YANGON, 25 July — The National Convention Convening Commission held its meeting No 5/2007 at Nyaungnapin Camp in Hmawby Township here this morning, with an address by NCCC Chairman Secretary-1 of the State Peace and Development Council Lt-Gen Thein Sein.

NCCC Joint-Secretary-2 Director-General of the Pyithu Hluttaw Office U Myint Thein acted as MC.

The Secretary-1 in his address said that the final session of the NC has been reconvened since 18 July. At the NC session held in the late 2006, eight delegate groups submitted and read out 18 proposals they had compiled regarding the National Convention Convening

Work Committee chairman's clarification to the detailed basic principles for the Chapters "Election", "Political Parties", "Provisions on State of Emergency", "Amendment of the Constitution", "State Flag, State Seal, National Anthem and the Capital", "Transitory Provisions", and "General Provisions".

At the ongoing National Convention, the panel of alternate chairmen's presentation on the collection of NC delegate groups' proposals was read out to the plenary sessions held on 20 and 23 July.

The Work Committee found that of the proposals for the chapters the (See page 8)

It is needed to seek the approval of all delegate groups in order to adopt such appropriate suggestions as detailed basic principles of respective chapters. In the process, the Work Committee will have to find out the stances of the delegate groups through respective panels of chairmen.

Development of industrial zones through increased production of quality products

Development of industrial zones is vital for the development of the industrial sector of the nation. There are tangible results which have emerged from efforts made by the government in the industrial, economic and social fields.

Industrial zones were established to concentrate small industries in one area. In the past most of the industries were situated only in Yangon and Mandalay. Nowadays industries are growing in all parts of the country.

New Pyay Industrial Zone was opened in Nawade Ward in Pyay on 13 July. The zone first produces parts of the motor vehicles, compressors, physic nut grinding machines and paddy husk-powered engines.

Now the zone is producing import-substitute parts, jeeps, one-ton light trucks, farm implements and other industrial items. Continuous operation of the industrial zones will contribute towards the progress of the region.

Officials concerned at different levels and industrialists are thus urged to strive for full operation of industrial zones and production of quality products.

Nguyen Minh Triet re-elected as Vietnamese State President

HANOI, 24 July — The National Assembly (NA) of Vietnam, the country's top legislature, re-elected Nguyen Minh Triet as state president Tuesday morning.

Up to 98.78 per cent of all NA deputies at the ongoing 1st session of the 12th NA voted for Triet, member of the Political Bureau under the Communist Party of Vietnam Central Committee (CPV-CC) and former secretary of the Party Committee of southern Ho Chi Minh City.

After being re-elected, he said "I will share happiness of everybody, while sharing sorrow and pains of people. I will try my best to lessen the pains".

On Tuesday morning, he presented the list of people for the NA to vote for the posts of vice state presidents, prime minister, and heads of the Supreme People's Court and the Supreme People's Procuracy. Prime Minister Nguyen Tan Dung is expected to be re-elected on Wednesday.

The NA will approve Prime Minister's proposal on appointing deputy prime ministers, ministers and other Cabinet members on 2 August. The number of ministries and state agencies equivalent to ministries are expected to decrease to 22 from current 26.

During the session from 19 July to 6 August, NA deputies are also to centre discussions on some other important issues, including shortening the term of the 12th NA to four years from the current five years, and passing a bill on amendment to some articles of the Anti-Corruption Law.

Russia says UK playing politics with Litvinenko case

MOSCOW, 24 July— Russian state prosecutors on Monday accused Britain of being more interested in playing politics than solving the case of the poisoning of Alexander Litvinenko.

They hit back at British claims that Moscow was blocking its efforts, saying the British investigation was flawed and had been too hasty in naming a Russian man as the chief suspect. "I do not think our friends should criticize our justice system. I think their efforts would be better spent improving their own system," Alexander Zvyagintsev, Russia's deputy Prosecutor-General, told a news conference.

"Sometimes it seems to us that Britain is not so much interested in the supremacy of the law as it is in the ambitions of certain officials."

The killing of Litvinenko, a former Russian agent and critic of the Kremlin who died of radioactive poisoning in a London hospital last November, has brought relations between Britain and Moscow to their lowest point since the end of the Cold War.

British prosecutors want to try Russian Andrei Lugovoy for murder, but Moscow has refused to hand him over, citing a constitutional ban on the extradition of Russian citizens. London earlier this month expelled four Russian diplomats in protest at Moscow's refusal to extradite Lugovoy. In a tit-for-tat response, Moscow threw out four British diplomats. —MNA/Reuters

Castro blames US for new athlete defections

HAVANA, 24 July— Ailing Cuban leader Fidel Castro deplored the defection of three athletes and a coach during the Panamerican Games in Brazil, saying on Monday they had betrayed Cuba for dollars.

Cuba's Olympic and world amateur boxing champion Guillermo Rigondeaux and teammate Erislandy Lara failed to appear for their scheduled bouts in Rio de Janeiro on Sunday.

A member of the Cuban handball team, Rafael Dacosta, and gym trainer Lazaro Lamelas defected earlier, Castro lamented, accusing the United States of luring Cuba's best athletes. "Betrayal for money is one of the favourite weapons of the United States to destroy Cuba's resistance," Castro wrote in his latest column e-mailed to journalists in Havana. The 80-year-old leader, who has not appeared in public since undergoing intestinal surgery a year ago, has taken to writing to reassert his presence in Cuba and does not miss an opportunity to blast his ideological foe the United States. For years, some of Cuba's top baseball players

A Constitution is the main law that reflects a nation's history and portrays the structure of that nation

YANGON, 23 July — The following is the collection of suggestions made by NC delegates on the Chapter "General Provisions" submitted to the Plenary Session of the National Convention held at the Pyidaungsu Hall of Nyaungnnapin Camp in Hmawby Township on 23 July 2007.

Esteemed NC delegates,

At the plenary session held on 13 November 2006, the Work Committee chairman, regarding the Chapter "General Provisions" said, "A Constitution is the main law that reflects a nation's history and portrays the structure of that nation. Moreover, the Constitution is the main pillar of the laws of a nation stipulating the sharing of the three branches of power — the legislative power, the executive power and the judicial power — and the political and economic systems. Hence all the laws of a nation should be in conformity with the Constitution. In the 1974 Constitution of our nation and constitutions of some nations, it is stated that the Constitution is the basic law of laws of the State."

And he said, "Presentation has been made on the points that should be adopted as detailed basic principles for the Chapter "General Provisions". For your convenience in studying them, a collection of these points altogether is presented as follows:—

1. This Constitution is the basic law of laws of the State.
2. Myanmar language is the official language.
3. The State fundamental principles are the guidelines to be followed by the legislative Hluttaws in enacting laws and interpreting provisions of the State Constitution and of other laws.
4. Interpretation of the preamble, articles, clauses, words and expressions contained in this Constitution shall be based only on Myanmar text.
5. Interpretation of the expressions of this Constitution should be referred to the existing Interpretation of Expressions Law.
6. A Myanmar manuscript of this Constitution shall be kept at the National Archives. The manuscript shall be conclusive evidence of the provisions of this Constitution.
7. In the interest of the State, the Union Government may permit—
 - (a) Region or State government,
 - (b) a cooperative society, an organization or a person to run any of economic enterprises, which are prescribed to be operated solely by the Union Government, through a joint-venture system with the Union Government or under agreements.
8. The Union of Myanmar shall honour all legitimate obligations arising out of any treaties or agreements which before the commencement of this Constitution were in force between the Government of Myanmar and the Government of any other State, provided that such other State honours any reciprocal obligations towards the Union of Myanmar.
9. (a) Any proceedings relating to contracts or liabilities which might have been brought against the Government of the Union of Myanmar before this Constitution comes into force, may be brought against the Union Government.
- (b) The Union of Myanmar may sue and may be sued by the name of the Union of Myanmar.

10. The Constitutional Tribunal shall consist of nine members including a chairman. The President, the Speaker of the Pyithu Hluttaw and the Speaker of the Amyotha Hluttaw shall select three members each who meet the following qualifications from among Hluttaw members or non-Hluttaw members:

- (a) person who has attained the age of 50 years;
- (b) person who possesses qualifications set for a Pyithu Hluttaw, other than restriction on age,
- (c) person who possesses qualifications set for the Union chief justice and a Union High Court judge, other than restriction on age,
- (d) person who has political, administrative, economic and security outlooks.
- (e) person who is loyal to the State and the people.

11. The list of three members each nominated by the President, the Pyithu Hluttaw Speaker and the Amyotha Hluttaw Speaker, and a member nominated for chairmanship of Constitutional Tribunal among the nine members shall be submitted to the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw for its approval.

12. The Pyidaungsu Hluttaw shall have no right to reject the persons nominated for members of the Constitutional Tribunal by the President unless it can prove the members disqualified.

13. The President may, in accord with the provisions of the State Constitution, have the right to nominate new members for the seats of Constitutional Tribunal that are still vacant due to failure to obtain agreement of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw.

14. The President shall appoint the chairman and members of Constitutional Tribunal approved by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw.

15. The term of the Constitutional Tribunal is five years, the same as that of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. However, the ongoing Constitutional Tribunal, on expiry of its term, shall continue to carry out its functions till the President forms a new Constitutional Tribunal under this Constitution.

16. A member of the Constitutional Tribunal:

- (a) shall be deemed to have resigned from the Hluttaw concerned on the date of being appointed if he is a member of any Hluttaw.
- (b) shall be deemed to have resigned from civil service in accord with civil service rules and regulations on the date of being appointed if he is a government employee.
- (c) shall have no right to participate in activities of the political party concerned during tenure of membership starting from the date of being appointed if he is a member of a political party.

17. A member of the Constitutional Tribunal may have the right to submit his resignation to the President if he wishes to resign before expiry of his tenure due to a reason.

18. The President may appoint a new member in accord with the provisions of this Constitution if there is a vacancy in membership in the Constitutional Tribunal for a certain reason.

19. (a) A member of the Constitutional Tribunal can be blamed or impeached under any of the following reasons:

- (1) treason;
- (2) violation of any of the provisions of the Constitution;
- (3) misbehaviour;
- (4) incapability of discharging duties prescribed in the State Constitution for a member of the Constitutional Tribunal;
- (5) inefficient discharge of duties;

(b) If need arises to blame or impeach a member of the Constitutional Tribunal, it shall do so under the provisions prescribed in this Constitution set to blame or impeach the Union Chief Justice or a Union Supreme Court Judge.

20. The functions of the Constitutional Tribunal are as follows:

- (a) to interpret provisions of the State Constitution,
- (b) to scrutinize whether or not laws enacted by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw, the Region Hluttaws and the State Hluttaws and Self-Administered Areas are in conformity with the State Constitution,
- (c) to scrutinize functions of executive authorities of Pyidaungsu, Regions, States and Self-Administered Areas are in conformity with the State Constitution,
- (d) to decide on disputes in connection with the State Constitution between Pyidaungsu and regions, between Pyidaungsu and States, between Regions and States, among

- Regions, among States, and between Regions or States and Self-Administered Areas and among Self-Administered Areas themselves to perform other duties prescribed in the State Constitution,
- (e) to decide on disputes in connection with the rights and responsibilities of the Pyidaungsu and Regions; or States or Self-Administered Areas in implementing Union law by Regions, States or Self-Administered Areas,
- (f) to scrutinize and decide on matters relating to Union territories informed by the President,
- (g) tasks entrusted by laws prescribed by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw,
- 21. If there is a dispute as to whether a provision prescribed in a law is in conformity with the Constitution in hearing a case by a court, and the Constitutional Tribunal has not made any decision regarding the case, the court shall suspend its hearing and submit its views to the Constitutional Tribunal in accord with the procedures for its decision. The decision of the Constitutional Tribunal regarding the dispute shall apply all the cases.
- 22. The decision of the Constitutional Tribunal shall be final.
- 23. The following persons shall have the right to directly submit a case to the Constitutional Tribunal for its interpretation, decision, and stance:
- (a) President;
- (b) Speaker of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw;
- (c) Speaker of the Pyithu Hluttaw,
- (d) Speaker of the Amyotha Hluttaw,
- (e) Union Chief Justice;
- (f) Chairman of Union Election Commission.
- 24. The following persons or bodies shall have the right to submit a case to the Constitutional Tribunal in accord with the procedures for its interpretation, decision and stance:
- (a) Region of State Chief Minister;
- (b) Speaker of the Region or State Hluttaw,
- (c) Chairman of Leading Body of Self-Administered Areas.
- (d) At least 10 percent of the members of the Pyithu Hluttaw or the Amyotha Hluttaw.
- 25. Formation and relations of the Constitutional Tribunal, and duties, rights and privileges of the chairman and members of the Constitutional Tribunal shall be prescribed by law.
- 26. The role of the chairman of the Constitutional Tribunal is designated to be equivalent to the position of a Vice-President, and a member, to the position of a Union minister in order to make reference in prescribing by law regarding the duties, rights and privileges of the chairman and members of the Constitutional Tribunal.

Esteemed National Convention delegates,

Regarding the explanations, the National Unity Party from the Delegate Group of Political Parties comprising eight political parties said, "The Work Committee Chairman after studying in detail the constitutions of some world nations, the 1947 Constitution and the 1974 Constitution of Myanmar explained the detailed basic principles concerning the chapters 'Amendment of the Constitution', 'State Flag, State Seal, National Anthem, and the Capital', 'Transitory Provisions' and 'General Provisions' within the framework of the objectives of the National Convention and the fundamental principles adopted by the Constitution.

"Hence, the detailed basic principles are suitable to be adopted."

The Union Pa-O National Organization said, "So, I suggest that the 26 points the Work Committee chairman explained be adopted as detailed basic principles."

The Shan State Kokang Democratic Party said, "We have studied the paras from 1 to 26 and found no further suggestions concerning them. Hence, they should be adopted as detailed basic principles."

"As regards the para 6, we would like to give a suggestion. Myanmar is formed with Regions and States and self-administered areas where various national races are living. There are national races who are not skilled in Myanmar literature and language. Moreover, some areas of the nation are far away from the place where the National Archives is located. Hence, copies of the Constitution that are translated into the languages of various national races will surely be required."

"So, we would like to make a suggestion that the government enact necessary law to keep the translated copies of the Constitution at the respective Regions, States and self-administered areas."

The Mro or Khami National Solidarity Organization said, "We conducted a careful study on the Work Committee chairman's clarification concerning—

- the designation of Myanmar language as the official language,
- interpretation of the expressions contained in this Constitution based only on Myanmar text when need arises,
- interpretation of the expressions stipulated in this Constitution,
- the statement that the manuscript shall be conclusive evidence of the provisions of this Constitution,
- the economic sector while the basic principles were adopted for designating policies of the State,
- the treaties or agreements signed between the government of the Union of Myanmar and the governments of other countries in the post-independence period,
- any contracts or liabilities signed between the government of the Union of Myanmar and the governments of other countries before the State constitute comes into force,
- the establishment of the Constitutional Tribunal,
- the formation of the Constitutional Tribunal, appointment of members, designation of its members required qualifications, the term of the Constitutional Tribunal, assigning duties to the members, being loyal to the State, and functions of the Constitutional Tribunal".

"Here, we noticed that he presented a collection of 26 points that should be adopted as detailed basic principles for the Chapter 'General Provisions'. These points are found appropriate and so we would like to make no suggestions about them and support them."

The Lahu National Development Party said, "The Work Committee Chairman explained the 26 detailed basic principles for the chapter on General Provisions at the plenary session of the National Convention held on 13 November 2006. In his explanations, he gave references to the 1947 Constitution and the 1974 Constitution of Myanmar, and constitutions of some world nations, for the benefit of the nation. Moreover, we find that his explanations are in conformity with the nation's natural conditions, traditions and culture, customs, history and current political, economic and social conditions. In this regard, we would like to suggest that all the 26 detailed basic principles should be adopted."

The Union Kayin League said, "The 26 points the Work Committee chairman explained regarding the term of the Constitutional Tribunal, appointment of a member to the Constitutional Tribunal, impeachment of a member of the Constitutional Tribunal, its functions, disputes as to whether a provision of a law is in conformity with the Constitution in a case being heard by a court, and designation of the status of the chairman and a member of the Constitutional Tribunal are complete. So, these 26 points should be adopted as detailed basic principles."

The Kokang Democracy and Unity Party said, "The collection of the detailed basic principles for the Chapters "Amendment of the Constitution", "State Flag, State Seal, National Anthem, and the Capital", "Transitory Provisions" and "General Provisions" should be adopted, as presented by the Work Committee chairman."

The Wa National Development Party said, "We Wa National Development Party suggest that the detailed basic principles for the Chapters "Amendment of the Constitution", "State Flag, State Seal, National Anthem, and the Capital", "Transitory Provisions" and "General Provisions" to be included in the State constitution should be adopted."

The Delegate Group of Representatives-Elect said, "Of the four proposals, the political parties from the Delegate Group of Political Parties have evaluated the presentations of the representatives of the National Unity Party and Mro or Khami National Solidarity Organization. And the discussions of respective representatives are the same as they have done."

Shan State and U Tun Kyaw of Namhsan Township Constituency in Shan State (North) from that delegate group said, “Therefore, the points from No 1 to No 26 the Work Committee chairman explained at the NC plenary session held on 13 November 2006 should be adopted.

“I would also like to make a suggestion about a constitutional index. An index should be stated in the booklet of the State constitution in order that when need arises to refer sub-paras, paras and pages, the facts can be looked up in the booklet in a short time. The constitutions of some countries feature an index, but those of most countries do not feature an index. The former countries state an index in the end of the booklet of the State constitution. So, I would like to suggest that after the booklet of the State constitution is in circulation, it should feature a constitution index.

“I have learnt that in order to achieve success in working in a systematic and smooth way, there need some methods such as

- implementation of tasks in accordance with policy guidelines,
- reviewing the weak points in doing so,
- assessing the reviews,
- evaluating the assessments,
- laying down better policy guidelines based on the findings. This aphorism is reasonable and useful at any times. In pursuing policy guidelines, it is required to regularly find out weak points and strong points. It is also needed to assess the reviews to know as to whether achievement is made or not. Only then, will it be possible to know whether the assessments are effective. And it is required to constantly review the weak points and causes and effects of the remedies to lay down better plans and new guidelines. Now, most nations are practising such methods. So, in building a modern and developed nation in accordance with the upcoming State constitution, emphasis should be placed on reviewing, assessing the reviews, remedying and evaluating.”

Six Independent Representatives-Elect from the Delegate Group of Representatives-Elect—U Tin Win of Kyaiklat Township Constituency (2), U Thein Kyi of Taungdwingyi Township Constituency (1), U Hla Soe of Minbu Township Constituency (2), U Mya Hlaing of Twantay Township Constituency (2), U Kyi Win of Mingaladon Township Constituency (1), and U Tin Tun Maung of Mingaladon Township Constituency (2) in their discussions said that what the Work Committee chairman had clarified for the Chapter “General Provisions” to be included in the State constitution were complete and reasonable. “So, the 26 points should be adopted as detailed basic principles,” said the six independent representatives-elect.

The Delegate Group of National Races said, “Our group support the 26 detailed basic principles the Work Committee chairman presented for the Chapter “General Provisions” and has no suggestions about them.”

The Delegate Group of Peasants said, “The 26 detailed basic principles for the Chapter “General Provisions” the Work Committee chairman has explained should be adopted.”

The Delegate Group of Workers said, “The 26 points the Work Committee chairman has presented for the Chapter “General Provisions” should be adopted as detailed basic principles.”

The Delegate Group of Intellectuals and Intelligentsia said, “We are in support of adopting the 26 detailed basic principles for the Chapter “General Provisions as explained by the Work Committee chairman”.

The Delegate Group of State Service Personnel said, “The clarification made by the Work Committee Chairman at the plenary session of the National Convention held from 10 to 13 November concerning the facts of the chapter “General Provisions” are realistic, suitable and comprehensive. We have no separate suggestions concerning the chapter. We are in support of adopting the 26 detailed basic principles of the chapter as explained by the Work Committee Chairman.”

The Delegate Group of Other Invited Persons said, “The 26 points the Work Committee chairman has explained for the Chapter “General Provisions” to be included in the State constitution should be mentioned in the forthcoming State constitution. So, they should be adopted as detailed basic principles.”

Esteemed National Convention delegates,

Now, we have read out the findings of the panel of alternate chairmen of the NC plenary sessions on the proposal papers submitted by the representatives of the delegate groups, political parties from the delegate group of political parties and some NC delegates for the Chapters “Election, “Political Parties”, “Provisions on State of Emergency”, “Amendment of the Constitution”, “State Flag, State Seal, National Anthem, and the Capital”, “Transitory Provisions” and “General Provisions” to be included in the State constitution regarding the clarification of the Work Committee chairman.

In conclusion, I would say, in view of these proposal papers, the delegate groups and many delegates have expressed their support for the explanations of the Work Committee chairman. And some delegates not only support the explanations but also make some separate suggestions.—MNA

Veterans sue US over “shameful failures” in care

SAN FRANCISCO, 24 July— The many medical claims by veterans of US wars in Iraq and Afghanistan has completely overwhelmed the American Government, leading to “shameful failures” in treatment, a class-action lawsuit filed on Monday alleged.

“Because of those failures, hundreds of thousands of men and women who have suffered grievous injuries fighting in the ongoing wars in Iraq and Afghanistan are being abandoned,” according to the lawsuit filed in the US District Court for Northern California.

More than 1.5 million US service members have been sent to Iraq or Afghanistan since 2001.

Repeated and extended deployments to war zones have driven a rise in post-traumatic stress among troops. But Pentagon and Veterans Affairs Department lack the resources and staff to help service members, according to recent reports.

The filing by two veterans groups sued various officials in the Department of Veterans Affairs and US Attorney General Alberto Gonzales and challenged the constitutionality of a 1988 law establishing various VA practices. The two plaintiff organization represent about 12,000 American veterans.

“Unless systemic and drastic measures are instituted immediately, the costs to these veterans, their families, and our nation will be incalculable, including broken families, a new generation of unemployed and homeless veterans, increases in drug abuse and alcoholism, and crushing burdens on the health care delivery system and other social services in our communities,” the suit said. The suit said the Department of Veterans Affairs faced a backlog of 600,000 claims, with some veterans dying while waiting to settle claims. It also claimed the VA was unable to deal with the growing number of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder cases. — MNA/Reuters

A large number of snake gourds thriving in the fields stretching out as far as the eye could see welcomed us when we of the Myanma Alin team arrived at Paukkon village in Minhla Township, Bago Division.

The land surface of Minhla Township in Bago Division gradually inclines westwards. The Almost every household in Paukkon village cultivates snake gourd during the season. Large piles of the produce can be seen at the village at the harvesting time.

When we interviewed Ma Nyo Nyo Than, a farmer and a trader of the produce, she said, “I sell bundles each containing 25 snake gourds at K 1800 per unit at the start of the harvesting season. Now I am selling them at unit price of K 1200.”

Chairman of Village

Peace and Development Council U Han Shwe, on behalf of the village farmers, also told us, “Snake gourd likes water and it is a weather-and pest-resistant crop.

Hence, the village is famous for its snake gourd produce as almost all the families of the village grow the plant.”

It is important for a village to have robust economy to implement the five-rural development project. A village like Paukkon where individual income is increasing will certainly achieve progress in various sectors. Donations made every day by the local people at the village monastery stand witness to the fact.

Six NATO led troops killed in Afghan violence

KABUL, 24 July— Six NATO-led soldiers were killed in the past two days in violence in Afghanistan, military spokesmen said on Monday.

Four soldiers were killed and one wounded when their convoy was struck by an improvised explosive device while on combat operations in eastern Afghanistan, Lieutenant-Colonel Claudia Foss of the NATO-led forces said. The nationalities of the victims have not yet been released. One Norwegian soldier was killed in a clash to the south of Kabul on Monday, Oslo said.

On Sunday, another NATO soldier was killed in an ambush in the eastern province of Kunar, the alliance said.

The deaths occurred as US-led troops killed more than four dozen insurgents in a battle in Afghanistan’s southern province of Helmand, the US military said.

The military said there had been no civilian casualties but one resident of the area told Reuters at least eight civilians died in Sunday’s battle in the province’s Musa Qala District.

Philippine police on heightened alert for ASEAN meeting

MANILA, 25 July — After Philippine President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo's State of the Nation Address (SONA), the police is maintaining a nationwide heightened alert for the 40th Association of South-East Asian Nations (ASEAN) Ministerial Meeting next week, officials said on Tuesday.

"This is a continuing alert status because of the upcoming ASEAN Ministerial Meeting, especially now that the delegates will soon be arriving," said Director Wilfredo Garcia, Philippine National Police Directorate for Operations chief.

The heightened alert was raised Saturday, two days before the SONA, in anticipation of protest rallies.

A heightened alert means half of the 118,000-strong police force must remain at their posts at all times.

Over 6,000 cops will be fielded in Metro Manila to ensure peace and order and to secure some 40 ministers and their spouses, said Garcia.

The delegates will be arriving in the country on 26 July. The ministerial meeting formally opens on 27 July.

Thousands of homes without water after floods in England

EVESHAM(England), 24 July— Thousands of people in Gloucestershire were without water on Monday after a treatment works had to be shut down due to flooding from torrential rain.

Bottles of water are being handed out by Severn Trent after its pumps at Mythe Water Treatment Works in Tewkesbury, which serves the towns of Gloucester and Cheltenham, southwest England, became engulfed in flood water.

About 70,000 properties are without water, and as many as 140,000 may be affected, a spokesman for the water utility said.

It could be days before pumps are working again, and flood water are expected to continue rising, he told the BBC.

People living in Cheltenham are being urged to use water sparingly as only about 20 hours of supply are left. Prime Minister Gordon Brown is expected to visit a flood stricken area of western England on Monday to see the damage and recovery efforts.

In southeast London 175,000 people were warned to boil their tap water after torrential rain caused flooding at Sutton and East Surrey Water's Cheam treatment plant and affected the water supply.

Insurers face UK flood bill of over $4.12b

LONDON, 24 July — Insurers face their biggest UK flood bill in 20 years, with claims set to top two billion pounds (4.12 billion US dollars) after intense rain left swathes of central, northern and southern England under water.

The bill from flooding in recent days across the central counties of Worcestershire, Gloucestershire and Herefordshire is likely to run into hundreds of millions of pounds, an Association of British Insurers (ABI) spokeswoman said.

That comes on top of an estimated bill of 1.5 billion pounds from flooding in June that hit central and northern England and caused chaos in the cities of Sheffield and Hull, the ABI said.

"We could see claims in excess of two billion pounds," the ABI spokeswoman said.

WHO warns of worsening dengue spread in Western Pacific

MANILA, 24 July—The World Health Organization (WHO) on Monday warned that the Western Pacific Region may be heading for a major dengue outbreak unless concerted effort and cooperation are undertaken quickly.

The disease, which arrived earlier than usual in this year, has already caused hundreds of deaths in the region, the WHO's Regional Office for the Western Pacific said in a statement.

Stronger political commitment and greater spending from Member States are needed to support dengue prevention and control programme, so as to improve dengue surveillance and the management of patients, the statement said. For the past decade, ten countries and areas, namely Cambodia, China, French Polynesia, Fiji, Malaysia, Laos, New Caledonia, the Philippines, Singapore and Vietnam, accounted for 98.4 per cent of all dengue cases and 99.7 per cent of all deaths in the Western Pacific Region, it added.

The statement, however, said that current official information from most WHO members is incomplete, making it difficult to get an accurate estimate of the magnitude of the problem in the Western Pacific Region. It urged countries to provide dengue information to the WHO.

Since there is no vaccine to prevent dengue nor are there any effective antiviral drugs to treat the disease, the WHO has called for an integrated approach among its members to dengue fever prevention and control.

Drive-by shooting killed one, injured another in Thai south

BANGKOK, 24 July—Violence went on unabated in Thailand's far southern region as a man was killed and another injured in a drive-by shooting in Yala Province Monday, media here quoted local police as saying.

Mahama Jehni, a 46-year-old Muslim man, was killed in Ban Ubeng Village in Yaha District at 12:30 pm, according to news network The Nation.

His friend, Abdulkoder Yayor, 44, was shot at his leg and injured.

Police said the two victims were riding their motorcycle when two men on another motorcycle caught up with them and opened fire at them.

NZ scientists find new clue of obesity

WELLINGTON, 25 July —New Zealand scientists have discovered new clues that help to explain why some people appear more likely than others to put on weight.

Auckland's Liggins Institute released a report Wednesday suggesting that not all people are biologically the same.

The study shows that the fetus takes cues from its life in the womb, such as the availability of nutrients, to predict what its future environment will be and chart a course of development that will fit it for that life.

Thus, if a mother has a poor diet during pregnancy, her fetus might predict that future food supplies will be scarce and set its metabolism to store and conserve fat.

However, if this early prediction proves false and food — particularly food high in fat — is readily available, the infant may find its metabolism programmed for adult obesity and conditions such as heart disease and diabetes.

In a landmark study published two years ago the group provided the first experimental evidence that this developmental programming could be reversed. —Internet

Soft drink may increase heart disease risk

BEIJING, 24 July —Drinking one or more soft drinks a day may increase the risk of getting heart disease, media reports quoting a new research said Tuesday.

The research published in the US Heart Association's journal Circulation finds that adults who drink one or more soft drinks a day have about a 50 percent higher risk of metabolic syndrome, which in turn boosts the chance of getting heart disease. In the five criteria to diagnose metabolic syndrome, the study finds a 30 percent increased risk of developing a large waistline, a 25 percent increased risk of developing high blood triglycerides as well as high blood sugar, and a 32 percent higher risk of having low high-density lipoprotein or "good" cholesterol levels, showing no significant link with blood pressure.

Prior studies have linked consumption of sugar-laden soft drinks with multiple risk factors for heart disease, but Ramachandran Vasan of Boston University School of Medicine and his colleagues also find the link extends to diet soft drinks. After adjusting for intake of fat, fiber consumption, total calories, smoking, and physical activity, there is still a link between soft drink intake and metabolic risk factors. "Even one soda per day increases your risk of developing metabolic syndrome by about 50 percent," said Vasan.

But Vasan added that the observational study could not discern any evidence that drinking soft drinks actually caused the metabolic syndrome. More study is needed. —Internet

Final Potter book sales setting record

Fans of the Harry Potter book series pose for media at the start of the sales of JK Rowling's "Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows" in Berlin on 21 July, 2007. —INTERNET

BEIJING, 24 July —"Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows," the seventh and final volume of JK Rowling's bestselling series, sold a record 11 million copies in its first 24 hours on sale in three markets alone, publishers announced Monday. US sales hit a mountainous 8.3

million on its first day, according to US publisher Scholastic Inc. In Britain, Bloomsbury sold a record 2.7 million copies of the final Potter book in the first 24 hours.

In addition, nearly 400,000 copies of the book's English language edition were bought in Germany over the same period. No other book, not even any of the six previous Potters, has been so desired. "Deathly Hallows" averaged more than 300,000 copies in sales per hour — more than 5,000 a minute — in the United States. Both Amazon.com and Barnes & Noble announced that pre-orders exceeded 1 million. On Sunday, seven of the top best sellers on Amazon were Potter-related.

Thousands of Potter fans queued outside book stores in major cities around the world over the weekend to get hold of the book, which answers the question "Does Harry survive?"

Lindsay Lohan arrested for drunken driving

LOS ANGELES, 24 July —Hollywood actress Lindsay Lohan, who recently spent more than a month in treatment for alcoholism, was arrested Tuesday on suspicion of drunken driving and cocaine possession, police said.

The 21-year-old actress, who is already facing a drunken driving charge in Beverly Hills, was arrested about 1:30 am in the Pacific coastal town of Santa Monica near Los Angeles.

Lohan was booked for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, possession of cocaine, and driving on a suspended or revoked license. She was released after posting a 25,000-dollar bail. In a hastily convened news briefing outside the Santa Monica police station, a police officer told reporters that another motorist — whom police described as the mother of

Study says humans to blame for global changes in rain

WASHINGTON, 24 July — Human activities that spur global warming are largely to blame for changes in rainfall patterns over the last century, climate researchers reported on Monday.

The report was released as record rains caused deadly flooding in Britain and China. Human-caused climate change has been responsible for higher air temperatures and hotter seas and is widely expected to lead to more droughts, wildfires and floods, but the authors say this is the first study to specifically link it to precipitation changes.

"For the first time, climate scientists have clearly detected the human fingerprint on changing global precipitation patterns over the past century," researchers from Environment Canada said in a statement.

Three semi-finalists to get byes to 2011 Asian Cup

BANGKOK, 25 July — Three of the four Asian Cup semi-finalists will be given byes to the 2011 finals, the Asian Football Confederation (AFC) said on Tuesday.

This year's 3rd/4th place match takes on added significance with the two losing semi-finalists made to go head-to-head for automatic qualification.

South Korea, Japan, Iraq and Saudi Arabia all have a chance to book their places in the 2011 competition in Wednesday's semifinals.

Three-times champions Japan face Saudi Arabia in Hanoi, and Iraq take on South Korea in Kuala Lumpur.

Bobby Charlton visits Cambodia to promote soccer

PHNOM PENH, 25 July — British football legend Bobby Charlton arrived in Cambodia Tuesday for a goodwill visit, hoping to boost the country's soccer programme. "Everyone's waiting for Cambodia. Everyone else are just very happy playing soccer in Asia, so Cambodia is next," Charlton told reporters as he left Phnom Penh airport.

During his four-day visit, Charlton said, he will take part in a landmine victim awareness programme.

"We are going to try to teach young people how to recognize the dangerous mines that are still around," Charlton said. His visit is also intended to breathe some life into Cambodia's ailing soccer programme.

Injured Scholes to miss start of new season

MACAU, 25 July — Manchester United playmaker Paul Scholes is to have an exploratory knee operation that will rule him out of the start of next season, the club said on Monday.

The influential midfielder has been sent home from their Asian tour after missing the English champions' 6-0 win over Shenzhen Xiangxue in Macao on Monday.

"Paul felt his knee in the last game (against FC Seoul) and we've sent him home for scope to see what kind of damage there is," United manager Alex Ferguson told reporters.

"We've had some scans done and there is a bit of discolourment about the cartilage.

"We don't think it is serious, but we will keep him out for about three weeks to a month."

Kaka to stay in Milan

MILAN, 25 July — Brazil playmaker Kaka said on Tuesday he was committed to AC Milan and had never asked for a transfer to Spanish champions Real Madrid.

The European champions have spent most of the close season repelling Real's advances for 25-year-old Kaka, one of the best players in the world.

Milan said in June they were aware Kaka's father had met Madrid officials.

Kaka, who was rested from the Copa America at Milan's request, has been back in Brazil and had stayed silent on the matter until now.

"I have never demanded anything at Milan, I have never asked to renew my contract, to leave or to have a clause to rescind it like many have said," Kaka told a news conference at Milan's training ground. "There was a meeting with Real Madrid and Milan were the first to know about it."

Milan President Silvio Berlusconi reaffirmed on Monday that Kaka would not be sold.

Mort replaces Shepherd as Newcastle chairman

LONDON, 25 July — Freddy Shepherd was replaced as chairman of Newcastle United by his deputy Chris Mort, the Premier League club announced on Tuesday. "I am delighted to become chairman of such a fabulous club," Mort was quoted as saying on the club's website (www.nufc.premiumtv.co.uk).

"Since arriving at St. James' Park I have been hugely encouraged by the warm welcome I have received from fans.

"The strategic review of the club is going well and, with the new season fast approaching, we feel the time is right to make the change."

The move follows sportswear tycoon Mike Ashley's 134.0 million pound (275.7 million US dollars) takeover of the club last month.

Tevez agent starts legal action against West Ham

LONDON, 25 July — Representatives of Argentina striker Carlos Tevez on Tuesday started legal proceedings against West Ham United in a bid to settle their dispute over his proposed transfer to Manchester United.

West Ham own Tevez' playing registration but his agent Kia Joorabchian says he retains the striker's economic rights and therefore is entitled to any transfer fee.

Tevez' move to the Premier League champions has stalled over the question of who should be paid that fee, estimated by the British media to be worth up to 30 million pounds (61.73 million US dollars).

World soccer's governing body FIFA earlier on Tuesday recommended the dispute be settled by the Lausanne-based Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS).— MNA/Reuters

China claims first cloned rabbit

BEIJING, 25 July — China has produced the world’s first cloned rabbit using a biological process that takes cells from a foetus, state media said on Tuesday. The female rabbit, which weighed 60 grammes at birth in February, was now growing normally at an animal centre in Shanghai, the China Daily said. Scientists have cloned mice, cattle and other animals since the first cloned sheep, Dolly, was born in 1996. Malaysia is even trying to clone some of its threatened leather-back turtles to save them from extinction. But it was only in 2002 that French scientists produced the world’s first cloned rabbit using cells from an adult female rabbit, the paper said. The Chinese rabbit was the world’s first to be cloned using “fibroblast” cells from a foetal rabbit, the China Daily said. “Chinese cloning research has reached a global advanced level,” the newspaper quoted Wang Hongguang, director of the China Centre for Biotechnology Development, under the Ministry of Science and Technology, as saying. MNA/Reuters

17 rescued from vessel on fire in southern Philippines
