Girl, 13, tells police about her dead baby

PORT HOPE, 30 March —Michigan police found the dead newborn son of a 13-year-old Port Hope girl who told them where to find the body in the attic of a Huron County home.

The Detroit Free Press said investigators suspect the teen gave birth at a friend's home about noon Saturday.

The girl went to a hospital after complaining about not feeling well. She was transferred to a hospital in Saginaw where it was determined she had given birth. "We've got a lot more follow up to do," Huron County Sheriff Kelly Hanson said. "If the baby was alive when she gave birth, we're looking at a homicide situation." Police said the girl might not have known she was pregnant and it would have been difficult for others to know she was pregnant because of her weight.
