Root cause of splits

The root causes that underlay the rise of fractious sectarianism and the proliferation of splits are found to be the incentives that the colonialists provided to expand their sphere of influence, the wedges of instigation and incitement that they drove in a wellplanned manner among colleagues, the arrogance born of overestimating oneself, personal rivalries and underestimating others, jealousies, suspicions and grudges.

Some parties looked to foreign countries for guidance and inspiration, followed the imported ideologies and directives irrationally under foreign influence and carried out purges against fellow party members, which inevitably led to their demise. There were also many others that brought misery on themselves by aping the practices of countries with divergent development and dissimilar backgrounds.

Gear up development of border areas

Myanmar is home to national brethren living in unity and amity. Governments has created equal opportunity for national races regardless of where they reside.

Emphasis is being placed on uplifting of living standard of all national races. Development plans are being implemented in all parts of the Union. Especially, infrastructures in transport, education, health and economic sectors are being built in border areas.

The State spent over K 344,273 million on progress of border areas and national races during the period from 1989-1990 to February 2010-2011. For example, many miles of earth roads, gravel roads and asphalt roads are being constructed and maintained while small and large bridges are under construction for ensuring better transport.

As part of efforts to create the learning opportunity for children from border areas, more than 800 primary schools, more than 90 middle schools and more than 90 high schools have been opened in the education sector.

With the aim of turning out intellectuals and intelligentsia from national race youths of border areas, two Nationalities Youth Resource Development Degree Colleges were established in Yangon and Mandalay that have produced over 1500 arts and science graduates and AGTI diploma holders. Likewise, 29 Border Areas and National Races Youth Development Training Schools, four Border Areas and National Races Technical Schools and 39 Vocational Training Schools for the Women have been opened in border areas.

At present, sound foundations can be seen in political, economic, education, health and social sectors across the Union. Large quake hits Myanmar near northern Thailand

CHIANG MAI, 24 March—A large 6.8 magnitude earthquake struck Myanmar near the border with northern Thailand on Thursday, killing a woman and shaking buildings in three big cities.

People fled their homes in panic and tremors were felt in Bangkok, central Myanmar and as far away as the Vietnamese capital Hanoi, leading to the evacuation of several tall buildings and offices. Police in Mae Sai in Thailand's northernmost province of Chiang Rai said a woman had been killed when a wall of her house collapsed. Hospital officials said there were no other deaths or injuries reported in the province.

The earthquake was shallow at a depth of 6.2 miles (10 km). Witnesses in northeast Myanmar and northern Thailand said they felt the earthquake strongly and tremors caused widespread panic. Ten aftershocks further jolted the area.

"In 40 years, I never felt an earthquake this strong. A glass broke, I had to hold on to a pillar," Thanawan Sisukniyom, a retired teacher in Mae Sai, told Reuters by telephone. —Reuters

PARIS, 24 March—The "suspicious package" causing mass evacuation at the Eiffel Tower late Wednesday turned out to be a false warning once again, according to Paris police. Before this one, the most popular tourism site in Paris had already experienced several evacuations due to bomb alerts. The previous three were all proved to be hoaxes.

Some 4,000 people were evacuated around 18:00 local time from the Paris icon after an anonymous call reported of a "suspicious package" in the Tower. Paris security personnel found the unclaimed package at the foot of the tower, but it was apparently not a bomb.

On 26 Feb, anonymous phone calls reported of bombs in the Eiffel Tower and the Montparnasse Tower, another landmark of Paris. Emergency evacuations were conducted respectively in the two sites, but nothing was found afterward in operations by the security personnel.

HAILING THE 66TH ANNIVERSARY ARMED FORCES DAY

Tatmadaw puts national cause at the forefront

Padaung Than Kywe

Only when the Tatmadaw is strong, will the nation be strong

There is no sovereign country that does not have armed forces for national security and defence. Armed forces are necessary for national politics: perpetuation, peace, stability and development of the nation.

Tatmadaw is a force responsible for the task of serving national interest, which is a lifeblood of a sovereign country. It is also a force that associates with national politics, not with party politics.

Some of the Tatmadaw's primary duty is to ensure perpetuation of sovereignty, territorial areas and national unity. It is also responsible to civil authorities for the rule of law and restoration of stability and peace.

Myanmar has stood tall with own sovereignty and monarchs from time immemorial. British colonialists annexed the country following the three aggressive wars: in 1824, 1852 and 1885. Out of anti-colonialist sentiment, Myanmar people constantly launched attacks on the colonialists, thus expressing their great love of their motherland and nationalistic vigor.

In 1939 in which the world caught the fire of World War II, Myanmar youths started their movements to launch armed revolts against the British. Myanmar youths including Thakin Aung San and Thakin Shu Maung got contact with Japan and left secretly for Japan. The Thirty Comrades attended a military course to undergo harsh military training at the foot of Goshi Hill of Hinan Island in 1941.

The Thirty Comrades founded the Burma Independence Army (BIA) in Bangkok on 26 December 1941. The initial aim of the Tatmadaw was to drive British colonialists out of the nation's soil. The people joined hands with the Tatmadaw in fighting back the invaders. Although the British colonialists retreated from the nation, Japan failed to honour the pledge of declaring independence of Myanmar.

It was on 27 July 1942 when the BIA was reconstituted into the Burma Defence Army (BDA) to the liking of the Fascists. The strength of the BDA was only about 3000 due to the fact that the Fascists reduced on purpose the Myanmar's armed forces to a far lower level. Fascists declared independence on 1 August 1943. The Central Military Federation (Defence Council) held a meeting on 15 September the same year and passed a resolution to rename the BDA, the Burma National Army (BNA).

The independence of Myanmar Fascists had declared was merely sham, as evidenced by their inhumane treatments and torture to the people. So, the Tatmadaw prepared itself for attacks on Fascism.

On 27 March 1945, entire people under the leadership of the BNA launched nationwide Anti-Fascist Resistance. With the support and cooperation of the public, the Tatmadaw won victory over the Fascists despite a great gap of armed power.

Witnessing the BNA's victory over the Fascists and consolidated unity of the people, the British colonialists had no choice, but to grant Myanmar independence. Myanmar liberated itself from the British and became an independent nation again on 4 January 1948.

The 27th of March on which the Tatmadaw began to stand on its feet was put into the annals of the Myanmar history as Armed Forces Day.

Nevertheless, independence was followed by internal armed insurrection. The Tatmadaw remained loyal to the nation and successfully repulsed the attacks of internal armed insurgent groups and alien troops. The Tatmadaw born of the people has carried out national defence duty constantly for safeguarding independence and sovereignty. It made political and economic reforms whenever the nation was on the verge of collapse. The Tatmadaw has been able to accomplish the duties on its shoulders.

It took up State duties for the first time and served as the Caretaker Government and held an election in 1958, thereby preventing collapse of the government into factions which could lead to massive bloodshed and maintaining the parliamentary democracy system in the nation.

The mismanagement of the ruling government sparked strong disagreements among national races and the nation was standing on the edge of an abyss again in 1962. In great fear that the nation would lose independence, the Tatmadaw took up power on 2 March 1962 and made many reforms in the interests of the nation. The Revolutionary Council formed with Tatmadaw leaders laid down Socialism to comply with the wishes of General Aung San and the people.

In 1988, the people launched political movements to protest against the one-party system. Taking full advantage of the political movements, underground and aboveground insurgents provoked public outrage and revived anarchy. The nation was hovering on the point of collapse again, so the Tatmadaw took over State power for the third time.

The main purpose was to prevent possible collapse of the nation and disintegration of national solidarity.

In the course of the Myanmar history, the Tatmadaw has taken over power and played the leadership role in national politics for three times. Discharging the bounden duty was just to satisfy the people's wishes of laying foundations for political reforms, not because of its own accord.

With the aim of achieving economic growth of the nation, the Tatmadaw adhering to "Our Three Main National Causes" has been implementing the 12 objectives it has laid down for national development. For over 20 years, the government, the people and the Tatmadaw have managed to surmount a large range of challenges of such as the evil legacies deliberately left by the colonialists, varieties of disrupts made by internal and external subversives, natural disasters, and worldwide crises.

At present also, the Tatmadaw upholds national cause and preserves its fine traditions. Regarding Tatmadaw leaders, when the nation was in need of armed revolution for independence, politicians transformed themselves into Tatmadaw members and when the nation was in need of political reforms, the Tatmadaw leaders transformed themselves into politicians. Therefore, the Tatmadaw is knowledgeable about both political affairs and warfare.

Inspired by patriotic fervour, Tatmadaw members defend the motherland against threats, risking life and limb. And they get involved in national politics whenever necessary.

Objectives of the 66th Anniversary Armed Forces Day

1. To work in concert with the people for further burgeoning the eternal principles namely justice, liberty and equality
2. To participate in the leading role of State's national politics hand in hand with the people
3. To crush internal and external subversives, who are disrupting State stability, peace and development, in collaboration with the people
4. To build a strong, competent and modern patriotic Tatmadaw to safeguard Our Three Main National Causes

In successive periods, the Tatmadaw has been able to do all what should be done in the national interests. Throughout its history, the Tatmadaw has put national cause at the forefront and showed loyalty to the nation. It has made uncountable number of sacrifices and risked life and limb to a higher degree than any other organization in the nation.

With the aim of achieving economic growth of the nation, the Tatmadaw adhering to "Our Three Main National Causes" has been implementing the 12 objectives it has laid down for national development. For over 20 years, the government, the people and the Tatmadaw have managed to surmount a large range of challenges of such as the evil legacies deliberately left by the colonialists, varieties of disrupts made by internal and external subversives, natural disasters, and worldwide crises.

In over 20 years, the government adopted correct policies and prudent work programmes. So, the nation today is poised to practise a new system. Across the Union are a massive number of infrastructural buildings due the short- and long-term projects the government has been implementing for equitable development of all parts of the Union.

The Tatmadaw is going to hand over power to the bodies that will exercise the legislative, executive and judicial powers. That indicates the sense of duty of the Tatmadaw that has been making earnest efforts to comply with the people's aspiration to a modern, developed discipline-flourishing democratic nation.

Inseparable are the government and the Tatmadaw as well as the people and the Tatmadaw. So, it is required to build the Tatmadaw into a strong one. Only then, will it be possible to safeguard independence and sovereignty of the nation forever.

At the parade of the 65th Anniversary Armed Forces Day, Chairman of the State Peace and Development Council Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services Senior General Than Shwe said, "Our Tatmadaw must be strong, efficient and modern with a strong sense of patriotism in order to safeguard the independence and sovereignty forever. Since the time of independence struggles, the people have been convinced of the fact 'Only when the Tatmadaw is strong, will the nation be strong'. Therefore, I would like to urge you to constantly pursue the four tasks of strengthening the forces so that our Tatmadaw is complete with the three types of prowess: military prowess, organizing prowess and administrative prowess and is able to keep preserving the 12 fine traditions."

In successive periods, the Tatmadaw has been able to do all what should be done in the national interests. Throughout its history, the Tatmadaw has put national cause at the forefront and showed loyalty to the nation. It has made uncountable number of sacrifices and risked life and limb to a higher degree than any other organization in the nation. In conclusion, I would like to exhort the entire people to give collective encouragement to making the Myanmar Tatmadaw, which stands firm by bounden duties in the interest of the nation and the people, modern, strong and efficient.

EP-1 Minister answers question about electricity generation, power supply projects

NAY PYI TAW, 24 March – Amyotha Hluttaw representative U Khin Maung Yi of Ayeyawady Region Constituency-6 raised a question at today’s Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session. He said it is learnt that at the confluence of the Ayeyawady River, the largest hydropower project with 6000 megawatts of installation power is being implemented. It is also found in news that a number of hydropower projects are being implemented at Maykha-Maylikha basin, Thanlwin, Chindwin, Sittoung and Rakhine State. So, he added he believed Myanmar will enjoy adequate electricity in a few years. He would like to know about electricity generation and power supply projects in detail, he said. With the aim of generating more electricity in a short time, the government is implementing the projects in three ways – projects implemented by related ministries, projects implemented companies of national entrepreneurs and projects jointly implemented by ministries and foreign companies by inviting foreign investments. There are altogether 68 projects with 45568 megawatts of generating capacity being undertaken – 15 by EP-1 Ministry, nine by national entrepreneurs and 44 by joint-venture. These projects will significantly increase electricity generation of the nation.

Concerning the second question, the minister said the issues of natural environment and relocation are considered as a special matter. At the site of Myitsone project, there are 91 inches of annual rainfall. The average flow of water to the river is 128.52 million acre feet per year. The dam to be constructed is of concrete face rock-fill type with 4300 feet in length, 458 feet in height and 9.788 million acre feet of water storage capacity. The amount of storage is 7.6 percent of the flow into the river. So, 92.4 percent of the flow will keep flowing to the river. The water stored in Myitsone Dam will flow to the Ayeyawady River through a drain when generators start running. Thus, agricultural, economic and social matters relying on the river will not have any effects. When there is less water flowing to rivers as they are dammed, especially in the hot season, the amount of flowing sea water increase and agricultural works can be affected. As Myitsone Dam is a hydropower project, generator will be running in the hot season and the water from the drain will regularly flow into the river. When electricity is generated upon completion of the project, the water level of Ayeyawady River will rise 1.5 to 2 feet even in summer. That is why the flow of salt water can be prevented more and watercourse will be better.

Minister for Electric Power
No.1 U Zaw Min responding to question.

MNA

Therefore, the project cannot produce any negative effects at all, the minister concluded.

MNA

Amyotha Hluttaw
representative U
Khin Maung Yi of Ayeyawady Region
constituency No.6
raising question.

In response, Minister for Electric Power No. 1 U Zaw Min said as for the first question, the ministry is mainly responsible for implementing power supply projects in order to generate electricity. When the Tatmadaw government started assuming State duties in 1988, there were two hydropower stations and seven gas-fired power stations totalling nine with 529 megawatts of generating capacity in Myanmar. Now, the country has 16 hydropower plants, one coal-fired power plant and 14 gas-fired power plants totalling 31 with 3285 megawatts of generating capacity. Therefore, more 22 stations have been built with more 2756 megawatts of generating capacity. The government has generation and power supply projects in detail, he said. The farmers and people of Ayeyawady Region engage in agricultural, economic and social affairs relying on the Ayeyawady River. He is concerned that Ayeyawady Myitsone project may affect the areas along the downstream of the river. This is why he wanted to know what kind of loss and damage the project might cause. And if so, he asked what measures would be taken and how the people would have to prepare.

Attorney-General replies to question on multi-party democracy system

NAY PYI TAW, 24 March—At today’s session of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw, Amyotha Hluttaw representative Dr Banya Aung Moe of Mon State Constituency-7 asked whether the government’s party and opposition party will be separated in realizing the discipline-flourishing democracy in line with the Constitution (2008) of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar; whether all the political parties should cooperate among them based on same policies and goals; and whether it should form the multi-party government based on the above-mentioned questions.

Attorney-General U Aye Maung replied that Section

7 in the Chapter-I Basic Principles of the Union in the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar states that the Union practices genuine, disciplined multi-party democratic system. Section 405 in the Chapter-X Political Parties states that a political party shall accept and practise a genuine and discipline-flourishing multi-party democratic system. According to the provisions, a political party must accept and practise a genuine and discipline-flourishing multi-party democratic system; and Hluttaw representatives from political parties of Pyidaungsu Hluttaw, Pyithu Hluttaw, Amyotha Hluttaw, Region and State Hluttaws

Construction Minister replies to question on suspension of upgrading Reed-Falam road

NAY PYI TAW, 24 March— At Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session today, Amyotha Hluttaw Representative U Zung Hlei Thang of Chin State Constituency No-2 said that Chin State and Chin nationals had the benefits from Falam-Reed motorway, a border trade route. But the road was damaged beyond repair by landslide, erosion and heavy traffic. Indian and Myanmar governments had made agreement to upgrade the road as a border trade road by the Indian side.

Road Department of India sought a road axis from Reed to Falam commencing from July 2005 and the road work was completed on April 2006. But it was a mere axis road. He said he would like to know the reason why the road construction was suspended.

Regarding the question, Minister for Construction U Khin Maung Myint replied that the government is endeavouring not only to ensure all-round developments in States and Regions but to facilitate border trade links for development of border regions.

There are two roads— Falam-Reed road and Falam-Tiddim— linking between Falam and Reed in border area.

Chief Secretary of Mizoram State of India and officials of Ministry of Construction held discussions on upgrading of Falam-Reed road into border trade road in Monywa in 1994.

Although land survey work was completed, the ministry is making coordination with India government to continue road work.

The downhill 64-mile and two-furlong long Falam-Reed road could not be used as trade route and it is being used as inter-township road. Upgrading and maintenance works are being carried out by Falam District Construction Group of the ministry.

Falam-Tiddim-Reed road is 107 miles and five furlong long. The 54 miles and seven furlong long road section was upgraded to tarred one and the remaining were gravel and earth ones. It is all-weather road for jeep and mini-buses can run on the road in open season.

Minister for Construction U Khin Maung Myint replying to query.—MNA

It is found that Falam-Tiddim-Reed road gives more benefits for local people than Falam-Reed border trade road. Both roads have same driving time, but the Falam-Tiddim, Reed road with gentle slope contributes towards smooth and secure of transport. So priority was given to upgrade Falam-Tiddim-Reed road.

(See page 8)

Plans are underway to upgrade the road section of Falam-Tiddim-Reed by Myanmar national races companies in cooperation with India. Upgrading works are being carried out by the ministry while paper works are underway to get cash assistance from India. Road Maintenance groups are expected to tackle transport problems in rainy season.

He continued he would like to present yearlycollected index of the ministry.

The index is based on collected data through thousands of people, total length of road and number of vehicles.

With regard to the index based on figures collected in 2010, the ratio of the population to the length of roads in Chin State was 1000 people:2.02 miles of roads and the ratio of length of roads to number of vehicle was one vehicle:3.49 miles of road.

Mandalay Region has 1000 people: 0.17 miles of roads, and one vehicle:0.02 mile of road; and Yangon Region has 1000 people:0.09 mile of road, and one vehicle:0.01 mile of road.

It is found that Chin State is better in index compared with other Regions.

According to the index of the ministry, the government is carrying out for development of Chin State in all sectors.

Plans are underway to upgrade Tiddim-Reed road as a first priority. As a second priority, upgrading of Falam-Tiddim road is under coordination with the Indian government. The people from Falam may travel to Reed along Falam-Tiddim-Reed road. Arrangements are being made to upgrade Falam-Reed road by the ministry depending on the fund of the ministry.

A&I Minister answers query on "summer paddy cultivation"

learnt that the summer paddy cultivation is an important policy of the government.

Minister for Agriculture and Irrigation U Htay Oo said in response to query that Myanmar's staple food is rice which is the important crop of the nation. So, the State sets sight on regional rice sufficiency as it covers the entire nation. A total of 116 million baskets of monsoon paddy were harvested from 1.472134 million acres of farmlands in Shan State in 2009-2010. It is difficult to extend cultivation of monsoon paddy for rice sufficiency of entire Shan State. So the cultivation of summer paddy in potential farmlands in various ways is focused. A total of 80000 acres of farmlands have been put under summer paddy now. As the weather condition in some places of Shan State is unfavourable for cultivation of summer paddy, the ministry is trying hard for developing cold-resistant paddy strains.

A & I Minister replies to question about quality control of fertilizers

NAY PYI TAW, 24 March—At today's Pyidaungsu Hluttaw session, Pyithu Hluttaw representative U Thein Tun of Kyaungkon Constituency said that fertilizer is necessary for boosting per acre yield of crops, and asked what the government will do to make sure that fertilizers meet the standards.

Minister for Agriculture and Irrigation U Htay Oo in his reply said that the Ministry of Agriculture and Irrigation enact Fertilizers Law on 1 October 2002, and Procedures on Fertilizers on 1 July 2007. The Fertilizers Committee has been formed with the deputy minister for Agriculture and Irrigation as the chairman, and Fertilizer Technical Group. The ministry issues registration cards and licences for producing, importing or exporting fertilizers. It also examines samples of fertilizers on market.

The ministry is taking measures for designating the amount of fertilizers for an acre of land and giving talks on use of fertilizers.

The government established Myaungdaga Urea Fertilizer Plant in December 2010 and Patheingyi Urea Fertilizer Plant in January 2011 in addition to Kyawswa, Sale and Kyungyaung urea fertilizer plants to satisfy the domestic demand. More urea fertilizer plants will be built according to the conditions.

Imported fertilizers and local organic and inorganic fertilizers are examined for quality control. The ministry is rendering assistance for production of natural fertilizers such as leaf humus fertilizer, vermicompost fertilizer, cow dung and batguano. It will take measures for taking action in accordance with the law against those who produce substandard fertilizers, imitate fertilizers and disqualified fertilizers.—MNA sion, Pyithu Hluttaw representative U Aung Thaung of Taungtha Constituency said that up to 1962, Myanmar practised scholarship system. At that time, scholarship examinations were held for 4th, 7th and 10th standards.

Winners were granted scholarships and came to study harder than ever. The system led to competitive spirit among students as well as among teachers. He asked if the upcoming government will practise scholarship system or not, when it will practise it if it has a plan, and why it cannot practise it if it does not have a plan.

Minister for Education Dr Chan Nyein answered the queries, saying that the Ministry of Education presents awards to outstanding students at the higher education level, and provides cash assistance for about 1500 students yearly.

The scholarship system helps increase the number of outstanding students. To launch the system calls for promulgation of policy, procedures and rules and regulations. So, the system should be dealt with the forthcoming government.

NASA to open rocket facility in Va

Wallops Island, 24 March—NASA has unveiled a new facility in Virginia dedicated to readying commercial rockets for space flight, with work set to begin this month, officials said.

The space agency held a ceremony Tuesday, attended by NASA Administrator Charles Bolden and Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md, to open the new Horizontal Integration Facility at its Wallops Flight Facility on Wallops Island, Va, SPACE.com reported.

The six-storey facility, about 250 feet long and 150 feet wide, will allow multi-stage medium-class rockets to be assembled and then rolled out for launch at a nearby Wallops pad.

The first commercial customer at the facility will be Orbital Sciences, based in Virginia — which is expected to use the new building to assemble its Taurus 2 rocket, set to begin conducting supply runs to the International Space Station for NASA in 2012.

The different stages of the Taurus 2 will be brought in and joined together in the building. Multiple rockets can be processed inside at the same time, using several huge cranes, officials said.

New 'missing link' dinosaur discovered in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, 24 March—Fossils of a recently discovered dinosaur species in Argentina is a "missing link" in the evolution of the long-necked giants that roamed the earth millions of years ago, paleontologists said. Long-neck, long-tail plant-eaters like Diplodocus, Brachiosaurus and Brontomerus — the largest land creatures ever to walk on earth — are dinosaurs known as sauropods. They lived some 170 million years ago. Paleontologists see the recently discovered Leonerasaurus Taquetrensis as the connection between the smaller prosauropods — also known as near-sauropods — like Sellosoaurus and Plateosaurus from the Triassic period (248-205 million years ago) to their much larger descendants, the sauropods.

Leonerasaurus lived some 10 million years before the sauropods and measured a mere three meters (yards) long, said Diego Pol with the Egidio Feruglio Museum of Paleontology.—Internet

Yahoo Search Direct takes on Google Instant

NEW YORK, 24 March—Yahoo today unveiled Yahoo Search Direct, a new feature similar to Google Instant that shows search results as you type. The benefit to you: Less typing, fewer clicks, and (hopefully) faster results.

Search Direct starts working as soon as you click inside the query window. A dropdown box displays the latest trending searches before you've typed a single character.

A larger window to the right of the trending list displays relevant information as you type. Enter "cameras," for instance, and Search Direct displays camera pricing information for Yahoo Shopping:

The benefit to you, gentle searcher, is that Yahoo provides relevant information before you've left the search box. You may very well be directed to Yahoo's in-house content, but that shouldn't come as a surprise. And, of course, you can proceed to a traditional search results page—the usual list of blue links—simply by tapping the Enter key.

Is Yahoo Search Direct better than Google Instant? This depends on what type of information you're seeking.—Internet

US soldier gets 24 years for murdering Afghans

TACOMA, 24 March— The first of five US soldiers charged with killing unarmed Afghan civilians last year was sentenced on Wednesday to 24 years in prison after pleading guilty to three counts of premeditated murder.

The guilty plea and sentencing of Army Specialist Jeremy Morlock, 23, of Wasilla, Alaska, marked a turning point in the most serious prosecution of alleged US military atrocities during 10 years of war in Afghanistan.

Under questioning by the judge, Morlock recounted his role in the deaths of three unarmed Afghan villagers whose slayings by grenade blasts and rifle fire were staged to appear as legitimate combat casualties.

"I knew what I was doing was wrong, sir," he said, adding that, contrary to his lawyers' suggestions, his judgment was not impaired by drugs. He admitted smoking hashish three or four times a week during his deployment in Afghanistan.

German magazine Der Spiegel this week published several photos related to the killings, one showing Morlock crouched grinning over a bloodied corpse as he lifted the dead man's head by the hair for the camera. The existence of such photos, among dozens seized as evidence by investigators and ordered sealed from public view by the Army, has drawn comparisons with the pictures of Iraqi prisoners taken by US military personnel at the Abu Ghraib Prison in Iraq that were made public in 2004.

Australia to rescue hundreds stranded by floods

MELBOURNE, 24 March— Hundreds of campers stranded by floods and landslides in Australia were waiting to be rescued on Wednesday after roads were washed out by freakish weather.

Darby Bridge, leading to the Tidal River campsite on Wilsons Promontory in south-eastern Victoria state, was washed away following torrential rain.

It left some 300 campers, including 200 schoolchildren, stranded.

Parks Victoria spokesman Steve Gartland said they may have to be evacuated by helicopter, although first preference was to take them out by road if possible.

"We can get people out if there is a need but we need to work out the best way to get a lot of people out," Gartland told

The Tidal and Darby rivers both burst their banks and crews were also working to clean up the mess created.

Bomb undiscovered for weeks at Detroit fed building

DETROIT, 24 March— A package found by a security guard at a federal office building in Detroit sat three weeks before someone thought to screen it and found it was a bomb, an official who represents unionized guards said on Wednesday.

A private contract guard, since suspended, apparently found the package outside in late February, said David Wright, president of the union that represents Federal Protective Service guards but not contract guards.

The building in downtown Detroit houses offices for the FBI, US Sen Carl Levin of Michigan, the Social Security Administration and others.

The guard brought the package into the building and put it in "lost and found" without having it screened, Wright said. It sat until 18 March, when someone decided to X-ray the package and found that it might contain a bomb, he said.

The guards then notified the Federal Protective Service and Detroit police and the package was moved outside the building, where the police bomb squad recovered it, he said.

Detroit police said they recovered a package on Friday from the federal building and detonated it.

The FBI is investigating the incident, Special Agent Sandra Berchtold said. Neither police nor the FBI commented further on details of the incident.

Wright said it was not clear whether the guard who found the package initially was the one who decided to have it screened for explosives.

The package should not have been moved in either case except by explosives experts, he said.—Reuters

Mayan statue sold at Paris auction for $4m is 'fake'

MEXICO CITY, 24 March — A Mayan sculpture that fetched 2.9m euros ($4.2m, £2.5m) at a Paris auction is a fake, Mexican officials believe. The French auction house Drouot maintains that the statue, of a masked figure carrying a shield, is genuine and more than 1,000 years old. But Mexico's National Institute of Anthropology and History says it does not match the style of the period it was supposedly from. Another 66 pieces at Monday's auction were also fakes, the institute said.

The Mexican Foreign Ministry has informed French authorities. "The figure tries to recreate the Pre-Columbian features of the Maya region in south-eastern Mexico, but the height, the posture and the flexed legs and the boot straps are not characteristic of this culture," the institute said. —Internet

Venezuela makes world record with largest arepa

CARACAS, 24 March — Employees of Venezuela's largest food company cooked the world's largest arepa Wednesday, producing a flattened corn flour patty weighing 1,087.31 pounds (493.2 kilos). It was 19.7 feet (6 metres) across. Arepas, which vaguely resemble Mexican tamales, are a traditional favourite in this South American country and neighboring Colombia. The patties are usually stuffed with fillings like shredded beef, cheese or black beans.

Ralph Hannah, a representative of the Guinness Book of World Records, certified the record weight after the giant arepa was cooked for hours over a heated metal plate and the water used to mix the dough evaporated. The previous record weight for an arepa was 440 pounds (200 kilos). The huge arepa was cooked at the headquarters of Empresas Polar, Venezuela's largest food producer. The event was organized to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Polar's introduction of precooked corn flour widely used to make arepas. — Internet

Beauty queen shoots home intruder

TIERRA VERDE, 24 March — A former Miss Tierra Verde shot and killed an intruder in her Florida home with a pink .38-caliber pistol she got for Christmas, her fiancé says. Meghan Brown told police someone knocked on the door of the house in Tierra Verde at 3 am 12 March, Foxnews.com reported.

When she opened the door, Albert Hill, 42, forced his way inside and dragged her to an upstairs bedroom, where her fiancé, Ronald Panthaber, tried to pull Hill off her. Panthaber says he managed to give Brown time to grab her gun — which he had given her for Christmas. The Robbery/Homicide Unit with the Pinellas County Sheriff's Office is investigating the incident, trying to find a connection between Hill, who had a long criminal record, and Brown or Panthaber.

Terisa Acevedo moved in with relatives after the 23 February fire. She returned to the apartment on Tuesday after her landlord asked her to turn off the alarm on a vehicle in the driveway. The 24-year-old Acevedo heard scratching, pulled away the plywood covering the doorway and found the year-old pup, Lola. She says Lola jumped into her arms and set off a flood of tears.

More women buying shoes online

NEW YORK, 24 March — The number of US women buying shoes online has increased dramatically, ShopSmart magazine says.

The magazine, a sister publication of Consumer Reports, surveyed female shoe-shopping habits. Almost one-third of respondents, 29 percent, said they have purchased shoes online, up from 14 percent four years ago. But 39 percent of those who have bought shoes on line say they have returned at least one pair.

The survey found that women on average own 17 pairs shoes and buy three pairs a year. The average price is $49, although 31 percent say they have paid more than $100 for a pair at least once in their lives.

Fourteen percent said they have concealed the purchase of a new pair from a husband or boyfriend at least once.

"Shoes never make your butt look big, you don't have to worry about squeezing into them if you've put on a couple of pounds, Maybe that's why, despite the economy, we're still buying shoes," said Lisa Lee Freeman, the magazine's editor-in-chief. —Internet

Tarmac roads are 'cool' in rural Zanzibar

The village folk of Tanzania's idyllic Zanzibar archipelago have hit the road; sleeping on tarmac at night to cool off from the choking tropical heat in their poorly ventilated houses.

The open-sky experience is completed with a TV set place at the roadside for added comfort, but police have warned against such relaxation.

"We are only looking for a comfortable place to sleep, sometimes the temperature in our houses is so high you cannot sleep," said Mohamed Omar of Uzini village in the south of Zanzibar's main isle of Unguja.

"It is dangerous to sleep on roads, but we believe the drivers are sympathetic and drive carefully not to knock us," he added. Residents say the roads are wide and there is a refreshing breeze.

Autistic physics genius, 12, in college

A 12-year-old autistic boy functioning at genius levels in mathematics is studying doctorate-level astrophysics at an Indiana university, his parents say.

Jacob Barnett was diagnosed with Asperger's Syndrome, a form of borderline autism when he was about three when his parents noticed it was difficult for him to make eye contact with them, show emotion and interact with other people, The Indianapolis Star reported.

What he did was work with numbers either on paper, a dry erase board or in his head working without 200 digits for fun.

Jacob's parents noticed when they took him to the planetarium he loved looking at the stars and planets, but as his interest in cosmology grew so did his boredom in school. The Barnetts had a number of clinical evaluations done on "Jake" as he was known and decided to heed the last one made by clinical neurophysiologist Carl S Hale.

Woman finds frog in can of beans

A Kentucky woman said she found a dead frog in a can of green beans she purchased at a grocery store.

Priscilla Owens of Lexington said she made the discovery Sunday inside the can of Wylwood Blue Lake Cut Green Beans she purchased a week or two previously at the Save-A-Lot store on North Broadway, WLEX-TV, Lexington, Ky, reported Monday.

"I poured it in there and I was like, 'God help me, please,'" she said, adding the frog was "the grossest thing I've ever seen." Owens said store officials told her they are investigating the find.

"They were like, 'well we'll look into it, but you can come bring the can back to the store and we'll replace it,' and I was like, 'No, no, I'm going to see what I can do to try and get that batch off the shelf,'" Owens said.

Save-A-Lot officials said they were unable to comment, WLEX-TV said.

A Pennsylvania man celebrated his 100th birthday by jumping out of an airplane 13,000 feet over the Earth. Fred Mack of Newtown Square said his tandem skydiving jump Sunday at Free Fall Adventures in Williamstown, NJ, was the culmination of a promise he made five years ago when he made his first-ever skydiving jump to mark his 95th birthday, KYW-TV, Philadelphia, reported Monday. "I'm still alive," Mack said after landing Sunday.

Dr Elliot Gerber, Mack's cardiologist, said he contacted Guinness World Records about the centenarian's accomplishment. "I cleared him last time, this time they didn't ask for me to sign off," Gerber said. "Mack has been my patient for 20 years and he is in great shape. He's an amazing man."

Ban on Portugal's ex football coach overturned

Portugal's former football coach Carlos Queiroz

GEBEVAM 24 March — The Court of Arbitration of Sport on Wednesday overturned a six month ban imposed on Portugal's former football coach Carlos Queiroz after he insulted Portuguese anti-doping officials.

The former Manchester United assistant manager was suspended by the Portuguese Football Federation (FPF) for insulting officials who had turned up to test his players at a pre-World Cup training camp last May.

He was accused of hindering anti-doping tests on players and sacked as national team coach after being sanctioned by the Portuguese anti-doping authority. Queiroz then appealed to the Lausanne-based CAS.

However, the CAS arbitrators ruled that Queiroz's outburst had not disturbed the anti-doping control.— Internet

Nigeria await FIFA clearance for Moses

LAGOS, 24 March — Nigeria officials have dispelled fears that Wigan Athletic winger Victor Moses will play against Ethiopia in a Nations Cup qualifier without clearance from FIFA.

Nigeria risk forfeiting points if they play Moses without clearance from FIFA in respect of his switch to Nigeria as he has featured for England at Under-17 and U21 levels.

Nigeria would also be fined over 6,000 dollars for fielding an ineligible player. A FIFA official was reported as saying Wednesday that they are yet to receive such an application from Nigeria. However, a top official of the Nigeria Football Federation (NFF), Emmanuel Ikpeme, disclosed that Nigeria had Tuesday applied to FIFA for Moses to change his national status.— Internet

Michelle Wie set for Kia Classic

INDUSTRY, 24 March — Michelle Wie has been too busy with finals at Stanford to have a problem with the LPGA Tour's light early schedule. "For me, it didn't seem so slow because I had finals last week and I've been going to school," Wie said on Wednesday, a day before the start of play in the Kia Classic. "So, it's been really busy for me."

Wie won the Canadian Women's Open last season for her second LPGA Tour title. She has played two of the first three events this year, finishing second last month in the season-opening event in Thailand and 40th the following week in Singapore. "I worked really hard this offseason to get healthy and to get better," Wie said. "I think right now I've been working on everything. If I work on one thing, then another thing fails."

The Kia endorser is playing the Industry Hills Golf Club at Pacific Palms for the first time. "It's pretty tough," Wie said. "It's a good golf course. It's tricky." The tournament is the tour's first in the Los Angeles area in six years. Last year at La Costa in Carlsbad, Hee Kyung Seo won her first LPGA Tour title, beating Inbee Park by six strokes. The top 14 players in the world ranking are in the field, led by No. 1 Yani Tseng. She won in Thailand and has three other worldwide victories this year.— Internet

Tennis star Murray ready to reverse fortunes

MIAMI, 24 March — Andy Murray hopes a move from America's West Coast to the East for the Miami ATP Masters will let him move on from a dismal outing at Indian Wells. "I want to do well here, it's obviously an important week for me," said the world No. 5 from Scotland, who admits his tennis hit a low 11 days ago when he was humiliated in his opening match at Indian Wells by 128th-ranked American Donald Young.

"Indian Wells was tough, because I didn't feel like I did myself much justice on the court. I don't mind normally, like, if you lose and you feel like you've given everything you can, you've left everything on the court. "That's when it can be easier to get over the losses. But I was disappointed in myself last week."

ORLANDO, 24 March — Tiger Woods is now giving lessons on mobile phones. Woods launched a mobile application on Wednesday called, "Tiger Woods: My Swing," for the iPhone and iPod touch geared toward helping golfers of all skill levels improve through video analysis and instruction.

The cost is $9.99, which is significantly higher than other such applications — Paul Azinger has an instruction app for 99 cents

Woods said he would not have done the app except that it benefits his foundation, specifically with college scholarships. So which swing is it? Football player Milner hails captain 'fantastic' Terry WATFORD, 24 March — England midfielder James Milner on Wednesday insisted the squad was united behind John Terry following the Chelsea defender's controversial reinstatement as captain. Terry won back the England captaincy on Tuesday, one year after being stripped of the armband by manager Fabio Capello following lurid newspaper allegations about his private life.

The clumsy handling of the announcement is understood to have angered injured captain Rio Ferdinand, who first learnt of Capello's desire to return the captaincy to Terry via newspaper reports. However, Milner brushed off suggestions that the captaincy saga had had an adverse affect on England's preparations for Saturday's Euro 2012 qualifier against Wales in Cardiff. The control tower of Thaphanseik Dam in Sagaing Region.

Recently, I happened to visit Thaphanseik Dam which benefits 500,000 acres of farmlands in many townships in Sagaing Region all-year round. On my way to the multipurpose dam through Tatkon Village of Inngaung Village-tract, Kyigon Village-tract, Zeedawchaung Village of Ywathi Village-tract, Kyigan Village, Padaukkon Village, Ywathitkon Village, Shwedaung Village, Sanpya Village, Ngabat-ai Village, Bogon Village, Yaygin Village, Paukpinseik Village and Thaphanseik Village, I was accompanied by Staff Officer of the Township Development Affairs Department U Kyaw Kyaw. It was very pleasant to view thriving groundnut plantations stretching to the destination like a very long green carpet. Then, we got to the Thaphanseik Dam. The government implemented the Thaphanseik Multipurpose Dam Project in 1996-1997, spending 8570 million kyats. The irrigation facility was inaugurated in 2001-2002. From a distance, we saw the PhaungdawU Pagoda and the hydropower plant apart from the large dam. The hydropower plant attached to the dam is installed with three 10-megawatt generators to produce 30 megawatts of electric power. (See page 9)
