price. This has been forwarded to the cabinet,” said U Maung Maung Soe.

“Three rates are charged for YCDC land, depending on the location.

The rate is set at K1,323 per square feet for land in Group I locations, which include Seikkyikhanaungto, Hlinethaya, Shwepyitha, Mingaladon, and four Dagon townships. The rate is K2,645 per square feet in Group II areas, including Insein, North Okkalapa, Thakayta, Dawbon, Kyimyindine, Thingangyun, Ahlon, and South Okkalapa townships. A rent of K3,168 per square feet is charged in Group III locations — Tamway, Kamayut, Sangyaung, Mingala Taungnyunt, Hline, Mayangon, Yankin, Pazuntaung, Botahtaung, Lanmadaw, Pabedan, Kyauktada, Latha, Dagon, Seikkan, and Bahan townships,” said U Ko Ko Lin, head of the YCDC’s Playground, Park, and Garden Department.

The YCDC considers and revises the contract every year. As the municipal authorities revised contracts, the land rent income from the People’s Park and the Zaykabar Compound was K1 billion higher than in the previous years, he said. “Earlier, rental earned from the People’s Park was just K2.2-2.5 million per year. The YCDC committee members elected by the people discussed and revised the rent. In the 2018-2019 financial year, the rent for People’s Park was K1.469 billion per year. Similarly, the lease for Zaykabar Compound was raised to K340.227 million from K25 million per year,” said U Ko Ko Lin.

Some businessmen have appealed against the increase in rent, said Daw Hlaing Maw Oo, secretary of the YCDC. “We are calculating and carefully considering whether the rate should be fixed according to the prevailing market price. Some appeals and requests have been submitted to the committee. The prices can also vary depending on the business type, such as business park, restaurant, or commercial office,” she said.

U Maung Maung Soe also said that the Auditor General’s finding report 2017-2018 FY also contains incorrect information and the amended report shall be explained.

Huge sinkhole swallows bus, kills six in China

BEIJING (China) — An enormous sinkhole swallowed a bus and pedestrians in northwest China, sparking an explosion, killing six people and leaving four more missing, state media said Tuesday.

Footage showed people at a bus stop running from the collapsing road as the vehicle — jutting into the air — sank into the ground.

Several people disappeared into the sinkhole as it spread, including what appeared to be a child. The incident also triggered an explosion inside the hole, video showed.

Sinkholes are not unknown in China, where they are often blamed on construction works and the country’s rapid pace of development. The incident occurred at around 5:30 pm (0930 GMT) on Monday in Xining, the capital of Qinghai province, the state-run broadcaster CCTV said.

A search and rescue operation involving more than 1,000 people and 30 vehicles was underway, according to the official Xinhua news agency. An investigation into the cause has been opened. Video footage published by state broadcaster CGTN showed a person being pulled from the hole by rescue workers. The collapse left an 80-square-metre (860-square-foot) pit in the street outside a hospital.

The 16 injured were taken to hospital and are in a stable condition, Xinhua added, citing a local emergency management official. An earlier report indicated that 10 people were missing but Xinhua said four were unaccounted for.

In 2016, at least three people fell into a huge sinkhole in central Henan province, which swallowed a section of road and passersby. — AFP ■

Aung Myin Hmu helps develop garment sector in Myanmar

By Shin Naw

EITHER we go to various regions and states of Myanmar or we come to Yangon from other parts of the country, industrial zones are a common sight on the outskirts of Yangon. Once these places grew under the influence of quietness, but nowadays they come alive with industrial images.

With a total of 29 industrial zones located on the outskirts of Yangon, nearby streets are swarming with factory workers during the rush hours. Garment is the largest among the industries in Yangon.

There are 389 CMP and CMP related factories in Myanmar until November in 2019. There are 338 garment factories with 214,895 workers employed.

According to the first-time survey of strength of workers conducted from February to April in 2018, more than 90 per cent of migrant workers are women migrant workers coming to urban areas from rural ones. Most of them don't have good contacts with networks capable of offering assistance.

Those who lack occupational experience have become difficult in getting jobs following an increase in basic lowest salary. To exploit them becomes an easy job.

Aung Myin Hmu Project is offering livelihood programmes and support services to women migrant workers in order to go into a proper and secure profession in Yangon. Aung Myin Hmu is a consortium formed by Business Kind Myanmar and CARE International in Myanmar. Aung Myin Hmu is providing services with the help of Legal Clinic Myanmar.

With the financial assistance from Livelihood and Food Security Trust Funds, Aung Myin Hmu Project is working in partnership with the Ministry of Labour, Immigration and Population, private organizations and CSOs.

Ma Hnin Phyu Phyu Aung, a manager of Aung Myin Hmu of Aung Myin Hmu Training Centre, said, "Our training centre is offering sewing courses for those hunting for jobs and migrant workers. At the end of the course, it will connect the trained workers to the employment. Aung Myin Hmu is providing courses such as sewing machine operator, quality control, cutting, spreading, mechanic, finishing/ironing and CAD/CAM. We teach the trainees technical knowledge, relationship, salary management, labour contract.

There are differences before and after trainings. Those who have attended the trainings dare to speak something and they are not ashamed of themselves. They are ready to go into a worksite as they make practices.

In the past, they did not know where to get work in the factory and how to apply for a job when they left their rural areas. They are poised to face either a worksite or an interview after attending our courses because they make practice in the basic training.

Our trainees can operate many types of machines. Our trainees can control up to five or six machines at a time when the workers can operate three to four machines in other worksites. Anyone either from Yangon or other regions and states can attend our training centre.

The one who is going to attend our training centre must be 18 years old. We mainly choose those who want to work in the garment sector. Our training is free of charge. One training will run for 40 days during which technical knowledge are provided. When the course finishes, we connect trained workers to factories.

Aung Myin Hmu's courses mainly focus on technical know-how intended for the workers to go into a worksite quickly. These courses are aimed not only at providing employment to those who are in search of jobs but also at fulfilling the requirement of skilled workers.

Aung Myin Hmu serves a bridge between the employers and those who want to work."

Senior Manager Ko Sai Thet Aung of Bogart Lingerie (Yangon) Factory said, "Our factory started in 2012 and it began operating in 2013.

In the past, we provided training, but we don't have curriculum. Only operators were trained by machines.

We found a little difficulty in manufacturing. We have no time to draw up curriculum and it is not easy to draw up curriculum. When we meet Aung Myin Hmu, it prioritizes practice and training. It has curriculum.

Later, we established the training centre in partnership with Aung Myin Hmu. A total of nearly 20 batches have been concluded so far.

Ma Thin Thin Moe from Shwedaung, Pyay District in Bago Region, who is working in GDP garment factory in South Dagon, said, "Job opportunities are very rare in the countryside. The employment in the rural areas earns us a little.

I come to Yangon to hunt for a job of good pay. When I arrived in Yangon, I first worked for shoe factory because I was not able to operate sewing machine. I spotted Aung Myin Hmu Project through Facebook. I rang up Aung Myin Hmu Project and attended its training. I had to attend the training for about two months.

The lessons concerning labour law were taught in the afternoon. The training centre hunted for a job for me, but I went into a job after enquiries were made. I earn about K270,000 a month. Working hours are from 8 am to 8 pm.

Together with my friends, I am staying at a hostel exclusive of meals. Sometimes we buy meals and curry. Sometimes we cook meals and curry. Garment is one of the thriving industries in Myanmar and it is enormously growing in economic sector in Myanmar.

Export is on the increase. Garment workers are expected to increase from 400,000 to 1.5 million between 2014 and 2024. Garment export volume increased by 28 per cent in 2017, with a profit of over US$2 billion.

But later development became slower.

However, thousands of women from the rural areas are migrating to Yangon to work in the garment sector.

Nestlé hands DHL Supply Chain contract to manage entire warehousing operations in Myanmar

NESTLÉ, the world's largest food company has appointed DHL Supply Chain (DHL), the global market leader for contract logistics solutions, to manage warehousing operations for its food products in Myanmar, which include household brands such as Coffee mate®, MILO® and Nescafé®.

Total operations for Nestlé products spans 4,000 sqm, which accounts for more than 60% of total warehouse space in DHL's first multi-user warehouse in the country. The recently-unveiled warehouse is conveniently located next to Nestlé's new manufacturing facility, situated in Dagon Seikkan Industrial Zone in Yangon, the country's trade and commerce epicenter.

Kevin Burrell, CEO DHL Supply Chain, Thailand Cluster (Thailand, Viet Nam, Myanmar and Cambodia) said, "Myanmar is an exciting market to be in, and we have been very successful in ensuring that our capabilities are customized to meet our customers' needs, enabling them to grow their business footprint here."

As the country shapes up to be a bigger player in intra-regional trade, and with the local economy projected to grow by more than 6 per cent next year, we can expect more investment from various international players, who will need our expert local knowledge and executional excellence to optimize their supply chain."

"We are committed to continue investing in Myanmar's food and beverage industry, in order to deliver nutritious, high quality and safe products to local consumers under great brands such as Nescafé, Milo, Bear Brand, and Cerelac. With a wide portfolio of food & beverage products for different consumer segments, it is a top priority that we partner a logistics provider who not only understands our strict adherence to the highest standard of food safety and storage, but can also deploy an array of strategic warehousing options to ensure our products are kept in the best conditions, in order to deliver a seamless customer experience," said Victor Seah, Chairman and CEO Nestlé Indochina.

Well-connected by land transport and in close proximity to the downtown area, the warehouse runs on a fully integrated warehouse management system that can monitor Nestlé's inventory, in real time. It is also outfitted with eight loading docks and raised floors, as well as round-the-clock surveillance cameras, to ensure operational efficiency.

In addition to this new collaboration and the long-standing partnership that has spanned more than two decades, DHL Supply Chain is also managing Nestlé's warehouses and supply chain operations in other parts of Asia Pacific such as Australia, India, Malaysia, New Zealand, Taiwan, Thailand and Viet Nam. —GNLM

Ayeyawady United ties with Shan United at MPT MNL Youth (U-19) 2020

THE Week-1 match of the MPT Myanmar National League Youth (U-19) 2020 between Ayeyawady United F.C. and Shan United F.C., held yesterday at the Salin Stadium, ended in a 1-1 draw, according to the league's website.

The goal for Ayeyawady United was scored by Saung Oo Hlaing at the 22nd minute and the goal for Shan United was scored by Thura Aung at the 42nd minute.

In other matches yesterday, Chin United beat MFF by 3-1, Yaw Myay was defeated by Kachin United by 1-2, and Yadanarbon F.C. claimed a 5-0 win over Zwegapin F.C.

The other matches of Week-1 of the tourney will continue on 15 and 16 January.

On 15 January, Southern Myanmar will compete against Yangon United at the Salin Stadium, Sagaing United will play against University F.C. at the University Stadium, and Rakhine United will take on Chinland F.C. at the Yangon United Sports Complex.

On 16 January, Mawyawadi F.C. will play against Silver Stars at the Salin Stadium, Magwe F.C. will compete against ISPE F.C. at the South Dagon Stadium, and Hantharwady United will take on Myawady F.C. at the Padonmar Stadium.

All the matches will be played at 3:30 pm on the scheduled dates. — Kyaw Khin ■

MPT MNL 2020: Match fixtures to be rescheduled

SOME matches fixed for the second and third weeks of the MPT Myanmar National League 2020 will be rescheduled as the grass field at the recently renovated Thuwunna Stadium is not yet ready for hosting games, according to a meeting held yesterday at the office of the Myanmar National League at the stadium.

The meeting was attended by MNL CEO U Soe Moe Kyaw, director of the stadium U Kyaw Lin Htwe, and officials.

The renovation of Thuwunna Stadium began in the second week of November, 2019 and has been completed, but some time is needed before games can be hosted at the stadium.

On 11 January, the Thuwunna Stadium hosted an MPT MNL 2020 match between Zwegapin United and Yadanarbon F.C. But, the two teams were not comfortable with the newly renovated stadium.

With officials deciding to wait for some more time before holding matches at the stadium, some matches from the second and third weeks of the tourney have been rescheduled.

In Week-2, two matches — Chin United vs Magwe United and Zwegapin United vs Yangon United — which were previously scheduled at the Thuwunna Stadium will now be held at the YUSC. With the change in venue for the match between Zwegapin United and Yangon United in Week-2, another match between the two teams scheduled for Week-17, which was previously scheduled at the YUSC, will now take place at the Thuwunna Stadium.

In Week-3, the match between Zwegapin United and Ayeyawady United which was scheduled at the Thuwunna Stadium will now take place at the Patheingyi Stadium. The match which will be held on 26 January (Sunday) instead of 24 January (Friday) so fans from Patheingyi can come and watch it.

As the Zwegapin United vs Ayeyawady United match from Week-3 has been changed, the Week-19 match between the two teams which was previously scheduled at Patheingyi Stadium will take place at the Thuwunna Stadium. — Kyaw Khin ■

ACL qualifiers: Philippines' Ceres Negros beat Shan United 3-2

SHAN United F.C. was defeated by Philippines team Ceres Negros with a 3-2 score in the preliminary stage match of the 2020 AFC Champions League yesterday at the Rizal Memorial Stadium in Manila, according to Shan United's Facebook page.

The goals for Ceres Negros were scored by Lopez Mendy at the 5th minute, Maranon at the 40th minute, and Porteria at the 79th minute, while the goals for Myanmar were scored by Zin Min Tun at the 73rd minute and Maximin at the 87th minute.

Shan United lined up with goalkeeper Thiha Sithu and players — Ye Min Thu, David Htan, Hein Thiha Zaw, Nanda Kyaw, Keith, Zin Min Tun, Maximin, Daniel, Yan Naing Oo, and Abubakar.

As the winner of the match, Ceres Negros will meet Thailand's Port F.C. in the preliminary stage 2, the second round of the qualifiers, scheduled for 21 January.

As the losing team, Shan United will remain in the AFC Cup 2020 group stage.

In 2008, Shan United met Ceres in Round 1 and beat them in a penalty shoot-out, but all the five matches between the two teams over the last two years have been won by Ceres. — Kyaw Khin ■

Regions, states Wushu competition opens in Mandalay

THE opening ceremony of the 2020 Regions and States Wushu competition was held yesterday at the Mandalay Thiri Stadium in Mandalay.

The event was attended by Mandalay Region Hluttaw Deputy Speaker Dr. Khin Maung Htay and cabinet members, secretary of the Myanmar Olympic Committee and director-general of the Sports and Physical Education Department, U Myo Hlaing, deputy director-general U Kyaw Oo, principal of the Institute of Sports and Physical Education (Mandalay), U Myo Myint Aung, deputy director of the Sports and Physical Education Department (Mandalay), U Khin Zaw, secretary of the Myanmar Wushu Federation, deputy director U Tun Tun Oo, referees, officials from the planning and research division of the Sports and Physical Education Department, team managers, coaches, and athletes from 13 Wushu teams from states and regions, officials with the organizing committee, invited guests, students from the Institute of Sports and Physical Education, basic education schools, private schools, and monastic schools, and Wushu enthusiasts.

At the event, acting Mandalay Region Chief Minister U Zarni Aung made the opening remarks. Then, Wushu athletes took their sports oath.

Thereafter, the acting Mandalay Region Chief Minister, Mandalay Region Hluttaw Deputy Speaker, cabinet members, and director-general and deputy director-general of the Sports and Physical Education Department greeted the athletes.

A total of 196 athletes took part in the competition. — Tin Maung (Man Sub-Printing House) ■
