Lippi: Brazil are like buses

ROME, 24 Nov —Marcello Lippi is excited at Italy's Confederations Cup draw, as it means he'll face Brazil twice in four months. The Azzurri are in Group A for the South African tournament with Brazil, USA and Egypt - curiously they'll also face the Selecao in a friendly at London's Emirates Stadium.

"What has never happened in a lifetime suddenly happens twice," smiled Lippi.

"I had never faced Brazil or a Brazilian club in my career as a player or Coach, but now I will take them on twice between February and June 2009. It'll be wonderful. I am happy that we're in a tough group, the kind I like."

Italy make their debut in the Confederations Cup on 15 June in Pretoria against the United States, then travel to Johannesburg to face Egypt on 18 June.

The big clash with Brazil is on 21 June in Pretoria - just over four months after their friendly meeting in London on 10 February.

Build more irrigation facilities for national development

The government is constructing a large number of dams and reservoirs and sluice gates while implementing underground water projects throughout the nation for agriculture purpose.

Priority is being given to construction of dams and reservoirs in upper Myanmar where water is scarce. Today, there have emerged 216 dams and reservoirs and 322 river water pumping stations, thereby enabling local people to extensively engage in double and mixed cropping.

Daungmyu Dam to be implemented on Daungmyu Creek near LeU Village, Wuntho Township, Sagaing Division, one of the projects under implementation in the central Myanmar, will benefit 6,300 acres of farmlands and contribute to greening of the region.

More irrigation projects to be implemented are Kandaunt Dam Project, Myaukyama Dam Project, Kyaukchat Dam Project and Yebokegyi Dam Project.

Dams and reservoirs are being constructed along with sluice gates so that they can prevent floods that could often occur in the rainy season.

Under the underground water projects, altogether 800 tube-wells were sunk in Meiktila and Thazi Townships for agriculture purpose.

At a time when the government is building clusters of dams and reservoirs and sluice gates for national development it is incumbent upon the entire national people including locals to safeguard the irrigation facilities for durability.

Myanmar delegation attends Industrial Development Conference of LDCs

Minister for Industry-1 U Aung Thaung attends Industrial Development Conference of Least Developed Countries held at Siem Reap of Cambodia.—MNA

NAY PYI TAW, 23 Nov—A Myanmar delegation led by Minister for Industry-1 U Aung Thaung arrived in Siem Reap of Cambodia on 18 November to attend Industrial Development Conference of Least Developed Countries, jointly organized by United Nations Industrial Development Organization and World Trade Organization. The minister attended an informal meeting together with Minister of Economy, Trade and Industry of Cambodia Mr Cham Prasidh and members at Sokha Angkor Hotel.

The following day Industrial Development Conference of Least Developed Countries was held at Sokha Angkor Hotel and Cambodian Prime Minister Samdech Hun Sen made an opening speech on the occasion.

Present on the occasion were the Directors-General of UNIDO and WTO, regional heads, officials of Asian Development Bank and African Development Bank, ministers, delegates and agencies from 43 out of 49 countries.

The Cambodian Prime Minister had a documentary photo taken together with those present and held meetings with them. Next, the report from the workshop held in Gali of Rwanda was submitted and it was discussed and donor countries also discussed guaranteed funds.

Minister U Aung Thaung took part in the discussions, saying that trade assistance to Myanmar was limited resulting from economic sanctions, and in consequence, there was a decline in currency flow and trade volume. However, global economic crisis does not have much impact on Myanmar, unlike many other developed and developing countries. The country is making political and economic reforms through the State's seven-step Road Map. So, the country will soon enjoy disciplined development in next few years.

As such, it is required to try and look on the bright side in the Myanmar's issue. Trade opportunities and assistance provided by every country, developed and developing, will make significant contribution towards duty free, quota free system. Like some other countries, Myanmar's fundamental objective is to achieve agro-based economic growth, he said.

Myanmar delegation attended the dinner hosted by the Cambodian Government and the conference continued on 20 November. Ministers and leaders of delegations held meetings in groups. They discussed an epidemic of America-centered economy spreading across the world to be cured in a certain period. They are to overcome that certain period.

The declaration of Siem Reap was approved and UNIDO and WTO held a press conference. On 21 November, the Myanmar delegation toured Angkorwat Temple and arrived back here by air in the evening.

Separate bombings in Baghdad kill at least 20

An Iraqi woman cries out in pain as she is treated for burns after a bus bombing in Baghdad, Iraq, on 24 Nov, 2008. A female suicide bomber blew herself up near an entrance to the US-protected Green Zone and a bomb tore through a bus carrying Iraqi government employees in separate attacks on Monday, killing at least 18 people, Iraqi officials said.—INTERNET

BAGHDAD, 24 Nov—A female suicide bomber blew herself up near an entrance to the US-protected Green Zone and a bomb tore through a minibus carrying Iraqi government employees in separate attacks on Monday, killing at least 20 people, Iraqi officials said.

Three more people were killed in bomb attacks on police patrols in Baghdad and Baqouba, northeast of the capital, police said.

In the first attack, a bomb attached to a bus used by the Trade Ministry to ferry employees to work exploded shortly before 8 a.m. in eastern Baghdad, police and hospital officials said on condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to speak to the media.

Thirteen ministry employees were killed and three wounded, according to an official with the state-owned Iraqi shopping centers company. The company is part of the Trade Ministry.

The rush-hour attack happened in a Shiite area and the injured were taken to Kindi hospital in Baghdad.

About 45 minutes later, a female suicide bomber blew herself up as she stood in line to be searched at a checkpoint near the Green Zone in central Baghdad, killing seven people and wounding 13, according to an Interior Ministry official who declined to give his name. In a third attack, a roadside bomb targeted a police patrol around 10:30 a.m. near Technology University in eastern Baghdad, killing two civilians and wounding four other people, an Iraqi police officer and an official at Ibin al-Nafis hospital said on condition of anonymity. Two police officers were among the injured.

KABUL, 24 Nov—US-led forces killed seven Taliban fighters in central Afghanistan while a bomb exploded near the capital on Monday and wounded a civilian, authorities said, in new incidents linked to a militant insurgency. Coalition forces came under attack as they approached a building on a raid targeting a senior Taliban commander in the central province of Ghazni, said a coalition statement.

The soldiers “returned fire, killing the seven armed militants inside,” the coalition said.

Forces then found a large stash of weapons in the building compound, including bomb-making materials such as fertilizer, the statement said.

The targeted Taliban commander is believed to have directed bomb attacks and helped foreign militants in Afghanistan, the statement added. Monday’s bomb was about 10 kilometres (six miles) outside of Kabul and wounded one civilian, the interior ministry said. It was not clear what it had targeted.

Violence against Afghan children rising

KABUL, 24 Nov—Violations of children’s rights are increasing in Afghanistan with more attacks against schools, more children killed and more evidence of child sexual abuse, the United Nations said on Sunday.

The report was conducted using a combination of data from agencies working across Afghanistan and anecdotal reports or allegations of violations against children.

“The report really shows how difficult the situation is and to some degree it is worsening,” Hilde F. Johnson, deputy executive director of the UNICEF agency, told Reuters.

“This goes for several of the violations in particular attacks against schools and health centers, killing and maiming and grave sexual violence and to some degree recruitment of children (to armed groups),” Johnson said.—Internet

Brazil flooding kills at least 20

SAO PAULO, 24 Nov—At least 20 people are reported to have died and thousands have been forced from their homes following floods in Brazil’s Santa Catarina state.

A state of emergency has been declared in the area and President Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva has offered federal help to deal with the disaster.

Heavy rainfall over the last two months has led to landslides which have destroyed homes and blocked roads. Four towns in the southern state are reported to be cut off by the flooding.

Weather forecasters say more rain is expected for the region.

By Sunday night more than 15,000 people had been forced out of their homes. Some are able to stay with relatives and friends, while others have gone to public shelters. In total more than a million people are said to have been affected by the flooding.

Many of the deaths have been caused by landslides which have destroyed homes and blocked roads.

BEIRUT, 24 Nov — Lebanese President Michel Sleiman begins on Monday a two-day visit to Iran for political and economic talks at the invitation of Iranian counterpart Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, a government official said.

"The President will discuss everything: political and economic issues, bilateral relations, the situation in the Middle East, the peace process," the official, who declined to be named, told AFP on Sunday.

Talks will also include efforts to forge a "national defence strategy" for Lebanon — where Hezbollah's arsenal remains a thorny issue — the official said.

Shiite-majority Iran is a staunch supporter of the Shiite Hezbollah group, which is also backed by Syria. But Tehran has repeatedly denied Western and Israeli charges that it provides military backing to Hezbollah. Last May, Hezbollah staged a spectacular takeover of mainly Sunni parts of west Beirut, amid deadly clashes which brought the country to the brink of another civil war and left at least 68 people dead.

The fighting ended after an accord was struck in Qatar between the Western-backed parliamentary majority and the Hezbollah-led opposition, which also called for the development of a national defence strategy.

Average US gasoline price falls below $2/gallon

NEW YORK, 24 Nov — US average retail gasoline prices fell below $2 per gallon, due to a continuing slide in crude oil prices, falling gasoline demand and a weakening global economy, according to the latest nationwide Lundberg survey.

"It is the first time that the average price for regular gasoline has been below $2 a gallon since 4 March, 2005," survey editor Trilby Lundberg said in an interview.

The national average price for self-serve regular unleaded gas was $1.9717 a gallon on 21

November, a drop of nearly 33 cents in the past two weeks, based on a survey of about 5,000 gas stations.

The average US price per gallon of regular gasoline has now fallen about 81 cents in the past month and is down about $2.14 since peaking in mid-July.

It is world demand and not OPEC (the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) that drove prices of crude so high earlier this year and it is demand not OPEC that will call the bottom on crude prices, said Lundberg.

Earlier on Sunday, Venezuela's oil minister Rafael Ramirez urged his fellow OPEC members to agree to lower crude oil supply by 1 million barrels per day at an emergency meeting of the group in Cairo on 29 November.

Vietnam starts building new resort island airport

Hanoi, 24 Nov — Vietnam has begun construction of a new international airport on a popular tourist island off the country's southern coast, aiming to boost passenger capacity to the destination by 10 fold, officials said Monday.

The $1 billion airport will help accommodate the influx of tourists to Phu Quoc, where several luxury hotels have opened recently and several more are under construction.

When the first phase is finished in four years, the new Phu Quoc International Airport will be able to handle 3 million travelers a year — 10 times the current airport's capacity, said Nguyen Tien Viet of Vietnam's Southern Airport Corp.

Eventually, the airport would be able to handle 7 million passengers a year, Viet said. Speaking at a ground breaking ceremony on Sunday, Prime Minister Nguyen Tan Dung said the new airport will help boost the country's economic growth.

"The island will be one of the country's major transportation and commercial centers once the new airport is put into operation, contributing to the regional and national economic growth," Dung was quoted as saying on the government Web site.

South Korea builds city from sea at wetland's expense

File Photo shows a 33 km-long sea dyke is seen at the Saemangeum land reclamation project area in Gunsan, about 200 km (124 miles) south of Seoul.—INTERNET

BUSAN, 24 Nov—South Korea is betting a multi-billion dollar land reclamation project about seven times the size of Manhattan will lift the economy but environmentalists say it could be one of the country's biggest ecological blunders.

The Saemangeum land reclamation project uses a 33-km (20.5 mile) sea dyke to reclaim an area of 400 square kms (155 sq miles), turning coastal tidelands that are key feeding areas for globally threatened birds into land for factories, golf courses and water treatment plants.

"This project is not about protecting the environment. It is about economic development. And we will do that in an environmentally sound way," said Park Hyungbae, an official with the Saemangeum development authority.

The authority said the project, built at a cost of nearly $3 billion, will bring industry to North Jeolla, a province that has traditionally been the agricultural breadbasket of the country but lacks modern industry.

Baghdad opens campaign to kill city's stray dogs

BAGHDAD, 24 Nov—Baghdad authorities killed more than 200 stray dogs on Sunday, the opening day of a campaign to cull dog packs roaming the capital that was prompted by a spate of fatal attacks on residents.

Three teams of veterinarians and police officers used poisoned meat and rifles to kill the animals, said Dr Hassan Chaloub, an official at the veterinary hospital supervising the effort. He said the capital has no dog shelters.

The campaign started Sunday in western Baghdad and will move to the eastern half of the city early next year. Thirteen people died in August alone in the capital after being attacked by dogs, according to Baghdad's provincial council, which is overseeing the campaign.

People in some neighborhoods have been too frightened to go outside when the dogs are present.

As she was being released Wednesday from a Miami hospital, the shy teen seemed in awe of what she's endured. Since July, she's had two heart transplants and survived with artificial heart pumps but no heart for four months between the transplants.

Last spring D'Zhana and her parents learned she had an enlarged heart that was too weak to sufficiently pump blood. They traveled from their home in Clinton, SC to Holtz Children's Hospital in Miami for a heart transplant.

But her new heart didn't work properly and could have ruptured so surgeons removed it two days later.

More New Yorkers join ranks of unemployed

NEW YORK, 24 Nov—Some 70,000 New Yorkers lost their jobs in October, a 5-per-cent increase over the previous month and the most in more than four years, according to a report available on www.nypolitics.com Sunday.

Compared with a year ago, the number of people on unemployment in October rose by nearly 20,000, or 37 per cent, the sharpest year-over-year increase since May 2002, the New York State Department of Labour was cited as saying.

The city lost 7,000 private sector jobs in October, the largest one-month loss in the recent downturn, statistics show. “The loss of jobs in October clearly indicates that New York City has entered a recession,” economist Barbara Byrne Denham was quoted as saying. Surprisingly, the city lost only 700 securities jobs last month, despite announcements that indicate massive layoffs. Economists theorize that many laid-off Wall Street workers are still being carried on payrolls because of severance packages, said the report.

Neighbours rejects using Iraqi lands as base for attack

DAMASCUS, 24 Nov —Iraq's neighbouring countries on Sunday rejected using Iraq's lands, waters or airspace as a corridor or base to launch attacks against its neighbours.

They made the rejection in a final statement at the end of the third meeting of the Security Cooperation and Coordination Committee for Iraq's neighbouring countries. Representatives from Syria, Jordan, Kuwait, Egypt, Bahrain, Turkey, Iran and Iraq took part in the one-day meeting here on Sunday.

The participants underlined their rejection of using Iraqi lands or any of the neighbouring countries as a base to launch any terrorist acts that pose a threat to the stability of Iraq and any of the neighbouring countries, said the statement.

They praised the noticeable improvement in Iraq's security status as terrorist attacks had significantly declined, underlining that border control is a common responsibility between Iraq and its neighbours. They stressed the necessity of cooperation between Iraq and its neighbours in the fields of combating terrorism and organized crime, exchange of information and thwarting trespassing operations, as well as drying out terrorist financial resources. —Xinhua

Secretary-1 addresses meeting of Central Committee ...

First, the Secretary-1 delivered an opening speech saying that the Central Committee has been formed to organize the anniversary of Independence Day which falls on 4 January 2009 on a grand scale. He added the four national objectives of the 61st Anniversary Independence Day – All the national people to constantly join hands for ensuring the perpetuity of independence and sovereignty of the State; All the national people to collectively strive for non-disintegration of the Union and non-disintegration of national solidarity; All the national people to harmoniously make all-out efforts for building up a modern, developed discipline-flourishing democratic nation in accord with the new State Constitution that has been approved by the votes of the entire national people; and All the national people to cooperate in realizing the State's seven-step Road Map with Union Spirit and patriotic spirit – have been laid down.

He said Independence Day is observed every year with the aim of realizing the value of independence that all national races regained sacrificing their lives, blood and sweat through solidarity and inculcating younger generation with a spirit of safeguarding the independence forever.

He spoke of the need to observe the 61st Anniversary Independence Day with political essence in accord with the national objectives laid down.

Like the previous years, Independence Day ceremony will be held on a grand scale with fun fairs, he said.

He said security measures are to be taken as there are various attempts to undermine stability, peace and tranquillity. He called on the sub-committees to accomplish the tasks for observance of Independence Day through coordination.

He urged the officials to make arrangements for observance of Independence Day in Nay Pyi Taw in Nay Pyi Taw District, Nay Pyi Taw Pyinmana, Nay Pyi Taw Lewe, Nay Pyi Taw Tatkon Townships.

Bio-gas digesters benefitting farmers

YANGON, 24 Nov—Chairman of Yangon Division Peace and Development Council Commander of Yangon Command Brig-Gen Win Myint viewed drilling of tube well with the use of drilling machine to supply irrigation water to 200-acre physic-nut plantations in local battalion of Hmawby township, Yangon North District this afternoon.

Next, the Commander looked into cooking process with bio-gas digester of TAS Co. Ltd and lighting with 60-watt bio-gas used bulb at peasant U Mya Kyaing's house in Hnawgon village, Hmawby township. He called for extended use of bio-gas digesters as they can not only provide light but substitute firewood in cooking and reuse wastes as fertilizer.

The Commander later looked into cooking process with the use of bio-gas digester at farmer U Sir Thinyel of Thayagon village. He answered queries raised by local peasants and explained supporting programmes to them.

It is learnt that Yangon Division PDC will provide multi-use bio-gas digesters to each and every village in Yangon division, aimed at development of rural regions.

Vietnam to open embassy in Israel

TELAVIV, 24 Nov — Vietnam is preparing to open an embassy in Israel after more than 30 years of diplomatic relations between the countries, sources say. Citing unnamed sources, Ynetnews.com reported Monday that Israeli Foreign Ministry Director General Aharon Abramovich was told of Vietnam's plans while visiting the Southeast Asian country last week to discuss expanding trade between the two countries, which currently stands at $200 million per year.

Israeli officials say the Vietnamese capital of Hanoi has seen the expansion of high-tech industries thanks to better education and cheap manpower, while the country's food, textile and tourism industries are also seeing growth.

Israel has been wooing Vietnam for years, observers say, but because of what has been called "a cautious approach" by Vietnamese authorities, the relations until now haven't progressed beyond an Israeli Embassy in Hanoi, the Web site reported.

UK's Sellafield nuclear site gets new management

LONDON, 24 Nov— A consortium from France, Britain and the United States took over management of the Sellafield nuclear waste reprocessing facility in northwest England on Monday—part of a plan by the British government to shift costly energy operations to the private sector.

The consortium, Nuclear Management

Partners Ltd, signed a five-year contract to run the nuclear waste facility, with an option to extend it for another 12 years, according to the government's Nuclear Decommissioning Authority, which owns Sellafield.

The consortium includes Washington International Holdings Ltd of Seattle, AMEC PLC of London and AREVA NC of Paris.

Previously, Sellafield was managed by public company British Nuclear Fuels, but the British government wanted to cut operations costs through outsourcing management.

Blockaded Gaza gets some supplies

LONDON, 24 Nov— Israel has temporarily reopened a border crossing with the Gaza Strip to allow in essential supplies of food. It has also allowed delivery, through a pipe line, of diesel fuel for Gaza's only power plant.

It is only the second time in three weeks that Israel has permitted aid deliveries into the territory.

It tightened its blockade of the Hamas-controlled territory earlier in November after rocket attacks by Palestinian militants. The militants said their attacks, which caused minor damage but no serious injuries, were in retaliation for an Israeli army raid into Gaza.

British police to get Taser stun guns

LONDON, 24 Nov—Police forces across Britain are to be equipped with Taser stun guns after a successful pilot scheme with the controversial high-voltage weapons, officials said on Monday.

Critics argue that the guns, which deliver a 50,000-volt charge, are "potentially lethal," but the government says they are crucial and is paying for 10,000 of them to be distributed around the country.

The decision to extend their use by police came after a pilot scheme in 10 British police forces, in which Tasers were deployed on more than 600 occasions over the past 12 months but only used 93 times. Rights group Amnesty International voiced alarm at the decision, saying that 300 people had died after being shot with Tasers in the United States and Canada.—Internet

Henkel's French subsidiary to close two sites, cut jobs

PARIS, 24 Nov—The French subsidiary of the German chemical products group Henkel said on Monday it would close two sites in France and cut 251 jobs to cope with the economic downturn and to boost its competitiveness.

Citing "a particularly unfavourable" economic climate, Henkel Technologies France said in a statement it was closing its offices in Chalons-en-Champagne and Cosne-sur-Loire and reorganising its laboratories in a third site.

The company makes detergents, adhesives and cosmetics.

It blamed difficulties facing France's ailing car industry for the closures, but also cited the move by packaging and paper markets to eastern Europe as factoring into the Chalons closure.

Altogether, Henkel Germany plans to close five sites around Europe, according to an industry source. The others reportedly are located in Germany, Italy and Britain.

Henkel lowered its profit growth target earlier this month, saying its third-quarter results had suffered from restructuring and the weak economic climate.

COLOMBO, 24 Nov—Ibrahim Nasir, who led the Maldives' independence movement from the British and became the nation's first president, has died at age 82, an official said.

Nasir died on Saturday at a Singapore hospital and his body was flown to the Maldives and kept for public viewing at the president's office, Foreign Minister Ahmed Shaeed said Sunday, adding that the cause of death was not known.

Born on 2 Sept, 1926, Nasir became the prime minister of the British protectorate in 1957 at age 31. He signed an agreement with the British that won independence for the Indian Ocean archipelago in 1965.

In 1968, three years after independence, Nasir became the Maldives' first president and held that position until he resigned 10 years later. Nasir modernized the country's fishing industry and introduced tourism, for which the Maldives is now world famous.

President Mohamed Nasheed and his ministers were to be present at the burial on Sunday night.

LIMA, 24 Nov—Any efforts by the United States to be transparent about plans to deploy pieces of its missile defence shield in Eastern Europe would not entirely placate Russia, the country's foreign minister said on Sunday.

Russia has interpreted

US plans, which would include deploying a radar system in the Czech Republic and interceptor missiles in Poland to repel possible attack from Iran, as a direct threat to its security.

The dispute over the US missile shield has become one of the key factors behind a chill in relations between Moscow and Washington to post-Cold War lows.

“It would be better if the Americans gave up the idea,” Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov told reporters in the Peruvian capital Lima, where President Dmitry Medvedev was attending a summit of the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation forum, or APEC. “If, despite all, the United States carries out its plans, it will need to provide transparency measures to reduce Russian concerns,” he added. “But our concerns would be fully removed only if Washington gives up its plan and starts working on a joint missile defense system from scratch.”

Bangladesh garment exports

DHAKA, 24 Nov—Bangladesh's garment industry is growing rapidly despite the global economic turmoil as China loses orders due to high prices and worldwide demand for cheap clothing soars.

Nearly 5,000 apparel makers here initially sought government help when some top US and European buyers postponed and cut orders in the wake of the worst financial crisis since the 1930s Great Depression. But clothing makers say that a massive diversion of orders from China, the world's largest producer of apparel, has more than compensated.

In the first quarter to September, garment shipments grew by a record 45 percent to 3.4 billion dollars, government data this week showed, with more than 90 percent of the exports going to the US and Europe.

“It's a huge change in fortune for us,” said Golam Faruq, owner of the country's largest sweater manufacturer and a key supplier to British upmarket retailer Marks and Spencer.

“This month I got an unexpected 12-million-dollar order to make sweaters for a Swedish manufacturer. They told me in the past they used to give the order to Chinese manufacturers. But this year we offered a far better price,” he said.—Internet

New type of Ebola virus discovered

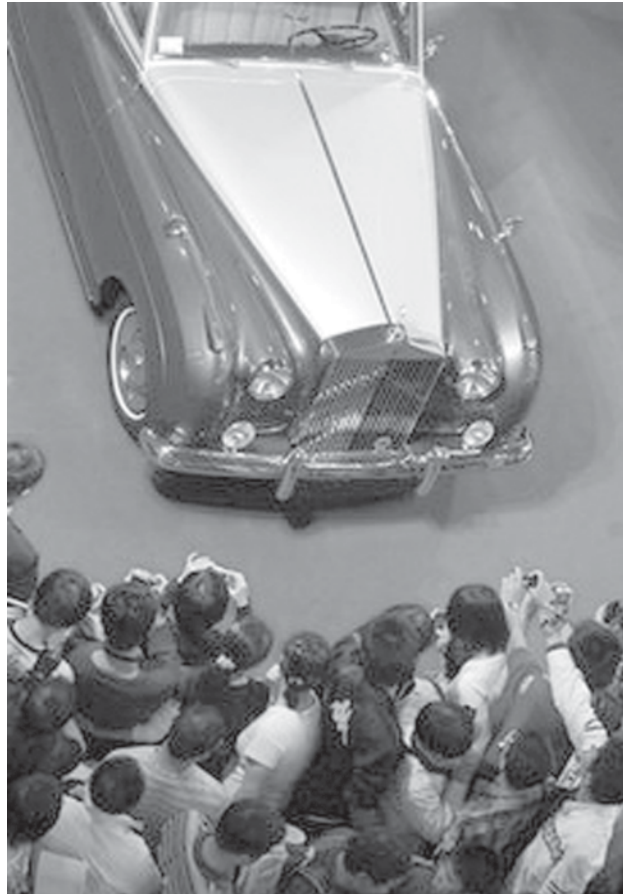

NEW YORK, 24 Nov—A new species of the deadly Ebola virus has been identified by American and Ugandan scientists. The new virus, called Bundibugyo ebola-virus, caused an outbreak in western Uganda in 2007. It is genetically distinct from all other known Ebola virus species, differing by more than 30 percent at the genetic level, said the scientists from the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Columbia University, the Uganda Virus Research Institute, and the Uganda Ministry of Health.

To determine the genetic signature of the new virus, the scientists had to employ a recently developed “random-primed pyro-sequencing” method. Using this, they were able to quickly determine more than 70 percent of the virus genome, which then enabled rapid development of a molecular detection assay that was used during the outbreak.

The draft genetic sequence also led to completion of the entire virus genome sequence using a traditional method and immediate confirmation that this was a new species of Ebola virus.

Current efforts to develop effective Ebola diagnostics, antivirals and vaccines will need to factor in the distinct genetic makeup of this new species, the scientists said in an article published Nov. 21 in the journal PLoS Pathogens.—Internet

Doctors' illegal drug sales led to lashes

RIYADH, 24 Nov — Two Egyptian doctors sentenced to prison and lashes in Saudi Arabia illegally sold pharmaceuticals and one had affairs with female patients, the official news agency reported on Sunday.

Quoting a statement from the health department in the city of Mecca, the Saudi Press Agency said the two doctors confessed. According to Egyptian newspapers, one of the doctors, Raouf Amin el-Arabi, was accused of driving a Saudi princess “to addiction.” He initially was sentenced to seven years in prison and 700 lashes, but when he appealed two months ago, the judge not only upheld the conviction, but more than doubled the penalty — to 15 years in prison and 1,500 lashes.

The statement from the Saudi health department did not mention the princess but said el-Arabi gave drug injections to a woman over a period of five years. It identified the woman as the wife of the doctor's sponsor. Expatriates need Saudi sponsors — government agencies, influential businessmen or members of the royal family — to work in the kingdom. The other doctor, Shawki Ibrahim, was sentenced to 20 years in prison and an unspecified number of lashes, according to Sunday's statement. The statement said the pharmaceuticals the men allegedly sold have adverse effects on the nervous and respiratory systems and the heart.—Internet

Egypt faces obstacles in recovering antiquities

CAIRO, 24 Nov — More than half a century ago, a prominent Egyptian archaeologist unearthed a stunning ancient mummy mask at the Saqqara pyramids near Cairo — the golden image of a noblewoman's face.

Mohammed Zakaria Ghoneim deposited the 3,200-year-old relic in a warehouse at Saqqara, where he meticulously documented his discovery. Seven years later, in 1959, Egyptian records show it was still in the same store-room.

What happened to the burial mask of Ka Nefer Nefer in the four decades that followed is a mystery.

It resurfaced in 1998 when the St. Louis Art Museum acquired it. And now it is at the center of one of the most acrimonious fights in the antiquities world.

The case lays bare the complexities involved in growing efforts by Egypt and other countries to reclaim artifacts stolen or looted from their ancient civilizations.

Local and international laws are often inadequate or nonexistent.

The process requires delicate cooperation between government, law enforcement, museums, and antiquities dealers. And frequently, there are gaps in the historical records.

Claims are attracting increasing attention after prestigious institutions such as the J. Paul Getty Museum of Art in Los Angeles and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York agreed to return looted or stolen artwork or antiquities.

Zahi Hawass, head of Egypt's antiquities authority, said his country has recovered some 5,000 stolen artifacts since 2002, and is pursuing dozens more.

"This is the No. 1 case," he told The Associated Press in an interview. "Egypt has a right to the mask."

Wild beavers return to Britain after 400 years

LONDON, 24 Nov — Four families of beavers have arrived in Britain for a landmark project which will see them introduced into the wild here for the first time in over 400 years, experts said Friday.

The wild beavers were captured in the Telemark region of Norway and brought to London, where they arrived Thursday and will spend six months in quarantine.

The animals will then be released in Argyll, western Scotland, during the Australian officials say rescued whales now safe at sea

SYDNEY, 24 Nov—Wildlife officials Monday said rescue efforts had saved 11 whales from a mass stranding on an Australian beach, with the animals now swimming freely in deep water and unlikely to return to land.

Some 64 pilot whales, many of them mothers and calves, were found stranded on Anthonys Beach on the southern Australian island of Tasmania on Saturday. Fifty-three of the animals died but rescuers worked throughout the weekend to save the rest, eventually hauling 11 of them on to specially-modified vehicles and driving them to a nearby beach for release into the sea.

Tasmania's Parks and Wildlife Service said satellite tracking devices which had been fitted to five of the rescued whales indicated that the animals were now swimming freely in deep water in Bass Strait.

"While this is good news, we will monitor the wider area with an aircraft," spokesman Chris Arthur said in a statement.

Tottenham boss Redknapp tips Lennon to star for England

LONDON, 24 Nov — Tottenham manager Harry Redknapp has told Fabio Capello that Aaron Lennon deserves a chance to shine for England after the winger inspired his side's 1-0 win over Blackburn.

Lennon was a constant problem for the Blackburn defence at White Hart Lane on Sunday and he set up Roman Pavlyuchenko's first half winner before inducing two fouls that led to Blackburn defender Martin Olsson's dismissal.

With Theo Walcott out for at least three months after shoulder surgery and David Beckham increasingly marginalised, there is a vacancy on the right flank for England that Redknapp believes Lennon can fill.

Lennon has fallen out of favour at senior international level since going to the 2006 World Cup and England coach Capello hasn't asked Redknapp about the former Leeds star's form.—Internet

Shin wins: South Korean takes LPGA's ADT title

WEST PALM BEACH, 24 Nov — As she walked down the 18th fairway Sunday, Ji-Yai Shin kept her thoughts away from becoming an instant millionaire. Or, in her nation's currency, an instant billionaire.

"Just save the par," she said.

She did that with ease, holding off Karrie Webb and an ailing Paula Creamer to win the ADT Championship with a final round 2-under par 70. Shin captured the $1 million winner's prize, by far the biggest on tour, with a four-birdie, two-bogey day.

In her native currency, Shin collected 1.493 billion — yes, billion — South Korean won.

That's a lot of won for one win.

Man Utd eye breaching Villarreal fortress

MADRID, 24 Nov — Both Manchester United and Villarreal look poised to qualify for the last 16 of the Champions League but top place is at stake when the two meet in a Group E duel on Tuesday at El Madrigal.

Holders United are bidding to become the first team to defeat Villarreal on their own ground in the Champions League - the club have played in the competition twice and have yet to lose at home - and if Sir Alex Ferguson's team achieve that feat they will go through as group winners.—Internet

Fiorentina looking for revenge against Lyon

FLORENCE, 24 Nov — Fiorentina may be on the brink of Champions League elimination but they will feel that they have a score to settle with Lyon at the Stadio Artemio Franchi on Tuesday.

Two months ago when the teams met in France a brace from Alberto Gilardino looked set to fire Fiorentina to an impressive opening victory in their first Champions League appearance for eight years.

But in the final 18 minutes Lyon scored twice with Fiorentina complaining that one of the goals should have been disallowed.—Internet

Celtic must go on Euro attack, says Aussie McDonald

GLASGOW, 24 Nov — Celtic striker Scott McDonald has ordered all-out attack in Aalborg on Tuesday if the Scottish giants are to save their Champions League hopes. Celtic have won 11 matches in a row in the Scottish Premier League since their defeat in the first Old Firm derby of the season against Rangers at the end of August.

But the Scottish champions have so far only collected two points from a possible 12 in their Champions League Group E campaign.

And Australian international McDonald says their impressive domestic form will count for nothing if they can't end their poor away form in the Champions League.

Verdasco hands Spain third Davis Cup tennis title

MAR DEL PLATA, 24 Nov — Fernando Verdasco won the Davis Cup for Spain here on Sunday, beating Argentina's Jose Acasuso 6-3, 6-7 (3/7), 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 to give his country a third title after 2000 and 2004 and deny the hosts a first.

Verdasco's success in 3hr 56min gave the Spanish, shorn of the services of injured world number one Rafael Nadal, a winning 3-1 lead to render academic the outcome of the second reverse singles between the hosts' David Nalbandian and Feliciano Lopez.

"It's like a dream come true - it's the most beautiful day of my life," beamed Verdasco.

"It's a nice sensation," he told Sky Sports. "It's a great day for all the people in Spain."—Internet

Bayern eyes on Steaua as Klinsmann demands win

BERLIN, 24 Nov — Bayern Munich coach Jurgen Klinsmann has insisted his side focus solely on beating Steaua Bucharest on Tuesday to guarantee their place in the first knock-out round of the Champions League.

Bayern hammered Bundesliga bottom side Energie Cottbus 4-1 on Saturday and Klinsmann insisted his side began the recovery process immediately with ice baths and long warm-downs to get ready for their Group F clash.

With two wins and two draws, Bayern are level with leaders Lyon and a win over bottom-of-the-group Steaua at Munich's Allianz Arena will guarantee their place in the next round.—Internet

US alone critical of Syria at Iraq conference

DAMASCUS, 24 Nov—The United States stood alone at a conference on Sunday in accusing host Syria of sheltering militants attacking Iraq, while other countries adopted a more conciliatory tone, delegates said.

No other state present at the conference on security for Iraq joined Washington in its open criticism, weeks after a US raid on Syria that targeted suspected militants linked to al-Qaeda, they told Reuters. US Charge d'Affaires Maura Connelly, the senior American diplomat in Syria, told a closed session that Syria must stop allowing what she called terrorist networks using its territory as a base for attacks in Iraq.

Washington's leading Western ally, Britain, has recently praised Syria for preventing foreign fighters from infiltrating into Iraq, and its Foreign Secretary, David Miliband, was in Damascus this week pursuing detente with Syria.

"The American diplomat's speech was blunt and short. The United States was the only country at the conference to criticize Syria openly," one of the delegates said.

"The British Amb-assador called on neighbouring countries to take action against 'facilitators' based inside their territories, but he did not name names," a second delegate said.

No agreement with US over cross-border attacks

ISLAMABAD, 24 Nov— Pakistani Prime Minister Syed Yousaf Raza Gilani Sunday said Pakistan had no agreement with the United States to allow the US to carry out cross-border attacks inside Pakistan's territory.

Referring to the cross-border missile attacks conducted by the US, Gilani said the sentiments against the US, North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the West would rise if the US continued the strikes, private TV channel DAWN NEWS reported.

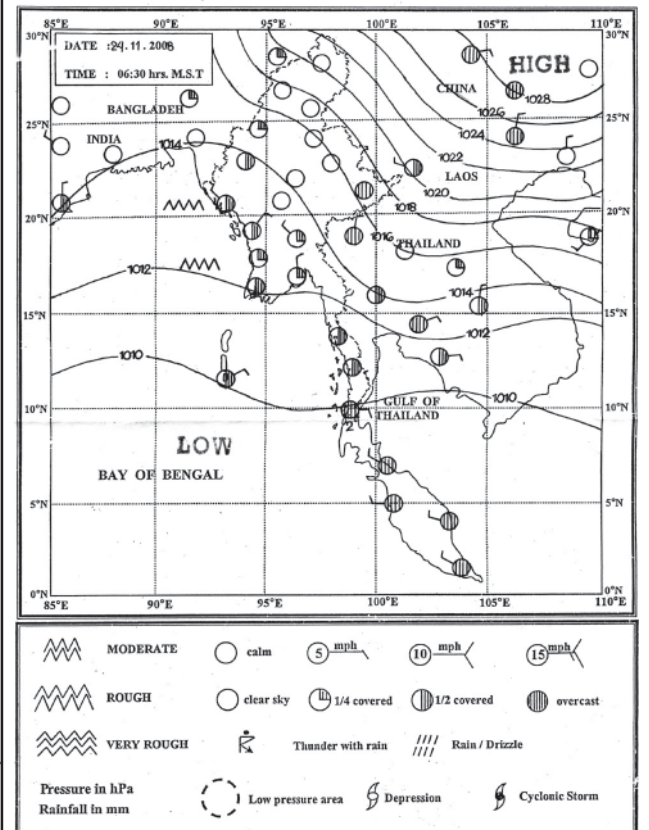

He also said the Pakistani Government would evolve a strategy to stop the strikes. Gilani said missile strikes were undermining Pakistani Army's strategy to control the situation in the northwestern tribal areas.

Pakistan's tribal areas have witnessed a string of cross-border missile attacks, most of which were reportedly conducted by unmanned US drones. Terming them violations of Pakistan's sovereignty and territorial integrity, Pakistan has lodged protests against such attacks.—MNA/Xinhua

National Landmarks Gardens in PyinOoLwin

Article & photos: Po Thaw Zin

Being a repository of scenic natural beauties, peculiar customs and traditions of diverse national races, archaeological places, edifices of cultural heritage, wonders and pleasant and beautiful hill stations, Myanmar captivates foreign tourists around the world.

One of the hill stations is PyinOoLwin, which is located in Mandalay Division, Upper Myanmar. The hilly region stands at an altitude of 3538 feet, and so it is never very hot, but cool all-year round. PyinOoLwin earns a good reputation for its hilly geographical location, fascinating natural places, pleasant climate pattern, and a large number of species of flora in abundance. So, the hill station receives a constant stream of foreign tourists every year.

In addition to plain regions, Myanmar has so many hills and mountain ranges which add beauty to the nation. PyinOoLwin was established more than 100 years ago.
