Strive for development of self-reliant rural libraries

Development of human resources and promotion of education standard of the people play a vital role in building a modern developed nation. With the government's provision of modern communication technology the youth can easily pursue their education of international standard.

Self-reliant rural libraries have been opened for village people to widen their scope of knowledge. Opening libraries makes the rural people enhance the habit of reading and it makes them gain knowledge.

Five tasks were laid down for development of self-reliant rural libraries in the long run and these tasks are to be carried out with the application of four strengths. At the same time, basic library science courses are being conducted with the aim of turning out good librarians who are well-versed in library science. Such efforts will contribute towards the development of self-reliant rural libraries.

Knowledge and thinking power of the rural people will be enhanced with the efforts of local and social organizations, the people and service personnel to develop libraries.

Russians move toward Gorge despite cease-fire

CHUBERI (Georgia), 13 Aug—The Russian troops sprawled on top of the tanks in a 135-vehicle convoy looked relaxed, with bandannas on their heads rather than helmets. Some smoked, one ate a chunk of watermelon.

Many drivers had slung flak jackets over vehicle windows. Georgians on the side of the road watched, quietly. On a bridge, a group of about 20 men who had been swimming in the river stood bare chested in shorts as the tanks, armoured personnel carriers, fuel, troop and supply trucks, a few hauling artillery pieces, rolled by. The display of Russia's military might came hours after a cease-fire had been declared Tuesday.

The northbound convoy "seen in Georgia by an Associated Press reporter" appeared headed toward the Kodori Gorge, an area in the breakaway region of Abkhazia that until recently was controlled by Georgian forces.

Russian-backed separatist forces on Tuesday forced Georgian troops out of the northern part of the gorge, their last stronghold in the region. Abkhazian military officials said only Abkhaz forces were involved in operations in the gorge.

4 aid workers killed in Afghan attack

KABUL, 13 Aug— The Taliban said its gunmen opened fire on an aid group's vehicle in eastern Afghanistan on Wednesday, killing four International Rescue Committee workers and prompting the organization to suspend its operations.

Three IRC female staffers — a British-Canadian, a Canadian, and a Trinidadian-American — were killed, as well as an Afghan driver who also worked for the New York-based aid group, the IRC said in a statement.

Another Afghan driver was critically wounded in the attack in Logar province, south of Kabul, IRC said.

Earlier this month, aid groups in Afghanistan issued a report that said 19 of their workers have been killed in the country this year. The deaths Wednesday add to the count.

Japan's economy shrinks in second quarter

TOKYO, 13 Aug—Japan's economy shrank in the second quarter, the government said Wednesday, as slowing exports and waning consumer demand pushed the world's No 2 economy to the brink of recession.

Japan's gross domestic product, or the total value of the nation's goods and services, dropped at an annual pace of 2.4 percent in the April-June period, a marked downturn from a 4.0 percent rise registered in the January-March period. The new numbers "the first negative reading in four quarters" bolstered growing evidence that Japan's six-year expansion was over.

On a quarterly basis, GDP contracted 0.6 percent, after a 0.8 percent increase in the January-March period, the Cabinet Office said. Private consumption, which accounts for more than half of inflation-adjusted GDP, dropped 0.5 percent from the previous quarter. Housing investment was down 3.4 percent.—Internet

Oil steady near $113 ahead of inventory data

SINGAPORE, 13 Aug— Oil prices were steady near $113 a barrel Wednesday in Asia ahead of weekly oil and gasoline inventory data that may show further evidence of declining crude demand in the US.

The US Energy Department's Energy Information Administration was to report on US oil stocks for the week ended Aug 8 later in the day. The petroleum supply report was expected to show that crude stocks rose by 500,000 barrels, according to the average of analysts' estimates in a survey by energy research firm Platts.

Light, sweet crude for September delivery rose 7 cents to $113.08 a barrel in electronic trading on the New York Mercantile Exchange by midday in Singapore. The contract dropped $1.44 overnight to settle at $113.01 a barrel.

Investors "have taken profits as they've seen demand destruction in the US and they're seeing it spread a little into Europe," said Jonathan Kornafel, Asia director for brokerage Hudson Capital Energy in Singapore.

Taliban: 'Open war' in Pakistan as bomb kills 14

PESHAWAR (Pakistan), 13 Aug—The Pakistani Taliban declared "open war" Tuesday in response to military offensives in the northwest, saying it staged a bombing that destroyed an Air Force truck and killed up to 14 people, including a child.

Authorities, meanwhile, investigated whether an insurgent reported killed in one of the military operations was a senior al-Qaida commander. The offensive in the Bajur tribal area reportedly has killed 160 people and caused tens of thousands to flee to camps farther north.

The blast in Peshawar, main city of the restive frontier with Afghanistan, escalated the conflict in a region where the new government is struggling to contain increasingly brazen militants. It dealt another blow to efforts to strike peace deals with hard-liners in the Swat Valley and other areas, pacts that US officials contend would strengthen extremists.

China posts more than 40% growth in FDI actually used in 1st 7 months

BEIJING, 13 Aug — China saw a growth of almost 45 percent in foreign direct investment (FDI) actually used in the first seven months of this year, due partly to high interest from overseas investors, the Ministry of Commerce said on Wednesday.

But analysts said it should not rule out possibility for short-term speculative capital, or hot money, rushing into the mainland through Hong Kong.

From January to July, China approved the establishment of 16,891 overseas-funded enterprises, a decline of 22.15 percent from the same period last year. However, the FDI actually used nationwide amounted to 60.724 billion US dollars, up 44.54 percent.

Mei Xinyu, a research er with the ministry's research institute of foreign trade and economic cooperation, said the growth in FDI and the fall in the number of overseas-funded businesses established indicated the per project average FDI used had increased substantially.

Analysts said foreign capital was shifting from the manufacturing sector to the service sector and new-technology and high-tech projects. —Xinhua

US budget deficit rises to $102.8 bln in July

WASHINGTON, 13 Aug — The US federal budget deficit soared to 102.8 billion dollars in July, nearly triple the 36.4-billion-dollar imbalance recorded in the same month of 2007, the Treasury Department reported Tuesday.

The big rise in budget deficit was reflecting payments under the government's economic stimulus package and 15 billion dollars in outlays to protect depositors at failed banks. Analysts had been expecting a gap of 97 billion dollars for July.

So far this year, the budget deficit totals 371.4 billion dollars, more than double the imbalance for the same period of last year.

In its latest budget sent to Congress in February, the Bush administration estimated that the budget deficit for the current budget year, which began on 1 October, 2007, would be 410 billion dollars, close to the all-time high of 413 billion dollars set in 2004.

However, analysts expect the federal budget deficit to exceed the previous record this year due to the economic stimulus effort and the impact of the weakening economy on government receipts. —Xinhua

BEIJING, 13 Aug — Domestic retail sales leaped a brisk 23.3 percent to 862.9 billion yuan (125.8 billion US dollars) in July this year, the National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) said on Wednesday.

The growth rate was 6.9 percentage points

That brings China's retail sales of consumer goods in the first seven months of this year to 5.9672 trillion yuan, up 21.7 percent, compared with 15.5 percent growth rate recorded over the same period of last year, the NBS said.

The NBS said urban consumption hit 590.5 billion yuan, up 24 percent year-on-year, compared with 272.4 billion yuan spent by rural residents, up 21.8 percent.

Kenya denies foreign forces in country over terror suspect

NAIROBI, 13 Aug— Kenyan authorities on Tuesday denied foreign security forces are in the country to hunt for terror suspect Fazul Abdullah Mohammed, who evaded police dragnet early this month in the coastal town of Malindi.

Police spokesman Eric Kiraithe also denied that the US intelligence agency Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) has been conducting a parallel operation on the 32-year-old Mohammed who is accused of masterminding the bombings of two US embassies in Kenya and Tanzania a decade ago. Addressing a news conference in Nairobi, Kiraithe said Kenyan security forces were capable of carrying out the operation and denied that they had sought help from the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) to help capture Mohammed, who is believed to be holed up in the country.

Report: Toyota weighs export of US vehicles

WASHINGTON, 13 Aug—Toyota Motor Corp is exploring whether to export its US pickup and sport-utility vehicles to other countries, The Wall Street Journal reported on Tuesday. The Japanese auto maker, which produces the Tundra pickup and Sequoia SUV, is looking at other markets around the world, although no decision has been made, Steve St Angelo, president of Toyota's Manufacturing Kentucky Inc, was quoted as saying.

Toyota, like rivals Ford Motor Co and General Motors Corp, is finding it difficult to sell the larger vehicles as gas prices hover near the 4-dollar mark, said the report.

Toyota, which imports about 30 percent of the vehicles it sells in the United States, joins a growing list of companies that are considering exporting products given the weak dollar.

Chrysler LLC is already exporting a significant number of vehicles from a car plant in Illinois, and GM is making plans to export from several US plants.

Sony may offer OLED TVs in Europe in 2009: Nikkei

Qantas grounds 6 planes to check maintenance files

SYDNEY (Australia), 13 Aug—Australia's airline safety body said Wednesday it would expand its investigation of Qantas after the company announced it temporarily pulled six aircraft from service because of irregularities in maintenance records.

Three flights were cancelled Tuesday night after Qantas pulled the planes. It was the latest in a spate of incidents with the airline since one of its planes made an emergency landing in Manila last month after an explosion tore a large hole in the fuselage.

Qantas said the six B737-400s would be removed from service while the airline cross-checks maintenance records relating to work carried out at one of its Australian facilities. David Cox, the executive general manager of Qantas engineering, said it was a record-keeping issue and there were no safety implications for the aircraft.—Internet

Real catwalk in New York

It was the catwalk that really was a catwalk. Cats dressed in everything from an Elvis costume to a sequined satin dress were strutting their stuff at New York's Algonquin Hotel.

Hale Bopp doesn't look too happy but certainly sets a trend at a cat fashion show in New York which was raising money for an animal shelter and celebrating the birthday of a famous hotel's resident feline.

The feline fashion show unfolded in the dining room where Dorothy Parker presided over famously catty Round Table literary luncheons in the 1920s.

Thursday's show benefited an animal welfare group and honoured Matilda, the Algonquin's resident cat, who has just turned 13. She is the hotel's ninth cat since the tradition started in the 1930s, when actor John Barrymore dubbed a bedraggled stray Hamlet. Earlier in the day, Matilda, a pedigreed ragdoll breed with long, silky, cream-coloured hair, held court on a chaise longue by the entrance.

Chicken crosses the road, then abandoned by thief

Why did the chicken cross the road? In the case of Jerry Sleater's 5-foot, 400-pound bright blue rooster, that's apparently as far as whoever was trying to steal it could get it.

Sleater has kept the metal rooster perched on his property south of Kennewick for two years and says, "Rudy is a family pet. He doesn't go anywhere, but he's part of the family." Sleater said he thinks that whoever was trying to steal Rudy got spooked after pushing the oversized rooster down a dirt embankment.

The sounds of thunder rolls in Myanmar months of Waso and Wagaung evoke my memories of the song “Thakhwut (trumpet) flower”. The song is about the battle that took place between the troops led by the king of Asura Celestial Abode and the troops led by Thagyarmin, king of Tavatinsa Celestial Abode, whenever trumpet trees are in flower.

Like the troops of Asura celestial beings who march to Tavatinsa Celestial Abode to wage attacks, saboteurs provoke protests and riots in the nation when the rainy season sets in. Referring to the anniversaries of July 7, July 19, August 8 and September 18, various political instigations are made inside and outside the nation during the period between the beginning of the rainy season and Independence Day or the beginning of a year.

Many years have elapsed, but their chronic illness has not healed yet. This year, the nation saw the storm “Nargis” and the referendum for approval of the State constitution, thus arousing their emotional feelings. They are now shouting their mottos such as “We must make the Ayeyawady Division into the issue of the whole nation” and “The winds of regime change”, and threatening that the nation would be set ablaze if the 1990 election results are forced to be nullified”.

It seems to me that they will continue to resort to various ways and means to disrupt national development undertakings for a new nation by 2010, making good use of the situations triggered by the storm “Nargis”. Their ways and means range between bomb attacks on public transport vehicles, busy places such as supermarkets, markets, festivals and buildings, and instigation of mass demonstrations through pressure and instigation put by foreign countries and bloodshed.

Here, in my opinion, the methods for a change are of two kinds: demolition of the whole old structure to build a new one, and replacing of old structures with new ones.

The first method is easy to do, but very dangerous. It is easy to destroy, but difficult to reconstruct anything. Moreover, it takes a short time to destroy a structure, but it takes a long time to restore it. The storm “Nargis”, for instance, happened for just hours. However, the extent of death and destruction was very huge. Therefore, relief and reconstruction tasks have a very long way to go, and it will take a long time.

In view of Iraq and Afghanistan issues, alien powers used force to use the method “demolition of the whole old structure to build a new one” for regime change. They launched attacks on those countries with guided missiles and modern weapons, thus devastating not only superstructures of the old regime but also all social and economic infrastructures in a matter of days or months. The alien powers, after destroying all the old superstructures, reconstructed with the policies and methods they favoured and handpicked persons.

However, it has come to global knowledge of what is going on in those countries and to what extent they have achieved success. Afghanistan has been in the process of being reconstructed for seven years. But, up to now, nothing can be guaranteed yet for security of the life of the Afghan President, let alone the lives and property of the citizens. The situations in Iraq were similar to that in Afghanistan. If a person goes shopping, the other family members are anxious of his or her return. The people were so disunited that they even could not form an Olympic committee, let alone a new government. In consequence, the nation is not in a position to get registered for Olympic Games. Military expenses on the two countries touch hundreds of billions of US dollars, but peace and stability is still far off. So, it is out of the question that the two countries are going to enjoy development.

The purpose of my long explanation is just to enable some of my fellow national brethren, who misunderstand the prevailing situations with wrong concepts, wrong senses, and wrong beliefs, taking destructive acts for “democracy movements” due to their lack of knowledge or they are caught in the snare of political deception.

Frankly speaking, they will be capable of choosing correct ways only if they are well convinced that whether or not what they do brings benefits to them, to others or to the people. What is the use of detonating bomb in a passenger bus? Maybe they can be provided with cash for their acts. If so, they have become criminals. Sooner or later, they will have to face legal action. Maybe, they consider themselves to be heroes. As a matter of fact, the casualties are not their enemies. And if they consider why they have happened to commit inhumane acts, they will realize whether such acts are noble. If they think such acts are for the sake of the people, and sooner emergence of a democratic nation, please think it over. Can the goal of building a democratic nation come to fruition if they do so? If so, the sure thing is that the people will be in a state of panic, they will not be in a position to do what they want, and they will not be able to do their businesses properly.

Massive riots will result in similar consequences. Riots can make people anarchic mob. In that regard, let’s put aside the 88 unrest and review the incidents that have taken place in Kenya. The political riots incited by anti-government groups led to the slaughter of more than 50 innocent people taking shelter in a room by setting fire to the room.

What is the use of dissuading the international community from providing assistance and calling on economic sanctions and trade embargo against the nation? Don’t such acts have adverse effects on the people of their own lineage?

If they want to come to power, they should try to win the vote of the people. If they cut down the tree and shake its branches, there will be no fruitful results from that.

They should conduct a self-criticism to find out if their acts are based on their goodwill for development of the nation and the people. It is heart-rending to know that they are trying to get the motherland into crises, serving as lackeys of external destructive elements.

If they really want to create a prosperous future of the nation, they should focus on the four kinds of adhipati (preeminent skills) discoursed by the Buddha, instead of sticking to their policies. With the four preeminent skills, one can enjoy magga, phala and nirvana. So, they can guarantee progress of the nation.

Among the four kinds of adhipati, cittadhipati means goodwill. If a person has four carnival virtues, he can be called the one who is equipped with cittadhipati. In that case, the people have to remain united, show kindness for and give helping hand in each other, and preserve own lineage with patriotic spirit. It is notable that many countries without national unity lagged behind other countries in development, whatever policy the country concerned exercised. If the people have common stance, their acts are similar to one another. If they aspire to development of the mother country, they will have to ignore self-interest and disagreements and remain harmonious.

The second kind is chanda dhipati, which means strong desire. Only with strong desire, will there be a driving force on a person to try his utmost to achieve his goal. It is required of every citizen to have aspiration for enabling the motherland to keep abreast of other countries.

Only then, will it be possible for a person to work with great diligence. The nation will never be in the forefront so long as the people fail to work hard just because the nation is rich in natural resources.

The fourth skill “Vimamsa dhipati” means abilities to distinguish between right and wrong. Now is the age of science. So, the people need to work hard to catch up with other countries in the field of science. In the sphere of art, the people need to be able to manage the political, economic and social affairs with wide views in order that the nation will never be on the wrong path.

We also have to overcome a variety of challenges, apart from the four kinds of adhipati, with which we must work hard to reach our goal.

Climate changes, for example, are uncontrollable for man, but can have strong impact on the life of people. Outbreaks of such natural disasters as drought, floods, storm and earthquake and spread of infectious diseases are on the increase due to global warming.

There also are international security and economic issues, from which many countries are suffering although they do not get directly involved in them. Conflicts in the Middle East are followed by soaring oil prices, then economic decline at the global level. To make matters worse, the prices of food are going up, in consequence, culminating in great crises in the countries that have not enjoyed food sufficiency yet.

Is the concept of replacing all the old systems with new ones to build a new nation appropriate? What is the use of arguing and conflicting with each other, putting self-interest in the forefront? If the people are incapable of building a new nation in collaboration and remain disunited in such an age of challenges, people can no longer be deemed to have high intellectual power.

No one is perfect. It is easy to put blame on others, but difficult to be able to notice own faults. Similarly, it is easy to harbour grudge against others, but difficult to forgive others because to do wholesome deeds, one has to surmount one’s ill wills. Such kinds of deeds are difficult to perform. However, good-hearted persons have done meritorious deeds with tenacity on account of the fact that such deeds can benefit others and themselves. It is therefore called fulfilling perfections.

One may not be capable of fulfilling the Paramattha perfections that can be fulfilled by only noble-minded persons. But if one tries one’s best in the interests of others, one will win the recognition and admiration of other people and celestial beings.

The Buddha expounded that having unity and loving-kindness for each other without grudge was key to mental wellbeing. The 195th gatha of Dhammapada says “Samagganam Tapo Sukho” which means unity is key to wellbeing.

In that regard, Phar Auk Tawra Monk in his treatise “Do not harbour hatred for others” said that unity of villagers, urban dwellers, the people and world people was one of the factors for the wellbeing.

In conclusion, if a society performs good deeds in harmony, people can enjoy wellbeing in the mundane and supramundane affairs. So, I would like to exhort the people to preserve fine traditions of remaining united in conformity with the doctrine “Samagganam Tapo Sukho” expounded by the Buddha in building a new nation.

Venezuelan neighbours to get millions in food aid

HAVANA, 13 Aug—Venezuelan Agriculture Minister Elias Jaua said on Tuesday his oil-rich country would give two million US dollars grants to 18 Caribbean and Central American countries to buy fertilizer for the coming growing season.

The grants are part of a Venezuelan-led programme to form a multinational company among the so-called PetroCaribe group of nations to produce and distribute food.

Jaua made his announcement at a Havana meeting to map out plans for the food venture, which Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez has said would “create a shield against hunger” in the face of rising food prices.

The grants were a protective step to help the countries until the company is operating, Jaua said.

“We have decided to assign an initial two million US dollars to each member country for the joint purchase of fertilizer for the most urgent needs of the coming planting season,” Jaua said.

Car bomb kills two civilians in N Iraq

MOSUL, 13 Aug—Two people were killed and six others injured on Wednesday in a car bomb explosion south of the capital city of Mosul of Nineveh province, a provincial police source said. A booby-trapped car parked at a popular marketplace in the town of al-Qayyara, some 50 km south of Mosul, detonated shortly before midday, killing two civilians and wounding six others, the source told Xinhua on condition of anonymity.

Two of the wounded were in critical condition, the source said, adding that the blast also damaged several nearby shops and civilian cars.

Nineveh province, and its capital, some 400 km north of Baghdad, is said to be one of the last strongholds of al-Qaida fighters in the war-torn country.

The province has been the scene of a major security crackdown carried out by US and Iraqi security forces aimed at uprooting al-Qaida militants and other anti-US insurgent groups.—Internet

Biggest drop in US oil demand in 26 years

WASHINGTON, 13 Aug—US oil demand during the first half of 2008 fell by an average 800,000 barrels per day (bpd) compared with the same period a year ago, the biggest volume decline in 26 years, the Energy Information Administration said on Tuesday.

In its latest monthly energy forecast, the EIA said the huge drop in demand was due to slower US economic growth and the impact of high petroleum prices.

The drop in US oil demand helped offset a 1.3-million-bpd increase in petroleum consumption in nonindustrial countries during the first half of the year.

As a result, preliminary data shows that global oil consumption rose by 500,000 bpd in the six-month period, the EIA said.

The Energy Department’s analytical arm sees continued falling oil demand, and for the first time is predicting that US petroleum consumption in 2009 will be lower than this year, which would mark a drop in annual demand for three years straight.

“Total US petroleum and other liquids consumption is projected to shrink by almost 500,000 (bpd) in 2008 based on prospects for a weak economy and continuing high crude oil and product prices extending into 2009,” the EIA said.

Three crew members die in small plane crash near Mogadishu

MOGADISHU, 13 Aug—A small cargo plane crashed Wednesday after hitting a communication tower near an airstrip near the Somali capital, Mogadishu, killing all three crew members, officials and witnesses said.

The plane was carrying Khat, a semi-narcotic leaves consumed in Somalia, for dealers in Mogadishu.

“It was foggy and the plane circled a number of times before it hit a telecommunication tower near the airstrip and crashed three kilometers away. When we got to the site we found all three crew member dead,” Bashir Hassan, an aviation official told Xinhua by phone.

Two of the crew were Kenyan nationals and the third is thought to be an Arab national. It was not immediately clear for the airport officials which Arab country the third crew member came from.

Witnesses said the plane crashed into a tree and disintegrated into pieces and burned after it hit the mast belonging to Nation Link telephone company, one of the telecommunications companies operating in Mogadishu.—Internet

New bird flu strain detected in Nigeria

LAGOS, 13 Aug—A new strain of avian flu never before reported in Africa has been identified in Nigeria, the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) announced, local media reported Tuesday.

Tests conducted by Nigeria and by the FAO show that the new virus strain which is similar to strains identified last year in Italy, Afghanistan and Iran is genetically distinct from other forms detected in Nigerian outbreaks in 2006 and 2007.

“It seems unlikely that wild birds have carried the strain to Africa, since the last migration of wild birds from Europe and Central Asia to Africa occurred in September 2007 and this year’s southerly migration into Africa has not really started yet,” said Scott Newman, International Wildlife Coordinator of FAO’s Animal Health Service.

He pointed to other avenues the virus could have taken to Nigeria, such as international trade or illegal and unreported movement of poultry.—Internet

Eight Turkish soldiers killed in landmine blast

TUNCELI (Turkey), 13 Aug—Eight Turkish soldiers were killed in a landmine explosion in the eastern Turkish province of Erzincan, military sources said on Monday.

Israeli DM: Time for negotiation with Hamas to release abducted soldier

JERUSALEM, 13 Aug—Israeli Defence Minister Ehud Barak said that Israel should use the relatively calm brought by the ceasefire deal to negotiate with the Islamic Hamas movement the release of abducted Israel Defence Forces corporal Gilad Shalit, The Jerusalem Post said on its website Wednesday.

“I don’t know how much longer the lull in the Gaza Strip will last but it has already been six weeks of quiet,” Barak was quoted as saying. “We need to take advantage of each day of quiet left to advance the Shalit matter.”

Barak said during a Labour Party conference in Dimona Tuesday that Israel will have to make “difficult decisions” and will pay a “difficult price” to secure the release of Shalit.

Barak added that it was Israel’s moral duty to “carry out every appropriate manoeuvre possible so that Gilad returns home safe and sound.”

Shalit was kidnapped by Hamas in June 2006 during a Hamas raid on an IDF outpost on the border with Gaza.

UK soldier killed in Kabul suicide attack

LONDON, 13 Aug — A British soldier was killed and two were wounded in a suicide bomb attack in Afghanistan, the Ministry of Defence said on Tuesday.

The attack happened in Kabul on Monday, when the attacker rammed his explosives-laden vehicle into a patrol as it was moving through the capital.

The death raises the State media: Bus accident kills 25 in China’s west

BEIJING, 13 Aug—A bus overturned in a mountainous region of China’s west, killing 25 students and their parents, state media said Wednesday.

The bus was travelling on a remote highway in the restive western province of Xinjiang, the official Xinhua News Agency reported. It was about 730 miles from the regional capital of Urumqi when it flipped over.

Most of the dead were students on their way to have health exams necessary for admission to high schools in China’s more developed east, Xinhua said.

Five injured people were being treated in a hospital, the agency said, citing an unnamed official at the regional emergency response office.

Xinhua did not say what caused the accident, reporting only that it was under investigation.

Fresh floods in Vietnam kill teenager, toll 120

HANOI, 13 Aug—Fresh floods triggered by rains swept away a teenager in northern Vietnam and several boats were destroyed, the government said on Wednesday, as it struggled to deliver aid to thousands of people hit by the worst floods in four decades. At least 120 people have been killed after days of heavy rains triggered by the remnants of a tropical storm. Another 44 are missing.

On Tuesday, rescue workers found the body of a 13-year-old boy in Quang Ninh province after it was hit by torrential rains from a tropical low-pressure system, the government said in a report.

Another four people were missing. The low-pressure system weakened as it made landfall in Quang Ninh, moved further inland and dispersed, the national weather bureau said.

The region is about 1,500 km (930 miles) north of Vietnam’s main rice and coffee production zones. Preliminary estimates of property losses in three of the 11 provinces affected by the disaster stood at 1.74 trillion dong ($105 million). The government estimated nearly 800 houses collapsed or were swept away, nearly 17,900 homes and more than 15,000 hectares of rice and other crops were destroyed. River waters peaked on Sunday at close to the record level in 1968, the government said.

German firm to extend Asia's largest solar power plant

SEOUL, 13 Aug— A German firm said Wednesday it has signed a deal to extend a South Korean solar energy plant which is already Asia's largest.

Conergy said in a statement it has reached a framework agreement on a 20-million-euro (29.8-million-dollar) project to expand the plant at Sinan in the southwest of the country.

The extension is expected to be completed by year-end and will add 4.35 megawatts to the existing 19.6 MW capacity of the plant, which became fully operational in June at a cost of 90 million euros.

When the extension is completed the plant will cover an area of 720,000 square metres, equivalent to 96 football fields, and will provide enough energy to supply 7,200 households.

It includes a solar tracking system developed by Conergy, which is claimed to increase the energy yield by up to 20 percent.

"Building Asia's largest solar power plant is a landmark moment for the renewable energy sector in Korea," said Kim Jihun, CEO of Conergy Korea, which provided the plant for Dongyang Engineering and Construction.

Demand for reusable energy is high in South Korea, the world's 13th largest economy, which imports all its oil needs.

Iraqi governor escapes injury in suicide blast

BAGHDAD, 13 Aug—A female suicide bomber blasted an Iraqi convoy north of Baghdad on Tuesday, killing two people but narrowly missing a provincial governor in the second suicide attack by a woman in Diyala province in as many days.

Gov. Raad Rashid al-

Tamimi ordered an indefinite curfew in Diyala's provincial capital of Baqouba, where the attack occurred.

It happened a day after Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki's government announced a weeklong suspension of military operations in Diyala to give militants a chance to surrender.

Al-Tamimi and the commander of Iraqi ground forces, Gen. Ali Ghaidan, were traveling to a meeting of the provincial council in Baqouba when the woman detonated her explosives as the vehicles approached, US and Iraqi officials said.—Internet

Israel reopens Gaza crossings

JERUSALEM, 13 Aug— Israel on Wednesday reopened crossings into Gaza for the limited passage of people and goods after closing them in response to a rocket attack earlier this week, the army said.

"The Sufa, Nahal Oz, and Erez crossings were reopened this morning," an army spokesman told AFP, adding that limited amounts of goods, fuel, and people with permits would be allowed to pass.

The defence ministry had ordered the crossings closed on Tuesday after a crude, makeshift rocket fired from the territory struck southern Israel in violation of a seven-week-old truce, causing no casualties or damage.

Israel has kept the 1.5 million residents of the impoverished territory under a strict closure regime since the Islamist Hamas movement — which is pledged to Israel's destruction — seized power there in June 2007.

An Egyptian-brokered truce between Israel and the main Palestinian armed groups, including Hamas, has virtually halted the violence in and around Gaza, though militants still occasionally fire rockets and mortar rounds.

Hamas's own fighters have kept to the truce and the Islamist movement has vowed to arrest and punish anyone caught violating it, accusing such people of collaborating with Israel to undermine the 19 June agreement.

Eto'o to stay at Barcelona: coach

Samuel Eto'o

MADRID, 13 Aug — Barcelona's new coach Pep Guardiola, who had deemed Samuel Eto'o surplus when he was appointed in June, said Tuesday that he is now counting on the Cameroon international for the upcoming season.

"When I was unveiled I said I was not counting on him but I also said we would treat him as any other player. My job is to get a good performance from the players which the club makes available to me," he told a news conference. "During the past two, three weeks, the past month that we have been together I have been very pleased with his performance, not only on the pitch but in terms of his relationship with his teammates. I only have words of praise," he added. Eto'o's was one of three high-profile players — Portugal's Deco and Brazil's Ronaldinho being the other two — who Guardiola said he was not counting on shortly after he was named as a replacement for Frank Rijkaard.

Deco has since joined English side Chelsea while Ronaldinho has joined Italian side AC Milan. —Internet

PARIS, 13 Aug — Aston Villa's Martin Laursen warns they can lose in Iceland and Manchester City, embroiled in controversy surrounding club owner Thaksin Shinawatra, have Denmark's top team as opponents in Thursday UEFA Cup action.

Martin O'Neill's Aston Villa travel to Hafnarfjardar on Thursday in the first leg of the second qualifying round while City host FC Midtjylland of Denmark.

Denmark international Laursen told the club's website www.avfc.co.uk: "Obviously they are not playing in the Premier League like we are but they can still play football and on a bad day for us, if we are not concentrating, then we can lose to a side like FH Hafnarfjardar.

"So we must be careful and take this game seriously. We took Odense seriously in the Intertoto Cup and that is how we should always be."

Laursen has huge experience in European football, having won the Champions League with AC Milan in 2003.

New Barca coach's offensive style to face Champions League test

MADRID, 13 Aug — The more offensive style which Barcelona's new coach Pep Guardiola has introduced since taking charge in July will be put to the test Wednesday when the Spanish side hosts Poland's Wisla Krakow in a Champions League qualifier.

Under his watch the club won all five of their pre-season friendlies played in the United States, Italy and Scotland, scoring 25 goals in the process and helping to silence doubts over his perceived lack of experience for the job.

Speaking last week after the club's final pre-season victory, a 6-2 win over the New York Red Bulls, Guardiola expressed satisfaction with the evolution of the squad ahead of their Champions League qualifier. "We scored six goals, we created an enormous amount of opportunities which is reassuring. What worries me a bit is that they scored two goals," he said. —Internet

Young people's role in combating climate change

UNITED NATIONS, 13 Aug.—UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon emphasized on Tuesday the importance of young people's role in the global fight against climate change.

"We will need the spirit of youth in abundance as the world seeks to embrace cleaner, more sustainable forms of energy, including renewable resources," Ban said in a message for International Youth Day, which falls on Tuesday.

With their propensity for spreading new habits and technologies and adaptability to make low-carbon life-styles and career choices, young people are also well placed to contribute to the fight even now, he said.

"Youth should therefore be given a chance to take an active part in the decision-making of local, national and global levels," Ban said. "And they can actively support initiatives that will lead to the passage of far-reaching legislation." "On this International Youth Day, I urge young people around the world to invest their energies and bright ideas into shaping a safer, more sustainable planet," the Secretary-General said.

On 17 December, 1999, the UN General Assembly endorsed the resolution made by the World Conference of Ministers Responsible for Youth that 12 August be declared International Youth Day.
