No leniency towards COVID-19 rules violators

AFTER warning that anyone who breaks COVID-19 tough rules to limit the fast-spreading of coronavirus on 2nd September, the authorities in regions and states are tough on anyone who fails to comply with quarantine measures.

Nearly 1,000 were arrested on 3rd and 4th September nights for breaking the midnight-to-4pm curfew, and over 110 cars and 18 motorcycles were also seized.

Similar measures were taken against the violators in other regions and states which have imposed the same curfew.

With the number of positive coronavirus cases reaching nearly 1,271 in the country yesterday, the Union Government has stepped up its fight against COVID-19 by warning that those who do not follow quarantine rules will face legal punishment.

Meanwhile, current situation of the pandemic demands quick tracing and testing, which is critical to containing outbreaks.

According to the nature of epidemics, the number of positive cases is expected to rise in one or two weeks as one case can quickly be many.

The people who had a travel history to Rakhine State after 10 August are highly advised to fully cooperate with the authorities in containing the infectious disease. Or, they would become violators under the country's natural disaster management law.

The COVID-19 pandemic is a natural disaster, and those who do not comply with the law can face fines and even prison time under Section-2 (b) of the Disaster Management Law.

The outcome of our country's battle with the pandemic depends on our ability to follow the health guidelines and rules.

Hence, they are also urged to understand that contact tracing and check-ups for the infection is the most effective strategy now to limit the spread in the country.

Coronavirus could be 'under control' in weeks if everyone abides by rules to limit the spread of COVID-19.

The Ministry of Home Affairs has the power to strictly maintain COVID-19 mandatory orders.

There would be no leniency towards all forms of foul play during COVID-19 preventive procedures.

Those who ignore rules put in place to protect people deserve imprisonment and fines; this is the only appropriate penalty.

As Myanmar undergoes comprehensive reform, and moves towards a modern state that is peaceful, democratic, prosperous and open, Viet Nam firmly supports Myanmar's path of development most appropriate to its national conditions: Ambassador of Viet Nam

The following is an exclusive interview with H.E. Mr Ly Quoc Tuan, Ambassador of the Socialist Republic of Viet Nam to the Republic of the Union of Myanmar.

Q: Excellency, on the occasion of the 75th anniversary of the National Day of the Socialist Republic of Viet Nam, could you please share with us Viet Nam's significant achievements over the course of 75 years of development?

75 years ago, on the 2nd of September 1945, Viet Nam's beloved first President, the great Ho Chi Minh, proclaimed independence for the fledgling Democratic Republic in Ha Noi's Ba Dinh square. Following myriad hardships, and innumerable sacrifices to safeguard national independence, territorial integrity, sovereignty and self-determination, today, the most cherished goals of the Declaration: [inalienable rights]... including life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness have been achieved. Maintaining the preconditions conducive to continued realization of these goals today remain the chief priorities of our Government.

The people of Viet Nam today are triumphant. Triumphant not only in war, but also in nation building and development. We have defended our sovereignty, vanquished "enemies of the people" - hunger, illiteracy, and financial distress, and embarked on a path of international integration and sustainable development.

Since 1986, with the advent of the "Open Door" policy, Viet Nam's economy has taken off. GDP has grown nearly 20 folds, to $261 billion USD in 2019; GDP per capita has grown a dozen folds, to roughly 2,700 USD. This has translated into growth and successes in other social areas as well, such as in population growth, growing roughly 50% to around 97 million people, or in literacy - 95% (internationally recognized) in 2019. Viet Nam is among the few countries that had achieved the United Nations Millennium Development Goals ahead of schedule, and is on solid footing to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals and the 2030 Development Agenda. For three quarters of a century, Viet Nam has remained steadfast in its pursuit of human-centric goals, endeavoring towards the goals of "a prosperous people, a strong nation, democracy, equality, and modernity". The mantra of the current government is "no one left behind".

Today, Viet Nam enjoys high economic growth, and continually improving living standards. The basis for this has been socio-political stability, undergirded by national security, defense as well as enhanced regulatory frameworks and respect for the rule of law. Over the past 30 years, Viet Nam has pursued a policy of openness and proactive international integration. It now enjoys relations with over 190 countries and territories, hundreds of international organizations, and investors from all over the world are welcome to seek opportunities, and do business in Viet Nam on an equal footing.

In terms of foreign policy, Viet Nam has determined that it will be a responsible member of the international community by contributing positively to peace and cooperation. It has done so first through accession to regional and international organizations such as ASEAN, ASEM, APEC, WTO, and has become much more active at the UN and within UN bodies. As part of these international mechanisms, Viet Nam pursues its goals through an independent, principled approach. In addition, Viet Nam's network of 30 strategic and comprehensive partners, and membership in a dozen free trade agreements, including new-generation FTAs such as the CPTPP and EVFTA has entwined its interests with those trade accords, and has given it crucial importance in the regional and global supply chains.

In 2020 Viet Nam assumes leadership in a trio of important mechanisms: ASEAN chairmanship, ASEAN Inter-parliamentary Assembly presidency, and non-permanent member cum rotating Chair of the United Nations Security Council. In these endeavours, we recognize that:

a) Globalization and international integration remain key drivers for mankind development, despite certain setbacks. Countries need to work together for more sustainable, humanistic and safer globalization;

b) Multilateral mechanisms are in need of reforms to be more effective, representative and responsive, with the United Nations at the core. Organizations such as ASEAN are part and parcel of this process, all working together for a fair and sustainable world order;

c) Peace, stability, cooperation and development are the aspiration of all nations and people, and to that end, we are all equal. All countries should uphold the rule of law and respect the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and legitimate interests of one another;

d) Small and medium-sized countries make up the majority of the international community, and are increasingly playing an important role in the world. As such, their voices should be heard and respected more;

e) In this quickly changing world, stronger cooperation is required for more effective response to non-traditional security challenges such as pollution, climate change, natural disasters and pandemics such as Covid-19.

The COVID-19 pandemic has caused great change and damage to the world. It has morphed from an emergency health crisis, into socio-political, socio-economic crises and reached every country in a matter of months. It has impacted nations, governments, people, and even the way we interact with each other. It has exacerbated and fast-forward emergent trends, to such an extent that a "new normal" has set in, and countries are now left to adapt to this new circumstance. Covid-19 has clearly shown how interdependent countries are today, and the critical role that international and regional cooperation, particularly with regards to access to vaccine research and production, has to play because in this day and age, "no one country can go it alone".

Viet Nam and Myanmar are very close partners. The official name that we have attached to this relationship is Comprehensive Cooperative partnership. What's more, we are members of the ASEAN family. Viet Nam's recent gift to Myanmar during the initial stage of the Covid-19 pandemic is continued animated proof of the tradition of solidarity and close assistance that the two countries have always enjoyed since our ties were established in modern history by President Ho Chi Minh and General Aung San. It is also vivid proof of Viet Nam's commitment to helping its "family members", particularly in trying times. The fact that major Vietnamese businesses and investors, such as Mytel, have had a positive presence in the Myanmar market, speaks to the depth of our cooperation. At multilateral forums, our cooperation is just as substantive, with both sides working to advance national and ASEAN interests.

With such a close partnership, Viet Nam's future and vision for a strong, united ASEAN would not be possible without a strong, united and independent Myanmar. Our countries' future are inseparable from peace, stability, cooperation and the shared prosperity of the region and the world. As the COVID-19 pandemic continues to unfold in unpredictable ways, Viet Nam hopes to work closely with Myanmar, as well as other members of the international community, to fight it effectively and foster economic recovery and development together.

Q: Excellency, in 2020, celebrating the 25th anniversary of Viet Nam's joining the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), what contribution has Viet Nam made to ASEAN, your opinion in the cooperation between the two countries in ASEAN, especially in 2020, when all countries are facing the Covid-19 pandemic.

July 28, 2020 marked the 25th anniversary of Viet Nam's accession to ASEAN. This year, the anniversary coincides with Viet Nam's 2nd chairmanship of the organization.

Joining the Association in 1995 was a major milestone for Viet Nam and for ASEAN as well. It helped turn Southeast Asia "from a land of discord to a land of concord, from confrontation to cooperation, and from poverty to dynamic development". Beside the European Union, ASEAN is another model of success for regional cooperation. ASEAN-led forums have drawn together major countries, and is valued by all world powers.

When Viet Nam joined ASEAN, the Cold War had just ended and its international standing and economic largesse remained modest. Much has changed in the past 25 years. Today, ASEAN is home to about 650 million people with a combined GDP of over 3.2 trillion USD and trade revenue of 2.8 trillion USD. The 10 Southeast Asian nations today are part of a united community with rising prestige in the Asia-Pacific and the world.

For ASEAN, Viet Nam's accession as its seventh member helped speed up the expansion of the bloc to all 10 countries in the region, further consolidating peace and stability in a region that has special geo-political and geo-economic importance, one that connects the Pacific and Indian Oceans. Upon becoming a member, Viet Nam actively pushed for the joining of other continental Southeast Asian countries into the bloc, with Laos, Myanmar and Cambodia becoming members in 1997 and 1999.

As a member of ASEAN, Viet Nam has taken a proactive and responsible part in the Association's work, including institution building such as the ASEAN Charter the ASEAN Community Roadmap, various development master plans... It has pursued Community building across ASEAN's three pillars. Through important initiatives and contributions, such as expanding the EAS and establishing the ADMM mechanism, Viet Nam has actively worked with other member states to maintain ASEAN centrality in the evolving regional architecture.

Membership in ASEAN has brought about significant and practical benefits for Viet Nam. Over the past 25 years, ASEAN membership has helped Viet Nam join other members in building a region of friendship, cooperation free of wars. This is the preconditions for any successful nation-building process. In addition to promoting intra-bloc cooperation, Viet Nam has set up strategic partnership and comprehensive partnership frameworks with neighbouring and regional countries, and important partners.

ASEAN membership has also helped Viet Nam in the course of international integration and attracting resources for development, enabling it to push ahead with reforms, expand markets, increase exports, and attract investments and ODA.

ASEAN membership has also allowed Viet Nam to twice chair ASEAN. As Chair of the organization in 2020, Viet Nam has been able to set the tone for cooperation during the year "Cohesive and Responsive", to allow the Association to push ahead in building an ASEAN Community and further promoting ASEAN's centrality in a changing world.

As Myanmar undergoes comprehensive reform, and moves towards a modern...

Over the course of a quarter of a century, Viet Nam has gradually become an integral part of ASEAN. Its ASEAN policy has become an important part of Viet Nam's foreign policy. Through this policy, Viet Nam links its development to ASEAN's development. As such, as Viet Nam continues to grow, it grows more ready to shoulder more of the Association's common work, and to assist members to better address their issues as well.
Over the past seven months, Viet Nam have demonstrated its "cohesive and responsive" spirit. It has pushed for a coordinated response among ASEAN members against the pandemic, encouraged experience sharing, best practices to overcome challenges and sound ideas and solutions to boost economic recovery and development.
As Myanmar undergoes comprehensive reform, and moves towards a modern state that is peaceful, democratic, prosperous and open, Viet Nam firmly supports Myanmar's path of development most appropriate to its national conditions. Viet Nam looks forward to and is ready to assist Myanmar in maintaining its development momentum, as well as political stability, economic development and social harmony so that it can achieve national peace and reconciliation as soon as possible. Together, we can help consolidate and promote ASEAN solidarity and resilience, strengthen ASEAN centrality, and address common issues of concern.

Q: Ambassador, 2020 marks the 45th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between Viet Nam and Myanmar. With similarities in history and development, as Vietnam's highest representative in Myanmar, what message do you have for the future of this relationship?
Viet Nam and Myanmar established diplomatic relations immediately following Viet Nam's reunification. Over the past 45 years, Viet Nam and Myanmar have built up a solid, trustworthy, and multifaceted traditional friendship. The two countries have supported and helped each other in the struggle for national liberation and in the course of national construction. Recently, our Comprehensive Partnership has helped to further develop relations substantively and effectively at all levels. In the past four years, we have seen exchanges of 4 high-level delegations. Our heads of Government regularly meet and exchange views at regional and international forums.

Thanks to direct flights, people to people and business-to-business exchanges have increased rapidly as well. Two-way trade has increased rapidly to nearly 1 billion USD. Viet Nam is currently the 7th largest investor in Myanmar with more than 200 businesses operating in country.
At the moment, we are both responding to the Covid-19 pandemic in similar ways, based on the motto: "No one left behind". I hope that in adapting to the "new normal", the authorities of the two countries will continue to create favorable conditions for businesses to trade and invest, as well as provide maximum support for citizens in returning home. Given such strong political, economic and cultural ties, Viet Nam will continue to work with Myanmar to bolster bilateral relations. Personally, I am very honoured to have the chance to act as a bridge in furthering relations between the two countries, to assist Myanmar in the course of development of a peaceful, stable and developed nation.

Beyond our bilateral relations, I look forward to working with Myanmar colleagues, as members of ASEAN, to strengthen the rule of law and enhance ASEAN's centrality role in the regional architecture, further enhance cooperation between ASEAN and other regional and international organizations, such as the UN. In the current context, we have the chance to not only promote solidarity and resilience of the Association, but also highlight ASEAN's centrality in addressing traditional and non-traditional security challenges in the region. —GNLM

Rice export meets target this year despite export volume drops via border routes

By Nyein Nyein

ALTHOUGH the volume of rice export via border route dropped, Myanmar met the export target in 2019-2020 financial year, said Vice-Chairperson U Aung Than Oo of Myanmar Rice Federation (MRF).

MRF targeted to export 2.4 million tonnes of rice and broken rice this FY. Myanmar has shipped over 2.4 million tonnes of rice and broken rice including 625,214 tonnes via border route and 1.8 million tonnes of rice and broken rice via sea route from 1 October to 21 August this FY.

The export of rice met the target this FY thanks to the rising volume of rice export via sea route, according to MRF.

The rice export volume dropped via land border route after China had granted export of rice through a legitimate trade channel, he added.

“Last year, there was illegal trading to China. Now, the traders export rice to China legally and the export volume has also dropped this FY,” he said. Moreover, Myanmar earned US$738.329 million from the export of rice and broken rice as of 21 August, this FY.

In the current financial year, 694,222 tonnes of rice and broken rice were exported to China, followed by African countries with 652,378 tonnes, EU member states with 489,478 tonnes, ASEAN countries with 440,560 tonnes and other coun-

Russia promoting distrust in US vote-by-mail plans

MOSCOW — Russia is actively trying to undermine voters’ faith in the US electoral system and especially in voting by mail ahead of the November 3 election, according to a Department of Homeland Security analysis Thursday.

The internal DHS analysis, first reported by ABC News and then other US media, says that at least since March 2020, “Russian malign influence actors have been amplifying allegations of election integrity issues in new voting processes and vote-by-mail programmes.”

It says that through media and social networks, the Russians have encouraged Americans to fear voting fraud, large counting errors and ballot mishandling by the postal service.

This argument is one that President Donald Trump hammers away at as he trails in the polls.

Russian media and proxy websites are also promoting the idea that voting by mail -- being pushed mainly to limit the risk of Covid-19 spreading via in-person voting -- is being pressed by officials and policy makers to benefit specific candidates.

The online meddling activity took place during the party caucuses and primaries at the beginning of the year, but ramped up as the coronavirus began to spread and officials began promoting widespread voting by mail.—AFP ■

Facebook to ban new political ads on cusp of US election

WASHINGTON — Facebook said Thursday it will ban new political advertising the week before the US election, one of its most sweeping moves yet against disinformation as CEO Mark Zuckerberg warned of a “risk of civil unrest” after the vote.

The social media giant vowed to fact check premature claims of victory, stating that if a candidate tries to declare himself the winner before final votes are tallied “we’ll add a label to their posts directing people to the official results.”

And it promised to “add an informational label” to content seeking to delegitimize the results or claim that “lawful voting methods” will lead to fraud.

“Anyone who is saying the election is going to be fraudulent, I think that’s problematic,” Zuckerberg said in a CBS interview on Thursday.

Facebook also started limiting its Messenger service to allow users to forward missives to no more than five people or groups at a time “to help curb the efforts of those looking to cause chaos, sow uncertainty or inadvertently undermine accurate information.”

The moves follow sharp criticism of Facebook’s handling of the 2016 presidential election, when it failed to restrict disinformation from Russian operatives that spread conspiracy theories and discouraged voting in some cases. —AFP ■

Search resumes for possible Beirut blast survivor after pulse detected

BEIRUT — Emergency crews scoured rubble Friday for a possible survivor in Beirut after the detection of a pulse drew crowds hopeful of a miracle one month on from a devastating explosion.

“We have excavated rubble but we haven’t reached a conclusion yet,” said George Abou Moussa of Lebanon’s civil defence.

A specialist sensor device on Thursday had detected a pulse beneath a levelled building between the hard-hit Gemmayzeh and Mar Mikhail districts, raising hopes that a survivor could be found more than four weeks after the disaster that killed at least 191 people.

Chilean rescue workers and Lebanese civil defence teams on Friday morning removed chunks of rubble with their hands, resuming an operation they had briefly paused overnight, an AFP photographer said.

The pulse they detected on Friday had already slowed significantly compared to a previous recording, said Nicholas Saade, who coordinates between Chilean rescue teams and their Lebanese counterparts. “After removing the big chunks we scanned again for heartbeats or respiration (and) it showed low beat/respiration” levels of seven per minute, he told AFP.—AFP ■

Towards native land of venerable Sayadaw U Bud

By Maung Tha (Archaeology)

WE interestingly viewed a two-storey brick monastery similar to Nanmadaw Mei Nu Brick Monastery in Inwa. Thanks to Ko Pyae Phyong Aung from the administrator office of Nyaungkan Village-tract, I grasped a chance to pay visit to the precinct of such monastery among paddy fields outside Nyaungkan Village, the native land of venerable Sayadaw U Bud.

The monastery in Nyaungkan Village was built in similar design of Aungmyebonsan brick monastery built by Nanmadaw Mei Nu in Inwa. Local people call such monastery as second Nanmadaw Mei Nu Brick Monastery because of smaller than the latter.

We entered below the monastery by bending the body. The lower part of the monastery was built with rooms as a tunnel. So, guides told me these rooms might be venues for monks in taking meditation. At present, only one monk has been residing at the monastery but we missed a chance to pay homage to the monk.

Nyaungkan Village was a significant place in archaeological field due to evidences of Bronze Age in excavation of Myanmar. Moreover, it was a native land of venerable Sayadaw U Budd.

Nyaungkan Village takes a position on the eastern bank of Chindwin River, five miles southwest of Budalin in Sagaing Region. It is located beside the asphalt road leading from Budalin to Kani.

Towards Nyaungkan

An express bus leaving Yangon arrived in Monywa in the early morning. Taking a break in Monywa, the bus continued the trip and arrived in Budalin at 10 am. After visiting Budalin Township General Administration Department, I continued the trip and arrived in Nyaungkan.

I made a trip to Nyaungkan in advance for making arrangements for excursion tour of undergraduate and post-graduate students from Archaeology Department of the Yangon University to make a field trip to Nyaungkan Village of Budalin Township in Myanmar's Bronze Age area.

We were warmly welcomed by U Soe Myint Aung from Nyaungkan

Village and Ko Pyae Phyong Aung from the village administrator office. A sub-police inspector and a police sergeant from Budalin Township Police Force were assigned to take security measures at Affiliated Basic Education High School where university students would stay.

Museum of Venerable Sayadaw U Bud

We went to the place of birth of Sayadaw U Bud. The Museum of Venerable Sayadaw U Bud is opened in his place of birth on the village road in Nyaungkan. A Buda image is kept in the museum.

It is not a building in the time of the venerable Sayadaw but it marks the place of birth of the Sayadaw. The museum is located in Thakhaung area. Some utensils of the Sayadaw can be seen in the museum, U Soe Mying Aung explained.

Nyaungkan was located as a large village in Bardon rural area in the past. The Sayadaw mentioned salient points of his village in Pali language at the conclusion of his Pali Sadda Padarupa Siddhi Nissaya treatise. The translated story was as follows:-

"As frog could conquer snake, rat could win over cat, deer could beat tiger, a Bo tree could thrive in the land, like the area of monastery of hermit Kapila, where enemy could never achieve victory.

A large lake with full brim of water took a position near Bo tree.

Relying on the Bo tree and lake, a wonderful city with characteristics of royal city flourished in the past.

At a time when the city deteriorated due to lack of meritorious deeds performed by the people, a village called Nyaungkan Village emerged."

The boy who would become venerable Sayadaw U Bud was born of U Oh and Daw Hmwe on 5th waning of Nayon, 1149 Myanmar Era, Tuesday. His native land was Nyaungkan Village of Budalin Township called Badon area in the past. He was named Maung Poke. At 8 years old, he started learning at Sayadaw U Pyay from Yadana Myinzu Monastery called the west monastery of Nyaungkan Village. He was very sharp and talented in childhood. It was reported that he could remember a sentence or a reason when he heard it three times. Whenever he returned home, he recited a learned paragraph. When he arrived at home he did not enter the house if recitation of his sentence did not end. He learned from Sayadaw U Pyay till 13 years old. Then, the Sayadaw entrusted him at Sayadaw U Tha Pon, the neighbour of his monastery. Sayadaw U Tha Pon renamed him Maung Bud with forecast that the boy would be an unrivalled in the future due to sharpening in learning. He was novitiated at the monastery of Sayadaw U Tha Pon who titled the novice with Shin Jambudhaja which means the greatest famous one across the Universe. The novice was always reading and reciting all the time except sleeping, eating and taking a bath as he was very interested in learning literature. The novice was ordained in 1169 ME and he became administrator of Nyaungkan Gana in 1182 ME while teaching religious literatures to more than 100 monks at Yadana Myinzu Monastery in Nyaungkan Village. After First Abbot of

Maha Aungmyebonsan Brick Monastery of Inwa Sayadaw U Poe passed away in 1192 ME, King Sagaing and First Queen Nanmadaw Mei Nu offered the monastery to Sayadaw U Bud who then resided at the monastery. The monastery was named Nanmadaw Mei Nu Brick Monastery. In May 1840, King

Thayawady handed down a death sentence to Nanmadaw Mei Nu to be killed in the water in the case of rebelling against the king. On the day of death sentence, she requested the killers to pay homage to Sayadaw U Bud for the last chance. On her arrival at the monastery, she saw the Sayadaw was reading. After paying homage, she supplicated that she would be killed for the case. That day was the last chance for her to pay homage to the Sayadaw. The Sayadaw turned to her and said, “Mi Nu, if you have debt, you must pay back.” After that, donor of the monastery Mei Nu paid homage to Sayadaw U Budd and descended from the monastery. Then, she bravely followed the killers, mentioned in the book with the title of Finding Konbaung written by author Nyo Mya.

On our way back from Sayadaw U Bud museum, we proceeded to the monastery where the Sayadaw resided in his young age. A two-storey wooden building was seen on the place of the monastery where the Sayadaw resided. The abbot of the monastery explained that the building was constructed with the use of timber posts from the monastery where the Sayadaw resided in his young age. We saw some parts of utensils such as the post box and lamp of Sayadaw U Bud at the monastery. The post box was made of wood to store palm-leave inscriptions. A Buda image was seen in the cupboard where betel box and Kam-mava inscriptions on the tusk were kept. I was much satisfied with the chance to pay visits to the monastery which was the residence of Sayadaw U Bud who had learned religious literature there. The Sayadaw was paid respects by King Sagaing and King Thayawady in Konbaung era. In descending from about 200 years old monastery after paying homage to the picture of the Sayadaw on the two-storey monastery, I have felt hearing the speech made by the Sayadaw, “if you have debt, you must pay back.”

Yangon beats Sagaing 3-1 in Week-13 of MNL

YANGON United beat Sagaing United 3-1 in Week-13 of Myanmar National League played yesterday at the Thuwunna Stadium in Yangon.

Myo Min Phyo, Kaung Htet Soe and Kyi Lin scored winning goals for Yangon. Myo Min Phyo scored a single goal for Sagaing United.

Head coach, U Min Tun Lin's Yangon United, lined up with his favourite players' captain cum keeper Kyaw Zin Htet, Yan Naing Oo, Barfo, Shori, Kaung Htet Soe and Maung Maung Win.

On the contrary, head coach U Zaw Lin Tun's Sagaing United used key players Captain Toe Sat Naing, keeper Kay Zin Hmue, Soulemanou Mandjombe and Patrick Gilles.

Sagaing United did not fear of Yangon's attacks and showed their best-attacking style at the very beginning of the match.

With the team's best understanding, Sagaing got an opening goal even at 13-minute mark.

The goal was scored by Myo Min Phyo from the left side when Yangon United's defenders were frozen under the fast attack style of Sagaing.

Yangon's head coach changed tactic at 36-minute mark and thus Nyein Chan Aung and Kyi Lin came inside the match in places of Shori and Aung Kyaw Naing.

With new players, Yangon's attack was fresh again, and three minutes later, Yangon United got an equalizer when substituted Nyein Chan Aung delivered the ball to Kaung Htet Soe who was ready to send a ball in the net for Yangon United.

Two minutes later, Sagaing defenders played roughly inside the penalty area, and Yangon United earned a penalty kick.

The penalty was successfully kicked by substituted Kyi Lin to get the second goal for Yangon.

At the break time, Yangon United led the match with 2-1.

The second half saw the better play of Yangon and the third goal for Yangon United was scored by Zarni Htet at 59 minutes over a missing ball of his teammate Nyein Chan Aung.

Later minutes saw no goals by both teams, and the 3-1 win is enough for Yangon United to bag full points in MNL Week-13.

AFC 'confident' of finishing Champions League season: top official

Saudi Arabia's Al-Hilal won the AFC Champions League last year. PHOTO: AFP

KUALA LUMPUR — Asia's football body is "confident" of completing its coronavirus-hit Champions League this year, a senior official told AFP on Friday, as it heads into a frantic period of games with some venues still unknown.

The region's showpiece tournament has been on hold since March, creating a heavy backlog before West Asia group games resume in Qatar on September 14.

Two of the East Asia groups will be played from October 16 in Malaysia, but no host has been announced for the two remaining pools or the knockout stages for the Eastern clubs.

Only two rounds of games were possible before the shutdown, and teams from China have played no matches at all. But Asian Football Confederation general secretary Windsor John said everything will be completed before the year's end. "We remain committed and confident of completing the competition within the 2020 calendar year," he said.

John said more details on East Zone matches would be announced after an AFC executive meeting next week. The competition's single-leg final is scheduled for December 5.

The pandemic continues to spread worldwide and several countries in Asia are battling serious outbreaks. But John said he believes the Champions League can restart safely.

"We have engaged with our medical experts to establish several guidelines taking reference the industry's best practices to minimize the risks," he said.

When asked separately about a Japanese report claiming the AFC had asked for a further postponement, an official reiterated that the governing body was "confident" of finishing the tournament this year. —AFP ■

Ronaldo a doubt as Portugal prepare to face weakened Croatia

LISBON — Cristiano Ronaldo is a doubt as Portugal start the defence of their Nations League title against Croatia on Saturday in Porto and Sweden on Tuesday in Solna.

Ronaldo is with the Portugal squad but has a toe infection and did not train on Wednesday or Thursday. He was instead doing "gym work", the Portuguese football federation (FPF) said.

Ronaldo has 99 goals in 164 international matches but the FPF, which has closed its training camp to the press citing health protocols, gave no indication whether he will be fit for either game. Ronaldo has not played since early August when Juventus were knocked out of the Champions League by Lyon.

At 35, the five-time Ballon d'Or winner scored 37 goals in all competitions last season, a record for a Juve player, and insists he remains ambitious, laying out his season 'goals' on Instagram last week. "Victories. Commitment. Dedication. Professionalism. With all my strength and with the precious help from my teammates and all of the Juventus staff, we work once again to conquer Italy, Europe and the World!" he wrote.—AFP ■
