Exert relentless efforts for boosting paddy production

The government has built over 200 dams and sluice gates the length and breadth of the nation for the agricultural purpose. And it is taking all the necessary measures for farmers to use quality strain paddy and modern agricultural techniques for growing more paddy and boosting the per acre yield.

Now is the paddy cultivation season, and the respective towns of the states and divisions are thus engaged in collectively cultivating paddy. In that regard, paddy transplanting contests are being held along with the ceremonies to conclude the cultivation of monsoon paddy.

Ceremonies to conclude the cultivation of monsoon paddy in Ayeyawady and Bago Divisions for 2007-2008 were held on 1 and 2 August. At present, efforts are being exerted for continued cultivation of summer paddy and extended cultivation of edible oil crops and other cash crops.

Myanmar produced over 1,300 million baskets of paddy out of over 18 million acres of monsoon and summer paddy cultivated in 2005-2006. In this year's paddy cultivation season, steps are being taken for meeting the target of producing 1,500 million baskets of paddy.

As quality rice is in high demand in international markets priority is to be given to producing and exporting the quality paddy in addition to boosting the per acre yield.

At present, paddy production in Myanmar is in surplus. Farmers and entrepreneurs are to fully use quality strain paddy and modern agricultural techniques, and only then, will they be able to produce quality paddy all the more.

Chavez accuses US of impeding Venezuela's MERCOSUR entry

CARACAS, 3 Aug — Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez accused the United States in a Wednesday speech of undermining his country's entry into the Common Market of the South (MERCOSUR).

Venezuela signed an agreement to join MERCOSUR over a year ago, but its entry has not been ratified by Brazil and Paraguay.

of the empire's actions," said Chavez.

He accused the US of campaigning to discredit Venezuela, saying, "US lawyers buy people. They pay well. They have newspapers and television stations. They try to confuse people, blackmail them and spread fear," Chavez said.

However, he said that the four existing full MERCOSUR members—Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay and Paraguay—were aware of US actions and were working to smooth Venezuela's entry to the body.

Malaysia facing shortage of veterinary experts

KUALA LUMPUR, 3 Aug — Malaysia needs to establish more veterinary medicine faculties as it is facing a shortage of experts in that field, Agriculture and Agro-based Industry Minister Tan Sri Muhyiddin Yassin said.

The shortage was keenly felt in the public service which only has 250 veterinary officers nationwide.

LONDON, 4 Aug—An immediate national ban on the movement of all cattle, pigs, sheep and goats was imposed last night after foot and mouth disease was confirmed in cattle at a farm near Guildford, Surrey. Gordon Brown cut short his holiday on hearing the news and was involved in a conference call with Cobra, the government's civil emergencies committee.

A cordon was thrown round the farm and vets moved in to slaughter the affected animals. All farmers were urged by the chief vet to check their animals immediately.

Gates says US underestimated Iraq political problems

ABU DHABI, 3 Aug— Defence Secretary Robert Gates said on Thursday the United States had probably underestimated how hard it would be for Iraqi political leaders to agree reconciliation measures.

Gates, speaking at the end of a Middle East tour, also said he had urged countries in the region to redouble efforts to pressure Iran over its nuclear programme, declaring "there's not really room for bystanders". He said he was more optimistic now than several months ago that increased US troop levels could improve security in Iraq, but political progress had proved harder than anticipated.

The main Sunni Muslim bloc quit Iraqi Prime Minister Nuri al-Maliki's Shiite-led government on Wednesday, underscoring how difficult relations are between political groups.

"We probably all underestimated the depth of the mistrust and how difficult it would be for these guys to come together on legislation which, let's face it, is not just some sort of secondary kind of thing," Gates said.

"The kinds of legislation they're talking about establish the framework of Iraq for the future, so it's almost like our constitutional convention," he told reporters aboard his plane as he flew back to the United States.

Foot and mouth returns to UK

The Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Defra) said a 3km "protection zone" and a 10km "surveillance zone" had been imposed around the farm. A spokesman refused to give its exact location, but a graphic on the Defra website showed the centre of the zones to be between Guildford and Aldershot. This is the second outbreak of the disease in Britain within six years. The last outbreak, which started in 2001, lasted almost a year and cost the economy more than £8bn. At least 7 million animals were slaughtered and it took the British meat industry several years to recover. Tourism was also badly hit as access to the countryside was restricted. Last night vets and government inspectors began to inspect animals on neighbouring farms. In a departure from 2001, the government said vaccination teams had been put on standby.

Sunni bloc quits Iraqi Govt, bombs kill over 70

BAGHDAD, 2 Aug—The main Sunni Arab political bloc quit the Iraqi Cabinet on Wednesday, plunging the government into crisis on a day when suicide bombers killed more than 70 people with massive strikes in the capital.

The Sunni Accordance Front said its five Cabinet members and Deputy Prime Minister Salam al-Zobaie would resign from Prime Minister Nuri al-Maliki's government.

"This is probably the most serious political crisis we have faced since the passage of the Constitution. If unresolved the implications are grave," the remaining Deputy Prime Minister, Barhim Salih, a Kurd, told Reuters.

Maliki's office said the Premier regretted the decision and would remain in "permanent contact" with all parties, including the Front.

Fifty of Wednesday's dead were killed when a suicide bomber in a fuel truck packed with explosives targeted motorists at a petrol station, police said. Another suicide bomber killed 20 people outside a popular ice cream shop across town.

The Accordance Front said it was quitting Maliki's coalition because he had failed to meet about a dozen demands, including granting the Sunni bloc a greater say in security matters. Those standing down include the ministers of culture, women, planning, and higher education, and the junior foreign affairs minister.

Their withdrawal may have little practical effect on a government already paralyzed by infighting. The Shiite bloc of radical cleric Moqtada al-Sadr withdrew in April.

UK researchers develop way of purifying biodiesel

LONDON, 3 Aug — British chemists have developed a way of purifying biodiesel made from vegetable oils, which is cheap, simple and low in toxicity.

Using ionic liquids made in part by vitamin B4 (choline chloride), a group of chemists from the University of Leicester, UK, is able to remove glycerol, the main by-product of vegetable oil-based biodiesel, which if left in biodiesel would damage engines, according to a Press release on Thursday by the university.

The ionic liquid developed by Andrew

Abbott who led the group uses a complex of choline chloride with glycerol to extract more glycerol out of the biodiesel. This technique simply washes glycerol out of the fuel, effectively providing a sustainable methodology for the purification of biodiesel without the production of significant waste.

Abbott hopes that further research will optimize the ionic liquid recycling and recovery of the glycerol, and hopes to collaborate with a biodiesel producer to test this technology further. — MNA/Xinhua

Oil price 'threatens US economy'

LONDON, 3 Aug—Sustained oil prices close to $80 a barrel could hit US economic growth, Energy Secretary Sam Bodman has said.

The US economy has never faced such high prices for “an extended period,” Mr Bodman warned. There is concern about whether oil supplies can meet global demand and Mr Bodman urged oil producing nations to increase output to avoid shortages.

Oil prices have fallen back slightly after hitting a record intraday high of $78.77 a barrel on Wednesday.

Analysts say that a price rise above $80 is inevitable, raising concerns about the effect of energy costs on inflation.

Higher oil prices drive up the costs for businesses who pass those increases on to customers. And with the price of petrol at the pump close to $3 a gallon, it is feared that higher fuel bills will begin to dent consumer spending.

Mr Bodman said that the high oil prices had inflicted only a “modest” impact on the economy but he was unsure that this was sustainable.

Sony recalls 350,000 digital cameras

TOKYO, 3 Aug—Japanese electronics giant Sony Corp said on Thursday it would recall 350,000 Cyber-Shot digital cameras worldwide because the metal coating could peel off and scratch the user's hand.

The affected model, the Cyber-Shot DSC-T5, was released in September 2005 and is no longer manufactured, the company said. “The coating did not have enough adhesive strength, so it may peel off and curl up, hurting a user's hand,” said Sony spokeswoman Ryoko Takagi.

“We have received over 30 reports in Japan and several similar cases overseas that users had paper cut-like scratches,” including one person who complained a piece of coating got stuck under a finger nail, she said.

Some 66,000 of the cameras covered by the recall are circulating in Japan and the rest overseas.

Manufactured between August and October 2005, the cameras have serial numbers from 3010001 to 3081200, the company said. In November last year, Sony announced a voluntary recall of eight types of Cyber-Shot digital cameras due to a possible glitch with the image sensor. Last year the electronics giant was also hit by recalls of millions of its laptop computer batteries for fear they might catch fire.—Internet

Malaysian, Indonesian glove makers to counter US firm

KUALA LUMPUR, 2 Aug—Malaysian and Indonesian glove makers are joining hands to counter a US company's patent infringement claim, local reports said here on Wednesday.

At least seven Malaysian glove producers and one Indonesian glove company have teamed up so far to contest US-based Tillotson Corp's claim that their exports of nitrile gloves to the United States had a patent infringement problem, Malaysia's national news services Bernama said.

The Malaysian companies, including Top Glove Corp, is making the move through the Malaysian Rubber Glove Manufacturers Association.

According to Bernama, Tillotson Corp lodged a complaint with the US International Trade Commission (ITC) on 30 May this year, requesting investigation into possible intellectual property infringement among 30 nitrile glove manufacturers, dealers and importers around the world, including more than 10 Malaysian companies.

The US company is asking a royalty of two US dollars for every 1,000 nitrile gloves imported into the US.

Bernama said that Top Glove is the world's largest rubber glove maker and the company believed that with a big number in the newly-formed coalition, it can succeed in the contest against the US company's claims.

Study reveals overstretched British troops face mental problems

LONDON, 4 Aug — Overstretched British troops face escalating mental problems the longer they stay on frontline duty in Iraq and Afghanistan, a study showed on Friday.

Those deployed for 13 months or more in a three-year period were more likely to have symptoms of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, The King's College London research revealed.

They also suffer greater psychological distress, marital problems and alcoholism once they come home, it said after studying the responses of more than 5,500 combat forces.

“The principal conclusion was that if you go above a certain amount of deployments in a three-year period you are at greater risk of having mental health problems,” said psychiatry professor Matthew Hotopf.

“There’s a definite increase in things like post traumatic stress distress, anxiety and depression and alcohol problems,” Hotopf told BBC Radio on Friday after the findings were published in the British Medical Journal.

The report concluded: “Overstretch in the UK Armed Forces may have consequences on problems at home and deterioration of psychological health may be more apparent in those directly exposed to combat.”

The Ministry of Defence, which has “harmony guidelines” for the amount of time service personnel spend away from their families, welcomed the survey but said that the overall rate of mental illness in the Armed Forces remained low. The number of new cases of mental disorders, of all types and regardless of cause, in the first quarter of this year was 0.58 per cent of the Armed Forces’ strength, it said.

Members of Parliament have also warned that Britain does not have enough troops to cope with current deployments.

US House bill gives troops more time before returning to Iraq

WASHINGTON, 4 Aug — Defying a veto threat, the US House of the Representatives on Thursday voted to give troops more time at home before returning to Iraq.

The measure, passed by the House on a 229-194 vote, requires active-duty troops returning from Iraq to have at least as much time at home as they stayed in Iraq. For reserve troops, they can stay at home three times the period spent in Iraq.

Currently, active US troops usually stay for 15 months in Iraq with a year at home in between.

The Democrats-sponsored bill will restrict the government’s war power, and President George W. Bush has threatened to veto it.

Four Indian children test negative for bird flu

NEW DELHI, 4 Aug — India has completed health checks on thousands of people after an outbreak of bird flu in the remote northeast, and cleared four boys who had been suffering from fever after handling dead or sick poultry. Thousands of people in Manipur state in India’s northeast were also checked by health officials after the outbreak of the H5N1 strain of bird flu in chickens on a small poultry farm.

Detailed basic principles that should be adopted for...

Mingaladon Township Constituency-1 and U Tin Tun Maung of Mingaladon Township Constituency-2 gave suggestions on paras (2) and (5) from of all the points explained by the Work Committee Chairman.

Paragraph No 2 says “The State Peace and Development Council shall, continuing to exercise State sovereignty, carry out during the interval between the coming into force of this Constitution and the day the first session of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw is convened, all the functions of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw under the Constitution.”

This point states that the SPDC will have to exercise the sovereign power just till the first session of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw is held. In such time, I do not think it is convenient to hand over the sovereign power to the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. The Pyidaungsu Hluttaw will have to elect and access the President, who is the executive head. Then, the State President will have to form this governing body and appoint the Chief Justice. Only such a time will it be convenient for the bodies that have to take over the State’s sovereign powers ready to assume discharge of their duties. So, the para (2) should be:

And para (5) says “Existing laws shall remain in accord with this Constitution.”

As the abovementioned point is in accord with the adopted fundamental principles, it should be considered seriously. The National Convention Convening Work Committee discussed the matter with the members of the panel of chairmen concerned. The Delegate Groups sent their opinions regarding the suggestion to the Work Committee in writing after the panels of chairmen had held discussions with the respective delegates. All the Delegate Groups suggested stating the para 2 (b) as follows:

“The Government that exists on date this Constitution comes into force shall continue to discharge the respective duties until the emergence of the new Government formed and assigned duties in accord with this Constitution.”

Concerning the suggestion to amend the Para 5, I would like to say that it is not an easy task to annul all the unnecessary laws at the same time or all at once. There may be laws that have not been repealed yet, but are contrary to the Constitution. Similar provisions are prescribed in drafting a new State constitution. It is found that the 1974 Constitution features this point, similarly. So, I would say this expression is used, as prescribed in the State Constitutions.

Mr Chairman,

The Delegate Group of Other Invited Persons said “The Work Committee Chairman gave the clarifications regarding the chapter “Transitory Provisions” at the plenary session of the National Convention held on 13 November 2006.

Regarding the coming into force of the State Constitution, he called for advice and suggestions of the delegates to decide whether or not the point:

considered seriously. The National Convention Convening Work Committee discussed the matter with the members of the panel of chairmen concerned. The Delegate Groups sent their opinions regarding the suggestion to the Work Committee in writing after the panels of chairmen had held discussions with the respective delegates. All the Delegate Groups suggested stating the para 1 as follows:

“This Constitution shall come into force throughout the Union after its adoption in a referendum by the assenting votes of more than half of all the people who have the right to vote.”

In accord with the great majority of the delegates the following detailed basic principles regarding the chapter — Transitory Provisions — have been adopted:

1. “This Constitution shall come into force throughout the Union after its adoption in a referendum by the assenting votes of more than half of all the people who have the right to vote.”
2. (a) “The State Peace and Development Council shall, continuing to exercise State sovereignty, carry out during the interval between the coming into force of this Constitution and the day the first session of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw is convened, all the functions of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw under the Constitution.”
(b) “The Government that exists on the date this Constitution comes into force shall continue to discharge the respective duties until the emergence of the new Government formed and assigned duties in accord with this Constitution.”
3. “The work done by the State Peace and Development Council to bring the Constitution into force shall be deemed to have been carried out in accord with this Constitution.”
4. “All policy guidelines, laws, rules, regulations, notifications, proclamations, measures, responsibilities and rights of the State Peace and Development Council shall devolve on the Union of Myanmar.”
5. “Existing laws shall remain in force in so far as they are not contrary to this Constitution until and unless they are repealed or amended by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw.”

All functioning State service personnel of departmental organizations including Tatmadaw under the State Peace and Development Council on the day this Constitution comes into force shall continue in their functions unless otherwise prescribed by the Government of the Union of Myanmar.

in force in so far as they are not contrary to this Constitution until and unless they are repealed or amended by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw.” From the time the State Constitution comes into force to the time of the emergence of the Constitutional Tribunal, there will not be yet an organization that has power to decide whether a law is contrary to the State constitution. So, in the para, the expressions “Existing laws shall remain in force in so far as they are not contrary to this Constitution until and unless they are repealed or amended by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw” should be “Existing laws shall remain in force until and unless they are repealed or amended by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw”.

The Work Committee’s assumption is that if the point of the suggestion concerning the amendment of the para 2 is added to the said detailed basic principle, the transfer of the three organs of State power by the State Peace and Development Council to the governmental bodies will be more convenient without any loopholes.

However, there will be the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw carrying out the task in connection with the legislation and the para 7 states that all courts existing on the date of the coming into operation of this Constitution shall continue to exercise their jurisdiction until new courts are established by law in accord with this Constitution. Hence, the suggestion concerns only the administrative affairs. The institution that is mainly responsible for the administrative affairs is the government. To be more inclusive, the para 2 should be changed as the para 2 (a) and the following para 2 (b) should be added:

“The Government that exists on the date this Constitution comes into force shall continue to discharge the respective duties until the emergence of the new Government formed and assigned duties

“This Constitution shall come into force throughout the Union after its adoption in a nationwide referendum by more than half of all the people who have the right to vote.” should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

Now, the seven-step Road Map is in the process of being implemented, and under the fourth step, the State Constitution will be approved through a referendum in accordance to the detailed basic principles to be adopted unanimously by the National Convention.

In the process, seeking the approval of the people, approving the State Constitution by the votes of more than half of all the people who have the right to vote, coming into force of the State Constitution throughout the Union after its adoption in a referendum, that points conform with the constitutions of many other countries as well as the 1947 Constitution and 1974 Constitution of our nation. So, these points should be adopted as detailed basic principles.

Here, I would make a suggestion that the word “votes” should be replaced with the expression “assenting votes” because it can also be assumed as votes against, or abstentions.

Therefore, the principle should be:

In our view if the word “assenting” is added to the detailed basic principle, its interpretation will become more precise.

As the abovementioned point is in accord with the adopted fundamental principles, it should be con-

Explaining the bronze casting process, U Soe Myint said: “We need such raw materials as red earth, bran, soft earth, horse dung, glue, wax, oil drag and yellow earth. Bronze and zinc are essential raw materials. A statute has to be first structured with red earth and bran to shape the image according to height so as to get a rough image. Next soft earth is used to smooth the rough image. Then wax is to be stuck on and horse dung and yellow earth are to be applied on it. After that the statutes have to be dried for one to three days according to the size.

finishing touches at their bronze casting. The wax work is skillfully done by their families with six or seven years’ experience at least. The wax work is followed by the bronze casting. The bronze casting for a high image is to be carried out only after the approval of the customer. For images with a height of over six

US ringleader guilty of murder in Iraqi killing

CAMP PENDLETON (California), 3 Aug— A US Marine squad leader who told his men “We just got away with murder” after they kidnapped and killed an Iraqi grandfather in Iraq last year was found guilty on Thursday of murder and other charges.

A military jury in a Camp Pendleton Marine Corps Base courtroom, north of San Diego, found that Sergeant Lawrence Hutchins III committed unpremeditated murder and larceny, made false official statements and participated in conspiracy to murder and commit other crimes in the killing.

He was found not guilty of additional charges of kidnapping, assault and housebreaking.

Witnesses said Hutchins led the unit in planning to kidnap and kill a terror suspect in the middle of the night. But when the unit could not find the suspect, they randomly executed Hashim Ibrahim Awad, 52, a father of 11 and grandfather of four who lived next door.

After Hutchins shot the man in the head, the squad then set a stolen AK-47 and shovel next to the corpse to suggest he was an insurgent planting a roadside bomb.

In an earlier trial, Petty Officer Melson Bacos said Hutchins’ anger over the release of a suspected “terrorist” from Baghdad’s Abu Ghraib Prison prompted the murder of the man’s neighbour.

Typhoon bears down on Japan, flights cancelled

TOKYO, 2 Aug — A powerful typhoon approached Japan’s southern island of Kyushu on Thursday, bringing with it a warning of likely flooding and forcing the cancellation of 128 flights, broadcaster NHK said.

Typhoon Usagi, whose name means rabbit in Japanese, was about 190 kilometres (118 miles) east of the tiny island of Tanegashima, about 1,000 kilometres (621 miles) southwest of Tokyo at 9 am (0000 GMT), the Meteorological Agency said.

Winds were gusting up to 234 kilometres per hour (145 miles per hour) close to the centre of the storm, which was moving north northwest at about 30 kilometres per hour (19 miles per hour), the agency said, as it warned of floods and high seas around southern Japan.

Usagi is expected to beat a path across the island of Kyushu and then change course to the northeast, fading into a tropical storm in the Sea of Japan before striking northern Japan at the weekend.

Last month Typhoon Manyi killed three people and injured more than 70 in Kyushu.

Asian security talks denounce Taliban abductions

MANILA, 3 Aug — Terrorism took centre-stage at a meeting of Asia-Pacific foreign ministers on Thursday as the group denounced the abductions of South Koreans in Afghanistan.

"The ministers condemned in unequivocal terms the abduction of Korean nationals as a heinous act of terrorism," one diplomat said after a closed-door session of the Association of South-East Asian Nations (ASEAN) Regional Forum.

Earlier, the Foreign Secretary of the hosts Philippines, Alberto Romulo, said the crisis should be quickly resolved. "We all wish the remaining 21 hostages are returned to their families as soon as possible," he said before the start of talks.

South Korean Foreign Minister Song Min-soon said he "hoped for continued support for the early and safe resolution of the crisis".

The Taliban kidnapped 23 South Korean church volunteers south of Kabul last month and have executed two of them. The hardline Islamist guerillas have said they will kill the rest unless captured comrades were freed.

The ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) brings together the 10-member Southeast Asian group with 17 dialogue partners, including the United States, China, Japan, Russia, India, the European Union and Australia.

Hamas praises Russia's efforts to resume talks

GAZA, 3 Aug — Islamic Hamas movement welcomed on Wednesday Russian efforts to mediate between Hamas and Fatah, calling on Arab nations to act like Russia. Russia has reportedly invited Hamas' politburo chief Khaled Mashaal for talks in Moscow a day after Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas met Russian officials in his visit to Moscow.

"Russia is an objective side and we welcome its mediation and wait a similar role by the Arabs," Hamas said in a statement sent to the Press.

Abbas has repeatedly rejected to renew dialogue with Hamas unless the Islamic movement returns the Palestinian Authority compounds that were captured after fierce rounds of fighting against Fatah.

During his three-day visit to Moscow, which was initially scheduled for June, but was postponed when Hamas seized control of the Gaza Strip in mid-June, Abbas said he has agreed to talk with Hamas given situation returns to normal, "to what it was before Hamas seized Gaza in June".

While Russia promised to provide humanitarian aid to the Palestinian Authority and send 50 armoured personnel carriers there, and keep ties with Hamas in a bid to promote dialogue.

Fatah chief Abbas has sacked a Hamas-led coalition that was in office during Gaza violence in June and formed another government in the Fatah-dominated West Bank.

Hamas has appealed several times for Abbas to negotiate after it found itself confined to the Gaza Strip and unable to open the crossing points which Israel has closed following the takeover of the territory.

Study suggests 10 new words a day no sweat for toddlers

BEIJING, 2 Aug— Learning 10 new words a day is no big deal for a toddler, a new study suggests.

Children go through a “vocabulary explosion” at about 18 months of age that involves learning new words at a rate that often amazes their parents. Researchers have previously thought complex mechanisms must govern this voracious rate of word-learning.

“The field of developmental psychology and language development has always assumed that something happens at that point to account for this word spurt: kids discover things have names, they switch to using more efficient mechanisms and they use their first words to help discover new ones,” said study author Bob McMurray of the University of Iowa. “Many such mechanisms have been proposed.”

But these mechanisms aren’t necessary, according to McMurray, whose study of a mathematical model to describe the vocabulary explosion is detailed in the 3 Aug issue of the journal Science.

McMurray says that while children may engage those types of specialized mechanisms to help them learn new words, computational simulations he conducted suggest that simpler mechanisms — such as word repetition and learning multiple words at once — can explain the vocabulary explosion.

“Children are going to get that word spurt guaranteed, mathematically, as long as a couple of conditions hold,” McMurray said. “They have to be learning more than one word at a time, and they must be learning a greater number of difficult or moderate words than easy words. Using computer simulations and mathematical analysis, I found that if these two conditions are true, you always get a vocabulary explosion.”

Brain stimulation helps barely-conscious man recover

BEIJING, 2 Aug — A man who spent 6 years in a mute, barely conscious state as a result of a severe head damage is recovering after receiving brain stimulation treatment, media reported on Thursday. Doctors at the Cleveland Clinic threaded two wires through the 38-year-old man's skull and into a subcortical area called the thalamus after receiving consent from the patient's family. The wires were connected to a pacemaker like unit, implanted under the man's collarbone. They found that the man showed some gradual and consistent improvements when the device was turned on and a loss of progress when it was off. “He can speak, he can watch movies without falling asleep, he can say ‘Mom’ and ‘Pop,’ and ‘I love you, Mommy,’” the man's mother said with tears and excitement, who refused to be identified, in a conference call with reporters on Wednesday.

The man also recovered some movement. He can chew and swallow, and demonstrate motions such as brushing his teeth. “He has regained his personhood, his personal agency,” said Dr Joseph Fins, chief of medical ethics at Cornell.

Before the electrodes were implanted, the man was in what doctors call a “minimally conscious state.” — Internet

Iran not concerned about US arms sale to Gulf states

TEHERAN, 3 Aug— Iranian Defence Minister Mostafa Mohammad Najjar said on Wednesday that the Islamic Republic is not concerned about Washington's sale of arms to a number of countries in the Gulf region, the official IRNA news agency reported.

Speaking to reporters after a Cabinet meeting on Wednesday, Najjar said that Iran is a powerful country in the region and Washington's sale of such arms is not a matter of concern to his country.

Instead, “the Zionist regime (Israel) and those who wish to dominate the region should be concerned”, he added. The United States is supporting Israel in order to save US arms factories from bankruptcy and spread fear in the region, the Iranian Defence Minister said.

But “we are never afraid of them”, he said, adding that Iran has no problems with neighbouring Muslim countries, and if they buy any arms they will belong to whole Muslim world.

Najjar noted that it is Israel that should be concerned because it always pursues aggressive policy and is the real cause of insecurity in the region.

New device electrifies hiccups!

BEIJING, 3 Aug — The inventor of the Device for the Treatment of Hiccups says you can throw away the paper bags, forget fright attacks, and quit trying to drink water while standing on your head.

“Hiccups lasting up to 48 hours are classified as ‘bouts.’ Hiccups lasting longer than 48 hours are called ‘persistent.’ Those lasting longer than a month are called ‘intractable,’” said Philip Charles Ehlinger, Jr.

Hiccups lasting longer than a month? Intractable? How about excruciating? At this point, sufferers may resort to more extreme measures such as “inducing vomiting, or applying traction on the tongue or pressure on the eyeballs.” Sometimes, the best pain relief is torture. Faced with the above options, you can see the incentive to invent something new. This device — which looks like a hands-free version of one of those “cup and string” phones — is a metallic cup with one electrode making contact with your cheek and another electrode making contact with your temple.

When the cup is full of water and you begin to drink, an electrical circuit is created, thus stimulating the vagus and phrenic nerves and “reliably interrupting the Hiccup Reflexive Arc.” — Xinhua

Eriksson continues Man City spending with triple swoop

LONDON, 3 Aug — Sven-Goran Eriksson has stepped up his recruitment drive as Manchester City manager by signing three players, the Premier League club said on Thursday. Brazil midfielder Elano Blumer, Croatia defender Vedran Corluka and Spanish fullback Javier Garrido have all completed moves to Eastlands, taking to seven the number of players brought in by Eriksson since he took over last month.

The most high-profile of the trio is wide midfielder Elano who arrives in an eight-million-pound (16.25-million-US-dollar) transfer from Ukraine's Shakhtar Donetsk.

A member of Brazil's Copa America-winning squad in July, the 16-year-old Elano has penned a four-year contract. He caught the eye when scoring twice for Brazil in their 3-0 friendly win over Argentina at Arsenal's Emirates Stadium last September. Croatia defender Corluka joins City from Dinamo Zagreb for an undisclosed fee. Although just 21, he has nine caps for Croatia and featured in their 2-0 win over England in a Euro 2008 qualifier last year.

The 22-year-old Garrido, who has played for Spain's Under-21s, has arrived in a 1.5-million-pound deal from Real Sociedad on a four-year contract. "This morning has proved to be an immensely productive one, the outcome of which is the acquisition of three top quality players for Man-

Flesch soars to one-shot lead with pair of eagles

LOS ANGELES, 3 Aug — American Steve Flesch, fuelled by two eagles, soared into a one-shot lead in the Reno-Tahoe Open first round in Reno, Nevada on Thursday.

The 40-year-old from Ohio, bidding for his third PGA Tour title, fired a blistering, nine-under-par 63 at Montreux Golf and Country Club.

Left-hander Flesch eagled the par-five fourth on his way to an outward nine of six-under 30.

He then eagled the par-five 11th before signing off at the last with his fifth birdie of the day after hitting his approach to four feet.

Argentina's Jose Coceres was alone in second place after shooting a seven-birdie 64, one ahead of Australian Steve Allan and American John Merrick.

American Will MacKenzie, who clinched his maiden PGA Tour title at last year's tournament, was among a group of three players bunched on 66.

Most of the Tour's biggest names are competing at this week's eight million-US-dollar WGC-Bridgestone Invitational at Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio.

Manchester United sign 9-year-old YouTube wonder kid

LONDON, 3 Aug — Manchester United have signed a gifted nine-year-old after his grandfather sent the Premier League champions a DVD showcasing the boy's talents which has become a YouTube sensation.

Rhain Davis, who was born in England but has lived in Australia since the age of four, was hailed by the British Press on Thursday as the next Wayne Rooney after the United striker.

The boy's dribbling and goalscoring prowess for an Under-10 side in Brisbane, Australia, feature in a four-minute YouTube clip, already viewed more than 800,000 times.

United confirmed the signing but played down the hype around Davis, who has moved back to Cheshire in northern England with his father, near the club's training ground.

"He's a member of our academy and we don't comment on individual members," a United spokesman told Reuters.

He added that the club sign about 40 players of Davis' age every year and, as is standard, will decide annually whether to renew his contract or release him.

What was so unusual in Davis' case was that his skills were brought to the attention of United's youth scouts by the DVD submission, which could inspire other hopefuls, the spokesman said.

"We're bracing ourselves for a whole series of DVDs," he added.

Sense of deja vu grips Community Shield rivals

LONDON, 3 Aug — New-season optimism may be offset by old concerns for champions Manchester United and FA Cup holders Chelsea when they meet in the curtain-raising Community Shield at Wembley Stadium on Sunday.

United will want to make amends for their 1-0 Cup final defeat by the Londoners in this match-up between the Premier League's top two teams in 2006/07, who are expected to push each other all the way again in the coming campaign.

However, United's hopes of revenge could hang on finding the right response to a disappointing defensive display against Inter Milan in a friendly on Wednesday.

"We were all over the place at times," was Sir Alex Ferguson's verdict on United's 3-2 home defeat by the Italian champions.

In a performance that recalled United's struggles to contain AC Milan in the first half of their Champions League semifinal at Old Trafford in April, Inter scored three first-half goals to send them to their first pre-season defeat.

Ferguson has not been alone in experiencing an unwanted sense of deja vu, with Chelsea counterpart Jose Mourinho pondering an injury to captain John Terry that puts his participation in Sunday's match in question.

The England skipper suffered a broken toe during Chelsea's US tour and sat out the 2-0 friendly victory away to Danish club Brondby on Monday.

Terry's toe problem and Wayne Bridge's hip surgery are reminders of last season's defensive difficulties for Mourinho, whose planning has also been hindered by the delayed arrival of Brazil centre back Alex.

Chelsea supporters should still see some of their club's new signings and it could be particularly instructive to observe how midfielder Steve Sidwell fares after his impressive pre-season form since arriving from Reading.

United, by contrast, will almost certainly be without Owen Hargreaves and Anderson although their other new face, Nani, could play after recovering from the ankle knock that ruled him out against Inter.

Nilsson takes early lead at rainswept Russian Open

NAKHABINO (Russia), 3 Aug — Sweden's Christian Nilsson overcame bad weather conditions to fire seven-under 65 and take an early lead at the Russian Open on Thursday.

The 38-year-old Swede, still looking for his first European Tour victory, had a bogey-free first round with seven birdies to lead Frenchman Jean-Baptiste Gonnet by a stroke. England's Sam Little and Gary Murphy of Ireland were tied for third at five-under.

After a week of glorious sunshine, rain began to fall on Thursday morning at the Moscow Country Club in suburban Nakhabino.

Nilsson, ranked number 146 in Europe, was satisfied with his opening-day performance.

"I'm very pleased with that, I hit most of the greens and fairways and played very steadily," he said.

Egypt discovers 2,500-year-old grave of royal guard

CAIRO, 4 Aug — The grave of a royal guard of the 26th dynasty, which dates back to about 2,500 years ago, was unearthed by an Egyptian-Czech archaeological mission in the south of Cairo, Egyptian Minister of Culture Farouq Hosni said on Thursday.

A large limestone sarcophagus, which enclosed yet another casket, was discovered while the archaeologists were excavating in search of yet-to-be discovered Pharaonic monuments in Abu-Sir area, about 27 kilometres south of Cairo, said Hosni.

The embedded box is made of diorite and has on it inscriptions from the Book of the Dead, he added.

The grave, which belongs to Menkhep-Nikaw, also houses funereal furniture, including faience pots, good-luck amulets and carnelian stones, Hosni said.

Zahi Hawwas, Secretary-General of the Egyptian Supreme Council of Antiquities, said the new discovery proved Abu-Sir to be a virgin area, with many Pharaonic mysteries still buried under its earth.

Hawwas noted that the engravings, which represent whole chapters from the Book of the Dead, were indeed the most captivating of discovered Pharaonic designs between the 26th and 27th dynasties (664-405 BC).

Judging from experience, Hawwas said that the Egyptian-Czech mission was the only second batch of visitors into the grave after tomb-raiders, who looted it in ancient Pharaonic times.

Detailed basic principles that should be adopted for Chapter “Transitory Provisions” clarified

YANGON, 4 Aug — The following is the clarification of the National Convention Convening Work Committee on the detailed basic principles that should be adopted in the chapter “Transitory Provisions” to be included in drawing the State constitution at Nyaungnabin Camp in Hmawby Township on 2-8-2007.

Mr Chairman,

At the plenary session of the National Convention held on 13 November 2006, the Chairman of the National Convention Convening Work Committee explained the detailed basic principles that should be adopted in connection with the chapter — Transitory Provisions.

The Delegate Groups — the Delegate Group of National Races, the Delegate Group of Peasants, the Delegate Group of Workers, the Delegate Group of Intellectuals and Intelligentsia, the Delegate Group of State Service Personnel, the Delegate Group of Other Invited Persons, the Delegate Group of Political Parties — the National Unity Party, the Union Pa-O National Organization, the Shan State Kokang Democratic Party, the Mro or Khami National Solidarity Organization, the Lahu National Development Party, the Union Kayin League, the Kokang Democracy and Unity Party and the Wa National Development Party — and the Delegate Group of Representatives-Elect — the representatives-elect of the political parties and the three-member group including independent representatives-elect Dr Hmu Htan and the six-member group including independent representatives-elect U Tin Win held discussions and made suggestions on the Work Committee Chairman’s clarifications and laid down the following detailed basic principles:

1. “This Constitution shall come into force throughout the Union after its adoption in a nationwide referendum by more than half of all the people who have the right to vote.”
2. “The State Peace and Development Council shall, continuing to exercise State sovereignty, carry out during the interval between the coming into force of this Constitution and the day the first session of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw is convened, all the functions of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw under the Constitution.”
3. “The work done by the State Peace and Development Council to bring the Constitution into force shall be deemed to have been carried out in accord with this Constitution.”
4. “All policy guidelines, laws, rules, regulations, notifications, proclamations, measures, responsibilities and rights of the State Peace and Development Council shall devolve on the Union of Myanmar”

5. “Existing laws shall remain in force in so far as they are not contrary to this Constitution until and unless they are repealed or amended by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw.”
6. “Existing rules, regulations, bye-laws, notifications, orders, directives and procedures shall remain in force in so far as they are not contrary to this Constitution until and unless they are repealed or amended by the Union Government.”
7. “All courts existing on the date of the coming into operation of this Constitution shall continue to exercise their jurisdiction until new courts are established by law in accord with this Constitution. All cases, civil, criminal and revenue, pending in the said courts, shall be disposed of in accord with the laws exercised on the date on which the cases came up for trial.”
8. “All functioning State service personnel of departmental organizations including Tatmadaw under the State Peace and Development Council on the day this Constitution comes into force shall continue in their functions unless otherwise prescribed by the Government of the Union of Myanmar.”

Secretary of National Convention Convening Work Committee U Thaung Nyunt reads out the clarifications of Chairman of National Convention Convening Work Committee. — MNA of the National Convention.

“I would also like to make a suggestion about the fifth step of the Road Map — The holding of free and fair elections for Hluttaws (Legislative bodies) according to the new Constitution. Section 233 of the

Mr Chairman,

Independent representatives-elect Dr Hmu Htan of Thantlang Township Constituency in Chin State, U Aung Thein of Ywangan Township Constituency in Shan State (South) and U Tun Kyaw of Namhsan Township Constituency in Shan State (North) gave a suggestion, saying, “In order to complete the drawing of the State Constitution, the National Convention has adopted the fundamental principles and detailed basic principles that reflect the policies and stances, which are necessary foundations for building a new nation. We have to draft the State Constitution with these fundamental principles and detailed basic principles. The aspiration of the people will come true if the fourth step of the Road Map — Adoption of the Constitution through a national referendum — is realized within one year after the completion of the National Convention. Personally, I suggest that the officials take necessary measures to hold a referendum within one year after the completion

1947 constitution says “The first general elections under this Constitution shall be held within eighteen months from the date of the coming into operation of this Constitution”.

“Regarding the 1974 Constitution, the 1974 Constitution was declared on 3 January 1974, the first elections were held under the 1974 Constitution from 27 January to 10 February 1974. In addition, the first session of the Pyithu Hluttaw was held in Yangon at 11 am on 2 March 1974.

“So, I would like to make a suggestion that officials concerned should make preparations for implementation of the fifth step in a suitable occasion through a referendum for speedy building of a modern and developed nation.”

Concerning the first suggestion, I would like to say that as the task is being implemented in accord with the seven-point Road Map, it is not possible to exactly fix the date and time.

Regarding the second suggestion, the task of “holding a free and fair election”, which is the fifth step of the already-laid down State’s Road Map, is to be carried out by the Election Commission in accordance with the State Constitution, Election Law and regulations. Therefore, I would say the suggestion will be recorded so that necessary measures in this regard can be taken in a suitable length of time.
