Free and fair multiparty democratic general election

THE basis for strengthening a genuine multiparty democratic system is a “free and fair multi-party democratic general election”. According to the results obtained through the election, the respective Hluttaws and the government can be structured and run the state apparatus. Therefore, I would like to present that it is necessary to be able to hold elections across the country in order for those who represent various classes of people in the regions and across the country to be elected.

Tourism services for international travellers and homegrown ...

This year’s theme of World Tourism Day is Rethinking Tourism as the globe has faced the impacts of the Covid-19 pandemic. Hence, the tourism industry needs to rethink, react and be resilient to facing challenges.

Due to the outbreak of Covid-19, the tourism industry in global countries including Myanmar almost came to a halt. People relying on tourism and related businesses lost jobs and opportunities.

Since the start of the Covid-19 infection, the government has adopted the plan to spend 3 to 4 per cent of the State budget under the COVID-19 Economic Relief Plan with the disbursement of K21.4 billion to 244 tour companies and 339 hotels and lodges so far. Moreover, leasing charges for State-owned hotels were suspended for six months and the leasing charge was reduced to 50 per cent for 21 months from April 2020 to December 2021 and allowed an exemption for the licence fee for hotels, motels and tour agencies and tour guides for one year.

Currently, the Ministry of Hotels and Tourism is implementing the strategic roadmap for Myanmar tourism recovery (2021-2025) which comprises 18 strategies and 93 detailed action plans to be able to achieve success in short-, medium- and long-term plans. More than 250 million travellers paid visits to global countries from January to May 2022, exceeding some 173 million travellers rather than 77 million travellers in the corresponding period of last year.

Myanmar resumed the issuance of e-visa for tourists on 20 May 2022 to seek good prospects for the tourism industry. Hence, it is necessary to make preparations for welcoming international and local tourists in the open season.

The tourism industry is beneficial for all sectors. Hence, ethnic people will have a chance to show off their traditions and cultural heritage as well as natural resources to the world. As such, the government and private sector need to cooperate with each other to focus on the responsible and sustainable development of the tourism industry.

Tourism services for international travellers and homegrown visitors can change much for the State economy and development undertakings. Hence, all sectors must participate in the development of the tourism sector.

Myanmar must cooperate with member countries of the World Tourism Organization to implement projects for climate change, reduction of carbon emission, sustainable development of natural resources and socio-economy, and application of internet technology for the services of the tourism industry.

All relevant ministries are to make all the necessary arrangements for travellers to be able to pay convenient visits to the destinations by providing necessary information for tourists in digital technology, and easing the restriction of entry and exit procedures of travellers and health protocols.

The message of the Secretary-General of the UNWTO was presented through a video clip.

The Senior General presented awards to winners in the Myanmar Innovative Tourism Startup Competition and

The SAC Vice-Chairman Deputy Prime Minister also presented prizes to winners in the article contest and extempore contest respectively.

Union Minister for Hotels and Tourism Dr Htay Aung presented prizes to winners in the university and basic education level essay contests.

The people are urged to receive vaccination of Covid-19 without fail as full-time vaccination of Covid-19 and receiving booster shots can effectively mitigate infection of the virus, severe suffering from the disease and increasing of death rate based on the disease.

The Union State will be built based on the Constitution (2008) and NCA: Senior General

State Administration Council Chairman Prime Minister Senior General Min Aung Hlaing addresses the SAC meeting 8/2022 in Nay Pyi Taw on 27 September 2022.

NO one must turn a blind eye to the Constitution (2008) and the Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement-NCA, said Chairman of the State Administration Council Prime Minister Senior General Min Aung Hlaing at the meeting 8/2022 of the State Administration Council at the Office of the SAC Chairman in Nay Pyi Taw yesterday afternoon.

Discussions on bilateral cooperation during a goodwill visit to Russia

In his speech, the Senior General explained his attendance at the Eastern Economic Forum during his tour of Russian Federation, meeting with Russian President Vladimir Putin, Myanmar as reliable and long-term partnership country in Southeast Asia for Russia, cooperation in all sectors, assistance of Russia to Myanmar, promotion of bilateral trade and investment, economic cooperation and good results, visits to the regions with the potential to ensure economic cooperation between Myanmar and Russia, the situation of turning 75 years Russia-Myanmar diplomatic relations, successive good relations, sending of scholarship students to Russia, good friendship status of Russia with correct attitude and trusts for cooperation in defence sector between the two countries, observation of rail transportation, trade and investment matters with Russia, and further cooperation in health and education sectors.

Encouragement for the agriculture sector to develop the State economy

The agricultural loans from State economic promotion fund were disbursed to local farmers in order to successfully grow summer paddy and green gram this cultivation season. The benefit obtained from this year's efforts aims to assist in the cultivation of summer and monsoon paddy and beans in 2024 and to increase sown acreage in coming years. Moreover, farmers will have a chance to repay their previous years' loans to the State. The funds were issued to regions and states with less economic strength such as Kayah, Chin, Rakhine, Shan, Mon, Kayin, and Kachin states and Taninthayi region as well as self-administered zones through the emerald green village project for the development of businesses in respective regions.

Encouragement for MSME for region-wise economic development

In his speech, the Senior General emphasized the development of MSME. He said: "I met all those concerned at the meeting on SME industries in very recent days for improvement of SME. SMEs grasp more than 90 per cent of the State economy. In doing so, the SME must be based on raw materials which must be produced locally. If there is no raw material, it can do nothing. Business cannot be done without raw materials. Trade is based on buying and selling of finished goods. So, raw material is of importance. In my tenure, I instructed all regions and states to establish industrial zones. Among them, Chin State needs to set up an industrial zone or industrial ward. So, I instructed officials to operate industries based on coffee, elephant yam tuber and mithun.

All other regions and states have industrial zones. So, I purpose to allocate the fund to Chin State for the establishment of the industrial zone. As the government is striving for the recovery of businesses, SMEs will have a chance to seek loans at soft interest. SME industries must be operated in all regions and states. It is because if industries and production develop in respective regions and states, the number of migrant workers can be reduced. But they cannot be totally reduced to the bottom line. We have to reduce the number of migrant workers. Relevant regions must create job opportunities. If they do business, their budgets will increase. Regions and states will have increased budgets. So, we provide the capital for them to operate their businesses with their own budgets. We disbursed K10 billion, K8 billion and K5 billion to them. It means we give the federal chance for them to spend the fund on necessities.

“Moreover, we show if the governments do it, it will achieve success with emergence of jobs in relevant regions due to encouragement to SMEs. A government must do its tasks, not for show on TV and in newspapers. Actually, they have to improve their regions and the State. Our government must strive for the development of the nation and regional governments must do so as well. It is practical politics. It is working for the nation. We allotted capital funds for implementing the national cause. They have to do so based on their capacity. If they have the capacity, they will have good business. If so, their region will have a good income. So, region and state budgets will be booming. The central level can provide monetary assistance to them as much as it can. But their efforts will accumulate the funds with improvement. So, I instructed all region and state chief ministers to operate businesses. I provided you with capital funds. It is an aim of operating SMEs. It was called SME. Now, it becomes MSME. So, I inform all council members about our efforts.”

The tourism sector contributes to all sectors

The government is striving for more arrivals of international tourists to the nation. If inbound and outbound tourism can be enhanced, the State economy will achieve great progress.

Efforts for peace, security and political stability being made

The promotion of the tourism sector needs peace, security and political stability. Political parties are allowed to hold internal meetings and other administrative measures except for political mobilization. The Tatmadaw is paving the way for multiparty democracy for the State by building the Union based on democracy and federalism. Deserved federal rights will be given.

With regard to peace, the second phase of talks is in progress. No one must turn a blind eye to the Constitution (2008) and the Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement-NCA. Ethnic armed organizations demanded an amendment to the Constitution. Amendments can be based on voting at the Hluttaw. The government is striving for holding a free and fair election. And, the government is meeting with EAOs to seek the agreements in advance.

Opening more schools for education promotion

Nay Pyi Taw State Academy will be opened in coming October and it will be meeting the standards of Yangon and Mandalay universities. The academy will admit third-year courses at first, and in the coming four years, it will admit all year-term courses.

The SAC members discussed various sectors.

In his response, the Senior General said the appointment of teaching assistants and language teachers aims to sustain ethnic literature, culture and languages. Those teachers must be trained at education colleges in regions and states. Foreign investments are invited for safe development of Thilawa and other special economic zones. CDM campaigners and related persons who disturb government servants will be exposed and action taken against them.

In conclusion, the Senior General said the activities of political parties are not restricted. The Union State will be built based on the Constitution (2008) and NCA. Council members need to deeply consider the construction of the Union State which can guarantee the future of the nation on the right track. — MNA

Drop in fuel oil price below K2,000 per litre yet to come

THE price of fuel oil has not dropped below K2,000 per litre, according to the fuel oil market. The prices of fuel oil gradually decreased in the fourth week of September. On 27 September, the prices stood at K2,070 per litre for Octane 92, K2,140 for Octane 95, K2,540 for diesel and K2,625 for premium diesel. In late August, the prices touched a high of K2,605 per litre for Octane 92, K2,670 for Octane 95, K3,245 for diesel and K3,330 for premium diesel. The prices were therefore down by K500-700 per litre within one month.

The domestic fuel prices follow the decline in the price index set by Mean of Platts Singapore (MOPS), the pricing basis for many refined products in southeast Asia, according to the Supervisory Committee on Import, Storage and Distribution of Fuel Oil.

The committee is steering the oil sector effectively not to have a shortage of oil in the domestic market and ensuring price stability for energy consumers.

The committee draws up Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) on fuel import, storage and distribution and sends reports of fuel import matters to the Foreign Exchange Supervisory Committee. This month, fuel importers have an import quota of 233,594.60 tonnes, with 80,499 tonnes of gasoline and 153,095.60 tonnes of diesel.

That is why fuel oil is sufficient in the domestic market. Oil tankers are unloading fuel oil at terminals of Thilawa Port.

The committee is issuing the daily reference rate for oil to offer a reasonable price to energy consumers. The reference rate is set on the MOPS' price assessment, shipping cost, profit margin, premium insurance and other general costs.

The rates for regions and states other than Yangon are evaluated after adding the transport costs and the retail reference rates daily cover on the state-run newspapers and are posted on the media and official website and Facebook page of the department on a daily basis starting from 4 May. —NN/GNLM

Pure gold price continues to fall to K2.7 mln per tical

THE price of pure gold continues to plunge to K2.7 million per tical (0.578 ounces or 0.016 kilogramme), according to the domestic gold market. The downward trend of pure gold in the domestic market is due to the fall in gold prices in international markets and the slide in the Kyat-dollar exchange rate.

At present, gold price is US$1,630 per ounce and a dollar is exchanged at K3,100 in the black market.

In late August, the dollar hit a tremendous high of over K4,500 in the unofficial markets. Following the depreciation of Kyat, the pure gold price reached a record-high of K3.7 million per tical.

The prevailing prices of pure gold are K2.7 million per tical for selling and K2.67 million per tical for buying.

The governor of the Central Bank of Myanmar (CBM) and officials of the Monitoring and Steering Committee on the Gold and Currency Market discussed matters regarding the stability of the gold and currency market on the afternoon of 14 September in Nay Pyi Taw.

At the meeting, the governor of the CBM remarked the further coordination of the departments concerned, gold bar transactions to be made with the banking system and operations of the banks, further support of the ministries concerned and the CBM to achieve price stability, and further cooperation between gold businesspersons and the officials.

The Ministry of Natural Resources and Environmental Conservation declared the sales of gold coins weighing one tical, 0.5 tical and 0.25 tical through state-run media on 2 September. The gold coins have been on sale at Nay Pyi Taw's Gems Emporium from 5 September.

Gold coins were sold at K2.95 million per tical on 5 September, K2.85 million from 6 to 13 September and K2.8 million from 14 to 16 September respectively. A citizenship scrutiny card and its copy are mandatory in buying gold coins cash down.

The accumulated sales of gold coins stood at 455.75 ticals as of 16 September, according to the Press Conference of the Information Team of the State Administration Council held on 20 September.

The State's gold coin market has expanded to Yangon and Mandalay regions from 23

The downward trend of pure gold in the domestic market is tracking the fall in gold spot prices in international markets and the slide in the Kyat-dollar exchange rate.

September other than Nay Pyi Taw, the ministry issued an announcement through the state-run media on 22 September.

On 28 September 2021, a dollar value hit a peak of over K3,000 in the black market, pushing the pure gold up to K2.22 million per tical.

Under the guidance of the Central Committee on Ensuring Smooth Flow of Trade and Goods, the Monitoring and Steering Committee on the Gold and Currency Market was formed on 17 December 2021 as gold and currency market stability plays a crucial role in trade facilitation.

The objectives of the committee are inspecting and prosecuting market manipulation, checking if there is compliance with payment rules in the domestic market, and proceeding against those unscrupulous traders who intend to interfere with the free and fair operation of the market under the existing laws, by-laws and regulations in line with the official directives, illegal foreign currency holding, illegal trade and taking legal actions against price manipulators.

Furthermore, the officials concerned will crack down on those people involved in charging a percentage for money withdrawals at the banks as shadow money. — NN/GNLM

Honour the great benefactor of the vaccine of rabies

LOUIS Pasteur, who is best known for his development of pasteurization and vaccines for rabies and anthrax, is a great benefactor to the global people to escape from the bad impact of dog bites. As such, World Rabies Day has been marked in honour of Louis Pasteur since 28 September 2007.

Although rabies is a cent per cent preventable disease, more than 59,000 people die from the disease around the world each year. Hence, major health organizations including, the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), the World Health Organization (WHO), the World Organization for Animal Health (OIE), and the UN Food and Agriculture Organization are working together to eliminate human deaths from dog-transmitted rabies by 2030.

With the theme Rabies: One Health, Zero Deaths, World Rabies Day aims to raise public awareness and advocate for rabies elimination globally. It is an event designed to be inclusive, uniting people, organizations, and stakeholders across all sectors against rabies. If so, all-out efforts of relevant stakeholders will mitigate problems of dog bites in rabies.

Myanmar’s health staff members at different health institutions and organizations are ready to give a helping hand to those who suffer from the bad impacts of rabies through most dog bites. To be able to do so, the government allocates sufficient funds to the Ministry of Health in order to implement various health projects throughout the country. Although many people missed chances to take the vaccine to fight rabies in the past, they now have a wider range of health awareness raised by the health personnel as well as social organizations to know the significant points of rabies and how to protect danger of rabies and how to take medical treatment for the patients of rabies. Currently, most people know that patients with rabies need to take vaccines in time.

Thanks to learning education and studying knowledge, people are able to open their scope of health knowledge. Moreover, media and charity organizations help them have health awareness of efforts of the government and relevant organizations for upgrading the health standard of the nation. In doing so, vaccinations are given to the people to be free from the impacts of rabies as well as to the pet animals to be free from infectious diseases not to be the root causes of rabies.

Nowadays, all the citizens need to join hands in the prevention of rabies for their generations to build a healthy society as well as a healthy nation as an honour of great benefactor Louis Pasteur for his adventuring the vaccine for rabies.

Whether you come to the right conclusion or not, whether indeed you are able to come to any intelligent conclusion at all, is of no importance. What is important is that you are, by this process, becoming superconscious of the word. As a result, you will suddenly notice that this very word pops up unexpectedly again and again in all your reading – for you now have a mindset for it. And of course, after you have seen it a few times, you will know fairly accurately not only what it means but the many ways in which it can be used.

STEP FOUR: You must open your mind to new ideas.

Every word you know is the translation of an idea. Think for a few minutes of the areas of human knowledge that may possibly be unknown to you – psychology, semantics, science, art, music, or whatever. Then attack one of these areas methodically – by reading books in the field. In every field, from the simplest to the most abstruse, there are several books written for the average, untrained lay reader that will give you both a good grasp of the subject and at the same time add immeasurably to your vocabulary. College students have large vocabularies because they are required to expose themselves constantly to new areas of learning. You must do the same.

STEP FIVE: You must set a goal.

If you do nothing about your vocabulary, you will learn, at most, twenty-five to fifty new words in the next twelve months. By conscious effort, you can learn several thousand. Set yourself a goal of finding several new words every day. This may sound ambitious – but you will discover as soon as you start actively looking for new words in your reading, and actively doing reading of a more challenging type, that new words are all around you – that is, if you are ready for them. And understand this; vocabulary-building snowballs. The results of each new day’s search will be greater and greater – once you provide the necessary initial push, once you gain momentum, once you become addicted to looking for, finding, and taking possession of new words.

And this is one addiction well worth cultivating!

1.WE have an old saying as regards knowledge, learning, education and wealth. If informally interpreted into English, I think, it will read as follows: —

“Wealth of a male is knowledge, learning and education”. “And the wealth of a female is beauty”. So, even though I am a very old man, age 85, with a step to the grave, I am still learning. Never too old for seeking knowledge, learning and education. We also have an old saying something like that. We too have an old saying in English. It says, “never too old to learn”. From another point of view, we can also quote, “no educative process is ever the end, it is always the beginning of more education, more learning, more living”. To stop increasing your vocabulary is to stop your intellectual growth.

2. With these views in mind, I would like to expand my article “how to keep growing your vocabulary step by step” as follows: -

STEP ONE: You must become actively receptive to new words.

Words won’t come chasing after you – you must train yourself to be on a constant lookout, in your reading and listening, for any words that other people know and you don’t.

STEP TWO: You must read more.

As an adult, you will find most of the sources of your supply of new words in books and magazines. Is your reading today largely restricted to a quick perusal of the daily newspaper? Then you will have to change your habits. If your aim is to have a superior vocabulary, you will have to make the time to read at least one book and several magazines every week. Not just this week and next week – but every week for the rest of your life. I have never met a single person who possessed a rich vocabulary and was not also an omnivorous reader.

STEP THREE: You must learn to add to your own vocabulary the new words you meet in your reading.

When you see an unfamiliar word in a book or magazine, do not skip over it impatiently. Instead,

American scientists find new Covid variant in Russian bats that can infect human beings

“As an apex virology institute, ICMR-National institute of Virology along with the wide network of Virus Research and Diagnostic Laboratories (VRDLs) will be able to handle public health emergency situation related to the emergence or reemergence of any viral pathogen in India. We have already exhibited this strength in past as during the times of Zika, Nipah, and Monkeypox viruses, and the COVID-19 pandemic.” : Dr Pragya Yadav

A TEAM of American scientists have found another coronavirus variant, namely Khosta-2, in Russian bats, which is capable of infecting humans.

According to Senior Scientist of the Indian Council of Medical Research – National Institute of Virology (ICMR-NIV), Pune, Dr Pragya Yadav there are no cases of human infection from the Khosta virus, so far.

“There are no cases of human infection with Khosta viruses have been reported yet. Seifert et al. reported that Khosta-2 could infect cells expressing human ACE2,” the Senior Scientist told ANI in an exclusive conversation.

“However, the probability of the Zoonotic spillover of the sarbecoviruses from animals to humans could not be denied like, it happened earlier with SARS-CoV-1 and 2 viruses,” she said further.

Dr Pragya Yadav further explained about Khosta-2 virus, “Khosta-2 virus is a SARS-like coronavirus belonging to the subgenus Sarbecovirus of the genus Betacoronavirus of the family Coronaviridae. The virus was identified in horseshoe bats from Russia.”

This virus which has been reported as vaccine restraint, Dr Pragya said, “In a recent study by Seifert et al., chimeric SARS-CoV-2-based spike with the RBD from the Khosta viruses have shown resistance to neutralization with SARS-CoV-2 RBD-specific monoclonal antibody, Bamlanivimab and serum of individuals who received either the Moderna or Pfizer vaccine. Further studies would be required to determine the effectiveness of COVID-19 vaccines against Khosta-2 virus.”

On India’s preparedness to deal with the reemergence of such viral pathogens, she said, “As an apex virology institute, ICMR-National institute of Virology along with the wide network of Virus Research and Diagnostic Laboratories (VRDLs) will be able to handle public health emergency situation related to the emergence or reemergence of any viral pathogen in India. We have already exhibited this strength in past as during the times of Zika, Nipah, and Monkeypox viruses, and the COVID-19 pandemic.”

Over 6 mln gallons of oil unloaded at Terminals of Thilawa Port

A tanker is seen unloading fuel oil at Thailand Port.

THE tanker ships carrying more than six million gallons of fuel oil docked at the Terminals of Thilawa Port in the Yangon Region, according to the Ministry of Commerce.

On 25 September, the MT Yu Yi ship unloaded 4.03 million gallons of diesel- 1.86 million gallons of diesel HSD and 2.17million gallons of premium diesel PHSD while the MT Harmony One vessel 2.13 million gallons of 92 Ron.

The Supervisory Committee on Import, Storage and Distribution of Fuel Oil drew up the Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) on fuel import, storage and distribution and reported the fuel imports to the Foreign Exchange Supervisory Committee in September. It allowed 233,594.60 tonnes of fuel oil imports—80,499tonnes of petrol and 153,095.60tonnes of diesel.

According to the remaining amount of fuel oil at the Thilawa fuel storage tank, fuel stations and distribution rate, the country has enough stocks of fuel oil, according to the committee. The officials distribute the fuel oil to the fuel stations across the nation by oil browsers, tankers and trains in time.

There are over 2,000 fuel stations and about 70 local oil import companies in Myanmar. Before the Ukraine-Russia conflict, the global crude oil price was $91 per barrel on 24 February and it reaches about $110 now. When the global oil prices are increasing, the local prices are also on the rise, the oil trader said.

According to the global crude oil market on 27 September, the market started at $84.05 and the market price was $84.46 in trading. The price was higher by $0.40 compared to the prices on 26 September. The global crude oil price plunges to the lowest level since January and it is stable and high again due to the rising dollar exchange rate and control of the Central Bank of the United States, market analysts said. —TWA/GNLM

Prices of sugar, jaggery show upticks in foreign demand

THE prices of food commodities continued upward trajectory in 2022 and sugar and jaggery prices were included in that list, according to Yangon wholesale market.

The prices of sugar and jaggery also broke the record in 2022 along with chilli pepper, onion and palm oil, Ko Sein Chun, a trader, told the Global New Light of Myanmar (GNLM).

Jaggery supply cannot meet the growing demand amid the shortage of toddy palm tree climbers and the decline in the number of palm tree forests. The jaggery price stayed below K1,000 per viss prior to 2010. The price quadrupled in 2022. Similarly, local sugar mills will supply fresh sugar at the end of the year.

The wholesale price of jaggery hit up to K3,700 per viss in Yangon markets. A few months are remaining for new sugar to enter the market. The sugar was priced at K2,550 per viss in the wholesale markets. The market prices of sugar and jaggery are the highest in history, Ko Chit Ko, a trader who sends commodities to regions outside Yangon, told the GNLM.

On 26 September 2022, the sugar price touched a high of K2,530 per viss and the jaggery price moved in the range of K2,550 and K3,750 per depending on different varieties produced from different regions.

Jaggery balls and sugar are seen in the market.

There were around 450,000 acres of sugarcane in 2019 and 2020 when the sugar price was below K1,000 per viss. The agricultural inputs cost only K500,000 per acre then. Approximately 20 tonnes of sugarcane were produced on average. The sugarcane fetched about K400,000 per tonne at that time in Shan State.

However, the sugarcane was offered only K33,000 per tonne by a mill in Bago Region without transport costs.

The annual sugar production is estimated at 500,000 tonnes and local consumption is about 450,000 tonnes. Beyond self-sufficiency, 40,000 tonnes of sugar were shipped to Viet Nam between January and April 2022.

Sugar price plunged to below K1,000 per viss in the wholesale market in late September 2019. The price rose to K1,750 per viss after mid-2010. After that, the price plummeted to the lowest of K845 per viss on 26 September 2020.

The sugar market raised its head with K2,000 per viss in 2021. The prices increased to K2,230 in mid-June, K2,370 on 8 September and K2,550 on 21 September 2022 respectively.

The price decline is improbable as there is a strong foreign demand, a seller said. Following the high price of sugar, sugarcane will be offered K90,000 per tonne in the upcoming season, the sugar mills notified. —TWA/GNLM

UAE agrees to supply Germany with gas, diesel as Scholz tours Gulf

THE United Arab Emirates agreed Sunday to supply natural gas and diesel to Germany as part of an “energy security” deal to replace Russian supplies.

Emirati industry minister Sultan Ahmed Al Jaber called it a “landmark new agreement” that “reinforces the rapidly growing energy partnership between the UAE and Germany”, at a signing attended by German Chancellor Olaf Scholz, the UAE’s state news agency WAM reported.

Scholz signed the deal while on a Gulf tour that took him to the UAE, Saudi Arabia and Qatar hunting for new energy sources.

He met with Emirati President Sheikh Mohamed bin Zayed Al-Nahyan, who said on Twitter they had discussed “cooperation in areas including energy security, emissions reduction and climate action”.

The German leader said he “welcomed” the “energy security” agreement, WAM said.

UAE state oil company ADNOC completed its first direct diesel delivery to Germany this month, and will “supply up to 250,000 tons of diesel per month in 2023”, it reported.

The first delivery of 137,000 cubic metres of liquefied natural gas will be made in December at Germany’s new floating LNG import terminal at Brunsbuettel, near Hamburg, the RWE energy firm said in a statement.

ADNOC will make more LNG deliveries to Germany in 2023, WAM said.

Scholz’s two-day Gulf tour aimed to seal new energy deals to replace Russian supplies and mitigate the energy crisis resulting from Moscow’s invasion of Ukraine.

On Saturday, he met Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman in Jeddah.—AFP

Cuba eyes rural tourism to boost economy

CUBA is betting on rural tourism to help boost the economy amid stepped up US sanctions against the Caribbean nation.

To get a taste of rural life in Cuba, tourists can visit the Coastal Farm project in the fishing village of Santa Fe on the outskirts of Cuba’s capital Havana.

“Visitors enjoy interacting with people in their communities,” said artist Yoanka Esteves, who spearheaded the initiative. “We show the real life of a Cuban family.”

Covering half a hectare, this coastal haven was created when Esteves and her family decided to leave Havana’s Playa district and settle down by the sea.

“They thought I was crazy because of my decision to abandon the bustle and hustle of city life,” Esteves said. The farm combines food production with tourism and the arts while generating job opportunities in an underserved neighborhood and serving as a home to Esteves and her family.—Xinhua

Venezuela, Colombia reopen border to vehicles carrying goods

VENEZUELA and Colombia on Monday reopened their border to vehicles transporting goods following seven years of partial closure, including three years in which it was fully closed due to a political spat.

Colombian President Gustavo Petro and representatives of the government of Venezuelan leader Nicolas Maduro attended the ceremony.

The first truck left San Antonio del Tachira on the Venezuelan side of the border just after midday and crossed the Simon Bolivar bridge to Cucuta in Colombia.

“We are resuming relations and taking firm steps to advance in the total and absolute opening of the border between brother peoples,” said

Maduro on Twitter.

The South American neighbours broke off diplomatic relations in 2019 under Colombia’s conservative president Ivan Duque.

But since Petro succeeded him in August, Colombia’s first ever left-wing president has moved to mend relations with Venezuela’s populist leftist government.

“It is very, very important for us to progress on the fundamental rights of the people. Families have been separated, there was a break in our relationships of respect and trust,” Colombian lawmaker Jairo Cristo said during the ceremony.—AFP

France to continue 16-bln-euro energy tariff shield in 2023 budget bill FRANCE will continue its energy tariff shield costing 16 billion euros (15 billion US dollars) in the country’s 2023 budget bill, Finance Minister Bruno Le Maire and Minister Delegate for Public Accounts Gabriel Attal announced on Monday.

After a meeting of the Council of Ministers, Le Maire told the press that the goal for the country’s 2023 budget bill is to spend “down to the last euro” to reduce inflation and protect purchasing power amid increasing energy prices.

The 2023 budget for France is based on economic growth forecasts of 2.7 per cent in 2022 and 1.0 per cent in 2023, while inflation is estimated at around 6 per cent in 2022 and 4 per cent in 2023, Le Maire said.

Another goal is to reduce France’s public accounts deficit to below 3 per cent of its GDP, he added.

In order to boost full-time employment, in 2023 the government will allocate six billion euros more budget to its Ministry of Labor and Employment than in 2022.

The Ministry of National Education and Ministry of Defence will also receive more funds through the 2023 budget bill.—Xinhua

US pharma firm Biogen settles for $900 mln with whistleblower in bribe case

US pharmaceutical company Biogen has reached a $900 million settlement with a whistleblower who accused the firm of having paid bribes to doctors to encourage them to prescribe its drugs against multiple sclerosis.

The whistleblower behind the report, Michael Bawduniak, will receive about $250 million directly, according to a statement released Monday by the US Justice Department.

The rest will essentially go to the federal government, and a smaller part – $56 million – to 15 American states that had joined the lawsuit, to which the agreement puts an end.

Bawduniak, a former marketing executive at Biogen who left the company in 2012, took legal action using the False Claims Act, which authorizes a private citizen to sue in civil cases on behalf of the US government if it appears that the state has been financially cheated by an individual or a legal entity. The law allows for the whistleblower to receive part of any compensation awarded by the courts. In the case of Biogen, approximately 30 per cent of the cost of treatments related to multiple sclerosis is covered by the Medicare, the federal health coverage programme dedicated to people aged 65 and over. According to documents on file, the other major US government programme, Medicaid, supports about 10.5 per cent of patients with the disease who are under age 65. Biogen was accused of paying millions of dollars a year in kickbacks to doctors to get them to prescribe its drug Avonex, whose sales were declining, and its new treatment, called Tysabri. –AFP

US brings fraud charges in $100 mln New Jersey deli case

US officials announced fraud charges Monday against three men who orchestrated a $100 million scheme to inflate the market value of a company whose only revenue source was a small-town New Jersey delicatessen. It is the latest twist in the odd saga of a Paulsboro, New Jersey deli owned by Hometown International, which saw its stock valuation soar in 2021 despite annual deli revenues of less than $40,000. Now the company is the target of a criminal indictment by the Justice Department and civil charges by the Securities and Exchange Commission over the inflated $100 million market value. The Justice Department charged James Patten and the father-son duo of Peter Coker Sr and Peter Coker Jr with a conspiracy in which they took control of two companies and their stock trading to artificially pump up equity valuations. –AFP

UK eyes big TikTok fine over child privacy lapse

BRITAIN on Monday warned it could fine TikTok £27 million ($29 million) over a potential failure to protect children's privacy on the Chinese-owned video app. The Information Commissioner's Office said the social media company "may have processed the data of children under the age of 13 without appropriate parental consent". The ICO also found that the short-form video platform may have "failed to provide proper information to its users in a concise, transparent and easily understood way". The watchdog has served the group with a notice of intent — which is a legal document that precedes a possible fine — over the possible breach of UK data protection law. — AFP

Japan vows to work with Australia, India for free, open Indo-Pacific

PRIME Minister Fumio Kishida agreed with his Australian and Indian counterparts on Tuesday to cooperate in achieving a free and open Indo-Pacific, a vision former leader Shinzo Abe advocated.

Kishida reached the agreements during separate meetings with Anthony Albanese and Narendra Modi ahead of the state funeral for Abe in Tokyo, according to the Japanese Foreign Ministry.

In the meeting with Modi, part of which was open to the media, Kishida said Japan will further develop diplomatic achievements made by Abe and continue cooperating with India to realize a free and open Indo-Pacific.

UN nuclear chief meets with Iran lead negotiator

THE chief of the UN’s nuclear watchdog said Monday he had met with the head of Iran’s atomic energy agency, as attempts to revive the country’s nuclear deal stall.

Efforts to salvage a tattered 2015 agreement — which offered an easing of international sanctions in exchange for a drastic limitation of Iran’s nuclear activities — have flailed since then-president Donald Trump had America withdraw from it in 2018.

The United States reimposed biting sanctions, provoking Tehran into stepping back from its nuclear commitments, greatly increasing its stock of enriched uranium and turning off monitoring cameras operated by the UN nuclear watchdog, the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA).

But after months of friction the two sides met face-to-face in Vienna.

“Dialogue has restarted with Iran on clarification of outstanding safeguards issues,” Rafael Grossi tweeted Monday.

He said he had met with Mohammad Eslami — who is also vice-president — on the sidelines of the IAEA’s annual conference, and posted a picture of the two men shaking hands.—AFP

Nepal seeks Interpol’s help to find fugitive cricket star

NEPALI police have sought help from Interpol to locate the country’s fugitive suspended national cricket captain, they said Tuesday.

A Nepali court issued an arrest warrant for Sandeep Lamichhane earlier this month following an allegation of rape by a 17-year-old girl.

But the leg-spinner is thought to have remained in the Caribbean where he was playing in a tournament. Interpol issued a “diffusion” notice against him on Sunday asking member countries for their co-operation locating him, Nepali police spokesperson Tek Prasad Rai told AFP.

“We hope this will help the arrest of Lamichhane for the investigation of a rape complaint case against him,” he said.

Lamichhane had pledged on social media Sunday to return home “as soon as possible” to fight the accusation.—AFP

RUSSIA-UKRAINE CONFLICT

Russia arrests 100 in Dagestan call-up protest: NGO

RUSSIAN police arrested more than 100 people at the weekend in the southern region of Dagestan at a protest against Moscow’s troop mobilization, NGO OVD-Info said.

Dagestan — a poor, Muslim-majority republic in the North Caucasus — has seen more men killed in the Kremlin’s military offensive in Ukraine than any other part of Russia, according to a tally made by independent Russian media of death notices published online.

OVD-Info, a human rights monitor, said late Sunday that police had arrested at least 101 people in Makhachkala, the capital of Dagestan in southwestern Russia.

As Ukraine war grinds on, Saudi influence grows

SAUDI Arabia’s unexpected role in brokering the release of foreign fighters detained in Ukraine was just the latest example of how the kingdom is seeking to bolster its international standing, diplomats and analysts say.

It also enables Riyadh to argue that preserving ties with Moscow — a source of tension with Washington, especially since Russia’s invasion of Ukraine — can be a positive factor, while potentially deflecting attention from human rights concerns that consistently generate negative headlines.

The release of the 10 foreign fighters, including two from the United States and five from Britain, came alongside a broader prisoner-of-war swap, brokered by Türkiye, that saw 215 Ukrainians walk free while Russia received 55 prisoners.

A former Ukrainian lawmaker and ally of Russian President Vladimir Putin were among those released.

Erdogan vows to protect Türkiye's rights against Greece

TURKISH President Recep Tayyip Erdogan vowed on Monday to “use all means” to protect Türkiye's rights and interests against Greece.

“We will not fail to use all the means to defend our country's rights and interests against Greece, when necessary,” Erdogan said at a press conference after a cabinet meeting.

His remarks came amid a recent escalation of tension between two neighbours over their disputes in the Aegean Sea.

He accused Athens of making policies based on “provocative actions” and suggested that Greece is being “dragged into a swamp with military buildups”. “This is a dangerous game for both the Greek politicians, the Greek state, the Greek people,” Erdogan said.

Relations between the two countries have long been tense over a series of issues, including territory and energy disputes in the Aegean and the Mediterranean Seas.

The semi-official Anadolu Agency reported on Sunday the footage of Greek ships, carrying military vehicles, landed on Lesbos and Samos islands on 18 Sept and 21 Sept. Türkiye warns Greece that these islands have non-military status according to international treaties.

Earlier this month, Erdogan accused Greece of “harassing” Turkish fighter jets in the Aegean Sea and the eastern Mediterranean, a claim that Greece has rejected.—Xinhua

Former PM Abe's state funeral held amid strong public opposition

MORE than 4,000 mourners attended a state funeral for assassinated former Prime Minister Shinzo Abe in Tokyo on Tuesday, with security tight amid strong opposition to the controversial ceremony for the country's longest-serving leader.

Ahead of the state-funded event, the first of its kind for a former premier in 55 years, calls for its cancellation had grown. Critics say it lacks a legal basis, citing Abe's complicated political legacy for their opposition.

Abe built his profile overseas by emphasizing foreign and security policy while forging personal ties with world leaders such as former US President Donald Trump. At home, however, opinion on his legacy is divided based on allegations he abused his power for personal gain.

During the postwar period, Japan had only held a state funeral for a former premier once. The honour was given in 1967 to former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, who led the country's recovery from World War II.

A private funeral for Abe took place four days after he was fatally shot during an election campaign speech on 8 July in the western city of Nara by a lone gunman. His remains were cremated.

The National Police Agency has mobilized up to 20,000 officers to enforce strict security in the capital and particularly around the Nippon Budokan hall where the ceremony was held. At a park near the venue, meanwhile, large numbers of people gathered to lay flowers from early in the morning.—Kyodo

Italy takes step into unknown with far-right win

ITALY took a sharp turn to the right Monday after Giorgia Meloni's Eurosceptic populist party swept to victory in general elections, putting a one-time Mussolini admirer on course to become the first woman to lead the country. Meloni's Brothers of Italy party, which has neo-fascist roots, won 26 per cent in Sunday's election, according to partial results.

It leads a coalition set to win a majority in parliament and install the most right-wing government since World War II.

Her success represents a seismic change in Italy — a founding member of the European Union and the eurozone's third-largest economy — and for the EU, just weeks after the far-right outperformed in elections in Sweden.

“Meloni takes Italy,” read the Repubblica daily's headline, while editorialist Stefano Folli said Italy “awakes this morning very changed”.

“It is the first time in decades that the country's political face has transformed so completely. We don't know yet whether its destiny in Europe has changed too, but that is the first of many questions” now facing Italians, he said.

Putin grants Edward Snowden Russian citizenship

PRESIDENT Vladimir Putin on Monday granted Russian citizenship to US whistleblower Edward Snowden, who exposed massive surveillance by the US National Security Agency on Americans and then sought refuge in Russia.

A presidential decree published Monday included Snowden on a list of newly-minted Russian citizens, at a time when relations between Washington and Moscow are at historic lows over the conflict in Ukraine.

Kremlin spokesman Dmi-

try Peskov told news agencies that Snowden had received Russian citizenship as a result of his own request, made in 2020 to make it easier for his American wife Lindsay Mills to travel back and forth.

“After years of separation from our parents, my wife and I have no desire to be separated from our SONS,” Snowden wrote on Twitter.

“After two years of waiting and nearly ten years of exile, a little stability will make a difference for my family,” he said.—AFP

Pulisic to return for US in final World Cup warm-up

Chelsea forward Pulisic was a late withdrawal from the USA's 2-0 defeat to Japan last Friday, but has recovered and will lead the US attack against the Saudis in Murcia, southern Spain, on Tuesday. Pulisic's absence was keenly felt in an abject US performance against Japan in Dusseldorf, where Berhalter's side failed to get a single shot on target in 90 minutes. Berhalter said he wants to "just let Christian be Christian" against fellow World Cup qualifiers Saudi Arabia.

"He does a great job of changing the game in moments, and that's all he needs to do," Berhalter said of Pulisic on a video call.

"He doesn't need to do anything more than he has done in the past. Just needs to continue to play our game, and he does that really well. He just needs to be himself." —AFP
