Myanmar adheres to the principle of “One China Policy”, regards Taiwan as an integral part of China

Myanmar opposes Taiwan’s UN membership bid under any appellation

NAY PYI TAW, 12 July — It is learnt that the Taiwan authorities led by Chen Shui-bien have recently been pushing hard for a referendum on joining the United Nations in the name of “Taiwan”.

As a nation which has steadfastly nurtured the friendly relations with the People’s Republic of China, the Union of Myanmar has consistently adhered to the principle of “One China Policy” and regards Taiwan as an integral part of China.

The Union of Myanmar is of the view that Taiwan’s push for referendum on joining UN would raise tension in Taiwan cross-Straits relations and jeopardize the peace and stability in the region. Myanmar, therefore, opposes the Taiwan’s UN membership bid under any appellation. — MOFA

MWVO members to ensure success of National Convention

The Myanmar War Veterans Organization is a consolidated auxiliary force for national defence. The Central Organizing Committee and State, Division, District and Township Organizing Committees have been formed and their membership is on the increase. They are carrying out the respective duties.

With the increasing members of MWVO, the organization is training its members through various means to become qualified ones. Under the leadership of the Tatmadaw, MWVO has been participating in the tasks for defending the State, nation-building and community welfare activities. It also serves the interest of war veterans and their families.

The National Convention, the first step of the seven-point Road Map, will be reconvened soon. Members of MWVO will have to take their respective roles in providing assistance for the successful completion of the National Convention.

War veterans possess defence capability, organizational capability and management capability. They also have noble traditions such as sacrifice and esprit de corps.

We would like to urge the members of MWVO with such noble spirit, experiences and fine traditions to do their bit for the success of the National Convention.

Detained Iranians complain about US treatment

TEHERAN, 10 July— Iranian Foreign Ministry spokesman Mohammad-Ali Hosseini said the five Iranians detained in Iraq by the US forces have complained about their treatment in detention, the official IRNA news agency reported.

“The five Iranian diplomats have complained that international regulations are not being observed about them and they are given the least facilities,” Hosseini told his weekly Press conference.

US forces arrested the five Iranians in January in northern Iraqi city of Arbil, accusing them of being members of Iran’s Revolutionary Guards and backing militants in Iraq.

However, Iran denied the accusation, insisting the five were diplomats working in Iraq.

Three Iranian diplomats in Iraq, including the Ambassador Hassan Kazemi-Qomi, Saturday visited for the first time five Iranians held by US forces since January, according to Iraq’s Foreign Ministry.

“The (detained) diplomats told Kazemi-Qomi psychological pressure has been exerted on them because the US officials have not fulfilled their promises on their release,” Hosseini said, adding the five Iranians called for a meeting with their families. Hosseini also thanked Iraqi officials and the International Committee of the Red Cross for their efforts to hold the consular meeting and called on them to secure the release of the detainees.

He described as “necessary but not sufficient” the US measure on preparing the ground for the consular visit, saying it took place after six months of procrastination.

Avian flu found in Va turkeys

HARRISONBURG, 10 July—More than 50,000 turkeys on a farm west of Mount Jackson tested positive for avian flu antibodies, prompting additional testing and surveillance at area of poultry farms, officials said.

The infected birds will be killed and composted on site, said Hobey Bauhan, president of the Virginia Poultry Federation. Map Your Community.

Use Local Explorer to learn about Washington, DC, Maryland and Virginia communities.

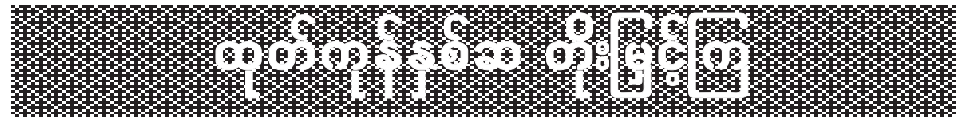

To prevent spread of the virus, more testing and surveillance will be conducted within a six-mile radius of the farm and at the more than 1,000 poultry farms in the Shenandoah Valley, Bauhan said.

The turkeys, which were ready to be sent to the slaughterhouse, tested positive during a routine pre-slaughter test by the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services on Friday, Bauhan said.

Avian flu spreads when infected birds transmit the virus through saliva, nasal secretions and feces, and other birds have contact with contaminated secretions or excretions, according to the Centers for Disease Control.

Blair’s aide says Cabinet had “severe doubts” on Iraq

LONDON, 10 July— Senior members of Tony Blair’s government suffered “severe moments of doubt” about whether to back the 2003 US-led invasion of Iraq, the former prime minister’s closest aide said on Monday. Alastair Campbell, who was Blair’s chief media adviser and a defining figure in his decade-long administration, said Blair was the only leading government member who did not have private reservations about the March 2003 decision to invade Iraq.

“All of us, I think, had had pretty severe moments of doubt but he (Blair) hadn’t really, or if he had he had hidden them even from us,” Campbell wrote in his diaries, which were published in a blaze of publicity on Monday.

He said Blair’s deputy, John Prescott, as well as several other ministers “looked physically sick” as the Cabinet discussed the move on 17 March.

The following day, March 18, 2003, Blair won Parliament’s backing for the Iraq war to bring down Saddam Hussein.

A former newspaper journalist, Campbell’s techniques of managing, or “spinning”, the news made him a controversial figure under Blair. He is often accused of being responsible for Blair’s reputation of being obsessed with image over substance.

He admitted in the foreword that he had heavily edited his diaries, and “The Blair Years” contained only “about a sixth” of his recordings.

Thousands flee Indonesia volcano

JAKARTA, 10 July— Thousands of Indonesians have been evacuated from the slopes of a volcano that is spewing out hot ash and smoke in the east of the country.

The alert around Mount

Gamkonora, in North Maluku province, has been raised to its highest level amid fears a major eruption could be imminent.

Scientists have reported seeing fire and ash clouds rising as high as 4,000m (13,100ft) since Monday.

Some 8,400 villagers have been moved to special camps away from the volcano.

However, scientists are warning that lava could still reach the camps if there is a large eruption - and have advised residents to wear face masks to protect themselves from the ash clouds.

Some 2,000 people are reported to have chosen to remain within the 8km (five mile) danger zone marked out by officials.

China pledges to further cooperation with Vanuatu

BEIJING, 10 July—Chinese President Hu Jintao on Monday pledged to enhance cooperation with Vanuatu and other countries in the Pacific Ocean. “It has been our consistent policy to cement the relationship with Vanuatu and other Pacific island countries,” Hu said during a meeting with Vanuatu’s President Kalkot Mataskelekele who arrived here on Sunday for a six-day state visit to China.

Hu encouraged Chinese entrepreneurs to increase investment in Vanuatu in agriculture, forestry, fishery, telecommunications and infrastructure.

He expressed appreciation of Vanuatu’s adherence to the one-China policy and its opposition to “Taiwan Independence”. Hu said China and Vanuatu respected each other, had cooperated in the economic domain, and supported each other in international and regional affairs.

“China would like to work with Vanuatu to improve long-term friendship and cooperation in all areas,” Hu said.

Vanuatu is a country in the southwest Pacific Ocean with a population of about 200,000.

Mataskelekele expressed gratitude to China for its support during Vanuatu’s campaign for national independence and the country’s construction.

He hoped to deepen the cooperation with China on agriculture, fishery, and tourism. He also said Vanuatu would like to take an active part in the forum between China and Pacific island countries on economic development.

Embattled US Hurricane Centre boss ousted

MIAMI, 10 July—The director of the US National Hurricane Centre, a critical government agency that issues hurricane and tropical storm forecasts, was ousted on Monday after a staff mutiny.

Bill Proenza, who was appointed to the top hurricane job about six months ago, was embroiled in controversy after criticizing his Washington bosses for spending money on public relations while an aging weather satellite needed replacement.

After vowing not to be silenced, Proenza faced a revolt at the Miami Hurricane Centre last week, when 23 staff members, about half the work force, issued a petition calling for him to resign.

They said Proenza had “poisoned the atmosphere” at the Hurricane Centre, which also issues weather information widely used by countries throughout the Caribbean basin.

“We need to move forward,” said Dennis Feltgen, the Hurricane Centre’s spokesman. “Effective immediately, Ed Rappaport will serve as acting director on an interim basis.”

Rappaport, a veteran hurricane forecaster, was the Centre’s deputy director. — MNA/Reuters

Attack on lone nurses rising in Britain

LONDON, 10 July—A third of nurses have been assaulted or harassed while working alone over the last two years and many feel the dangers are rising, a survey said on Monday.

Two-thirds said their boss did not always know where they were, and three-quarters wanted more information about the possible risks of each home visit.

The survey, for the Royal College of Nursing (RCN), which represents more than 300,000 health workers, found that a third sometimes felt unsafe at work. “Attacks on nurses, whether physical or verbal, are completely unacceptable,” said RCN General Secretary Dr

Peter Carter. “The results of this survey are extremely disappointing.”

Carter criticized the government for failing to give most nurses mobile security devices that can record evidence of an attack and silently ring for help. Only three per cent of NHS trusts have invested in the system, he said.—MNA/Reuters

China turns back US drink mix shipment

BEIJING, 10 July—China has sent back a shipment of sugar-free drink mix from the United States, after tests in Shanghai showed the presence of too much red dye, the Xinhua news agency said on Tuesday.

China warned last month it would apply greater scrutiny to food shipments from the United States, even as international concern grows over the safety of Chinese food, drug and toy exports.

Two New York Police officers shot in Brooklyn

NEW YORK, 10 July—Two New York Police Department officers were shot during a routine traffic stop in the Crown Heights section of Brooklyn early Monday morning, local media reported.

The two officers were on patrol when, at 2:30 am (0630 GMT), they pulled over a black SUV that they thought had been stolen and were fired upon from the car, the police said. One of the officers was able to return fire, police said. Officer Russell Timoshenko, 23, was shot twice in the face and was in extremely critical condition, while the other officer, Herman Yan, 26, was shot in the left forearm and in the chest area of his bulletproof vest, police said.

“One will recover and one is clinging to life,” Mayor Michael Bloomberg said at a news conference. “I ask all New Yorkers to pray for their recovery.” A police source said investigators believe there were three people in the SUV, and two of them fired on the officers during the traffic stop at the corner of Lefferts Boulevard and Rogers Avenue.—MNA/Xinhua

HKIA names Asia-Pacific's most efficient airport

HONG KONG, 10 July—Hong Kong International Airport (HKIA) has won the Airport Transport Research Society's 2007 Asia-Pacific Airport Efficiency Excellence Award for its outstanding efficiency and service, the Airport Authority Hong Kong said in a statement on Sunday.

Meanwhile, HKIA has won the Best International Airport Prize in the 2007 TravelWeekly (Asia) Industry Awards, it said.

"These awards, which were presented by both academics and our peers in the travel industry, are a testament to the hard work and dedication of the 60,000 people who comprise the airport community," said Stanley Hui, chief executive officer of Airport Authority Hong Kong.

"Every day, we and our business partners at HKIA deliver an efficient, friendly and customer-focused experience for our passengers and business partners," he added.

HKIA won the Airport Transport Research Society award after receiving the top score in a field of 30 major Asian airports. Conducted by international aviation experts, the Global Airport Benchmarking Project measured productivity and efficiency, costs and competitiveness, financial results and airport charges.

HKIA was nominated for the Best International Airport award by a panel of travel industry experts. The final award was determined in a polling process that saw readers of TravelWeekly magazine cast more than 160,000 individual votes.

Iran, Iraq to build first joint power plant in Baghdad

TEHRAN, 10 July—Iran and Iraq officially signed an agreement on Sunday to set up their first joint power plant in the Iraqi capital of Baghdad, the official IRNA news agency reported.

The agreement was signed by Managing Director of Iranian SANIR Company Reza Ebadzadeh and the Iraqi Deputy Electricity Minister Salam al-Qazaz.

Based on the agreement, SANIR Company, affiliated to Iran's Energy

Ministry, is obliged to establish the 315-megawatt power plant in Sadr City, a suburban area of Baghdad.

The Iranian side has agreed to implement the project in almost two years to supply two districts inhabited by the low-income strata of Sadr City, Ebadzadeh told IRNA.

The project is to cost 150 million US dollars, he said.

Switzerland recognizes China as market economy

GENEVA, 10 July—Switzerland has recognized China as a market economy, easing the way for an expansion of trade between the two nations, their governments said on Monday.

Statements issued after talks in Beijing on Sunday between Switzerland's Economic Affairs Minister Doris Leuthard and Chinese Minister of Commerce Bo Xilai, said they also agreed to work towards a free trade pact.

Switzerland, an export-dependent country which is not a member of the 27-member European Union, is the 75th nation around the world but only the third in Europe as a whole to designate China as a market economy.

The United States and the EU — which argue that the state plays too great a role in China's economic affairs — have not yet done so, leaving the Asian powerhouse vulnerable to rows over tariffs applied to Chinese goods.

The Swiss move shows its "objective and just evaluation of China's development of a market economy, and will lay an even firmer foundation for creating a fair environment for the comprehensive development of China-Swiss economic and trade ties", Bo said in a statement issued in Beijing.

A statement from Leuthard's ministry in the Swiss capital Berne said the two sides also decided "to conduct internal feasibility studies towards a possible free trade agreement... at some point in the future".

Leuthard and Bo had further agreed, it said, to bolster protection of intellectual property rights by setting up a regular dialogue through a working group of government and industry representatives from the two countries.

This is a key issue for Switzerland's pharmaceutical and watch-making industries who have been urging the government to make more efforts to protect their products from piracy.

The Swiss statement said the ministers also agreed to set up another working group to help Swiss businesses invest in China and to attract Chinese investors to Switzerland.

Fuel truck crash kills 13 in southeast Iran

TEHERAN, 11 July— An explosion in southeast Iran killed 13 people when trucks smuggling gasoline crashed on Tuesday, a police official was quoted by the official IRNA news agency as saying.

Police General Salah Asgarpour said the accident occurred when a truck carrying smuggled gasoline lost control and ploughed into three other trucks also carrying smuggled material, including gasoline and fabrics.

“There was a fireball in the place of the accident in the southeastern province of Sistan-Baluchestan,” Asgarpour said. Three people were injured, he added.

Iran has one of the highest road accident rates in the world. Frequent crashes are blamed on poor police supervision, poor quality roads and reckless driving.

Heavy rains kill 11 in Central India

NEW DELHI, 10 July— At least 11 people have been killed and six women are feared to have been washed away by a swollen river in Central India’s Madhya Pradesh (MP) region following heavy rains, Indo-Asian News Service (IANS) reported Monday.

Eight people died Sunday evening in Hoshangabad District when a jeep in which they were travelling overturned while crossing the over-flowing river Denwa.

Earlier Sunday, a child drowned in Harda District while two children died after being struck by lightning in Ratlam. The feared deaths of women were reported from Harda.

With rivers in spate and many roads submerged in towns, normal life was paralyzed in Harda, Rajgarh, Khandwa, Betul, Indore and Jhabua districts of MP as torrential monsoon rains continued for the third consecutive day Monday.

Revenue Minister Kamal Patel told IANS that the Indian Army has been urged to help the civilian administration to carry out relief and rehabilitation work in Harda area, where 20 villages were submerged by floodwater.

Chinese V-PM calls for improved management of Qinghai-Tibet railway

BEIJING, 10 July— Chinese Vice-Premier Zeng Peiyan said the management of the Qinghai-Tibet railway should be further improved to ensure safe operation and better environmental protection.

Zeng made the remarks at the 10th meeting of the Qinghai-Tibet railway construction group held on 7 and 8 July, on which the project of the Golmud-Lhasa section passed national acceptance review.

The railway stretches 1,956 kilometres from Xining, capital of Qinghai, to Lhasa, capital of Tibet, with the project of the 1,142-kilometre Golmud-Lhasa section being built from 2001 to 2006.

The Xining-Golmud section was completed in 1984.

Since going into operation in July 2006, the railway had carried 2.6 million passengers and 13 million tons of cargo, going through the test of seasonal changes without serious accidents, said Zeng.

Managing the railway is “more difficult and arduous” than building it, said Zeng, adding that railway departments should improve their services and transportation efficiency.

Safety measures and environmental protection work must be strengthened along the railway.

The opening of the railway should be considered as a rare opportunity for social and economic development of Qinghai Province and Tibet Autonomous Region, said Zeng.

Five people killed in landslide in south Philippines

MANILA, 10 July— Five people were killed, including a pregnant woman, after heavy rains triggered a landslide in a famous goldrush area in the southern Philippines, officials said on Tuesday.

Franco Tito, a village captain on Mount Diwata, about 600 miles (965 kilometres) south of Manila, said the victims were killed in an avalanche of boulders and soil while eating dinner on Monday evening.

One of the victims was four months pregnant, a police spokesman said.

The lure of gold has attracted tens of thousands of small-scale miners to Mount Diwata, or Diwalwal as it is commonly known, honeycombing its rocky soil with a warren of tunnels and making their settlements susceptible to landslides.

Grow more trees to mitigate global warming

Rector U Win Kyi -1

The article “Concerted efforts to mitigate global warming” states that global warming is the result of the increase in the emission of greenhouse gases including carbon dioxide into the atmosphere; that green plants turn carbon dioxide and water into food using energy obtained from sunlight for their existence; that they absorb 1.63 grams of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere to make one gram of biomass. The article appeared in Kyemon daily on 5 June 2007 and in Myanma Alin daily the next day.

If you and your relatives and friends totalling 54 grow ten saplings each with your persuasion, the 540 trees you and your group have planted equal the number of trees that are cultivated 9-ft apart on an acre of forest plantation. In other words, you have established a one-acre tree plantation. Don’t worry about space problem. You can grow trees in the compound of your house, a monastery or a pagoda or on either side of a road. You do not need to have a stretch of one-acre vacant land.

Depending on tree species, the average mean annual increment-MAI of a tree plantation varies from 1.5 cubic tons to 9.4 cubic tons. If the MAI of the 540 trees is at about four cubic tons that equal 2.84 metric tons of wood containing 1.42 tons of carbon, it means that your 540 trees absorb 5.21 metric tons of carbon dioxide from the air to form 2.84 tons of wood within a year.

So, you and your relatives and friends have helped reduce five tons of carbon dioxide from the air to mitigate global warming. And if other 10,000 like-minded groups do the same job as you have done, their work will reduce 50,000 metric tons of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere annually till the trees they have grown become too old.

Moreover, you can cut down the trees you have planted after five years. If you grow one acre annually, you can extract the trees on five-year rotation. This process will not generate any negative effects on the annual volume of carbon dioxide that trees are absorbing.

As the atmosphere covers the whole earth, your efforts will benefit not only the nation, but also the entire mankind of the planet. As a gesture hailing the tree planting month, I would like to urge all to grow trees to mitigate global warming.

Trust funds set up for child patients...

The government is taking all necessary measures for improvement of the health sector. The National Health Plan embodies the programme to upgrade the present hospitals.

To ensure a fall in the maternal mortality rate and infant mortality rate is an indicator of the Millennium Development Goals. The infant mortality is largely due to pneumonia, diarrhoea, measles, and dengue hemorrhagic fever, which are curable diseases.

Now, dengue hemorrhagic fever is common, and without any effective treatment, the infant mortality rate can get high. So, it is needed to set up trust funds for providing better health care. Yangon Division has formed work committee and subcommittees for control of dengue hemorrhagic fever.

The government and various programmes are providing medicines and medical equipment for mothers and children. However, it is still needed to launch a self-reliant system with the support of the people for adequate supply of medicines and medical equipment. So, trust fund for needy patients has been founded in every hospital.

He thanked the well-wishers for donating medicines and medical equipment and cash and Yangon Division Union Solidarity and Development Association for donating blood.

Lt-Gen Myint Swe urged respective administrative bodies, the Ministry of Health and other relevant ministries, social organizations, and the people to work together to contribute towards the State's health policy, uplift public health standard and provide better child health care.

Wellwishers made cash donations to the child patients through Lt-Gen Myint Swe, Yangon Division PDC Chairman Yangon Command Commander Maj-Gen Hla Htay Win, Vice-Chairman of Yangon City Development Committee Vice-Mayor Col Maung Pa and officials.

authorities and officials to coordinate their tasks to prevent against floods at Sittoung and Myitmakha valleys and its surrounding areas.

On completion of flood prevention and land reclamation tasks, 110,000 acres of land can be reclaimed for monsoon paddy in Sittoung Valley and surrounding areas in Bago Division (East) and 17,000 acres of land for monsoon paddy in Myitmakha Valley and surrounding areas in Bago Division (West).

In Bago, they met departmental officials, members of social organizations and townsenders.

After hearing the reports of officials, Lt-Gen Khin Maung Than gave instructions. He said that the Government is carrying out tasks for ensuring peace and stability and prevailing law and order, developing State economy and human resources that play an important role for the emergence of a modern and developed democratic nation. Furthermore, the border areas and national races development plan, the 24 special regions development plan and the five rural development tasks are being undertaken, and the long-term economic plan is being implemented for development of agriculture, livestock breeding, commercial and industrial sectors. At present, progress of these sectors can be witnessed. Hence, departmental personnel and local people are to harmoniously implement the assigned plans.

He stressed the need to grow 10 major crops, perennial and new crops for ensuring surplus food and for exporting these products. Despite ensuring food sufficiency in rice production, the country still needs to meet the production target of edible oil and fuel. Therefore, it is necessary to extend edible oil crops and to cultivate sunflower and bean as mix-crops. Officials are to strive for implementation of the plan to cultivate 550,000 acres of edible oil crops including extension of 150,000 acres in 2007-08 in Bago Division for ensuring edible oil sufficiency of the division. Furthermore, he stressed the need to plant physic nut on commercial scale. In accord with the directives of the government, efforts are to be made for cultivation of 500,000 acres of physic nut in three years. In conclusion, Lt-Gen Khin Maung Than urged departmental personnel to make field trips to grass-root levels for gaining success in five rural development tasks.

Afterwards, they cordially greeted those present.

Next, Lt-Gen Khin Maung Than and party viewed maintenance tasks being carried out along Nay Pyi Taw-Yangon Road.

Interpol chief blasts Britain cooperation on terrorism

LONDON, 11 July — Britain's counter-terrorism efforts are "in the wrong century", the head of Interpol said on Monday, accusing it of failing to share information on militants and consult a vital global police database.

The harsh and embarrassing criticism from Ronald Noble, boss of the 186-nation police organization, came as investigations into a suspected al-Qaeda car bomb plot involving Indian and Arab medics stretched from Britain as far as Australia.

Prime Minister Gordon Brown has stressed the need for countries to exchange information on suspected militants, but Noble said Britain was not passing on such data.

"The UK has not shared its terrorist watch list with Interpol," he said in an open letter on the organization's website, www.interpol.int.

He said this could have damaging consequences if other countries approached Interpol for information on suspects.

"The UK might lose a significant investigative lead; the country consulting Interpol would obtain no or incomplete information; and those individuals on the UK terrorist watch list would remain free to plan and carry out more terrorist attacks."

Noble also slammed a failure by British authorities to systematically check the passports of foreign visitors against an Interpol global database containing details of more than seven million lost and stolen passports. There was a "clear link between stolen passports and al-Qaeda-linked terrorist activity", he told the BBC.

"The UK's anti-terrorist effort is in the wrong century."

Roche antibiotic plus calcium may endanger babies, says US report

BLOOMBERG, 11 July—Babies are at increased risk of death if they are given Roche Holding AG's Rocephin along with products containing calcium, according to the US Food and Drug Administration.

Roche sent doctors a letter on the danger of administering calcium within 48 hours of using Rocephin, an injectable antibiotic, after reports of deaths of both premature and full-term babies. The FDA posted the letter on its Web site today.

Rocephin is prescribed to treat gonorrhea, bacterial septicemia, urinary tract infections, and acute ear infections, according to the letter from the Basel, Switzerland-based drugmaker.

Ear infections are a common childhood illness. Antibiotics are recommended for children under the age of two with ear infections, according to the National Institutes of Health. — Internet

McCain's top two aides quit 2008 campaign

WASHINGTON, 11 July — Republican John McCain's top two aides quit his struggling presidential bid on Tuesday, dealing a sharp blow to the Arizona senator and casting the future of his 2008 campaign in doubt.

The campaign announced the resignations of manager Terry Nelson and longtime chief strategist John Weaver while McCain was on the Senate floor defending President George W. Bush's strategy in Iraq.

"I believe that our military in cooperation with Iraqi security forces is making progress in a number of areas. In other areas they are not," McCain said as the Senate launched a new debate on the future of the increasingly unpopular Iraq war. — MNA/Reuters

Taleban suicide bomber kills 17 Afghan civilians

KABUL, 11 July — A suicide bomber killed 17 Afghan civilians, including 12 school children, on Tuesday, the Interior Ministry said, in an attack aimed at Dutch NATO troops patrolling a crowded bazaar in the south of the country.

Some 30 people, including seven Dutch soldiers, were wounded in the attack in the small town of Deh Rawud in Uruzgan Province, officials said. The Interior Ministry said some of the wounded were in a critical condition.

The Dutch Defence Ministry said one of its soldiers was also critical. All the wounded have been evacuated to a military hospital in the provincial capital Tarin Kot.

A spokeswoman for the NATO-led force in Kabul said more than a dozen Afghan civilians were killed and more than 30, including eight NATO soldiers, wounded.

Taleban guerillas, fighting foreign troops and the Afghan Government, claimed responsibility for the suicide bombing, their deadliest attack since a Taleban bomber killed more than 20 police on a bus in the capital Kabul on 17 June.

Fruit, fish protect teens' lung function

BEIJING, 10 July — A new research published Tuesday in the US journal Chest finds that teens with the lowest intake of fruit and fish are more likely to have asthma and respiratory symptoms such as wheezing.

The research is led by Jane Burns and her colleagues at the Harvard School of Public Health in Boston, who surveyed and tested 2112 12th-graders from the United States and Canada over a course of one year.

The research finds that one-third subjects had dietary shortfalls when it came to consumption of fruits, vegetables, vitamins A and E, beta-carotene and omega-3 fatty acids.

Burns said that the antioxidant properties in vitamins C and E found in fruit likely protect cells lining the airways, resulting in lower average lung-function scores. And those who had low intake of omega 3 fatty acid-rich foods, especially fish, are 37 percent more likely to have increased levels of chronic bronchitic symptoms. "This is a time in their lives when they should all have good lung function, and they may not be obtaining optimal lung function. This may affect their lung function later in life," Burns warned, "Don't be surprised in your 20s and 30s if you had those problems earlier on." "I think vitamin supplements are fine. I think adding vitamin D to orange juice is fine. I do think there are benefits that we don't fully understand to eating whole foods like fruits and vegetables and fish," she added.

Dell launches "Vostro" for small business market

BEIJING, 11 July — Dell gained a larger share of the small business market Tuesday by launching the "Vostro" brand of notebook and desktop personal computers designed to simplify tech support to small business with 25 or fewer employees. Vostro, a Latin word meaning "yours," joins Dell's existing product lines, which include Inspiron for consumers, the Latitude and Optiplex for large companies, and the XPS for gamers.

Vostro PCs will come with a suite of subscription-based services and a dedicated tech support staff, said Frank Muehleman, senior vice president of Dell's small and medium business group. Vostro systems will be available with Windows

The Vostro 200.

Vista or XP operating systems, but won't come with any so-called "trialware," or sample versions of software that expire after a few weeks or months, Muehleman said.

The systems include three notebooks with screens ranging from 14 to 17 inches and starting prices from 449 to 799 dollars. A desktop version will be available starting at 319.— Internet

FDA: No strong link between lycopene, reduced cancer risk

BEIJING, 11 July — There is no strong link between eating lycopene and a reduced risk of certain cancers, the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) concluded Tuesday in the journal of the National Cancer Institute.

FDA evaluated 145 studies of lycopene, tomato, or tomato product intake and cancer risk when some US tomato growers and retailers asked permission to include labels advertising the beneficial effects on products containing tomatoes.

"The analysis found no credible evidence that lycopene, either in food or in a dietary supplement, was associated with reduced risk of any of the cancers evaluated," said chief researcher Claudine Kavanagh and his colleagues of the FDA's Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition, College Park, Maryland.

But the FDA's conclusions should not be interpreted as confirmation that tomatoes are not beneficial in preventing prostate cancer, Dr Edward Giovannucci of the Harvard School of Public Health wrote in an editorial accompanying the report.

The FDA report also acknowledged there was "limited evidence" showing an association between reduced rates of prostate, ovarian, gastric and pancreatic cancers and eating tomatoes.

West Nile virus spreads in California

LOS ANGELES, 10 July — West Nile virus has already spread to 26 counties in California, infecting three people, health officials confirmed on Tuesday.

The spread prompted health officials to call on the public to take aggressive preventive measures, including immunizing their animals, draining standing water, putting screens on windows and doors and preventing mosquito bites.

All three infected people were reported in Kern County which leads in the number of cases reported of the mosquito-borne disease.

The county also reported 41 dead birds that tested positive for the virus.

No other county has reported human cases so far this year, but health officials warn that high temperatures that have hit much of the state could prompt a more rapid spread of the disease than last year.

Sixty new cases of dead birds testing positive for the virus were reported last week across the state, according to the Los Angeles Times.

West Nile virus, unheard of in California before 2002, is now endemic in California and there is no hope of eradicating it. It spreads most rapidly in July and August.

"The hot spells we are having now are definitely good for the virus," said Stan Husted, a supervising public health biologist with the California Department of Public Health. "What we want is to have fewer cases than last year, not more."

The disease is named after the West Nile district of Uganda, where the virus was first isolated; it is commonly found in Africa and Asia. —Internet

Real Madrid agree deal for Porto defender Pepe

MADRID, 11 July — Real Madrid reached an agreement to sign Porto centre-back Pepe for a fee of up to 30 million euros on Tuesday. Both clubs confirmed the deal with the Portuguese champions detailing the amount offered for the 24-year-old Brazilian-born player, which makes him one of the world's most expensive defenders. Pepe, who is set to sign a five-year contract, is the second centre-back Real have signed in the close season with German international Christoph Metzelder due to be presented on Wednesday. Real’s move for Pepe could signal the end of attempts to sign Romania defender Cristian Chivu from AS Roma, with Fabio Cannavaro and Metzelder already lined up for next season. The Spanish champions have moved quickly for Pepe having unveiled Bernd Schuster as their new coach on Monday.— MNA/Reuters

Indonesia opens Cup campaign with Bahrain win

JAKARTA, 11 July — Indonesia forward Bambang Pamungkas’s second-half strike gave the Asian Cup co-hosts a 2-1 victory over Bahrain in a lively Group D opener on Tuesday. In sweltering heat in the Gelora Bung Karno stadium, both sides had chances as the play swung swiftly from end to end. But it was Pamungkas, who had troubled the visitors with his trickery around the box, sealed Indonesia’s win 18 minutes into the second half when he blasted home a rebound after the Bahrain keeper could only parry a ferocious Firman Utina shot onto the post. Indonesia coach Ivan Kolev played tribute to his side's desire and said all the team played well. “They wanted to win. They proved to all of us that they can win,” Kolev told a post-match news conference, where he also thanked the noisy home fans who had filled much of the 88,000-capacity stadium in the capital. Asked about his strategy for the game, he said: “We did study how Bahrain played. And then we tried to anticipate clearly with the ability of Indonesian players.” The home team had struck first in the 14th minute after midfielder Utina threaded a defence-splitting pass through to Budi Sudarsono, who chested the ball beyond the goalkeeper and slotted home from inside the penalty area. MNA/Reuters

China thrash Malaysia 5-1 in Group C opener

KUALA LUMPUR, 11 July — China stormed to an emphatic 5-1 victory over Asian Cup co-hosts Malaysia on Tuesday, putting on the most impressive display of the tournament so far as they cruised to victory in their Group C opener. The 2004 runners-up became the first of the favoured teams to score a victory in the tournament after Australia and defending champions Japan were held to respective 1-1 draws by Oman and Qatar in their opening group matches. Despite enjoying home advantage, Malaysia failed to emulate the performances of fellow southeast Asian co-hosts Vietnam and Indonesia, both of whom scored surprise victories in their first games. Thailand are the other nation hosting the 16-team tournament that culminates with the final in Jakarta on 29 July. Although happy with the victory, China coach Zhu Guanghu said his team lost their discipline in allowing Malaysia to score after leading 4-0. China’s goal rush began after just 15 minutes when striker Han Peng headed in Wang Dong’s high cross from the right after Malaysia’s defence was split open by some dynamic approach play. Midfielder Shao Jiayi, who plays for Energie Cottbus in the German Bundesliga, doubled the lead after 36 minutes with another free header. Any hopes of a Malaysian comeback were dashed six minutes after the break when Wang made it 3-0 with a snap-shot from outside the box that deflected in off defender Fauzie Nan. Han made it 4-0 with his second goal of the match four minutes later, when he turned in Mao Jianqing’s cross from the left. Malaysia scored a consolation goal in the 73rd minute when substitute Indra Putra beat Li Leilei with a low shot from the edge of the penalty area, but Wang restored China’s four-goal advantage with a looping header in the final minute. China play their next match on Sunday against Iran, who open their Group C campaign against Uzbekistan on Wednesday. MNA/Reuters

Bellamy leaves Liverpool for West Ham

LONDON, 11 July — Striker Craig Bellamy has joined West Ham United from fellow English Premier League side Liverpool for 7.5 million pounds (15.11 million US dollars). The 27-year-old Wales captain signed a five-year deal. West Ham, who narrowly escaped relegation last season, have been busy in the transfer market with Scott Parker also joining in June from Newcastle United for seven million pounds. “I had a great experience at Liverpool and I believe West Ham will benefit this year, because I know I am a better player for it,” Bellamy told the team’s official Web site. “I’ve signed a five-year contract here and I will be here for the long term. Security tightened at Asian Cup after threat warnings

BANGKOK, 11 July — Security arrangements at the Asian Cup are being tightened after intelligence reports warned of possible terrorist threats in two of the four host nations. Police in Thailand have already beefed up security in Bangkok after Army intelligence reports suggested separatists in the rebellious Muslim south might take their insurgency to the capital. The Australian Government has also warned its citizens to reconsider travelling to Indonesia, which will host the Asian Cup final on 29 July, because of the imminent threat of a terrorist attack. Vietnam and Malaysia are the other nations hosting the 16-team tournament. Representatives of the Australian team, who are playing their group matches in Bangkok, were due to meet the Thailand ambassador on Tuesday for a briefing on plans to protect players and spectators. John Boulton, the head of high performance for the Australians, said he was in constant contact with the government about the latest security situation and was confident with the AFC's arrangements. “We’re monitoring it as we have been all along,” Boulton told Reuters. “Every place we go, whether it be Europe or Asia or wherever, we’re constantly getting the latest information.” “The government’s always very cautious and we listen to them.” “Indonesia is a place where Australians need to be a bit more vigilant... but we’ve had a full briefing security from the AFC (Asian Football Confederation) and we’re satisfied with the arrangements.”— MNA/Reuters

Greek police break up human trafficking ring

ATHENS, 11 July — Greek police said on Monday they had broken up a human trafficking ring that forced women from Eastern Europe and the Balkans to work as prostitutes.

Nine people were arrested in Greece and two in Ukraine, charged with sexual exploitation, they said.

They were still searching for seven other people abroad, helped by Interpol, the international police agency.

"Greek security forces uncovered members of an international criminal group that has been operating for the last two years," Greek police security chief Drossos Bougoudis told reporters.

"They were trafficking women from Eastern Europe and Balkans," he said.

Three Ukrainian women, held against their will in an Athens apartment, were freed and now in safe hands, police said.

A further 62 people were arrested in a related anti-vice raid and were charged with facilitating and profiting from illegal sexual activity.

"Members of the gang were luring women from these regions promising them legal work and were keeping them in several apartments in Athens," Bougoudis said.
