Strive for improvement of socio-economic status

The government is redoubling its efforts for reconstructing the storm-hit regions with the participation of well-wishers and social organizations. As a result, the socio-economic life of local people in the affected areas returned to normal as they have been able to resume their livelihood.

Village-to-village roads are being constructed in Kungyangon, Pyapon, Bogale and Dedaye regions while roads and bridges on Dedaye-Pyapon road section, Pyapon-Bogale road section and Pyapon-Kyaiklat road section are being upgraded.

As the reconstruction tasks are in full swing, construction of houses in some villages of the storm-hit regions has been completed cent per cent. Making better use of facilities provided such as paddy seeds, power tillers and fuel, the cultivation of monsoon paddy in those regions has exceeded the target.

Having been supplied with fishing boats, fishing nets and other related items, some townships in the storm-hit regions are now able to engage in their fisheries business.

At present, the reconstruction of houses, schools, rural health centres and hospitals is being carried out in storm-stricken regions while station hospitals and basic education middle schools are being upgraded.

At a time when the government is reconstructing the storm-ravaged regions with the participation of well-wishers, all the local people are to try their utmost for improvement of their socio-economic status.

DPRK vows to beef up military power against US threats

PYONGYANG, 18 Aug—Under the threat to its sovereignty and security, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea (DPRK) has no choice but to build up its military power, said the official Rodong Sinmun daily on Monday.

Claiming “dialogues” with the DPRK on the one hand, the US takes hard line against it on the other hand by holding military manoeuvres on the Korean Peninsula, said a commentary carried by the newspaper.

The US should drop its anti-DPRK policy and stop military drill against the DPRK, and furthermore change the armistice into a peace treaty, it added.

The US and South Korea began Monday their massive annual joint military drill, codenamed Ulchi Freedom Guardian, in which about 56,000 South Korean troops and 10,000 US soldiers will participate. —Internet

Philippine President orders military actions against armed rebels

MANILA, 18 Aug—Philippine President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo on Monday called on government troops to fight against rebels in response to a surge of deadly guerrilla attacks launched in the south over the past few days.

According to local media reports, Arroyo labeled the attacks by rebels as “treacherous” and a threat to regional peace and stability.

“Because of these sneaky and treacherous attacks, as your commander-in-chief, I have ordered the Armed Forces of the Philippines and Philippine National Police to defend every inch of Philippine territory against rebel forces and immediately restore peace in the affected areas,” local news network ABS-CBN News quoted Arroyo as saying.

“We will not tolerate and we will crush any attempt to disturb peace and development in Mindanao,” she said, adding that an emergency meeting is being called on to assess the situation and come up with “concrete, decisive action.” —Internet

UK troops ‘kill Afghan civilians’

LONDON, 18 Aug—An investigation is under way after four civilians were apparently killed and three injured in Afghanistan in a rocket attack by British troops.

The incident involving the 2nd Battalion of the Parachute Regiment happened on Saturday in the Sangin district of Helmand province. An International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) spokesman said the patrol launched the rockets in self-defence. The Ministry of Defence said a full investigation would be carried out.

The spokesman added: “Our sympathies are with the families of the killed and injured civilians at this time.”

The incident happened on Saturday morning when a patrol picked up a radio message calling for insurgents to converge on the area to attack the patrol, an ISAF spokesman said.

He said the patrol identified insurgents with weapons on the roof of a building preparing to attack. In order to protect themselves, the patrol launched three rockets, all of which hit the target. —Internet

Venezuela to send fuel to Colombian border area

CARACAS, 18 Aug— The Venezuelan government will supply Colombia’s border region of Norte de Santander with 8 million litres of gasoline every month starting Thursday, Venezuelan state oil giant PDVSA said Sunday. The supply could be further boosted to 19 million litres per month, the PDVSA said. The move, part of an agreement signed between the PDVSA and its Colombian counterpart Ecopetrol, is aimed at containing the rampant smuggling of Venezuelan oil into Colombia.

As one of the world’s top oil producers, Venezuela sells fuel in its domestic market for very low prices, which is around 0.15 US dollars per gallon. However, this has prompted the smuggling of cheap Venezuelan fuel into Colombia, which is suffering like many other countries amid soaring oil prices.

Israeli Navy to turn back boats sailing to Gaza

JERUSALEM, 18 Aug— The Israeli Navy has been ordered to turn back two boats sailing to Gaza by US-based activists in an attempt to challenge Israeli blockade, the Jerusalem Post reported on its website Monday. It was reported by Ha’aretz Sunday that Israeli military may use force to block the two boats but the Israel Navy has not received any instructions on how to treat the vessels at that time. The Navy officials Monday were quoted as saying the Navy had a number of options in dealing with the boats, which have set out from Crete, via a stop-over in Cyprus. The boats, carrying 44 pro-Palestinian foreign activists trying to “break the siege of Gaza”, are due to approach the strip in the second half of this week. Since Gaza has been declared a combat zone, Israel is within its rights to use force against the seafarers. according to Israeli Foreign Ministry. —Xinhua

Fire devastates theatre in Brazil

BRASILIA, 18 Aug—A fire Sunday destroyed the theatre “Cultura Artistica” in the centre of Sao Paulo city, southeast Brazil, causing no casualties.

The fire occurred at 4:00 local time (0700 GMT) in a nearby building and was brought under control around 8:45 local time (1145 GMT), firefighters said. The flames reached 20 metres high with huge columns of smoke.

The third floor, with the largest hall of 1,156 seats, was the most seriously damaged, and its ceiling was completely destroyed. The second floor also suffered damage.

The first floor and the basement escaped the devastation, and a mural by the Brazilian artist Di Cavalcante in the front of the building also survived, firefighters said.

The building was inaugurated in March 1950 and was one of the main cultural points of Sao Paulo, artistic director Gioconda Bordon said.

Sao Paulo authorities said experts will evaluate if the fire had weakened the structure of the building. Performances were indefinitely cancelled.

1918 flu survivors’ antibodies helpful for anti-bird flu fight

BEIJING, 18 Aug—Antibodies from survivors of the most devastating 1918 influenza pandemic still protect against the virus, providing a new approach to battle future epidemics that could be triggered by bird flu.

American scientists studied 32 people who lived through the 1918 flu, and found all had antibodies in their blood to kill the virus with surprising efficiency, reported the journal Nature Sunday.

The antibodies from the survivors, now aged 91 to 101, also protected mice from the killer virus, showing that 90 years on, the survivors of the epidemic are still protected. “It was very surprising that these subjects would still have cells floating in their blood so long afterward,” said Dr James Crowe of Vanderbilt University in Tennessee, who helped lead the study.

Crowe said his team is working to get antibodies from people vaccinated with experimental shots for the H5N1 avian influenza now circulating in Asia, Europe, the Middle East and Africa.—Internet

Nepali capital observes Cow Festival

KATHMANDU, 18 Aug — Nepali capital Kathmandu on Sunday is celebrating Gaii Jatra, the Cow Festival. Sunday is the day of Gaii Jatra Festival. It is the beginning day of Bhadra, a Nepali month according to the lunar calendar, which means Cow Festival.

The festival lasts for a week. The festival is mainly observed in the valley where capital Kathmandu is located, local newspaper The Rising Nepal reported on Sunday.

On the first day of the festival, either actual cows or human beings with oval shaped baskets with painted pictures of a cow and Ganesh on either side of the basket with straw horns to represent cows are sent round the town. Ganesh is the god of wisdom and the remover of obstacles, son of Shiva and Parvati, depicted as a short fat man with an elephant’s head, in Hindu religion.

This is generally done by the bereaved families under the belief that the gate to the heaven will be pushed open with the horns of the cows for the free passage of the departed soul.

Earlier day of Gaii Jatra is Janai Purnima (on Saturday this year).

In Newari language, it is also called Gunupoonhi.

On this full moon day, all those Hindu males who have holy threads invested on their bodies bathe in the Bagmati or Bishnumati river or in Holy river and change their new holy thread for the old one.

Iraqi Govt reserves right to prosecute Blackwater guards

BAGHDAD, 18 Aug — The Iraqi Government confirmed on Sunday that it reserves the right to prosecute six security guards of US private security firm Blackwater for their role in killing 17 civilians.

“There is information that six of Blackwater security guards have been accused of murdering 17 Iraqi civilians, and are to be prosecuted in Washington,” Ali al-Dabbagh, the spokesman of the Iraqi Government told reporters.

“The Iraqi Government confirm that Blackwater security company has committed a crime against the victims and it (government) reserves the right to prosecute them,” Dabbagh said in a news conference in Baghdad.

The six guards were working as security contractors for the Blackwater and were assigned to protect a US diplomatic convoy through the Iraqi capital on 16 September. The shooting occurred as the convoy arrived at a busy square in central Baghdad and guards tried to stop traffic.

An Iraqi Government investigation concluded that the security contractors fired without provocation. Blackwater has said its personnel acted in self-defence.

The foreign security firms working in Iraq are neither subject to the Iraqi law nor governed by US military courts, a situation that giving them the chance to operate with impunity. Dabbagh stressed that his government would not allow the companies’ guards to work with impunity. “The government would not allow any security firm to have immunity in Iraq,” he said.

Dubai prosecution vows zero-tolerance on corruption

DUBAI, 18 Aug— Prosecutors in Dubai said on Sunday fighting corruption was a top priority for the Gulf Arab business hub and pledged a zero-tolerance policy on violations.

Police probes have been launched this year into alleged financial irregularities involving employees of companies affiliated with the government of the booming Gulf Arab emirate.

“There will be no immunity for any official who abuses his position to make illicit gains,” the official WAM news agency quoted an unnamed senior prosecution official as saying.

“The government of Dubai has affirmed it stands resolutely against all forms of corruption, bribery and illegal gains in public and private sector institutions.”

The high-profile cases have attracted widespread local media coverage and threaten to mar the image of some businesses in Dubai, part of the seven-member United Arab Emirates federation.

The official said results of the investigations would be announced to the public once concluded, WAM reported.

“The government of Dubai follows a policy of transparency towards these cases, and there are strict directives that there should be no leniency for all forms of corruption,” he said.

Nepali party alliance agrees on new govt programme

KATHMANDU, 18 Aug— The Nepali party alliance formed in Friday’s prime minister election reached an agreement on Sunday over the Common Minimum Programme (CMP) of the new government.

The CMP is to be signed and publicized on Monday morning.

The Communist Party of Nepal (Maoist) (CPN-M) Chairman Prachanda was elected the first Prime Minister of the Federal Democratic Republic of Nepal on Friday with support from two other allies, the Communist Party of Nepal (Unified Marxist-Leninist) (CPN-UML) and the Madhesi People’s Rights Forum (MPRF).

The leaders of the mentioned three-party alliance leaders forged an agreement on the CMP, through a series of meetings among the parties.

“We have finalized the CMP that will be publicized tomorrow,” CPN-M leader Dr Baburam Bhattarai said at a Press conference in the Nepali capital Kathmandu, “We are close to a consensus on other issues”. MPRF leader Jaya Prakash Gupta said that their call was to form a consensus government.

US, Israel agree on missile radar defence system

JERUSALEM, 18 Aug— The United States and Israel have agreed on the deployment of high-powered, early-warning missile radars in the Negev desert in southern Israel, local daily Ha’aretz reported Sunday on its website. The radars, known as X-Band, will be linked to a US satellite-based alert network, Ha’aretz said, adding the new system could double or even triple the missiles’ range of identification, which would be particularly useful if Iran launches an attack on Israel. Under the terms of the newly-reached agreement, US military staff will be permanently based in Israel for the first time.

According to an periodical Defence news, the radar will be operated by staff from its European Command of the United States, starting in early 2009. The system’s deployment may even be moved up to this autumn, in order to integrate it with the Arrow missile defence system. The Israeli Defence Force’s current early-warning system, known as Green Pine and a component of the Arrow network, has a range of 800-900 kilometres.

During his inspection tour of Shwepyitha Industrial Zone in Shwepyitha Township of Yangon Division on 5 July, Prime Minister General Thein Sein gave instructions that the industrialists are to strive for development of firm agro-based industrial work for the economic growth of the State. Priority is being given to emergence of national industrialists, and industrial zones have also been established for industrial development. By opening technological universities, the State is making efforts for producing the needed technocrats in the industrial sector. In addition, the industrialists, are to re-double their efforts for keeping abreast of the latest industrial developments. It is necessary to produce high-quality and fair-priced items for domestic and global markets.

Nowadays, the government is rendering necessary assistance for ensuring equitable development of the industrial sector of the State and industrial zones established for improvement of the private industrial sector.

The government gathered the private-owned industries that had scattered in various regions of the nation by establishing industrial zones in the suitable regions. So far, a total of 19 industrial zones have been set up throughout the nation. Four industrial zones, namely Yangon East District Industrial Zone, Yangon South District Industrial Zone, Yangon West District Industrial Zone and Yangon North District Industrial Zone were founded in Yangon Division.

Yangon East District Industrial Zone comprises economic development zones and industrial zones in South Okkalapa, Dagon Myothit (Seikkan), Dagon Myothit (South), Dagon Myothit (North), Dagon Myothit (East) and North Okkapala townships. Likewise, an industrial zone was set up in Thakayta Township.

Thakayta Industrial Zone is located not far from Ayeyawun Road near Thuwunna Bridge. A total of 190 industrial plots were allotted on 200 acres of land. Three State-owned factories and 130 private-owned factories are in operation on the industrial land. These factories are manufacturing personal and household goods, raw materials, electrical and electronic equipment and automobiles for industrial and transport purpose.

Especially, the factories are manufacturing popular export products for foreign markets, meeting international standards. Similarly, import-substitute quality consumer products are being manufactured to customer satisfaction.

Manufacturing of trucks is one of the import-substitute industries. Automobile assembling industries, namely Nay Min Myanmar, Swan Htet, Sein Pan Khaing, Aung Naing Thu, Win Star and Myo are manufacturing quality vehicles and they have firm market shares in the local market.

The import-substitute automobile manufacturing industries in Thakayta Industrial Zone assembled about 200 jeeps and over 2000 light trucks in 2007-2008 financial year.

“Myo Automobile Industry manufactures the automobiles meeting set standards and norms prescribed by the Myanmar Industrial Development Work Committee, and the products are made with high quality and sold at reasonable price for the buyers,” said Managing Director U Myo Thant of Myo Automobile Industry at No 129 on Myananda Road in Thakayta Industrial Zone.

Myo Automobile Industry is manufacturing two types of jeeps namely MBJ-01 and MBJ-02 and light trucks. Quality materials are used in fitting frames and body of the vehicles installed with 2C/3C engines. Especially, Myo Jeeps (MBJ-02) are constructed through structure system of Hilux for convenience in driving on any roads in the country.

The jeeps have three doors for comfortable use. In addition, the jeeps are set up with the hard roof. As the cars are fitted with iron roof, it will be better than other types. The iron roofs prevent the possible dangers and contribute to safety of the users.

Managing Director U Myo Thant made further clarifications that engine and its related parts are systematically fitted at the vehicles to enable the users to enjoy comfortable and safe riding.

It can be witnessed that the quality of products, manufactured by industrialists at industrial zones that had been set up for over one decade, is higher. Moreover, priority is being given to manufacturing of import-substitute products. Hence, they have the opportunities to supply the products in accord with demands of the market, and their industries have achieved development.

In trying to bring about economic growth of the State, the government has established industrial zones for enhancement of the industries based on the agriculture sector. At the same time, efforts are being made for turning out national industrialists. The industrialists are trying to the best of their abilities for keeping abreast of all the latest industrial developments, taking innovative measures. As a result, Myanmar industries in the industrial zones are making progress gradually.

Georgia accuses Russia of starting forest fires

TBILISI,18 Aug— Georgia accused Russia on Sunday of deliberately starting a fire which threatens to destroy a forest regarded by Georgians as a national treasure.

Russia's Defence Ministry denied any involvement.

Georgia's Interior Ministry said Russian helicopter gunships swooped over a region near the Borjomi-Kharagauli national park in central Georgia on Friday and dropped bombs that set fire to the densely forested hills.

"We're sure that the Russians started the fires in our woods," ministry spokesman Shota Utiashvili said.

Georgian Environment Minister Irakly Gvaladze also blamed Russian helicopters for starting the fires.

"Local people say that the fires were started by Russian helicopters. They flew over the forests and then the fires started," he said. "Now the Russians are not allowing aviation teams from Ukraine and Turkey to help put out the fires."

Serbia says UN making mistake over Kosovo policing

BELGRADE, 18 Aug — Serbia's Foreign Minister said on Sunday it was a mistake for the UN mission in Kosovo (UNMIK) to hand over policing in the province to the European Union without the consent of Serbia and the UN Security Council.

"The process of UNMIK reconfiguration has begun...without consent of all interested parties and without explicit approval by the UN Security Council," Vuk Jeremic was quoted by Beta news agency as saying. "We think that this is a big mistake." UNMIK and the European Union mission EULEX are due to sign a memorandum of understanding on Monday on a plan which has been opposed by Serbia and Russia and split the Security Council. A 2,200-member EU police mission is waiting to deploy in Kosovo.

Kosovo, long a province of Serbia, was placed under UN administration in 1999 after NATO bombing drove out Serb forces accused of mass killings of civilians in a two-year war against separatist guerillas. The ethnic Albanian majority of Kosovo declared independence in February. Many Western countries recognized it, but Serbia and its big-power ally Russia declared the move illegal.

Japan seeks to arrest anti-whaling activists

TOKYO, 18 Aug—Japanese police have sought arrest warrants for three anti-whaling activists after their heated clashes with Tokyo's whaling fleet in the Southern Ocean last year, media reported on Monday.

Two Americans and a Briton from the hardline Sea Shepherd group are suspected of having obstructed Japan's whale hunt through protests such as jamming a ship's propeller with a rope, Kyodo News agency said.

Tokyo's Metropolitan Police is looking to placing the three on an international wanted list, Kyodo added.

A police spokeswoman declined to comment on the reports.

Japan's whale hunts have come under growing pressure from environmental groups, who say it is cruel and violates a 1986 global moratorium on commercial whaling.

Chavez backs Russia in Georgia conflict

CARACAS, 18 Aug—Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez on Sunday praised Russia's military actions in Georgia, describing Moscow's offensive as a necessary response to US aggression.

Chavez, a persistent critic of the United States, said Washington was using its ally Georgia to weaken a resurgent Russia.

"The intention of the United States is to reduce Russia to its minimum expression," said Chavez, who has used higher revenue from Venezuelan oil production to buy weapons worth billions of dollars from Russia in recent years.

"The Russians did what they had to do, we recognize the courage of President Dmitry Medvedev, we are with Russia," Chavez said on his weekly television show. Chavez said Russian Prime Minister Vladimir Putin had told him by telephone that Georgian troops started the war by attacking Russian peacekeepers in breakaway South Ossetia. Russia responded by moving troops deep into Georgia proper.

Russia announced on Sunday it would start pulling out its forces on Monday, after the conflict dealt a humiliating blow to Georgia and raised fears about fuel supplies to Europe. The conflict has pitted Russia against the United States and European countries who see Georgia as a key strategic partner. A major fuel pipeline runs through Georgia.—MNA/Reuters

First UN aid convoy reaches Gori, reports looting

GENEVA, 18 Aug—A United Nations aid convoy managed to enter Gori on Sunday, the first time UN organizations have reached the Georgian town since fighting started last week, and found signs of "massive looting".

"While the buildings did not appear to be very damaged, there are clear signs of massive looting of both shops and private accommodations," the office of the UN High Commissioner for Refugees said in a statement. UNHCR staff reported Gori was deserted except for 50 to 60 people gathered in the centre waiting for assistance and the agency was not sure if it would be able to bring more aid in the coming days.

The UNHCR, which said some 158,600 people had been displaced by recent fighting in Georgia, is also aiming to start airlifting non-food items to Batumi, on Georgia's Black Sea coast, on Monday.

Bidders line up to buy Gatwick Airport

LONDON, 18 Aug—International infrastructure groups have approached British Airports Authority (BAA) with offers to buy London's Gatwick Airport for up to three billion pounds (5.62 billion US dollars), the Sunday Times reported without citing sources.

A BAA spokeswoman declined to comment.

Germany's Hochtief, Global Infrastructure Partners, the GE-Credit Suisse investment fund, Australia's Macquarie and Britain's Manchester Airport Group have all indicated their interest to Ferrovial-owned BAA ahead of the Competition Commission's report expected this week, the paper said.

The competition watchdog is expected to say that the group's ownership of London's three largest airports—Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted—is against the public interest and experts believe it could be asked to sell two of the London hubs and one of its largest Scottish airports, it added. — MNA/Reuters

Lack of energy in old age associated with health problems

LOS ANGELES, 18 Aug — Lack of energy in old age may be associated with health problems and higher rates of hospitalization and death, according to a new study in the United States.

Although feeling listless is an expected part of aging, there are reasons people are tired, researchers at Columbia University Medical Centre (CUMC) said in the study published in the August issue of the Journal of Gerontology.

The study of more than 2,100 New York City residents, aged from 65 to 104, found that almost one in five reported so little energy and they spent most of the day sitting on the sofa. “For clinicians, the message from our study is that a lack of energy is widespread in the elderly, but it’s not normal,” said senior author Dr Mathew Maurer, an associate professor of the clinical medicine at the CUMC.

In this study, participants were classified as anergic if they said they sat around due to lack of energy and agreed with two of the six following statements: “I recently have not had enough energy;” “I felt slowed physically in the past month;” “I did less than usual in the past month;” “My slowness is worse in the morning;” “I wake up feeling tired;” “I nap more than two hours aday.”

Study: Less rain linked with warming of Indian Ocean

DARES SALAAM, 18 Aug — The decrease of rainfall along the eastern seaboard of Africa is now linked with the warming-up of the nearby Indian Ocean as a study conducted by the American space centre has suggested.

The study done through computer models and observations for more than half a century has concluded that rainfall in eastern Africa during the annual rainy season had declined by 15 percent since the 1980s.

Statistical analyses showed that the decline of rainfall was due to irregularities in the transport of moisture between the ocean and land. The study done by the Goddard Space Flight Centre under NASA has found that declines in rainfall had been posted in such eastern seaboard African countries as Ethiopia, Malawi, Kenya, Tanzania, Zambia and Zimbabwe, according to reports received here on Monday.

The rainfall decline over land was linked to rainfall and temperature increases over the ocean, the study said.

“We can be quite certain that the decline in rainfall has been substantial and will continue to be,” said co-researcher Chris Funk, “This 15-percent decrease every 20-25 years is likely to continue.” —Internet

Venezuela to launch Simon Bolivar satellite in Nov

CARACAS, 18 Aug — The Simon Bolivar satellite will be launched into the space on 2 Nov, Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez said Sunday.

Chavez made the announcement in his latest TV and radio programme “Alo, Presidente.”

The satellite, made in China, was named after “Simon Bolivar,” a hero who played an important role in winning Latin America’s independence.

Chavez said the Simon Bolivar satellite would benefit Venezuela’s TV, internet as well as other communication systems, and increase its educational and medical levels. Its coverage will reach other Latin American countries, he added.

Chinese Ambassador to Venezuela Zhang Tuo attended as a guest at the TV and radio programme, during which Chavez thanked China for supporting this project.

Chavez said his programme “Alo, Presidente,” which is now being broadcast through a Dutch satellite, would be broadcast through the Simon Bolivar satellite from November.

Tropical storm “Fay” moves to Mexico, Cuba

MEXICO CITY, 17 Aug — Tropical storm “Fay” moved over the Caribbean Sea, heading toward Cuba and Mexico, Mexican Civil Protection and National Meteorology Service said Sunday.

The two institutions said the tropical storm, at 10:00 a m local time (1600 GMT), was located some 865 km east of the Mexican coastal city of Cancun, and some 125 km southeast of Cuba’s central city of Camaguey.

According to reports by a local radio station, Fay is producing heavy rains in Miami, Florida, and flights in the International Airport of Miami have been suspended.

Meanwhile in Cuba many towns have been evacuated amid concerns of flash floods.

The Cuban authorities said domestic flights to eastern Cuba have been temporarily suspended.

Meteorologists said that Fay would take strength and become a hurricane during the coming 48 hours.

To the moment the storm has killed three people in Dominican Republic and another one in Haiti.

Road accident kills at least 10 in Egypt

CAIRO, 18 Aug — At least 10 people, including a three-year-old boy, were killed and 11 others injured in a traffic accident in northern Egypt, the official MENA news agency reported on Sunday. The tragedy occurred near the Delta city of Benha, north of Cairo, when a minibus crashed into the back of a truck carrying steel bars, said the report. Ten people were killed on the spot and 11 others were seriously injured, said the report, adding the injured have been rushed to nearby hospitals for treatment. Traffic accidents are common in Egypt with an estimated death toll of some 6,000 annually.

At least 44 people were killed and 35 others wounded on 16 July when a train collided with a number of cars near the Mediterranean coast city of Marsa Matruh.

Rovers plan Fowler deal Striker set for six-month contract

LONDON, 18 Aug — Blackburn Rovers boss Paul Ince has revealed the club are close to agreeing a deal with Robbie Fowler.

Fowler has been training with Rovers all summer after leaving Championship side Cardiff.

Ince is keen to have Fowler at Ewood Park and he believes his former

Robbie Fowler

Liverpool team-mate can still cut it in the Premier League.

"We are close to doing something with Robbie. He's been different class in training in the last few days," said Ince.

"Robbie is a Premier League goalscorer and he always will be, but the only issue is getting his sharpness back."

Blackburn are believed to be ready to offer the 33-year-old an initial six-month deal which could become a permanent contract if he impresses Ince.

Harry rubbishes Hammers link Redknapp staying put at Pompey

LONDON, 18 Aug — Harry Redknapp has dismissed suggestions he is being lined up to return to West Ham.

The pressure is seemingly on Hammers boss Alan Curbishley at Upton Park and he is one of the early favourites to be the first Premier League boss to lose his job this season.

West Ham opened their league account on Saturday with a 2-1 win over Wigan, but despite that reports still insisted that the club were on the lookout for possible replacements.

Redknapp's name has been strongly linked with a return to the club he previously managed and played for.

But the Pompey chief, who shunned a move to Newcastle last year, insists he has no intentions of quitting the South Coast.

"I am not interested in going anywhere else," he is quoted by the Daily Star.

"I have had some offers before but I am happy where I am."

Chelsea start with win but Man United only draw

LONDON, 18 Aug — Champions Manchester United were held to a 1-1 draw by Newcastle United but Chelsea crushed Portsmouth 4-0 when the two favourites for the title began their Premier League campaigns on Sunday. United, without Cristiano Ronaldo, Carlos Tevez and Owen Hargreaves, were rocked when Newcastle went ahead at Old Trafford, the unmarked Obafemi Martins powering home a header after 22 minutes.

United were level, though, inside two minutes when Darren Fletcher put the finishing touch to a fine sweeping move. In contrast to the champions' faltering start, Chelsea, who finished as runners-up to United last season, gave their new Brazilian coach Luiz Felipe Scolari the perfect start with a stunning four-goal rout of Portsmouth at Stamford Bridge.

Nicolas Anelka took advantage of slack Portsmouth defending to head them 2-0 ahead in the 26th minute and Frank Lampard made it 3-0 from the penalty spot just before halftime after Sylvain Distin was harshly judged to have handled a cross from Cole. Television replays showed the ball hit his arm while his face was turned away and he made no attempt to stop the cross.

Deco, named the man of the match afterwards, capped an excellent debut when he powered home an 89th-minute strike from 25 metres which James could only help into the net. — MNA/Reuters

Boro back for Harper Southgate ups bid for midfield ace

LONDON, 18 Aug — Middlesbrough boss Gareth Southgate admits he is still trying to prise James Harper away from Reading.

The former Arsenal midfielder has started the Championship season with Reading, despite interest from Boro and Bolton over the summer.

Boro have seen the likes of Fabio Rochemback, George Boateng and Lee Cattermole depart this summer and with Julio Arca sidelined - Southgate knows he need midfield reinforcements.

Southgate has already seen a couple of bids turned down by Reading - who are standing firm on their valuation of the player, believed to be around £5million.

Boro's previous bids have been under £4million, but reports now claim they have returned with a final £5million offer.

"We've been back a few times because I know he would be good for us," said Southgate.

After unveiling new signing Justin Hoyte before Saturday's opening day win over Tottenham, Southgate will now hope to seal a deal for Harper before the weekend's trip to Liverpool. — Internet

Berba confirms United 'dream' Striker ready for Old Trafford switch

Dimitar Berbatov

LONDON, 18 Aug — Dimitar Berbatov has confirmed that joining Manchester United is his 'dream'.

Sir Alex Ferguson is keen on landing the Bulgarian striker and has been chasing him for most of the summer, but as yet no deal has been agreed between the two clubs.

Tottenham boss Juande Ramos left Berbatov on the bench for their opening day defeat at Middlesbrough, and there was a distinctly mixed reaction from the travelling support when Ramos brought him on.

Now Berbatov has admitted that moving to Old Trafford would be a 'dream' move for him.

"I'm now in Tottenham but no one can disagree with me wanting to follow my dream," said Berbatov - who insisted he was not annoyed at being left out of Spurs' starting line-up at the weekend.

"I'm not angry about the decision of Juande Ramos to name me as a substitute. I'm not crying.

"I only show my emotions to my close friends and family. "But if I was laughing when I was on the bench, people would say I was an idiot.

"I noticed that Eric Cantona never smiled but I don't know if anyone ever asked him why he didn't look happier." — Internet

Del Potro wins fourth title in row

WASHINGTON, 18 Aug — Argentine Juan Martin Del Potro beat Viktor Troicki of Serbia 6-3, 6-3 to win the ATP event in Washington on Sunday and claim his fourth successive title.

The second seed rallied from an early break down in the opening set to make it back-to-back hard-court titles and take his winning streak to 19 matches.

"Today I was very, very nervous because I was the favourite to win the tournament," Del Potro said in a television interview.

"In a final, if you play your best you can win, for sure, but I think today I played more with my mind than my body."

The Argentine, who won in Stuttgart, Kitzbuehel and last weekend in Los Angeles, is the first man in ATP Tour history to win his first four finals.

Brazil happy for healthy kidnapped Vietnam diplomat

BRASILIA, 18 Aug—Brazil's Government said Sunday it was delighted to hear that a Vietnamese diplomat who had escaped kidnappers the day before was in good health.

In a statement, the Brazilian Foreign Ministry said Sunday afternoon that it had been informed that Vu Thanh Nam, an official from the Vietnamese Embassy to Brazil, had returned to his hotel without injuries.

The statement said "when being informed on Saturday of the kidnapping, the Ministry asked the federal authorities and the state of Rio de Janeiro to rescue (the diplomat) as soon as possible".

The Vietnamese diplomat was kidnapped

Saturday by a group of armed men while in a taxi heading to the Christ the Redeemer Statue in Rio de Janeiro.

Vu reappeared Sunday afternoon after he escaped from the house where he was being held in the slum Complexo do Alemao.

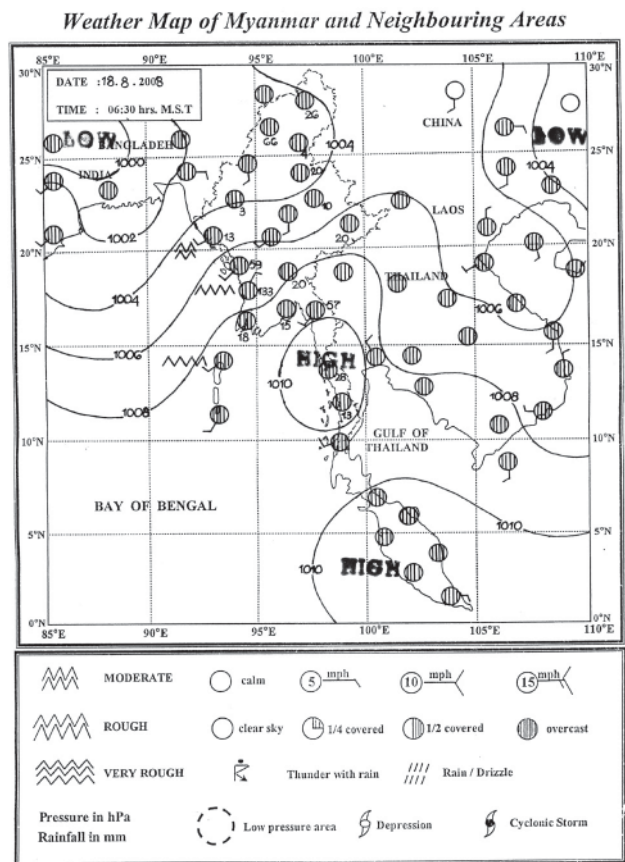

Rio de Janeiro is the most popular tourist destination in Brazil, but it is also a city with a high crime rate. Rio's governor has requested federal troops to patrol the streets of the city to prevent violence. — MNA/Xinhua

Venezuela to receive Russian military float

CARACAS, 18 Aug—Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez said on Sunday that his government was ready to receive a Russian military float and dismissed difficulties in negotiation with Russia on purchasing the equipment.

Chavez made the announcement at Sunday's TV and Radio programme "Alo Presidente." He added that the Russian float could arrive at the Guaira Port, north of Caracas, and Cabello Port, in the central coast of Venezuela.

Chavez said that his government would evaluate acquisition of submarines and new Russian aircraft to guard the Venezuelan territorial sea and aerial space.

Chavez said that his government was coordinating the acquisition of K-8 planes to train Venezuelan pilots.

This military equipment is due to the US blockage on replacements supply.

"The US is sabotaging. The Hercules planes of US fabrication do not have replacements," Chavez said when talking about the difficulties that the pilots have to flight these aircraft. When referring to the Russian weapons, Chavez said "we've got the Sukoi fighters and now we consider buying Russian submarines to patrol our waters", and he added that "we really need them here".

Tropical Storm "Fay" batters Cuba, threatens Florida

HAVANA, 18 Aug—Tropical Storm Fay raked Cuba's southern coast with gusty winds and heavy rains on Sunday while tourists fled the Florida Keys as the storm threatened to reach the United States as a likely hurricane.

The sixth storm of the Atlantic hurricane season, Fay has already killed dozens. Around 50 people died in Haiti when a bus tried to cross a river swollen with rain, adding to the toll after five deaths in Haiti and the Dominican Republic on Saturday. A middle-aged couple drowned in the Jamaican capital Kingston when their car was caught in a flooded crossing.

The US National Hurricane Centre said the storm's maximum sustained winds were 50 miles per hour (80 kilometres per hour), but Cuban forecasters said gusts up to 66 miles per hour (110 kph) had been recorded at Cabo Cruz, which juts into the Caribbean. Fay was cruising over warm Caribbean Sea waters at 10 mph (17 kph) about 200 miles (330 kilometres) southeast of Havana and 265 miles (430 kilometres) south-southeast of Key West, Florida, the hurricane centre said.
