Trade continues despite lockdown in Shweli

THE Chinese border town of Shweli has been locked down for five days due to the detection of the COVID-19 virus, but the border trade between Myanmar and China is still open at the Wang Ding-Kyinsankyawt border, a trader said.

China previously imposed a lockdown on only the areas and neighbourhoods where the COVID-19 virus was detected, and from 16 September 2022 at midnight, the entire city of Shweli was placed under lockdown.

“Trading activities have normal entry and exit principles. The lockdown is not related to the trading activities through the Kyinsankyawt-Wang Ding checkpoint,” said an entrepreneur based on the Muse border.

According to the businessmen, Kyinsank-yawt-Wang Ding trade is the main terminal for activities between Myanmar and China with around 100 trucks trading daily.

Lockdown has been imposed only in the Chinese city of Shweli, which borders Myanmar.

Every resident of Shweli City must enter quarantine in his house, and the initial lockdown period is set as five days, every day, everyone must have a throat swab test, and the lockdown period will depend on the number of cases found.

A resident of the border said that it will be reset.

Shweli city lockdown has been announced from 16 to 21 September 2022. Until now, the Kyinsankyawt-Wang Ding border trade is still operating. — TPT/GNLM

Mixed cropping likely to prosper this year amid high agricultural input costs

A farmer is seen applying fertilizers to the paddy field.

THE prices of agricultural inputs (fertilizer and fuel oil prices) are edging up this year, pushing up the production cost. However, mixed cropping will cover the cultivation cost as the prices of crops in mixed cropping are significantly rising. The growers will prosper, the traders said.

The price of fertilizer climbed up to K100,000 per bag. Therefore, growers substitute natural fertilizer for it, reducing the agrochemical use significantly. The harvest season of monsoon paddy commences in various regions in recent days.

As the price for the paddy was extremely low after 2010, the government's leading committee for the Protection and Promotion of the Rights and Interests of Farmers set the floor price for paddy at K320,000 per 100 baskets (one basket is equivalent to 46 pounds) in the years of 2012 and 2013. There was a narrow gap between the reference price and the market price.

A basket of paddy was measured at 50 pounds in the market. If there is higher moisture content, it was measured at 52-55 pounds.

The market prices for paddy hit K500,000-600,000 per 100 baskets in the harvest of monsoon paddy in 2021. In September 2022, the monsoon paddy was transacted at K1 to 1.3 million per 100 baskets (a basket equals 50 pounds) depending on the moisture content.

This year, weather impacts on agriculture are extremely less than that of the previous years. The market observers are still speculating on the yield rate, but there is no official confirmation released yet.

The soaring agricultural inputs drove the production cost of potatoes from K2.5 million to K7 million per acre. Likewise, the costs of summer paddy, chilli pepper and black gram cultivation have risen.

Nonetheless, those crops fetched higher prices in the markets. Therefore, the growers who will be involved in mixed cropping will reap a great profit, Ko San Lwin, a market observer, told the Global New Light of Myanmar (GNLM).—TWA/GNLM

Myanmar Embassy in Tokyo: Over 200 Japanese companies to recruit more than 658 Myanmar workers

MORE than 200 Japanese companies will employ over 658 Myanmar workers, the Myanmar Embassy in Tokyo, Japan released a statement.

The statement said Myanmar Embassy in Tokyo is screening the demand letters sent by the Ministry of Labour through the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in a timely manner.

The Myanmar Embassy is verifying, with a labour inspection company, whether the companies and factories recruiting Myanmar workers are legally established or not. The remarks and findings on those verifications will be returned to the Ministry of Labour.

The Myanmar Embassy in Tokyo verified the demand letters between 1 and 15 September 2022 and the notification for 227 job offer letters was released. A total of 227 Japanese companies have planned to recruit 658 Myanmar workers, according to the notification.

On 6 May, the Union Minister for Labour received Mr

Japan stood among the top foreign investors in Myanmar in the past decade. A total of 126 Japanese enterprises have brought in US$1.853 billion into Myanmar as of March 2022 and Japan was ranked ninth place.

Wholesale prices of onion, palm oil slide in mid-Sept

IN early September, the consumers are facing the mounting burden of living costs owing to the soaring prices of imported goods and related products.

When the Kyat-dollar exchange rate decreased, the edible oil market had a price movement. Moreover, foreign onions are imported at a cheaper rate, which eased the inflation pressures on the consumers.

On 2 September, the price of large-sized onions hit a fresh peak at K3,850 per viss (a viss equals 1.6 kilogrammes). Later, onions were imported from foreign markets. The local onion prices declined to K3,100 per viss accordingly on 15 September, ber, Ko Swe Lin, an onion buyer told the Global New Light of Myanmar (GNLM).

The picture shows onions which are sold in market.

Chinese onions were sold at K2,750 per viss on 13 September, K2,500 on 14 September and K2,100 on 15 September respectively. A trader named U Aung Win told the GNLM that a truckload of Chinese onions was seen entering Bayint Naung Wholesale Market on 14 September. "I witnessed onion bags unloading from the vehicles at 11 am on 15 September as well," he added.

Chinese onions are a bit larger than the local ones in size. The price is around K1,000 cheaper than the local ones.

Onion traders intentionally called Chinese onions rotten food. The demand was low among the locals due to the large size. Those onions are primarily used in restaurants.

The wholesale price of local onions was down by K750 per viss in Yangon markets. Onions fetched the highest of K2,675 per viss in the Seikphyu area and K3,200 in the Pakokku area. Only two bags of onions were traded with the high price in those areas. Onions priced at K2,800 are commonly traded in the regions outside Yangon, as per the market data.

Grim Fate of NUG Terrorist Group

By Min Khant

NUG is an illegal organization declared as a terrorist group by the State Administration Council-SAC under the existing laws. Why NUG is regarded as a terrorist group? The simple answer is that they are brutally killing innocent civilians in the course of terrorism they are upholding.

We all witness that the NUG group with the dogma of “everyone who differs from my attitude is my enemy” is committing the targeted killings of unarmed innocent civilians who are on their hit list by the cold-blood murderers of so-called PDFs. The primary reason for such acts is to provoke terror in the general public and the premeditated plan of the NUG group to achieve their political objective by using violent means.

The root causes leading to the current political unrest are the electoral fraud that occurred in the 2020 general elections. The NLD party that cunningly cheated and frauded the votes in the election are committing acts of terrorism by applying the armed approach after forming the NUG group that comprised extremists of NLD party members, and NLD party supporters without facing the legal consequences for their electoral fraud. In other words, they are materializing their policy of utter devastation of the State with the theme of ‘Spring Revolution’ under the arrangement of manipulators behind.

Reviewing their activities under the course NUG’s utter devastation, they are found out as follows –

- Organizing PDF groups by exploiting apolitical youths and sending them to EAO areas to materialize their armed revolution.
- Killings of innocent civilians daily who do not support them on the pretext of being ‘Informers/ dalans’.
- Burning down the villages that do not support them.
- Threatening and killing civil servants under the name of Social Punishment.
- Setting fire to schools, threatening and killing teachers to attack against education sector towards the destruction of the future

The mourning daughter in grief for her deceased parents mistakenly killed by PDFs.

A civilian in trouble due to the arson attack of PDFs.

- of the State.
- Committing war crimes such as launching violent attacks against the health sector such as conducting harassing attacks against COVID-19 control and treatment activities besides bombing attacks on ambulances.
- Carry out activities together with some EAOs to disrupt the peace processes under the implementation of the Tatmadaw.
- Collecting donation money using various reasons and projects to illegally purchase weapons and ammunitions to carry out acts of terrorism under the name of spring revolution.
- Making attempts to disintegrate the Tatmadaw as well as to disunite the people by creating fake news and disinformation.

The above-mentioned activities are acts of terrorism committed by the aboveground and underground terrorists with the manipulation, encouragement and support of the NUG group. They are doing such activities by taking advantage of the unaware moment of security forces.

During a period from 1 February 2021 to 31 August 2022, the terrorists of so-called CRPH/ NUG/PDF committed a total of 9,479 acts of terrorism such as terrorist attacks, bombing attacks and arsons at crowded public places across the country leaving 4,061 people in total dead (3,542 civilians and 519 security personnel) and 4,121 injured. A total of 268 schools and education offices were burnt down by the terrorists. Moreover, a total of 587 communication towers were also destroyed in their acts of vandalism.

The terrorists with the dogma of ‘everyone who differs from my attitude if my enemy’ brutally killed over three thousand innocent civilians including 48 teachers, 12 health staff, a nun, 82 children and 485 administrators after accusing them of ‘Informants/ dalans’. The evidence and other detailed information about such violent acts have already been sent to international counter-terrorism organizations including United Nations.

What actually happens and what we witness daily proved whether the facts and figures are merely propaganda or reality. The unlawful violent acts such as killing innocent civilians so as to control them by fear, attacking non-military targets at surprise, and threatening peaceful people via online social media are not possible to be denoted as the NUG’s area-dominance attempts. They or administration. Any criminal can commit crimes of murder and bombing attacks. As a significant instance, they cannot capture even a basic unit of the Tatmadaw deploying across the country.

There is not even a single base rather than the Headquarters of NUG and PDF in Myanmar and no office or department either. They can merely release ineffective statements and orders brazenly via online media. The individuals of so-called NUG members also dare not live or perform activities in public. Although the online fake news and disinformation depict a condition as if they have the full support of people, in reality, we can see that more NUG affiliates and PDF terrorists have been arrested and taken action due to the cooperation of people who want peace and stability.

they continue such acts of violent extremism. Therefore, the State Administration Council declared these groups terrorist groups and has conducted counter-insurgency operations and counter-terrorism operations.

In this regard, during the period from 1 February 2021 to 31 August 2022, 106 heavy weapons and 1,901 small arms, 4,938 hunting rifles/homemade/ air-pressured guns, 388,028 rounds of ammunition, 12,231 bombs/mines were confiscated.

During the same period, there are a total of 15,096 opened cases under counter-terrorism law and 11,093 arrested suspects were taken actions. Regarding the riotous protests, there are a total of 15,419 cases and 28,112 arrested offenders were taken action under Section 505-A of the Penal Code.

At present, the whole country is stable and peaceful while counter-insurgency operations and counter-terrorism operations are being conducted in some townships of Sagaing and Magway regions and other areas of some EAOs that stooges of external elements by using the minimum level of necessary force and action in line with international and domestic laws.

The Tatmadaw is now implementing the “People-Centred Security System”, therefore, it is found out that the terrorists continue targeted Attacks against the education sector by PDFs.

Terrorist attacks against the health sector by PDFs.

are merely acts of terrorism committed by the NUG group threatening the living condition of people and harassing the stability and peace of the State.

Despite the acts of terrorism committed by NUG and its stooges of PDFs, no part of the country falls under their control

In fact, the locations related to health and education must be avoided and protected even during wartime. Despite that, NUG/PDFs are carrying out violent attacks on such locations and places. That is the evidence proving that they are obviously committing war crimes and assassinations and extrajudicial killings of innocent civilians who do not support them. What they are doing are acts of terrorism no country and law can tolerate.

Although the terrorist acts of the NUG group are obviously undeniable, it is also observed that Special Advisory Council for Myanmar (SAC-M) organized and led by Yanghee Lee, the former UN Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights in Myanmar is encouraging and supporting NUG terrorist group using the financial assistance of Western bloc. The SAC-M is now making jokes by claiming that only 72 out of 330 townships, below 50 per cent of the entire territory of Myanmar are under the control of the SAC government. In reality, the SAC-M is lobbying and swindling international financial assistance by lobbying the NUG and it is not even recognized by any individual or organization. The group stating itself as an independent group of international experts is merely disseminating subversive fake news and disinformation through social media networks.

Such acts are lobbying attempts in hurry to secure the recognition of fugitive Kyaw Moe Tun supporting the NUG group at the 77th session of the UN General Assembly. A person representing a country certainly requires the mandates to actually exercise the powers of the executive, legislature, and judiciary as well as the ownership of a territory. Therefore, it is ridiculous for a Myanmar citizen to see the absolute difference between the reality on the ground and what they are saying because the SAC-M is creating and disseminating misinformation as if over half of the country has already fallen under the control of NUG and moreover, the executive, legislature, education and health-related elements have already been established so as to make the international community presume that the terrorist group NUG and its representative Kyaw Moe Tun represents Myanmar.

In fact, the information taken as references by the NUG/PDF terrorist groups and their lobbyists of international organizations is just fake news and disinformation spreading on online social networks. Such fake news and disinformation are just being applied to trick the international community. Not only Myanmar people but also the international community know that the NUG group of terrorist fugitives on the run leaving Myanmar and surviving with the donation money are just organizing a virtual government in the air by holding meetings and releasing statements on Facebook. Nevertheless, some organizations of opportunists are just playing the fool, using the NUG group, and abusing the stability and peace of Myanmar people for good measure in order to swindle money from the international community. In order to claim that over 50 per cent of Myanmar territory is under their control, on social networks, the NUG is highlighting the use of hit-and-run tactics on small sentry outposts; taking photos of frightening children under threats to prove they are opening schools and teaching children, and sneakingly killing people and doing explosions to provoke terror into public. However, that move actually publicizes to the world that they are upholding and practising terrorism. For that reason, the international community and organizations should pay serious attention to it because supporting such terrorists will definitely deteriorate the murders, violent acts and crimes and also increase the number of IDPs in Myanmar. Furthermore, it also required to take heed of the fact that the majority of Myanmar nationals are disgusted by the NUG/PDFs. To sum up, despite the nefarious attempts of disseminating propaganda using misinformation by the CRPH/NUG/PDF terrorists, their acts of terrorism on ground reality are undeniable and strong evidence. Any country, organization or individual supporting the terrorists will be presumed as the terrorists in the international arena. To get the point, NUG is certainly an organization like NCGUB, which once emerged in the following years of 1988, formed virtually in the air and disappeared in the air. However, the history pages of the NLD party and their ordinary party members were stained with dirty spots as a result of the terrorist acts committed by the NUG. I here would like to denote the grim fate of NUG stating that NUG/PDFs are now facing the hatred of people for their acts of terrorism and will soon face the neglect and actions of other world countries for good measure.

AA, ARSA attack border guard police outposts between Myanmar and Bangladesh, mortar shells exploded in Bangladesh

THE State Administration Council emphasizes State development by adopting the Five-Point Road Map and Nine Objectives and invites ethnic armed organizations to the talks for eternal peace. Meanwhile, the Arakan Army (AA) ignored the invitation to peace talks and attacked the border police outposts near Myanmar-Bangladesh border posts with excessive force. Around 7:30 pm on 16 September, the AA launched attacks cooperating with ARSA from a certain distance of the Taungpyo (left) police outpost near BP-31 between Myanmar and Bangladesh and the shells fell into the Bangladesh side and three exploded. At about 8:10 pm on the same day and on the morning of 17 September, they also attacked the Taungpyo (right) Wal police outpost near BP-34 using heavy weapons and six shells fell and exploded in Bangladesh. While the government is endeavouring for eternal peace, the attacks by the AA with ARSA on border guard police, who are conducting security measures in order to maintain peace, stability and the rule of law along the border, near the Myanmar-Bangladesh border fencing were launched intentionally to affect the bilateral relation of two countries. Some people near the Bangladesh border area were injured after the explosion of mortar shells. Similarly, AA committed ambush attacks on the border police, and blocked and cut communication channels. On 31 August morning, they attacked the border guard police outpost at BP-40 with excessive force. The outpost was lost, and some border guard members sacrificed their lives in the attack. For the above cases, the letters were sent to Cox's Bazar-based No 34 Border Guards Bangladesh via the Myanmar Border Guard Police Force Unit and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs reported to officials concerned as per the procedures. — MNA

Compile brilliant history with fruits of peace and prosperity

THE five-point roadmap of the government mentions that perpetual peace will be restored around the nation in conformity with the Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement (NCA) as much as possible. Currently, the year 2022 is set as the year of peace so as to ensure the whole nation is peaceful.

Peace and democracy are inseparable. The democratization process needs the restoration of peace. Reciprocally, the restoration of peace depends on the flourishing of democracy. Any country will face various challenges in cementing democracy without restoration of peace. If so, those wishing to restore peace can be identified as the persons anticipating the democratization process. Those who aspire Myanmar can see the dawn of peace and democracy. All the people need to march toward the goal together. They have to overcome all the challenges along their route. Hninzi Kyemon (Long Stories from the Magazines)

THIS book was published in 2022 when the writer of this book celebrated her 77th Anniversary Birthday. The publisher remarked that this book was published to mark the birthday anniversary of Thayawady San San Nwet and that the long stories in Hninzi Kyemon were never included in other collections of her long stories from the magazines. The stories included in this collection were published in such magazines as Thabin, Pe Phoo Hlwa, Sarpay Loktha, Kahlya, Yoke Shin Aung Lan and Thaug Pyaung Htwelar magazines, which were quite popular among the magazine readers.

The writer of this collection was the only lady reporter among the men who attended the short-term reporter course opened by the All-Burma Reporters Association on Kaba Aye Hillock in Yangon in 1962. She has lived a colourful life, trying her pen in composing poems, writing short stories, long stories and novels, doing the editing job, serving with a government department, and being engaged in politics. She had also spent her time in prison. She has won both national and international literary and non-literary awards. Most of her stories short and long as well as the novels have a social background, depicting the woes and miseries of the people from the low stratum.

The story titled; "Pansodan

Hmar Shi Nay Mae" depicts the life of a roadside vendor who sells old books on Pansodan Street. The main character of the story is a bibliophile in addition to his being a bookworm. Although he is a mechanic previously, he has retired from service on medical grounds. First, he tries to seek a place in the newspaper field. His attempts have come to no avail, leaving him unemployed. When his better half delivers the first baby, he is short of money. To pay the delivery expenses, he has to sell his old, rare books on which he sets a high value in the roadside book stalls. The vendors pay him very low prices for his precious books. But when he passes by the roadside stalls the next morning, he sees his books being sold for much higher prices. This makes him feel sad, driving him to the life of a roadside book vendor. And when he becomes a bookseller, he never offers low prices for good books. He wrote, "They are selling their hearts to me. You see I have no heart to pay low prices for the books they cherish as if the books were their own heart. Those who come to me to dispose of their books are my fellow poets and writers. As I have been living the same life as them, I can understand their feeling and have sympathy for them."

The title story, "Hninzi Kyemon" is about the world's outlooks changing with the passage of time. Aung Way, a poet, named his son La Yaung Way and his daughter Hninzi Way. When he told the writer these names, the writer said that people should not be away from La Yaung, the moonlight, and Hninzi, the rose. Hearing her remarks, the poet felt ashamed at his being too much proud when he was young. He admitted that he had formed an extreme attachment to one poem he composed in his youth. From then on, the poet reflected on his poems, finding his mistakes in the composition of his poems. The writer of this book concluded her story, saying she can understand and forget certain things while learning lessons, too.

Nyin Hso Thu Ye Mee Go Myar

THIS book is a collection of 25 essays. First, I would like to deal with "La Phet Yay Hsai"—the Teashop. Although the teashop culture does not fade away, the display of the teashops has undergone significant changes with their cultural customs and mores being changed, too. In the 1970s and 1980s, the teashops were the places where the customers listened to music, puffing cheroots or cigarettes, sipping tea. The teashops were also the places where the youngsters tried to catch the eyes of the shop owner's daughters sitting at the cash counter, vying with one another to draw the attraction of the owner's daughter. These days, the layout of the teashops has been changed with the young and attractive waiters and waitresses wearing smart uniforms serving the foods and drinks. Not only the people have been changed but also the tables, the chairs, the kettles and the cups have all been changed. The culture of listening to music has disappeared; people would not listen to music any longer. They would make noises. Few customers would sip the tea, taking a long time, to enjoy the taste of the tea. And the tables are set close to one another. Most youngsters would play video games or surf the internet or browse it. The people of an older age would watch the TV hung on the wall with some watching the soccer matches whereas others paying attention to the international news and views. The writer said that although he does not like the close-door period, he really misses the tea-shops in those days.

Another essay I would like to deal with is the essay titled, "Reading the Novels". In fact, the novels are imaginary. They are the creations of the writers. Some novels are written to depict the ruthlessness and atrocity of the people. Nonetheless, what happens in the actual world is crueller and much more merciless than the characters from the novel, which does not exist in the real world. According to the writer, living a life can be likened to reading novels. He concluded his essay by saying that we have to read novels endlessly. His essay is about insane people who are walking on the streets aimlessly.

The writer said that women with insanity are vulnerable to being raped by crooked guys who are left unpunished. As a consequence, there has arisen the problem of the emergence of unwanted children, who are not welcomed by the earth. We have no culprit to blame or hold him accountable for what he has done. At last, it is the innocent children who suffer from irresponsible rapists. According to the writer, many have gone mad because of abject poverty. This reminds me of a poet known as Hla Than who once wrote in his poem titled, "Ar Sha Taik Ei Ta Nay Yar"—A Place in Asia that lacking money exposes people to fatal danger.

The title essay, "Nyin Hso Thu Ye Mee Go Myar" is composed to depict the people's forgetfulness of death. In fact, people know they will die someday; they are intentionally ignorant of death. The essayist quoted Saya Nat Nwe, the great writer, as saying, "It was 18th July in 1967. An author in the name of Moe Wai tried his luck in a lottery, writing on the lottery ticket that Life Begins at Forty. This is an English saying which is to the taste of the writer. Unfortunately, however, Moe Wai died 28 days after 40, which he said is the age when life begins.

Wholesale prices of onion, palm oil...

Although there was speculation about onion wholesale price reaching up to K4,000 per viss, the actual market price decreased below K3,000. The traders gave a reason for the low yield for the price rise. We will know if the reason is valid or not in the coming two months, the GNLM quoted Ko Naing Myint, a buyer, as saying.

In addition to onion, the palm oil wholesale price fell to K7,600 per viss on 14 September. Palm oil was priced at K8,000 that evening at the Bayintnaung Wholesale Market.

The wholesale price on 1 September hit a high of K9,700 per viss. The wholesale price was down by K2,000 per viss in 15 days in Yangon markets.

The price of palm oil stood at K8,000-8,200 per viss in the retail market on the evening of 14 September, the deep-frying businesspersons said.

On 29 August, the CIF price of palm oil was US$1,088 per metric tonne. As it was calculated on the foreign exchange rate of K2,550, the original price of palm oil was only K4,814 per viss. On 12 September, the CIF price of palm oil was US$989 per metric tonne. If it is calculated on the foreign exchange rate of K2,703, the original price of palm oil is only K4,639 per viss, according to the non-governmental edible oil dealers’ association.

The prices of chilli pepper bounced back to K19,000-19,500 per viss in recent days for the second time in 2022. Nonetheless, the transaction is rarely seen at the Bayintnaung and Nyaungpinlay wholesale markets, Ko Hla Oo, who lives in Latha Township and is working in the Bayintnaung Wholesale Market, told the GNLM.— TWA/ GNLM

AS the COVID cases have now subsided, the respective governments have decided to re-open the India-Bhutan border from 23 September.

“Government of Bhutan has officially announced that international border with India will be opened on 23 September as Covid cases have subsided. We prepare to open the border and give visitors a good experience, said Tashi Penjore, the Himalayan kingdom’s Director (law and order) of the Ministry of Home and Cultural Affairs.

In the regional headquarters of Sashastra Seema Bal located at Chaprakata in the Bongaigaon district of Assam, a general meeting was held between Tashi Panjore, the Director of Law and Order

Ghana declares end of Marburg virus disease

THE Ghana Health Service (GHS) declared an end of the Marburg virus disease (MVD) outbreak in the country Friday.

“Ghana has therefore successfully interrupted the first MVD outbreak and I declare the outbreak officially over,” Patrick Kuma-Aboagye, the Director-General of the GHS, said at a press briefing attended by the World Health Organization (WHO) officials.

Bahrain’s Health Ministry reported the kingdom’s first monkeypox case on Friday.

“The patient is exhibiting symptoms and has been isolated while receiving the necessary care based on the adopted protocols,” it added, without elaborating.—Xinhua

Supply of labour falls short in US after COVID-19 pandemic

AS the United States emerges from the pandemic, employers have been desperate to hire. But while demand for goods and services has rebounded, the supply of labour has fallen short, holding back the economy, reported The New York Times early this week.

“More than two years after the COVID-19 recession officially ended, some sectors haven’t found the workers they need to operate at capacity,” said the report.

Only in August did the workforce return to its pre-pandemic size, which is millions short of where it would have been had it continued to grow at its pre-pandemic rate, according to the report.

In simple numbers, some of that gap is due to COVID-19’s death toll: more than a million people, about 260,000 of them short of retirement age, it said.

In addition, a sharp slowdown in legal immigration has pared the potential workforce by 3.2 million, relative to its trajectory before 2017, the report said, citing calculations by economists at J.P. Morgan.—Xinhua

Canada confirms 1,363 monkeypox cases

CANADA has confirmed 1,363 cases of monkeypox, including 38 hospitalizations, the Public Health Agency of Canada said on Friday.

Of the confirmed cases, 656 are from Ontario, 515 from Quebec, 150 from British Columbia, 34 from Alberta, three from Saskatchewan, two from the Yukon and one each from Nova Scotia, Manitoba and New Brunswick, said the health agency.

Ontario’s chief medical officer of health Dr Kieran Moore said monkeypox risk has diminished dramatically in the province of the largest population, according to local media reports.

The province peaked in total number of active cases in the week of 15 July, when roughly 16 to 18 cases a day were being identified through PCR testing, and the number now is down to about one a day, Moore said, adding that most of those new cases were travel-related. The province is waiting for the National Advisory Committee on Immunization to provide guidance on if and how to start a second-dose strategy, the reports said.—Xinhua

Away game: Qatar World Cup looms as money-spinner for Dubai

THE United Arab Emirates did not qualify for the Qatar World Cup but it will be a winner anyway if an overspill of fans floods its hotels, restaurants and planes.

With little investment the UAE, and in particular Dubai, stands to gain if, as expected, supporters opt to stay in the tourism hotspot instead of tiny Gulf neighbour Qatar during the November-December tournament.

High accommodation prices in the Qatari capital Doha and Dubai's more permissive environment — including a wider availability of alcohol — could entice fans, experts say.

Budget airline flydubai will run at least 30 return flights a day to Doha, just an hour away, part of a daily airlift of 160 shuttle services from cities in the resource-rich Gulf.

Dubai “has relatively relaxed social standards with respect to certain aspects of culture, such as alcohol consumption and clothing codes”, said James Swanston, a Middle East and North Africa economist at Capital Economics.

Any economic windfall, and reflected glory from the first World Cup on Arab soil, will come less than two years after Doha and the UAE were dagers-drawn over a regional blockade that isolated Qatar from its neighbours. Dubai Sports Council has estimated about a million World Cup fans could arrive in the city. Given that Qatar is expecting a similar number, the prediction may be ambitious.

Nonetheless, Dubai is gearing up with fan zones announced at parks, beaches and in the financial centre, while hotels are offering special packages. Such deals include shuttle flights and transport to the airport and fan zones.—AFP

World Bank warns recession risk rising amid higher interest rates

THE threat of a global recession is growing as central banks focus on bringing down soaring inflation rates, the World Bank warned Thursday, calling on governments to help boost supply to ease the constraints behind rising prices.

Inflation worldwide has been rising at the fastest pace seen in decades, due to supply constraints amid high demand as countries emerged from the pandemic. It has been exacerbated this year by the Russian invasion of Ukraine and Covid lockdowns in China. Major central banks have responded forcefully, raising borrowing costs to cool demand and douse red-hot inflation.

But in a new paper, World Bank economists warned that the actions may not be enough to bring high prices under control, leading to a need for more interest rate hikes, which in turn will put the brakes on growth. Many countries will not be able to avoid a recession, but the worldwide slowdown and tightening monetary policy “could give rise to significant financial stress and trigger a global recession in 2023”, the paper said.

In that scenario, global GDP growth would slow to 0.5 per cent in 2023 -- a 0.4 per cent contraction in per capita growth, meeting the technical definition of a global recession.—AFP

EU looks at lifting tariffs on scarce fertilizer

EU agriculture ministers on Friday studied ways to fix a critical scarcity of fertilizer in Europe caused by the war in Ukraine and supply gaps from Russia.

Among the measures being looked at was a European Commission proposal to lift import tariffs on ammonia and urea imports to help producers needing those ingredients for nitrogen fertilizer and bring down soaring prices. The price of fertilizers using nitrogen, phosphorous or potassium have tripled over the past year and a half, and with supply cuts from Russia — which used to be world's number one supplier — farmers are struggling.

The situation has worsened as European fertiliser makers shut down ammonia-based production because it uses natural gas, which has now become costly and also in short supply, in large part because of the war.

EU countries will formally decide on the idea of lifting import tariffs at a 26 September meeting in Brussels.

EU agriculture commissioner Janusz Wojciechowski said the commission was also looking to diversify its suppliers, turning notably to Canada, which boasts a large sector in ammonia fertilizer.—AFP

London Fashion Week opens in mourning for queen

A scaled-back London Fashion Week opened with catwalk shows on Friday but without after-show parties following the death of Queen Elizabeth II and with a pause planned for her funeral next week.

Young hacker tricks way into Uber’s system: reports

UBER said Friday it was investigating a “cybersecurity incident”, declining to comment on reports a young hacker had gained access to the ride-hailing company’s computer network.

Uber put out word of the breach late Thursday in a tweet, and a hacker claiming to be 18 years old then posted screenshots taken from inside Uber computers.

“He says that he simply — having already determined a valid username and password — tricked an Uber staff member into granting him access to internal systems,” independent cybersecurity analyst Graham Cluley said at his website.

Online comments purported to be by the hacker indicated he targeted an Uber employee with notifications for more than an hour, then reached out to the worker via WhatsApp claiming to be member of the company’s tech support team.

“Many other companies are probably at risk of falling for a similar trick,” Cluley said.

Uber said Friday that its services were all operational and that it had “no evidence that the incident involved access to sensitive data” such as users’ trip history.

Employee software tools shut down as a precaution were being gradually restarted, the San Francisco based company added.—AFP

India’s Modi tells Putin now is ‘not a time for war’

INDIAN Prime Minister Narendra Modi told Russian President Vladimir Putin that now was “not a time for war” on Friday on the sidelines of a regional summit.

New Delhi and Moscow have longstanding ties dating back to the Cold War, and Russia remains by far India’s biggest arms supplier.

But in their first face-to-face meeting since Moscow’s forces invaded Ukraine in February, Modi told Putin: “Excellency, I know today’s time is not a time for war.”

India has shied away from explicitly condemning Russia for the invasion, which sent the price of oil and other commodities soaring.

But he stressed the importance of “democracy and diplomacy and dialogue” in the meeting on the sidelines of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) summit in the Uzbek city of Samarkand, footage showed on Indian public service broadcaster Doordashan.

They would discuss “how to move forward on the path of peace”, Modi added— AFP

Norway trade surplus hits record on Europe gas sales

NORWAY’S trade surplus surged to a new record in August, fuelled by a jump in natural gas prices as the Nordic country is now Europe’s biggest supplier after Russia slashed exports.

The data released Thursday comes as the soaring prices have put Oslo in an awkward position with the European Union, with some EU countries seeking a price cap on natural gas.

Norway’s trade surplus reached close to 20 billion euros ($20 billion) last month, according to the country’s SSB statistics office.

SSB expert Jan Olav Rorhus said gas prices increased sharply in August in part because Russian deliveries to the EU via the Nord Stream 1 pipeline were reduced.

“This resulted in export volumes of natural gas from Norway, which were already elevated, reaching a record value,” he added. Russian energy giant Gazprom has completely stopped deliveries via Nord Stream since 31 August in what has been seen as retaliation to European sanctions against Moscow over the war in Ukraine. —AFP

Several pro-Russian officials killed in occupied Ukraine

A blast in Ukraine’s Russian-held city of Lugansk killed the separatist administration’s top prosecutor and his deputy on Friday, pro-Moscow authorities said, while other attacks were reported in the south. This is the latest of a series of targeted attacks against pro-Russian officials in occupied areas.

“Today, Prosecutor-General Sergei Gorenko and his deputy Ekaterina Steglenko died as a result of a terrorist act,” the press service of the leader of self-proclaimed Lugansk People’s Republic, Leonid Pasechnik, said on Telegram. Pasechnik said the attack that targeted the prosecutor’s office “showed that Kyiv’s regime had crossed all possible limits”.

Two other pro-Moscow officials were killed overnight in the southern port city of Berdyansk, the head of the Russian-installed administration in the Zaporizhzhia region Yevgeny Balitsky said on Telegram on Friday. Oleg Boyko was the deputy head of the Russian-installed administration in Berdyansk, while his wife Lyudmyla headed the electoral commission preparing for the referendum on joining Russia, according to Balitsky.—AFP

FIJIAN Prime Minister Frank Bainimarama expressed concern Saturday that his son faces multiple domestic violence charges in Australia.

Ratu Meli Bainimarama, 36, appeared in court on Thursday to face 17 counts, including assault, choking and distributing intimate images without consent.

“My son is not a member of the Fijian government and this is not a political or diplomatic matter,” the Fijian prime minister said in a statement, but added that he and his wife were “deeply concerned and disturbed about the charges”.

“During my service as prime minister I have openly and routinely condemned violence perpetrated against women and children, and that commitment is unwavering,” he added.

Bainimarama said it was “not appropriate” to comment further on “any matter before the Australian courts”.

Ratu Meli Bainimarama was arrested on 8 September in the state of Queensland and extradited to New South Wales.

An Australian judge initially issued a suppression order on his name, restricting the media from identifying him. —AFP

UK to continue suspending N. Ireland border checks despite EU legal action

DESPITE legal action from the European Union (EU), the United Kingdom (UK) said on Thursday that it will continue with its pause on border checks on goods between Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

“I can confirm we have received a reply from the UK. We will now analyze the reply before deciding on the next steps,” European Commission spokesperson for EU-UK affairs Daniel Ferrie said on Thursday.

The Commission launched infringement procedures against the UK in June and July for not complying with the Northern Ireland Protocol, the rules governing post-Brexit trading arrangements for Northern Ireland.

Under the protocol, Northern Ireland is part of British customs territory but is subject to the EU’s customs code, value-added tax rules and single market rules for goods. —Xinhua

Team Myanmar face big loss to Saudi Arabia in U-20 Asian Cup Qualifiers

HOST Saudi Arabia beat team Myanmar 5-0 in the Group A of the 2023 AFC U-20 Asian Cup Qualifiers yesterday.

The Myanmar team tried their best for their last hope of qualifying, but they faced a big loss as they had differences with the Asian powerhouse Saudi Arabia.

Myanmar has already lost the chance to qualify, but they still have to play the final match against the Maldives team.

Team Myanmar played with most of their core players, but they conceded four goals even in the first half.

Winning goals for Saudi were scored by Raddit at 17 and 45+5 minutes, Najadit at 24 minutes, Ora Yari at 35 minutes, and Jiwara at 83 minutes respectively.

The fourth goal scored near the end of the first half was a penalty kick.

Saudi Arabia, China, Myanmar, the Maldives and Uzbekistan are participating in Group A, but Uzbekistan will host the final tournament and will only count the results of the remaining four teams to qualify as they have already qualified.

After the previous matches, Saudi Arabia and China are competing to win the qualifiers with six points each, and Myanmar and the Maldives, who lost both matches, have lost the right to win the qualifiers.

Benzema out for Real but Atletico's Oblak returns for Madrid derby

Vinicius Junior's goal celebration against Mallorca provoked criticism that in turn smacked of racism. PHOTO: AFP

REAL Madrid will be without striker Karim Benzema for the Madrid derby clash with rivals Atletico Madrid, coach Carlo Ancelotti confirmed on Saturday.

The French forward has missed the team's last two games with a thigh injury and was hoping to be fit, but did not train with the team on Saturday.

"Benzema will not make the game," Ancelotti told a news conference ahead of Sunday's derby at the Wanda Metropolitano. "He has started to work individually. He'll stay here during the international break to be ready to return when La Liga is back." The coach did not want to get involved in the controversy in Spain over forward Vinicius Junior's dancing goal celebrations, which some have labelled disrespectful.

"I am not his father, I am not his brother, I am just his coach," said Ancelotti. "He is playing football with the joy that he has, with the happiness that he has."—AFP

Gerrard reveals Prince of Wales sent support of message to Villa

STEVEN Gerrard has revealed the Prince of Wales found time to send a message of support to Aston Villa while he mourns the death of Queen Elizabeth II.

William is preparing for his grandmother's funeral on Monday after the monarch died aged 96 on 8 September.

But the life-long Villa fan still offered his backing to Gerrard and his struggling team ahead of their vital 1-0 win over Southampton in the Premier League on Friday.

Boosted by William's message, Jacob Ramsey's first-half goal lifted Villa away from the relegation zone after the stadium paid tribute to the Queen with a minute's silence and a chorus of the national anthem before kick-off.

"He messaged in the week, to the club, and that shows everything about what he thinks of this club. For us to reward that with a result and clean sheet, I'm sure he will be proud," Gerrard said.

"It was along the lines of 'would love to be there'. He is consistently in touch. He is very supportive of the boys individually, he loves them. It's really impressive, his knowledge, and how much he is in to it."—AFP
